Rep. Halcrow:

"I am going to vote for the bill, but I would have preferred it if the bill had been for a two-year period only, and then have had to be renewed two years hence. This would have had a salutary effect on the banking industry, and they would have noticed if there are abuses in increasing rates; we would not have to come back in two years and repeal the interest rate. If in the rural areas of the state of North Dakota where competition is limited and you have long distances between banks, if the interest rate ceiling creates abuses pertaining to the people who borrow money, I will be the first one to come back here two years from now and help remove the increased ceiling."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Reimers requested his remarks on House Bill No. 350 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Reimers:

"I hesitate to waste any time today but I want to refer back to House Bill No. 350. The reason I did not speak on the bill when it was before us was I really was not sure how I wanted to vote. I just accepted what Rep. Kelsch said as probably what we really needed.

"I feel very strongly about this. Marijuana use is increasing quite rapidly in our high schools and colleges, and I hesitate to think that action of the Assembly would indicate to any young person anywhere that this Legislature felt differently about marijuana and its use than we ever did.

"Last week-end I was away, and that is what prompts me to speak on this bill now. Very dear friends of ours down South have two pretty and intelligent daughters, one a freshman in college and the other a freshman in high school. Their father is a very able attorney. They are wonderful people who have showered affection on these children. Two weeks ago they took the freshman girl out of school because she had gone to sleep in class. If this has gotten to where anyone who thinks marijuana is not a drug, we must take action. I don't know the definition of a drug, but this kind of thing has to be stopped somehow. I want to be sure that no one would interpret the action of this Assembly on House Bill No. 350 in any way that marijuana is acceptable under any circumstances."

Speaker E. Johnson called Rep. Reimers to the Chair to preside.

House Bill No. 474. A Bill for an Act to provide that all institutions of higher education shall adopt the quarter system educational term.

Was read the second time.

Rep. Backes requested that his remarks on House Bill No. 474 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Backes:

"Some time ago our State Board of Higher Education decreed that all institutions of higher learning shall go on the semester system, starting in the Fall of 1970. House Bill No. 474 says that they shall all go on the quarter system in the Fall of 1970. I have introduced this bill with fifty other sponsors because of complaints of parents during the campaign. In the northern part of the state, many of our students stay out of school for the Fall Quarter to assist with harvest. In the southern part of the state, some students stay out for the Spring Quarter. I thought these complaints were solely economic, and these parents needed their sons to help them with harvest, but some of the students stayed out to earn money in construction work, and that work reaches its height in the middle of the first quarter. This would mean that these students would only be allowed to attend one semester of school per year.

"Many of these farm students attend the North Dakota State University. I feel the semester system does not provide an opportunity to our students to attend as much school as the quarter system.

"Besides the economic factors, there are academic factors, and here are some of the reasons I have received from the students in favor of the quarter system:

"1. Greater variety of courses to choose from under the quarter system.

"2. Required courses for freshmen are easier to work into the schedule.

"3. If a student gets off to a bad start, the quarter system makes it easier to rectify the matter.

"There are also some staff and administrative reasons. I think the original reason for the Board directing that we go on the semester system was to get uniformity in our schools. We are all for that, but the quarter plan also would give uniformity. It is desirable that all state schools be on the same academic level; uniformity facilitates transfer, provides uniform fees and records, and would permit transfer credits in terms of quarters. The state-supported schools in Minnesota where many of our transfer students originate are on the quarter system. It would be much simpler for the State Board of Higher Education to formulate costs if all institutions were on the same basis.

"A survey of surrounding states indicates that a few years ago all Minnesota schools were put on a quarter basis. South Dakota is on the semester system. The greatest percentage of Montana schools are on the quarter system. California was on the quarter system, changed to the semester system, and then switched back to the quarter system.

"Some will say we do not have enough students in North Dakota affected by this to be concerned. I have a letter from the Office of the Dean of the North Dakota State University concerning interruptions of study courses of students for a four-year B. S. degree which indicates 27.1% of the students have such study interruptions. If only half of these were interruptions for economic reasons, I think it is a big percentage.

"The other day I appeared before the Appropriations Committee where the fiscal note on this bill was presented, which note had been prepared by Mr. Raschke, the Commissioner of Higher Education. I feel it is unusual for someone opposed to the proposal being permitted to prepare the fiscal note on the proposal. The fiscal note, for one thing, lists $2,500.00 additional necessary for desks and chairs. Why it would require more desks and chairs to register students three times a year rather than twice, no one knows. The fiscal note indicated a total additional cost of $220,000. If this is true, then we should have found in Senate Bill No. 1 somewhere a reduction of about a million dollars, since that is what would have been saved by going on the semester basis.

"The results of a Report of the Common Calendar System, dated December, 1967, which Board is made up of a representative from each of our state-supported higher education institutions chosen by the college presidents, in an evaluation of the quarter system versus the semester system, indicate a secret ballot showed one for the semester system, six votes for the quarter system, and three votes neutral. Dr. Koenker of the University of North Dakota submitted a minority report of one in which he stated a preference for the semester system. The majority report noted that seven different classes per week in the semester system would be required to cover the same material covered by five classes per week in the quarter system. A greater variety of classes undoubtedly would require some changes in staff and additions to staff.

"The State School of Forestry at Bottineau reports that the semester system would reduce the variety of courses they could offer or an increase in faculty would be required.

"Someone is going to bring up the matter of constitutionality. I have a resolution I have drafted on my desk, which resolution would direct the State Board of Higher Education to go on the quarter system. I have had this resolution drawn because someone told me the bill would be questioned. In the last session a Joint Resolution was adopted directing the State Board of Higher Education to go to the quarter system, but what good did that do? Because nothing has resulted from that Resolution, I have now introduced this bill which would do more than direct the Board of Higher Education to change to the quarter system. By changing to the quarter system, we will be giving our students a greater opportunity to secure their education which at this time is being denied them on the semester system."

Rep. Rundle requested that the remarks of Rep. Register on House Bill No. 474 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Register:

"I think that Rep. Dornacker has missed the single most important aspect of House Bill No. 474. I think we as Legislators would be remiss if we did not pay tribute to the college students of North Dakota in their handling of House Bill No. 474.

"The students of North Dakota had a complaint, but we saw no marches on the capitol, instead we saw the orderly democratic system carried out until we now have House Bill No. 474 before us. I cannot agree with them on their stand on the bill, but I do feel that we should recognize and pay tribute to the students for their actions on this bill."

Rep. Aamoth requested that his remarks on House Bill No. 500 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Aamoth:

"The problem that I am concerned about is the fact that any money that is taken in for gas tax under our Constitution is required to be spent for roads. Now what happened in the returning of this money in the formula last time in my particular city is that the money was not used for street and road maintenance. They got around it by putting it in the road maintenance fund, and taking it out the back door, putting it in the General Fund and using it for increases in salary, and I don't think this is legal, and there is no language in there to stop it. I recognize that the cities have a problem, but as long as we do get the money from the gas tax, they cannot use it for general fund purposes in the cities."

Rep. Streibel moved that the rules be suspended and House Bill No. 500 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and be placed on the calendar for Second Reading and Final Passage, which motion prevailed.

SECOND READING OF A HOUSE BILL

102 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that for the perpetuation of Speaker E. Johnson appointed Reps. Boustead and Wagner to escort Mrs. Brown and her son Phillip to the rostrum.

Rep. Link presented House Memorial Resolution No. 3 to Mrs. Brown and her son.

Rep. Boustead requested that the remarks of Rep. Link be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Link:

"Speaker Johnson, Mrs. Brown, Phillip, Fellow Colleagues of the Legislative Assembly.

"It is with honor and humility that I stand before you to participate in this memorial program today — honored to be invited to pay tribute to a comrade, humble because I feel so inadequate to the task. So, not for honor, and in spite of my inadequacies, I accept this opportunity because I want to.

"As I sat in my room last night thinking about what to say, I asked myself why should I be the one chosen to speak in memory of our former colleague and Speaker, Representative R. Fay Brown. We are not of the same religious faith, Fay was a city businessman and myself a farmer from a very distant part of the state. Politically Fay was a Republican, and I am a Democrat-Nonpartisan Leaguer. Philosophically, I suppose he would be termed a conservative, and myself a liberal — whatever these definitions mean. On several occasions we have engaged in strenuous verbal floor battles based on differences of opinion on issues before this House. However, it is impossible to exploit differences without also recognizing areas of mutual effort and experience.

"At the pleasure of our respective parties, Fay and I served under the speakership of one another — truly a rare and mutual experience. Fay was an excellent parliamentarian, and as such, extended me courtesies many times while I served as Speaker. His total energy, effort and devotion to duty, and his ever-friendly greeting on the morning of each new day served to inspire all who knew him well. He was a devoted husband and father who proved to all that man, with the help of God, has the power of his own destiny.

"It is at this point that we come face to face with the greatest common denominator of all, for our differences in life are as naught, if we will but heed the word of God. I opened my "Daily Devotions" booklet to this day, February 27, and found it as if written for this occasion. I would like to share it with you this afternoon. From Mark 9, verse 29, entitled "Divine Security," 'And he said to them, 'This kind cannot be driven out by anything but prayer.'

"Some situations are more difficult of solution than others, but that does not mean that they are hopeless. We have our own personal problems. Today the whole world is in a bad way. Our nation is ill at ease and we cast about for solutions.

"One man proposes that 'we discuss openly and freely all phases of our national situation and then act in a way that is the best for our own nation.' But this has been the proud practice of the past and the result is a path of blood that runs through all history. Moreover, we have developed a system of weaponry that will never allow any nation to feel fully secure again.

"What to do about it? There must be a solution. And there is. God is still God. When the disciples had a problem they could not manage, they went to Jesus with it. He tells them it could be solved only by prayer. This means that an appeal to God for help was the only solution. In your private and family devotions, do you ask divine guidance for your nation and other nations? When our leaders are frustrated do you pray to God for them?

"A Roman once said, "Christianity cannot stand because it is founded upon a cross and the death of its leader." Christ is not dead. He arose victor over death and the grave and lives forever. He can help you with all your personal problems. He is the answer to sin and the hope of life hereafter.

"I come to you for help, my Savior, Amen."

"At this point I want to share with each of you and Mrs. Brown and Phillip a very personal experience that I have not shared publicly before. It was my privilege to share quarters at the Legislative Research Committee meeting at Camp Grafton with Fay Brown. At the close of the day, as we prepared to retire, Fay Brown knelt at his bedside and made his peace with God. I concluded that here is a man who at the close of each day made his peace with God. This to me, Ladies and Gentlemen, is the greatest and most lasting memory that I have of a departed friend."

Speaker E. Johnson declared the Memorial Session dissolved, and the House reconvened.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Bernabucci:

"Mr. Speaker and members of the House. Yesterday afternoon in a debate regarding a divided committee report on Senate Bill No. 442, in the heat of that debate it appears I may have made an error in a statement I made.

"Rep. Lundene rose and made reference to the memorial service of R. Fay Brown, that he had voted for the establishment of the North Dakota Trade Committee. In my response to his remark, I thought that Rep. Brown had not taken exception to the vote eliminating the Trade Commission, insofar as its appropriation was denied, but in the House Journal from the 40th Legislative Assembly, on page 1109 under date of March 2, 1967, carrying the vote recorded on Senate Bill No. 55, which carried the appropriation for the North Dakota Trade Commission which lost by a vote of 46 to 46 not having a majority, Rep. Brown was recorded as voting aye. Obviously my memory was faulty, and for that I apologize to the House."

Was read the second time.

Rep. Dornacker requested that his remarks on Senate Bill No. 442 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Dornacker:

"Our state in the past has given the privilege to many segments of our business community to organize to attempt to regulate their members. We have given this privilege to doctors, lawyers, banks, various trades and others.

"The businessman of our state several sessions ago, asked a similar body to pass a Fair Trades Commission. This Commission was in operation for about one year. The next session denied these people any appropriation. Again, this session denied them the use of their own money.

"We now have a bill to eliminate the Commission. I am sure that if the association of doctors, lawyers and others had been judged after one year's operation, they too would have not been very successful.

"If we eliminate this Commission, we are as much as telling our local business that we do not want you to have the privilege to regulate your own business. I am going to vote to keep this Commission alive and by so doing, tell the local businessman, 'We will give you the opportunity to regulate your business as we have given others.'"

SECOND READING OF A HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

House Concurrent Resolution No. 60. A Concurrent Resolution requesting the Congress of the United States to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to limit the amount of farm losses which may be used to offset nonfarm income for federal income tax purposes and to limit this farm loss offset to bona fide farmers.

Was read the second time.

Rep. Wells requested that his remarks on House Concurrent Resolution No. 60 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Wells:

"Somehow the arguments we heard Friday and are hearing today have a familiar ring. They are the same ones that we heard two years ago, only the victim has been changed. Then it was the large corporation that were going to purposely lose money in order to devour the farming industry in North Dakota. Today it is the overly rich individual who is threatening our economy. Who will be the next victim we will choose to remove as a potential investor and resident of this great state?

"I am sure that we have all read of the survey taken nationally that has pointed out that the role of large corporations in farming is not a threat and that the right to incorporate is a useful tool for family groups. Also we read that other states are finding it virtually impossible to limit farm corporations without hampering their agricultural industry. But we, in North Dakota, by an overwhelming vote of the people have chosen not to allow limited corporations to engage in farming.

"Today in House Concurrent Resolution No. 60 we are being asked to put our stamp of approval on what could eventually lead to the elimination of another group of farm operators, namely the farmer businessman. This includes many of us in this Assembly. It could also go as far as to not allow a farmer to take a job in town to supplement his income.

"Perhaps I am just a dumb durum farmer, but no one has satisfactorily explained to me how anyone, even the rich, can make a profit by purposely losing money on an investment. Evidently, we are just supposed to accept the fact that this can be done.

"Today we are being asked as a group, by a voice vote or individually if the vote is recorded, to stand up and be counted on this issue. We are all aware how our constituents feel about this one and it does make a difference at the polls. One Republican legislator, who openly opposed House Bill No. 782, won by 450 votes, Another, in the same district, who was the sponsor of the bill, won by a shaky 21 votes.

"So, ladies and gentlemen, I am asking that you vote YES for House Concurrent Resolution No. 60."

Rep. Hilleboe requested a recorded roll call vote on House Concurrent Resolution No. 60, which request was granted.

2 Supplement to the North Dakota Century Code is hereby created
3 and enacted to read as follows:

4 25. All personal property not required by section 179 of the 5 Constitution of North Dakota to be assessed by the state
6 board of equalization shall become exempt from assessment
7 and taxation in the year 1970 and such property shall not
8 be assessed or taxed for that year or for any year there-
9 after; provided that this provision shall not apply to any 10 property that is either subjected to a tax which is imposed
11 in lieu of ad valorem taxes or to any particular kind or

447 exempted from the provisions of the income tax by law or 447a because of

448 the peculiar nature of their status in relation to other

448a corporations,

449 in order to prevent injustice by granting relief to any class

449a without

Rep. Dornacker requested that his remarks on Senate Bill No. 137 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Dornacker:

"The most difficult thing most of us face is making a change. Changes are always a problem, especially if it involves our finances.

"This proposal gives us a choice in the elimination of personal property taxation. Our present system is not perfect; this or any other proposal will not be perfect. Any proposal will have to be adjusted in the years to come. Each session finds us amending and adjusting our present system.

"In the proposal before you we have tried to adjust the shift of who pays the bill to a more equitable system.

"By using the sales tax route instead of income tax on individuals we recognize that we all have an obligation to local government. The tax on food-clothing replaces our tax on household goods. This plan tells the 50% of our people who are in the $5,000 or less salary range that your tax will be $20-$30, not $50. Likewise, we tell the professional people your tax will be $50-$100, not $100-$200. This plan does not penalize the low income nor the high income families. This plan tells the businessman and the farmer that you have a greater obligation and are getting more relief so you should carry a higher portion of the load than salaried people.

"With this in mind we have set up what we call a business privilege tax.

"This plan calls for a business privilege tax on 1% on individual businesses before federal tax deductions.

"We place a 1% tax on corporations before federal tax deductions. This includes all corporations, domestic, foreign and the co-operatives.

"We find that we have many farmers, small businesses, and others who will have complete elimination of personal property taxes, that in many years have less than $2,000 income. We have placed a minimum business filing fee of $20. Your income is $1,500, the tax is $20. Your income is $2,500, the tax is $25.

"We have placed a ½% tax on income of commission earned by self-employed people. These people are really self-employed businessmen.

"In the case of banks, savings & loan people, they too will be relieved of personal property taxes. Here we place a 2% tax and allow federal income tax as a deduction. This was necessary as the law covering National Banks requires us to allow federal tax deductions.

"We have used the base year of 1968 as these taxes are levied and should we use 1969, the local people could over-assess and receive higher payback.

"We have set the effective date for January 1, 1970. Our payback is split into two payments — the first May 1, 1971, and the last on July 31, 1971. This we did to lessen the burden on General Fund as income taxes are not due until April 15th.

"In this bill we have many built-in protections. We have done this to protect future legislative sessions from needing a two-thirds vote to adjust sales and income taxes. Should this become law and a referral be placed on the ballot and the people sustain the legislative action, then in future years a two-thirds vote would be needed to adjust sales or income taxes.

"This is why we have only put in a 1¢ sales tax. This is why we have used a business privilege tax.

"This proposal, if adopted by this Assembly, can be adjusted in the Conference Committee. There is ample room for adjustment and compromise.

"This bill gives us a choice in the Conference Committee. This bill gives us a choice and if we are really sincere in our efforts to eliminate personal property taxation, this is the fairest method. I can support this approach."

Rep. Dick moved the previous question, which Speaker E. Johnson ruled was out of order until Rep. Link had spoken on Senate Bill No. 137.

Rep. Dick withdrew his motion.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS
STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

Executive Office

State Capitol
Bismarck, North Dakota

Dear. Mr. Speaker:

This is to inform you that today I signed the following bills:

Washington, D. C., March 6, 2:17 p.m., EST

Ernest Johnson, Speaker of the House
North Dakota State Legislature
Bismarck, North Dakota

The Wholesome Meat Act has as its goal the assurance that all of the meat supply of this country furnished consumers is produced under an inspection system providing healthful, wholesome meat foods derived from animals carefully inspected for disease and abnormalities.

This law provides the basis for financial, technical, and advisory assistance from the Department to the states to assist in the development of the state inspection programs. We want very much to work and cooperate fully with the states in developing the state inspection program. We believe the law provides plenty of room for the Department and the states to work together to achieve the goal of effective meat inspection. We believe, too, that the states are the best qualified governmental function to carry out state inspection.

We recognize that implementing the provisions of the Wholesome Meat Act requires developing additional rules and regulations pertaining to small operations.

This is especially applicable to that segment of the industry whose activities requiring inspection are limited. To meet the consumer protection goals without undue disruption of the industry, guidelines for facilities and construction requirements in existing small plants are being prepared by the Department. This publication is designed to clarify the "rule of reason" in determining the requirements that must be met that will assist a small plant operator to produce clean, wholesome inspected meats. Department representatives are working closely with appropriate state officials in order to clearly define and interpret requirements necessary to bring about an orderly initiation of inspection in small intrastate plants.

We have expressed — and continue to express — that no small plant need fear inspection if it can be maintained in sanitary condition and operated to produce a clean wholesome inspected product.

We know, too, that another area of concern has involved the types of custom slaughter and processing services provided for rural residents. The Department is actively considering approaches to a type of inspection coverage that would allow the continuation of custom services while assuring that products sold to consumers are inspected.

RICHARD E. LYNQ
Assistant Secretary
U. S. Department of Agriculture

Speaker E. Johnson rules that the following be read and then printed in the Journal:

REP. KELSCH, Chairman

Rep. Stone moved that the report be adopted, which motion prevailed and the report was adopted.

Pursuant to the motion of Rep. Stone, the following remarks of Rep. Atkinson are to be printed in the Journal:

Rep. Atkinson:

"Mr. Speaker and Members of the House:

"As the father of seven children, I can fully understand and feel strongly, as does Rep. Stone, a deep concern over the availability of obscene literature and the effect it can have on our young people. However, as Subcommittee Chairman of the Social Welfare Committee which worked on this bill, I feel that I should explain the problems that were encountered in connection with Senate Bill No. 466.

"If we choose to place this bill on the calendar for final action, we will not be debating the question of obscene literature. Our North Dakota laws today cover this subject in considerable detail, and the specific laws involved are those to which reference is made in the title of Senate Bill No. 466. These laws have been tested at local levels by criminal prosecutions, and the present laws have been found to be effective when used. However, the laws that we have today in North Dakota will be truly effective only if local concerned citizens are willing to request their enforcement.

"Rep. Wagner has explained many of the legal difficulties involved in Senate Bill No. 466. As he mentioned, the original bill was completely re-written by the Senate. Before the first hearing by the House Social Welfare Committee, three legal-sized pages of proposed amendments had been agreed upon by various interested parties and were presented at the hearing. Several other proposed amendments were considered, and in the week just past, many other problems in the drafting of the bill have been brought to our attention.

"There is probably no field of law in our country today in which there is more uncertainty than the law dealing with obscene matter. Practically every state Supreme Court and our United States Supreme Court have issued decisions on the subject, and these decisions are by no means of a uniform result. Our Subcommittee heard the views of many fine attorneys who were not representing any interested parties, as well as the thought of both those favoring and questioning the bill. It is the opinion of most attorneys that Senate Bill No. 466 raises serious legal questions which could only be resolved by court tests. It was also the opinion of many that our present North Dakota laws are adequate.

"Senate Bill No. 466 would repeal all of our present North Dakota laws on the subject. We felt that we have some understanding of our laws which are in effect today and have been able to depend on them for prosecution where it has been requested. If Senate Bill No. 466 were adopted, we would not know whether we would have an enforceable law. It would be entering an area of uncertainty from one which is reasonably clear today.

"In the committee's opinion, the people of our state and, in particular, our young citizens are better protected by those laws presently existing than by a law of uncertain nature.

"It was for these reasons that the committee has recommended indefinite postponement.

"A federal study of the need for federal legislation is now being completed, and it is quite likely that some federal legislation will be enacted dealing with the interstate shipment of obscene materials. This will certainly help the problem. However, the real control over this most important subject lies with each of us in our communities, and in our seeing that complaints are filed and prosecutions are pursued wherever and whenever the conditions so warrant."

FIRST READING OF A HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Committee on Delayed Bills; Reps. Streibel, Strinden, Link, Giffey and Reimers introduced:

House Concurrent Resolution No. 75. A Concurrent Resolution urging Congress to give favorable consideration to United States Senate Bill No. 233 which appropriates federal funds for completion of the formal garden and erection of the peace tower at the International Peace Garden.

Was read the first time and referred to the committee on State and Federal Government.

Rep. Aamoth moved that the following remarks of Majority Leader, Rep. Streibel, be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Streibel:

"The 41st Legislative Assembly has tackled an all time high work load and will undoubtedly satisfy the needs of education, cities, highways and welfare.

"As we enter the final days of this session, I feel we should review our present fiscal status with regard to the general fund budget. If legislation that is still pending before either house of this legislature is adopted we will have accomplished the following:

- "1. Brought about the greatest transfer of tax responsibility in the history of our state by tax relief at the local level and the assumption of this responsibility at the state level. (includes — Foundation Program, Personal Property Tax Repeal, Welfare Program)
- "2. Increased state level expenditure commitments by $58,000,000 (not including gas tax, cigarette tax) which is $3,000,000 more than the entire general fund expenditures of the first session I served in, 1957.
- "3. We will continue a policy established in 1961, when all so-called dedicated funds were jack-potted into the General Fund, of providing a cushion to facilitate a balanced Executive Budget for 1971 with no new taxes. Three factors have generally brought this about:
 - a. Conservative revenue estimates
 - b. Conservative General Fund Transfers
 - c. Excess revenue in new tax applications or reform measures (H. B. 97 — S.B. 137)
- "4. Education will call for approximately 63¢ out of every tax dollar we appropriate. A question each of us must ask ourselves at this juncture of the 41st Assembly is, "what is the proper allocation with regard to our table of priority needs?" Upon examination we find primary and secondary education supported by the state at 46% of the average per pupil cost. Above grade twelve the state support rises to 70% of the average pupil cost.

- "5. Future commitments for the general fund in the basic areas of state responsibility, namely education and welfare, outdistance our potential revenue projections. Our growth factor does not parallel our commitment factor.
- "6. We will have called upon the following tax sources for additional revenue support:
- a. Real Estate
 - b. Income Tax
 - c. Sales Tax — broadening
 - d. Sales Tax increase
 - e. Cigarette and Liquor
 - f. Gasoline

"My purpose in presenting this review at this point in our session is an attempt to focus the thinking on the over-all fiscal picture, rather than its individual parts or fragments, and project future demands with anticipated resources."

Rep. Boustead requested that his following remarks be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Boustead:

"Today, March 12, marks the beginning of Senator Milton R. Young's twenty-fifth year of consecutive service in the United States Senate. He has served Congress longer than anybody in North Dakota history. Senator Young has surpassed the enviable records of other dedicated North Dakotans of the past, such as Senator Porter J. McCumber, who served 24 years, Henry C. Hansbrough who served in both the House and Senate for a combined 20 years, Senator Gerald P. Nye, 20 years; Representative Usher L. Burdick, 20 years; Senator William L. Langer, 19 years; A. J. Gronna, both House and Senate, 16 years and Representative William Lemke, 15 years.

"Should our good Senator complete this term, he will have served in the Senate longer than any member of that body from the several upper midwest states around North Dakota.

"The title 'Senator' is one Milton Young has carried for 34 years since he was a member of the North Dakota State Senate for 10 years preceding his appointment to the United States Senate. Before that he had served one term in the North Dakota House of Representatives, bringing his total consecutive legislative service to his state to 36 years.

"Senator Young was first appointed to this office March 12, 1945, after the death of Senator John Moses, who died in office on March 3, 1945. In the 1946 special election he was returned to complete the term. Senator Young was elected to his first six-year term in 1950 and reelected in 1956, 1962, and 1968. In all those elections it is interesting to note that Senator Young carried every county in the state except three.

"Senator Young, throughout the years, has of course built up a great deal of seniority which is of extreme importance to a North Dakotan. Senator Young is now the ranking Number One Republican member of the all-powerful Senate Appropriations Committee and, further, as a result of his seniority, he is the only Republican who is a member of all fourteen of the appropriations subcommittees. In addition to Appropriations, he is second ranking Republican member on the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee."

SECOND READING OF A HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

House Concurrent Resolution No. 2. A Concurrent Resolution directing the legislative research committee to carry out a comprehensive study of the feasibility of merging the highway patrolmen's retirement fund and the teachers' retirement fund with the state employees' retirement fund.

Was read the second time.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
(Veto Message on House Bill No. 160)
STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA
Executive Office

Bismarck, March 12, 1969

The Honorable Ernest N. Johnson
Speaker of the House
North Dakota House of Representatives
State Capitol
Bismarck, North Dakota

Dear Mr. Speaker:

In 1967, the Legislature passed legislation which would permit political subdivisions to insure government buildings with private insurance companies rather than the State Fire and Tornado Fund. I stated then that to do so would mark the beginning of the end of the State Fire and Tornado Fund in favor of the private insurance companies. The phasing out of the State Fire and Tornado Fund would mark the beginning of higher appropriations for state insurance and more taxes from taxpayers.

The State Fire and Tornado Fund has been of tremendous benefit to the taxpayers of North Dakota who support school districts, cities, and villages, as well as the state government. The fund has always charged a lower premium for comparable protection than could be obtained from private sources.

The State Fire and Tornado Fund could not be construed as a state business as it was never in competition with private insurance companies in insuring risks in the private sector. The fund insures only government buildings.

State and local government has no obligation to generate business or provide profit for private enterprise. State and local government, however, does have a deep and abiding obligation to each and every taxpayer to operate all levels of government as efficiently and economically as is possible. I do not believe then that state or local government is obligated to the insurance industry to generate business for them, nor do I believe that the special interest of the insurance industry in conducting part of the business of government for a profit should supersede the interest of all taxpayer who seek economy in government. Government must be run as a business.

In the depths of the depression in the early 1930's, the Fire and Tornado Fund accepted school warrants at full value at a time when private insurers would have had to have cash.

The fund was so successful that for a period of years from 1935 to 1943, there were no annual premiums charged on buildings which had been insured for five years or more. No private insurance company could have come to the rescue of hard pressed state and local government in this manner. During this eight-year period, $1,686,000 in premiums was not charged by the fund and, in effect, provided this additional financial support to government.

The rate charged to local political subdivisions since 1943 has remained at 50% of the rates established by the Fire Underwriters Inspection Bureau, except for one term of two years when the rate was set at 60%.

When the law was changed on July 1, 1967, to permit private insurance companies to obtain insurance contracts on government buildings, there were approximately 5,500 buildings insured by the Fire and Tornado Fund in all counties in North Dakota. After 18 months of operation, we find that today the number of buildings insured by the fund has been reduced to 4,717. This is a 14% reduction in a little over one and one-half years.

On July 1, 1967, the Fire and Tornado Fund insured buildings with an approximate value of $350 million. Today that value has dropped to $318 million. Premiums charged by the Fire and Tornado Fund have dropped in the last 18 months from $1.2 million to $1.1 million.

Since the Fire and Tornado Fund was established in 1919, there have been total loss claims paid of $6,593,395.77. The present reserve in the fund for payment of losses to government buildings is now $7,974,201.99. The reserve on hand then at the present time far exceeds the total of all the losses to the fund since its beginning 40 years ago.

House Bill 160 seeks to make it optional for state agencies and state industries as well as political subdivisions to insure buildings, their fixtures and permanent contents, with private insurance companies if they wish. We have in this bill a very profound and basic concept which must be decided. That concept is, should state government have an obligation to the taxpayer which supersedes an obligation to any particular segment of the private business sector. In my judgment, government was created not to feed the private business sector, but to conduct the affairs under law of all citizens and taxpayers at the least possible economic cost to them.

There is no proof that optional coverage by private insurance companies can result in year-in and year-out savings to taxpayers.

State government, with its far flung building locations, does not have the concentrated risk for insurance consideration as do many risks in private business or, for that matter, in local government.

The theory of insurance is to protect the ability to restore a building that has been lost. In the case of state buildings, there is a question in my mind that there is any need to provide insurance at all because of the ability of taxpayers to spread the risk of a state building loss over thousands of other taxpayers.

Only in a few instances where state industries are involved, such as the State Mill or the Bank of North Dakota, are we insuring a productive capacity. And so any loss in state buildings, except for these few state industries, does not impair our taxpayer's productive capacity to generate income for replacement of loss. This is not true with private business whose productive capacity probably would be severely impaired or destroyed if they were to suffer a building loss.

In my judgment then, the state can more effectively serve the taxpayer by carrying a minimum of insurance at minimum cost to the taxpayer on state buildings. To open the door making it possible for private insurance companies to insure state buildings could not do other than raise the cost of government to the taxpayer.

The law does not require competitive bidding. The law permits officials to make a selection of insurance coverage unrelated to premium cost or adequate coverage. Already, in 18 months of operation, there is evidence that low bids are not being accepted in all cases by officials in local government.

Already, there is evidence of favoritism being granted to certain private insurance agencies. Already, there is evidence that Fire and Tornado Fund bids, even though the lowest, are being rejected. This kind of operation in government does not protect the interest of the taxpayers and is the type of operation that will sooner or later result in those types of scandals that reduce the confidence of the public in their public officials and government.

I have recommended in the past and I recommend now that the interest of our citizens and taxpayers would be best served if we were to strengthen the reserves of the Fire and Tornado Fund and to make adjustments in Fire and Tornado Fund coverage.

We see evidence that pressures are being brought to bear upon local government officials to grant insurance contracts to selected companies.

At this time, the 1967 law permits governing bodies to grant contracts without competitive sealed bids. The principle of open competitive bidding has been abolished under the 1967 law. House Bill No. 160 seeks to bring the insurance of state industries and state government under the weaknesses that were built into the 1967 law which permitted optional coverage by private insurance companies or the Fire and Tornado Fund.

There is no question that this bill would permit private insurance companies to pick and choose the low risk buildings and that the Fire and Tornado Fund would be used as a catch-all for the high risk buildings. It should be obvious to all what would be necessary in the competitive rates charged by the Fire and Tornado Fund when it would be required to carry the high risk buildings.

As the number of risks insured by the Fire and Tornado Fund shrinks, as the private insurance companies take over, there would undoubtedly be a rising loss history to the Fire and Tornado Fund because the remaining buildings would carry a higher risk. As the more hazardous risks left with the Fire and Tornado Fund caused losses to go up, insurance rates by the fund would have to increase. This would then provoke the cry that Fire and Tornado Fund rates had been forced up to comparable rates with private insurance and therefore this would prove that the Fire and Tornado Fund was not needed and should be phased out completely.

When the Fire and Tornado Fund has been phased out or effectively crippled, we can expect the rates of private insurance companies to rise on state buildings with no concern for competition.

As I said in 1967 in my message vetoing House Bill No. 714 of that year, I can see no legitimate philosophical, political, or economical reason why the private insurance industry should lay claim to the insurance of state buildings, particularly when such a claim will eventually result in a cost of at least one-half million dollars more annually to North Dakota taxpayers. If large sums of tax money were not involved, the insurance companies would not be interested in moving in.

I have seen much debate and concern in this session on various measures asking that savings of $10,000 here and $85,000 there be made. It does not seem to me to be consistent that the Legislature can be so concerned about relatively small but easily seen state appropriation expenses, and then totally ignore the substantially increased costs that are built into House Bill No. 160.

House Bill No. 160 is not a taxpayers' bill. It is an insurance industry bill. My obligation as Governor is to all of our citizens and taxpayers, and not just a special interest view.

I therefore veto House Bill No. 160.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM L. GUY
Governor

Was read the second time.

The question being on the final adoption of the resolution, so the Senate Concurrent Resolution was declared adopted on a voice vote.

SECOND READING OF SENATE BILLS
AND A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Senate Bill No. 45. A Bill for an Act to provide for the reclamation of strip mined lands, declaring a penalty, and providing an appropriation.

Was read the second time.

Rep. DeKrey requested that the following remarks be printed in the Journal on Senate Bill No. 45. Rep. DeKrey:

"Mr. Speaker and Fellow Legislators. Senate Bill No. 45, as you know, is the result of an interim study by the Legislative Research Committee. I respect this group, and respect them highly. However, my attitude toward Senate Bill No. 45 differs somewhat.

"I had hoped that the bill would be amended to make it mandatory to return all land disturbed by the mining industry to a level comparable to its former condition.

"This we see demonstrated by Basin Electric whereby they stipulate in their contract with their coal suppliers that the terrain be returned to a fifteen percent or less slope. This can be put to the same uses as before. If it is good for the uses of the farmer and rancher, it is good also for wild life, recreation, etc. I had also hoped that it might be amended to provide that the State Conservation Committee, working with and through our Soil Conservation District, be the agency selected for the revegetation. Revegetation can be done at very little cost per ton of coal, as has been demonstrated in thirty-one states where they are using reclamation and revegetation plans.

"Basin Electric is working with the State Committee and our Districts to a total cost of around two cents a ton of coal. This includes the cost of reseeded of grasses and perhaps trees. Make no error, even though the precious top soil is gone, nature is constantly attempting to put back that which was there formerly, and is a tremendous ally if given a chance.

"No doubt you have listened to the explanation of the bill and know what degree of leveling is stipulated. We have also heard the statement that this bill is the best we can get or pass. I challenge this and say to you that we, as the Legislature of the state of North Dakota, need accept nothing that is not to the best interest of this state. As the Past State President of the North Dakota Association of Soil Conservation Districts in the year 1962, I became acquainted with what is happening through strip mining and, today, around 10,000 acres lies in the ruin that strikes terror in the heart of a conservationist. We of this generation have destroyed much of our soil and land. However, this belongs to all generations and is ours but for a short span of time. Are we leaving our North Dakota and our 'America, The Beautiful' a hideous place by our having been there? We have a choice, and because of this choice and because I refuse to accept a bill less than the best, my protest shall be a vote against this bill.

"In closing, how about a severance tax proposed to the Forty-second Legislative Session, dedicated to the restoration of those 8,000 devastated acres, levied on a per-ton basis. In 1968, an estimated three to four million tons of lignite were mined. By 1971, when the Center Plant and the newly proposed Basin Plant are completed, consumption should go up from 50 to 75 percent, and ten years from now the figure should be ten million tons."

REP. BOUSTEAD, Chairman

Rep. Metzger moved that the report be adopted, which motion prevailed and the report was adopted.

Rep. Boustead requested that his remarks on the report of the Committee on Transportation on Senate Bill No. 480 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Boustead:

"Your Committee on Transportation has recommended indefinite postponement of Senate Bill No. 480.

"I wish to point out that your committee is fully aware of Section 402, subsection C of Title 23, United States Code, and the provisions contained therein pertaining to the ten percent penalty clause of withholding federal aid funds. Your committee generally opposed this legislation feeling that mandatory inspection is an invitation to graft and corruption.

"Senate Bill No. 480 does not include all registered vehicles and the fact that it does not take effect until July 1, 1971, weakens the legislation to the point where it would perhaps not be acceptable to the new Secretary of the Department of Transportation. Further, it was brought out in committee that current statistics are not adequate in showing proof that faulty equipment is the cause of a great percentage of accidents. Representative Hensrud, who has had 20 years of experience in the North Dakota Highway Patrol, stated that in checking accident reports by the men in the field, it showed that less than one percent of such accidents resulted from mechanical malfunction of vehicles.

"Senate Bill No. 480 provides for a minimum inspection fee of $3 for passenger cars and a maximum of $7 for trucks. The committee is opposed to further assessing our taxpayers one and one-half million dollars for motor vehicle inspection, feeling that this amount of money could be spent in other safety fields, such as increasing the strength of our Highway Patrol, in better highway construction and additional education in the dangers of alcohol and driving.

"In testimony, it was pointed out there are many states presently considering similar type legislation. As of this date, it has been reported that approximately 13 of these states have taken the same action as we are proposing. Several members are of the opinion that the Department of Transportation will have a model law to offer to the respective legislatures within the next two years. Consequently, if such should come to pass, it will eliminate much confusion which presently exists across the nation concerning this issue."

SECOND READING OF SENATE BILLS

Senate Bill No. 1. A Bill for an Act making an appropriation for the general operation, maintenance and plant improvements of the state institutions of higher learning of the State of North Dakota; and to amend and reenact section 1 of chapter 157 of the 1967 Session laws, relating to the transfer of funds to and the administration of the college building fund.

Was read the second time.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Sanstead:

"In looking at this intent sentence, I cannot help but feel we have taken a gigantic step backward in North Dakota education to suggest that we want to place a major share of the responsibility upon the individual seeking an education, and increasing tuitions as has been done is working a hardship on those who most need help in their efforts to attend college. There are student loans available, and that money makes it possible for students to attend college, but my observation is that those loans are most frequently used by those who least need them.

"In working with high school students, I find that many of those who need the money most frequently get no such assistance. The young people who need the money most usually are the ones from families without financial experience and are afraid of a long-term college loan program. Therefore, I would suggest that while I wish to vote for this appropriation, at the same time I want to express my displeasure at the intent provision in this amendment."

Rep. Tweten moved that the language that pertains to the intent of the amendments to Senate Bill No. 1 be stricken from the Journal, as it appears on pages 1243, 1300 and 1301 of the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

REPORT

of the

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON ELECTRICAL SERVICES

to the

FORTY-FIRST LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

The Special Committee on Electrical Services was created by House Concurrent Resolution "B-2" of the Fortieth Legislative Assembly. Members appointed to the Committee were Representatives Glen Goodman, Chairman, Jack Bernabucci, and Richard J. Backes; Senators Guy Larson and L. D. (Lee) Christensen; Mr. Clarence Welander and Mr. Loren Richards, representing the rural electric cooperatives; and Mr. Robert Nygaard and Mr. Richard Jacobson, representing the investor-owned or public utility companies. Senator George Rait later replaced Senator Christensen who was injured in an accident and was unable to serve on the Committee.

The Committee was directed to meet during the interim to study what method, if any, should be provided to resolve territorial disputes between electrical suppliers, whether more lucrative market areas were essential to the efficiency of rural electrical cooperatives, and if rural electrical cooperatives should be regulated in the same manner as rural telephone cooperatives. The Committee was further directed to report its findings to the Forty-first Legislative Assembly, together with any legislation that might be proposed.

The Special Committee on Electrical Services met on seven separate occasions during the interim to receive testimony and conduct studies relative to the areas assigned to it for investigation. The major portion of the study dealt with an examination of the present status of North Dakota territorial laws relating to electrical suppliers.

TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY ACT

In 1965, the Legislative Assembly enacted chapter 319 of the Session Laws which was to be known popularly as the "Territorial Integrity Act."

Under this Act, a public utility may not begin the construction or extension of a public utility plant or system, until a certificate of public convenience and necessity is obtained for such construction or extension. A public utility also may not extend transmission or distribution lines beyond the corporate limits of a municipality or serve any customer outside a municipality, unless an order and a certificate of public convenience and necessity is first gained. While chapter 319 did not require that public utility companies discontinue service to customers who were being served outside of municipalities prior to the effective date of the Act, they were required to file maps within ninety days showing all such customers, or it was conclusively presumed that the customer was not being served. In this event, the customer could not be served unless authorized by the Commission in accordance with those provisions of the Act relating to extensions of service.

Public utilities were allowed to make extensions of service in municipalities where they had lawfully commenced operations without obtaining a certificate, if the extension would not interfere with services already provided by a cooperative or another public utility, or result in an unreasonable duplication of services.

Certain limitations were placed on the issuance of orders and certificates of public convenience and necessity by the Public Service Commission. They were not to be issued to any private utility to allow an extension of distribution lines outside a municipality or allow the service of a new customer outside the municipality, unless the nearest cooperative had consented to the service in writing, or unless it was shown upon hearing that the cooperative could not supply the service. And, certificates were not necessary for the extension of facilities if a "consent" agreement was entered into between the cooperative and the public utility as to service areas and the agreement was approved by the Public Service Commission.

Thus, the Act basically allowed cooperatives to extend service in rural areas and public utilities to extend service in municipal areas without first obtaining a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the Public Service Commission — admittedly a time-consuming process — the theory being that the delineation of service areas would allow each type of enterprise to expand within its own sphere without conflict with each other. Problems arose, however, as the public utility companies felt that by being confined to municipal areas except as provided by the Act, they were being denied a fair share of the business arising in the rural "growth" areas. This objection to the effect of the Territorial Integrity Act culminated in the case of Montana-Dakota Utilities Company v. Johanneson, 153 N.W2d 414 (N. D. Sup. Ct. 1967), which squarely attacked its constitutionality. In Johanneson, the public utility companies took the position that the law was on an unconstitutional classification for several reasons. They contended that cooperatives were given a monopoly in rural areas and were allowed to operate without Public Service Commission regulation, while the public utilities were regulated in every respect by that agency. Further, they claimed that cooperatives could infringe on the existing service areas of public utility companies in rural localities and that new customers could be gained in municipal areas only if there was no interference with cooperative services already provided in the municipality. Finally, they asserted that cooperatives had a right to complain against public utilities' actions, but the utilities had no such right as against actions of the cooperatives. Thus, they maintained that the Territorial Integrity Act was unfair, arbitrary and unreasonable, and discriminated against the public utility companies and the public generally.

The North Dakota Supreme Court in Johanneson upheld the constitutionality of the Act in all but one respect. It was held that the Act did amount to a classification in that public utilities and cooperatives were treated dissimilarly, but the classification was not objectionable, as it was based on legally justifiable distinctions. And, while public utilities were denied the right under the Act to complain of improper actions by cooperatives, the right remained to bring an action in the courts of the state for redress of any injury that might be suffered. Thus, the court reasoned, the public utilities did have an adequate remedy and were not prejudiced.

It was found to be otherwise with regard to section three of the Act which conditioned the issuance of certificates of public convenience and necessity on the written consent of the nearest cooperative, or upon a finding that the cooperative could not provide the service. Here, the court found that it was "... the cooperative, and not the Public Service Commission . . . that determines whether a certificate of public convenience and necessity shall be granted to a public utility in the area outside the limits of the municipality" and that "(n)o guidelines are set out in the law to be followed by the cooperative in making such determination, and no safeguards are provided against arbitrary action . . ." Thus, the court held that where "... the Act attempts to delegate, to either the Public Service Commission or the cooperative, powers and functions which determine such policy and which fix the principles which are to control, the Act is unconstitutional." Likewise, the court found that the portion of the Act which permitted supplying of service without certificates if a "consent" agreement was entered into by the cooperative and public utility as to service areas also was unconstitutional, as again the cooperative was permitted to determine whether a certificate should be granted.

The impact of the Johanneson decision immediately became evident. Since the provisions of the Territorial Integrity Act allowing for "consent" agreements in lieu of certificates of public convenience and necessity were declared unconstitutional, it was apparent that the caseload of the Commission in the issuance of certificates would increase substantially. In anticipation of this increase and to reduce the delay caused by the notices and hearings necessary for the issuance of certificates, the Public Service Commission requested an opinion of the Attorney General as to whether conditional certificates could be issued without the usual full-scale hearing and determination. The Attorney General, by opinion dated October 30, 1967, found that the issuing of conditional certificates without hearing was proper, provided that the controversy was fully submitted to the Commission by the interested parties in such a manner so that a decision could be made, and that the parties waive the notice and hearing required in the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Thus, the issuing of temporary certificates under certain conditions was upheld and is presently being practiced by the Commission. Procedurally, temporary certificates have been issued by the Commission only in situations where an emergency has arisen, defined as the immediate need for electrical service by a consumer.

CONTENT OF THE STUDY

A. Public Service Commission

During the course of the study, the Committee drew on the expertise and experience of the Public Service Commission in the area of electrical services generally, and received considerable advice and assistance from this agency. Testimony received from the Commissioners on the subject of regulation by the Public Service Commission was especially illuminating to the members of the Committee. Generally, satisfaction was voiced as to the bipartisanship of the Public Service Commission, and it was commented by one of the Commissioners that it was his opinion that the positions should be appointive, rather than elective, since little interest in the office is shown by the voters. On the subject of whether cooperatives should be placed under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission, the Commissioners were not in agreement. One felt that cooperatives should be regulated, one felt that they should not, and one felt that cooperatives should be regulated when they began serving nonmembers. The Commissioners were basically of the opinion that the present Territorial Integrity Act was beneficial and pointed out some areas where improvements could be made. While it was reported that the workload of the Commission has been increased by the administration of the Act, it was also indicated that the issuance of temporary certificates has helped considerably to speed the procedure by which service is authorized.

Testimony given by one of the Commissioners suggested that as an aid to determine when temporary certificates should be issued, guidelines should be set out by the legislature. It was also indicated that in rural areas where a public utility was providing existing service, the laws should be amended to permit service without obtaining a certificate when the connection could be made with a secondary drop. The Commissioners also felt that "consent" agreements as to service areas were desirable and some way should be found whereby such agreements could be constitutionally made.

B. Position of the Cooperatives

As a method of defining the problems that face cooperative and public utility companies, the two groups were invited by the Committee to outline their position on the matters under investigation and to submit proposals for consideration.

Basically, the cooperatives feel that the Territorial Integrity Act is working, and that fair and adequate guidelines are being developed by the Public Service Commission in following the interpretation placed on the law by the North Dakota Supreme Court in the Johannesson case.

Any change in the present Act is opposed by this group until such time as inequities exist which in their opinion require revision of the law. They point to the North Dakota Supreme Court decisions interpreting the present law as clearly indicating that cooperatives are given a preference over public utilities in the furnishing of service outside the corporate limits of municipalities. Thus, the law has created two territorial jurisdictions in their viewpoint — franchised areas within municipalities which are to be served by the public utilities, and nonfranchised areas outside of municipalities which are to be served by cooperatives.

The cooperatives maintain that any change in the law would result in considerable expense to cooperative and public utility companies alike, as interpretative measures would have to begin anew. This cost would be detrimental to the consumer, they claim, as it would be passed on to him in the form of an increase in the cost of service.

The cooperatives contend that testimony that the caseload of the Commission has leveled off proves that the present law is working satisfactorily. They further claim that they are protesting very few applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity by public utilities to serve in rural areas, and have submitted documents tending to point this out.

Regulation by the Public Service Commission is not necessary, claim the cooperatives, as they are regulated by their members. All earned margins are returned to their consumers, making regulation in any area other than that of safety needless.

Finally, the cooperatives maintain that to survive, they must continue to grow, and to grow, they must be able to attract and serve new customers. They point out that the population distribution within the state is presently experiencing a shift, from rural to urban, thus placing them at a disadvantage in attaining new consumers. They state that consumer density on cooperative lines is approximately 1.3 consumers per mile, while the public utilities have a concentration of approximately 29.4 consumers per mile. Annual revenue estimates, according to their calculations, approximate $300 per mile of line for cooperatives, and $8,600 per mile of line for public utilities. Thus, it is the cooperatives' position that they furnish a service to rural areas of the state that public utilities could not economically furnish, and, as the burden of serving such areas would be passed on to the municipal consumer, it is a service the public utilities companies should not be allowed to furnish.

C. Position of the Public Utilities Companies

The public utilities companies maintain that the cooperatives should be brought under jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission. They point out that they are regulated in all respects by the Commission, and contend that it is basically unfair to allow the cooperatives to complain to the Commission concerning practices of the utilities, without allowing the utilities the same procedure. It is important to realize, they claim, that they suffer a disadvantage in the rural areas that they are lawfully serving through extensions of service made before the inception of the Territorial Integrity Act, as they must secure a certificate of public convenience and necessity before a new consumer can be served in these areas. This process, involving waiting periods sometimes in excess of six months, they believe causes considerable delay and expense to the utility and hardship to the rural consumer who needs service immediately. In agreeing that the issuance of temporary certificates has somewhat eased the situation, they state that an inequity is involved here also, as the right to permanently serve may well be awarded to the nearest cooperative company, thus causing a considerable loss to the utility from the construction of service facilities they cannot utilize.

Of greatest concern to the public utilities are the outlying portions of metropolitan areas where population is increasing. The present territorial law, they maintain, stifles growth and creates confusion and uncertainty, as the utilities are not allowed to expand with the population move from city and rural areas into the fringe locations around cities. They feel that since they are ready, willing, and able to serve these new market areas and, in fact, are serving many consumers in these locations already by virtue of extensions made before the territorial laws, a preference for cooperatives is unfair. Therefore, the public utilities are not opposed to cooperative monopoly in the far rural areas of the state, but vigorously maintain that in order to serve their customers economically and provide a return to their stockholders, they must also continue to grow, and the only area where growth is possible is in the metropolitan fringe area. They point out that duplication of facilities in such locations is economically prejudicial to the consumer and should not be permitted.

Thus, the public utilities feel that a change in the law is necessary to permit costly and time-consuming controversies arising from uncertainty in metropolitan fringe areas to be quickly resolved, thereby benefiting the consumer. In order to effect this change, they propose changes in the law which would provide for Public Service Commission jurisdiction over cooperative electrical companies, allow for territorial "consent" agreements between electrical suppliers as to service areas, permit extensions of service without a certificate of public convenience and necessity unless the extension came within a prescribed distance from an existing service of another supplier, and codify and clarify the law regarding temporary permits.

STATEMENT OF THE CHAIRMAN WITH RESPECT TO THE STUDY

As chairman of the Special Committee on Electrical Services, I would like to take this opportunity to commend the members of the Committee for the manner in which they conducted themselves during Committee hearings. All members showed a genuine interest and concern in the matters considered during the biennium relative to the study. I also wish to thank the Public Service Commissioners and the many witnesses who appeared before the Committee and submitted testimony in regard to the matters under consideration.

Although the Committee makes no recommendations, it is my opinion as Chairman that considerable knowledge was gained in respect to the problems faced by both the rural electric cooperatives and private utilities groups, and I hope that this report will give the members of the Forty-first Legislative Assembly some insight into the problems.

Respectfully submitted,

GLEN GOODMAN, Chairman
Special Committee on Electrical Services

Rep. Reimers:

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

"I would like to discuss this bill momentarily. I went along with the motion to lay House Bill No. 508 on the table, because it was completely re-arranged in the Senate, deleting everything after the word

"Bill", and establishing a commission, and I am not sure that was all bad. I probably could have gone along. The reason I want to speak on this is because the Honorable Senator Milton R. Young was mentioned, and he did enthusiastically support having a liaison man in Bismarck, and after the bill was turned around, he washed his hands of it, and he did send several of us a telegram to that effect. However, he was wholeheartedly in support of this measure as it was originally drawn."

Rep. Aamoth:

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

"I am sorry I did not have the amendments before me on House Bill No. 508 to explain them, but the amendments as now drawn merely call for a legislative study on the thing which we had the last biennium. This is the second time I have seen a bill presented to this body calling for a study, and I believe it properly should be in the form of a resolution. I voted no because I wanted the opportunity to explain it to you. As it stands now, I could not be in favor of it. I think we should be cautious in the future about putting statutes on the books that call for studies during the interim, and this is the first session I have seen this done, and I think it is a bad practice."

SECOND READING OF A SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Was read the second time.

The question being on the final adoption of the resolution, so the Senate Concurrent Resolution was declared lost on a voice vote.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Stone:

"I believe this is the time to rise to a point of personal privilege and explain that a list of our honor students who have attained an average of 3.2 or better in all college work, and who are enrolled in at least 12 hours of credit, is now being distributed to all of you.

"In regard to the Resolution which was just lost, I might state it might be better to invite students to attend meetings of the State Board of Higher Education upon special invitation so they are able to learn of their work and the problems which the Board has.

"At this time I would like to answer the remarks made by Rep. Hoghaug in regard to education and the point that he had made that junior colleges receive so much less in state support. It is true that costs are less at junior colleges than at four-year schools. I don't think this could be a better example of statistics which may sound correct, but which really are so very incorrect. I feel that our junior colleges have served their purposes. They have taken a great deal of the load from our larger schools. Many of the students attending the junior colleges for two years might not have been able to attend school otherwise. However, we must consider for a moment what is offered at each of these institutions. Think what a freshman has at his disposal at a university, in the way of library resources, research and at least three times the number of courses to choose from than you have at a junior college. Surely, it would cost more.

"I would like to say that this is a difficult thing. I can remember a long time ago we were told in school that the United States had almost reached its peak of population. It was going to go just a little above 130 million people, and they had statistics to prove why they had arrived at that figure. I remember that well. Today we are over the 200 million mark, and we are well on our way to a much higher figure. Statistics do not prove these things. Let us make comparisons in the proper way."

426 county, cities, park boards, school districts, airport authorities,
427 townships, and all other units of government having the authority
428 to levy taxes, and levies voted by the people, new or present
429 levies increased by legislative action of such county on those 430 items of personal property exempt under the provisions of 431 section 57-02-08, and, in addition, to the total valuation of real 432 estate and taxes levied on real estate for the year 1968. On or 433 before May 1, 1971, and each year thereafter, the state tax
434 commissioner shall certify for payment to the state treasurer an 435 amount for payment by the state treasurer to each county equal 435a to

436 fifty percent of the amount determined to be due such county
437 based upon the personal property taxes levied in the year 1968
437a for the political subdivisions herein mentioned on the items
438 of personal property exempt from the personal property tax
439 under the provisions of section 57-02-08, the per capita school
440 tax under the provisions of section 57-15-23, and the grain tax
441 under the provisions of chapter 57-03, together with any 442 adjustments to be made according to the manner hereinafter 443 provided. The remaining fifty percent due each county shall 444 be paid on or before June 1, 1971, and each year thereafter.

445 Within sixty days after the receipt of the revenue as provided
446 by this section, the county treasurer shall allocate and remit
447 to the county, cities, park boards, school districts, airport
448 authorities, townships, and all other units of government
449 having the authority to levy taxes that amount of revenue which 450 is received from the state in the same ratio as he would have 451 distributed the revenue from the personal property tax, adjusting
452 such amount by any increase or decrease in real property taxes

453 as levied by each taxing authority according to the formula
 454 hereinafter provided. Any amount that would be apportioned 454a and
 455 credited to the retirement of a bonded indebtedness existing in 456 1970 for which a tax levy was made in 1970 and in any year
 457 thereafter, shall be credited to the general fund of the political 458 subdivision. In the years after 1971, payments to the counties
 459 under this section shall be made based upon such payment for 460 1971 together with a growth factor which shall be based upon
 461 the dollar amount of increase or decrease in real property taxes
 462 levied within each county. For each four-dollar increase in 463 real property taxation within a county, the state shall contribute 464 an additional one dollar over the amount which was remitted in 465 the base year. For each four-dollar decrease in real property
 466 taxation within a county, the state shall contribute one dollar
 467 less than that amount which was remitted in the base year.

468 On or before May 1, 1971, and each year thereafter, the 469 state tax commissioner shall certify to the state treasurer
 470 the amount determined to be due to the state based upon the 471 personal property taxes levied in the year 1968 for the North
 472 Dakota state medical center. In the years after 1971 the amount
 473 so certified shall be computed in accordance with the formula
 474 provided in this section for computing the amounts to be 475 certified and paid to the counties. The state treasurer upon 476 receiving the certification from the tax commissioner shall 477 transfer from the general fund to the credit of the North
 478 Dakota state medical center the amount so certified.

479 Provided, however, that the provisions of this section
 480 of this Act shall not become effective if for any reason any 481 other provision of this Act does not become effective, nor shall 482 the provisions of this section continue in effect if this Act
 483 does become effective and any part of it is invalidated or 484 disapproved in any way, other than by action of the legislative 485 assembly, that would cause it to become ineffective.

486 SECTION 21. COMPUTATION OF GRANTS-IN-AID TO 486a COUNTY

487 EQUALIZATION FUNDS.) The superintendent of public
 487a instruction
 488 in determining the amount of a grant-in-aid from the state to 489 the county equalization fund of each county shall reduce the 490 amount of such payment by the amount that is equal to that part
 491 of the distribution made pursuant to section 20 of this Act
 492 with respect to the county equalization fund levy, which amount
 493 shall be certified to the superintendent of public instruction
 494 by the state tax commissioner.

495 SECTION 22. DECLARATION OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT.)

495a It is
 496 the intent of the legislative assembly to remove from taxation
 497 all personal property, except as specifically provided in this 498 Act, and to replace such taxes with a separate one percent sales
 499 tax and a broadened base on sales and use taxes. It is the 500 further intent of the legislative assembly to apply a business
 501 privilege tax on all professional and business income earned,
 502 other than as an employee, in order to prevent an unreasonable
 503 shifting of the tax burden to salaried persons. In addition, it
 504 is the intent of the legislative assembly to impose business
 505 privilege taxes upon corporations or cooperative corporations, 506 banks, trust companies, and building and loan associations, but 507 to specifically exclude from the provisions of this Act, both as 508 to the exemption of personal property taxation and as to the 509 replacement income taxes, those nonprofit corporations which do 510 not pay income taxes either because they are exempted from the 511 provisions of the income tax by law or because of the peculiar 512 nature of their status in relation to other corporations, in

513 order to prevent injustice by granting relief to any class
 514 without providing for the sharing of the replacement tax burden.
 515 SECTION 23. APPROPRIATION.) There is hereby 515a appropriated
 516 out of any moneys in the general fund in the state treasury,
 517 not otherwise appropriated, such amount as shall be necessary
 518 to carry out the provisions of this Act, including such additional 519 data processing costs that may be incurred by the office of 520 central data processing in excess of the data processing
 521 appropriation for the office of the state tax commissioner
 522 SECTION 24. REPEAL.) Sections 18-03-09, 37-01-27,
 523 57-15-23, and chapter 57-03 of the North Dakota Century Code
 524 and subsection 14 of section 57-39.2-04 of the 1967 Supplement
 525 to the North Dakota Century Code are hereby repealed."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Aas:

"For the past sixty days we have had on this floor, in committee, in the corridors, great discussion over personal property tax. During that period I have gained much knowledge of taxation and tax implications. Our debate was vigorous, strenuous and our feelings strong. I have championed a cause and lost, but let me assure you I have gained much personally from this experience. I carry no animosity. I have gained a great respect for Chairman Dornacker and much respect for Representatives McDonald, Backes and Larson, whom I considered my personal adversaries. We respect each other for our points of view. We have given our total effort. You have made your decision. I sincerely hope the bill is mechanically sound, and the decision will be accepted and will accomplish all its proponents hope it will."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Reimers:

"Even though I did not support Senate Bill No. 137, I do believe that Rep. Dornacker has done mountains of work on this bill. He first opposed personal property tax repeal then turned around and is the proponent of Senate Bill No. 137. He has worked tirelessly on this for two years, and I feel this Assembly owes him a extreme debt of gratitude."

Rep. Dornacker was accorded a rising vote of thanks from the Assembly.

House Bill No. 279. A Bill for an Act to create and enact subsection 7 of section 38-03-07 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to accident prevention programs; to amend and reenact sections 38-03-01, 38-03-02, 38-03-03, 38-03-05, 38-03-06, subsection 1 of section 38-03-07, subsection 5 of section 38-03-07, sections 38-03-14, 38-03-18, and 38-03-19 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to the appointment, qualifications, bond, vacancy in office, powers and duties, assistants, removal and filling vacancy of state coal mine inspector; to amend and reenact sections 38-04-06 and 38-04-07 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to the contents of records to be kept by each coal mine and report to coal mine inspector; and to amend and reenact section 38-05-07 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to certificate of qualification as mine foreman.

Was read the second time.

Rep. Wm. Erickson requested that his remarks on House Bill No. 279 be printed in the Journal.

Rep. Wm. Erickson:

Mr. Speaker, My Colleagues in the House of Representatives:

"Although I did sign the committee report, I do rise in opposition to this bill.

"I understand that you must have one member for each house in opposition before you can bring in a minority report, so that is why this was not done. When we heard this bill in State and Federal House Committee we had testimony from both Public Service Commission — all three members were present — also from the Workmen's Compensation Committee. All three members were in complete accord with leaving this with the Workmen's Compensation.

"Looking over the amendment by the Senate, I find nothing there that requires the State Mine Inspector to report to the Workmen's Compensation Bureau pertaining to the safety of the mines. It only says he shall cooperate with them. I believe this will result in dual inspection. I feel the Senate could have extended the courtesy of having a Democratic N.P.L. member from the Senate on this committee, and then we could have brought in a minority report."

ROLL CALL

The question being on the final passage of the bill, as amended, the roll was called and there were ayes, 41; nays, 48; absent and not voting, 9.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Stone requested that the following be printed in the Journal, as presented to her by Mr. Ernest Ames, Capitol Guide.

Rep. Stone:

"As we know, North Dakota along with our sister state, South Dakota, will reach a milestone this year. We will celebrate our 80th birthday of statehood on November 2, 1969.

"I think this poem would remind us of those days. Although the author is unknown, I believe this to be written by a lady of the territorial days. I also believe this poem to be in the original form as it was written many years ago.

"The words of this poem are as meaningful today as they were in the past."

"DAKOTA

"Where the wild wind sweeps the prairie
Stretching out into the west
Lies the region of Dakota
That's the place I love the best
Warm and bright Dakota's sunshine
And her skies are ever blue
Brave and strong her sons and daughters,
With their hearts so staunch and true.

"Tell me not of sunlit gardens
Lying in some tropic clime,
Tell me not of scenes of grandeur
Fashioned by the hands of time.
I prefer these rolling prairies,
Nature's riches, greatest boon
Give to me the scent of grasses
And the sweet wild roses bloom.

"There is this about Dakota,
And I've often wondered why,
You will love her when you see her
And you'll love her till you die.
For there's something in this country
Sets a person's soul aflame,
And it makes you feel like living
Every time you hear her name.

"Have you ever seen the sun set
Like a great, big, fiery ball,
Sinking lower, lower, lower
Till there's none of him at all?
Then he sends up gorgeous colors:
Blue and purple, red and green.
That's a sunset in Dakota
And a finer can't be seen.

"Have you ever heard the wind sigh
Soft and mournful, sweet and low,
Then it seems someone is calling
And you feel you've got to go?
Then it keeps on getting stronger
Like the Master at the bow,
Till it takes you straight to heaven
Where the joys supreme you'll know.

"Oh, Dakota, bright Dakota,
Queen of all the golden west,
Other places may be charming,
But you're fairer than the rest,
For your days are filled with sunshine,
And your skies are ever blue.
To a heart that's tired and lonesome
There's no other place like you!

Rep. Streibel moved that the House stand recessed to the call of the chair, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Lundene

ROY GILBREATH, Chief Clerk

Rep. Wagner moved that the House proceed to a special order of business, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Boustead was called to the chair to preside.

Rep. Boustead called Rep. Bunker to the rostrum.

Rep. Bunker introduced Rep. Aas.

Rep. Aas:

"Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly:

"It is with great pleasure that I accept the assignment of making a presentation to the Minority Caucus Leader. It is especially a pleasure because I consider Rep. Backes a personal friend, since he is a farmer and business man in the Glenburn area only a few miles from Minot. I consider him a neighbor. In fact, his brother Orlin Backes has been my next-door neighbor for the past year or two.

"Rep. Backes and I both served on the Finance and Taxation Committee, and we have each presented the other side of the story on a number of occasions. Rep. Backes and I also served together on the Personal Property Tax Conference Committee. In differing — and often strenuously — we have found many common grounds, the most important of which is friendship and admiration.

"Rep. Backes and I may not be of the same political faith, but I am going to acquire a pair of cowboy boots so we can form an alliance.

"Rep. Backes has demonstrated that the minority can be responsible. I find it a sincere privilege to present this token of friendship from this body to Rep. Backes, the Minority Floor Leader."

Rep. Backes:

"Thank you, Rep. Aas, for your kind words.

"For a while I thought this gift was a present for being your chief adversary.

"This gift comes as a surprise to me, and I am very appreciative of it.

"It has been a pleasure to work with all of the members of this Forty-first Assembly.

"Rep. Aas and I are truly warm personal friends, as he has stated.

"I wish to thank you again."

Rep. Bunker:

"The first time I saw Rep. Hoffner was on television. He was saying "Mark Andrews doesn't like people." As a result of this I didn't like Rep. Hoffner.

"In partisan politics I suppose it is rather common to dislike a member of the "other" party. However, I have found that this feeling, at least with myself, dissipates itself when one becomes personally acquainted with an individual such as I have mentioned.

"I first met Rep. Hoffner two years ago when he was visiting the Capitol as he had interrupted service in the Legislature and was not then a member of the body. I found him to be a refreshing personality and a very pleasant individual.

"Then when he returned to the House this session I had the opportunity to work with him and observe his activity in the Legislature. We served together on the General Affairs Committee. We worked together on that committee to make no change as to who the official hostess for the State of North Dakota would be.

"As the assistant floor leader for the 'loyal opposition', Rep. Hoffner has demonstrated his affinity for leadership, cooperation, consideration, understanding and not the least, his ability to see the lighter side of the issue.

"'Buckshot', you are truly a credit to the North Dakota Legislature."

Rep. Hoffner:

"Mr. Speaker, Members of this Assembly:

"I thank you Rep. Bunker for your kind remarks and thank you members of the House for this gift. I have certainly enjoyed working with all of you. It has been a wonderful experience for me. I served in the minority party in the 1963 session and in the 1965 session I served in the majority. It took me a while to get adjusted to serving in the minority again. However, I consider it a valuable experience to serve both in the majority and in the minority. For those of you members who haven't served in the minority I would suggest that it might be a good idea to try it some time.

"I certainly want to thank Rep. Link and I have enjoyed working as his assistant, and I think Speaker Johnson has done a wonderful job as has Rep. Streibel and Rep. Strinden.

"I am certainly pleased that we don't have the political bickering this session as we have had in the past sessions. I am sure the state of North Dakota has benefitted. There is one thing that sort of disturbed me and that is that the people of North Dakota really have no idea of how many man-hours go into the legislative process.

"In closing I would like to say that I think the rapport between the Governor and the Legislature has been very good. Thanks again."

Rep. Lundene:

"It becomes my privilege to take part in this brief love fest, and I believe that the presentation I am about to make is something of a first in what I believe is a well-established and most commendable exercise which has become something of a legend in North Dakota Legislature.

"There is an individual in this assembly who is rather short on physical stature but long on political stature. He is also long on pronunciation of words such as appear in House Bill No. 274, commonly know as the Glue Sniffing Bill.

"In his position as caucus chairman of the majority party, I really have never been able to observe, in fact, they always neglected to invite me.

"However, as a close observer of the actions of the majority party, I am convinced the majority has been under expert leadership, and I am delighted to present this token of appreciation to you, Rep. Wagner, caucus chairman of the majority party, in behalf of the entire assembly."

Rep. Wagner:

"Mr. Speaker, Representative Lundene:

"Thank you very much. It is ironic to work for a couple of weeks in trying to arrange a program, and tell the people to get the gifts, make the arrangements so people who make the presentation have speeches prepared for the record, and then move in and find yourself put on the program without your knowing it. I did not know this was going to happen.

"This has been a great session, and you have been a wonderful group of people to work with — both in the Majority and the Minority, and I wish to thank you all very much."

Rep. Sanstead:

"The image of the state legislator as a person of high motivation, talent and ambition to excel is scarcely ever conveyed in the mass media or academic literature. There is a persistent public belief that legislators fail to engage themselves seriously in the important tasks of the legislature, preferring instead to devote their energies to less worthy functions and activities — running errands for constituents, celebrating the legislature before visiting school children or local civic groups, harrassing state agencies and dealing in patronage and local and state political problems.

"My purpose here is not to try to weigh the accuracy of the general indictment but I do want to say that if one member in this House has been the opposite example of these charges, it has been Rep. Earl Strinden. As assistant majority leader of this 41st Session, Rep. Strinden has exhibited the highest qualities of leadership and diligence in his legislative role. It is a privilege to have served with him the past two sessions and now to formally recognize his competence and contribution to those of us who have had the privilege of recognizing him as Mr. Assistant Majority Leader. Representative Strinden."

Rep. Strinden:

"Thank you, Rep. Sanstead and Members of this 41st Assembly. The opportunity to serve in the State Legislature is a unique and wonderful experience. The friendships made, the fine associations for all of us will be cherished for a lifetime.

"I would like to pay special tribute to our Majority Floor Leader, Bryce Streibel, for the superb job he has done for all of us during the session; to Speaker Ernest Johnson for the dignified and orderly manner in which he conducted the assembly, and to the leaders of the opposition party, Minority Floor Leader Link and Assistant Minority Floor Leader Hoffner. It has been a real honor and privilege to be associated with and work with these fine dedicated gentlemen.

"I wish to thank all of you again for the privilege of serving with you, the Members of the House of Representatives in the 41st Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota."

Rep. Aamoth:

"Speaker Johnson, Chairman Carl, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Assembly:

"As we approach the twilight hours of this session and we come to the place where we drop the heavy obligations of the pressures and decisions momentarily, we join together to recognize the work of the leadership. The younger generation might well call this a "love-in", but it is really a necessary part of any session.

"It is a rare privilege to be asked by you members to speak on your behalf and to pay your respects to one of the leaders who has served you so ably during this, the Forty-first Session.

"To me, I am most grateful to have the opportunity to thank your Minority Leader, Rep. Link, who is serving his twelfth session in the House of Representatives. Even though his Party is not represented in the numbers that I would hope they would have in this and future sessions, Rep. Link has always presented the Minority viewpoint with character and dignity which are the mark of an able statesman and a gentleman. But more important and most impressive to me are his characteristics as a man and a friend. Art is gentle by nature but firm by resolution. He is forthright, dependable and at all times an extremely able individual. North Dakota is lucky to have this man who has dedicated his time, his determination, his energy and his mind to the matters of our great state.

"It is a privilege to serve with you and on behalf of the membership of this House, to pay you their respects for another job so ably and well done.

"Please accept this small gift as a token of our appreciation."

Rep. Link:

"Thank you so much, Gordie, and I use that term because that is the way we know one another, and that is the way I know so many of you in this Assembly, and I am sure if I had had the opportunity to know each of you and working as long with each of you as some of those with whom we have had so close an association, so we would have established the same first-name friendship with its fullest meaning. Abraham Lincoln said, 'There is something about a person that makes me want to know him better.'

"It was suggested that I prepare remarks for this biennial affair, and I declined because I wanted to say what came to my mind, and I know the Desk Reporter will record whatever I say.

"I could not stand here before you this morning without paying special tribute to just a lot of people. Speaker Johnson has been an outstanding Speaker of this session, and his service will go down in history as one of the outstanding Speakers of the North Dakota House of Representatives. I must mention the able work of our Chief Clerk, Roy Gilbreath, our Chief Reporter, Barbara King — who is a neighbor of mine just across the river to the north of McKenzie County. She has distinguished herself and our community by her efficient service. My thanks to our amiable Sergeant-at-Arms.

"I wish to thank my personal friend and adversary, Bryce Streibel, as Majority Floor Leader, and his very able assistant, Earl Strinden. My personal commendation goes to my assistant, Buckshot Hoffner as Assistant Minority Floor Leader.

"I wonder if we realize how ineffective we would be without the small army that works around here, almost at our command — the bill book clerks, the pages, the committee clerks, the stenographers in the stenographic pool, and the services of the custodians and permanent employees of the capitol who take over custodial duties here when the Legislature moves in. The entire capitol takes on a new resurgence of activity when the Legislature arrives, and this even extends outside the capitol to the parking lot with its attendants who greet us every morning when we come to work. I know I can express the thanks and appreciation of this entire body for these many services. If there are any I have not mentioned, it is unintentional.

"The minority party and the leadership that it chooses to represent its views by its very nature does not have the opportunity to know in advance the decision of a question or what the outcome might be, and by the very nature of the minority position in the greatest functions of democracy, we are required, and I think we are expected to voice our opposition, make our position known, and on the basis of that, we solicit as much support as we are able.

"In this respect, this Legislature in many instances has been very kind and considerate to the minority. You have supported our viewpoint on occasions when perhaps if the issue had been decided strictly and purely on political grounds, you might have chosen to do otherwise. I take this less as a personal accomplishment for the leadership of either the Majority or Minority Party, but I share it with you as a commendation or responsible government. I feel that in this session of the Legislature, this entire body has decided more issues on their merit rather than on their strictly and purely political implications, and that is the message I want to leave with this entire body this morning.

"I commend the Majority, its leadership, and I particularly thank the Minority for their loyalty and cohesiveness and dedication to the principles that we have stood for, and while there have been some disappointments, I am sure when the record of this Legislative session is written, we will all agree that there have been many accomplishments, and there have been truly some major accomplishments that the state has been waiting for a long time.

"In receiving this gift, I thank each and every one of you as dear friends and neighbors, and citizens of North Dakota. We are about to go on our way, and let us hope that our paths may cross again, and if you come to the western part of North Dakota, almost to the Montana line, we have some picturesque scenery to show you, and if you go only four miles off Highway 85, the coffee pot will not be far off the burner. Come see us.

"Thank you very much."

Rep. Giffey:

"Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chairman, Members of the House of Representatives:

"During 1968 we members of the House of Representatives offered ourselves as candidates to represent our various legislative districts in this Forty-first Legislative Assembly. On November 5th, we were chosen by the electors to be their representatives. At that point we were all members elect to a new legislative assembly that would convene in early December to take our oath of office and organize into the functional body that we have all been a part of for these last several months.

"Have you ever given any thought as to what might happen to the legislative process if this organization of the assembly did not take place? What would the results be if we did not select someone to officially preside over the assembly? What would the chances be of the work load moving continuously and orderly through the necessary channels if we did not select floor leaders to be responsible for this? We all know that committee work produces most of the decisions. How could the process be successful without dedicated members who are willing to take additional responsibilities and conduct the committee hearings? How could the legislature accomplish and complete its duties without responsible employees?

"The answer to these questions is of course obvious. The legislature could not proceed properly and orderly without responsible leadership and employees. It is my privilege to specially recognize a member for his contribution as majority floor leader. Representative Streibel, it is my opinion, and I know the opinion of the membership that you have conducted yourself and your position as majority floor leader in a manner that has been proper and beneficial to the operation of this Forty-first Legislative Assembly.

"Representative Streibel, as a token of our appreciation for the contribution you have made to this session of the Legislature in your position as majority floor leader, I present you this gift on behalf of all the members of the House."

Rep. Bryce Streibel:

"Tradition has established that at this moment in the course of our biennial session we pause to reflect, to commend and to make amends.

"I would like to deviate from the pattern of reflection and look to the future. Before I do however, I would be remiss if I didn't note the attitude of dedication, to the task at hand, on the part of each of you.

"There were many highlights in the 41st Assembly not the least of which was the working relationship that I personally enjoyed with each of you and more especially with Speaker Johnson and Representative Strinden.

"I want to make special note of the outstanding working relationship that I have had with Representative Link. The cooperative effort and liaison that existed between Rep. Link and myself, the Governor and the Legislature set a tone that I hope continues in future Assemblies. The third House contributed in great measure to every aspect of our functioning as a legislative body. Their loyalty and efficiency left little to be desired.

"Now let's look ahead! The Federal System is crying out to Legislative bodies across this nation to be positive, not negative; constructive, not destructive; progressive, not regressive; farsighted, not nearsighted. If ever opportunity beckoned for state legislative bodies to fill the vacuum it will be the '70s.

"Many of you will return in 1971. Prepare yourselves now to think of the '80s and '90s. Position yourselves to lead rather than follow.

"My sentiments, in conclusion, are expressed very appropriately in an excerpt of Lincoln's Second Annual Message to Congress, when he admonished them of the judgment that generations to follow would deliver and I quote:

'Fellow-citizens, we cannot escape history. We of this Congress and this Administration will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generation.'

Rep. O. Solberg:

"The task that I have been asked to perform this afternoon is one that is of double enjoyment to me. First, I am honoring a personal friend that I have known and served with in this House for many sessions. During the past biennium it has been my pleasure to serve with Representative Ernest Johnson on the Legislative Research Committee and on the Canadian Centennial Commission. In every capacity he has served with dedication and sincerity.

"But my duty here is not to express my own sentiment, Mr. Speaker, but to speak for this Legislative Assembly that you have so ably presided over for the past sixty days.

"One of the first actions of any legislative session is to elect from the membership of the House, the man who is to act as Speaker. This is the highest honor that this body can confer on one of its members. This honor carries with it a great responsibility, for the Speaker must perform the duties of his office with fairness, finesse and patience, and must maintain the dignity and decorum that is so essential in our democratic process of government.

"This you have done, Mr. Speaker, and in the long and often tiresome days you have exhibited the good humor, patience and able leadership that has resulted in a successful session.

"Within a few hours, this House will adjourn sine die, and we will be returning to our homes, our jobs and our families, and the forty-first legislature will become part of North Dakota history. This beautiful House Chamber which is so live, so vibrant today will within a week become an empty house, with neatly placed chairs and empty desks.

"The part that we have played as individuals in this forty-first session may seem minor, but the unusual number of close votes cast will indicate to every one of us that we have had a part in decision-making as members of this assembly.

"And so, Mr. Speaker, it is with sincere pleasure, and a great sense of gratitude to the House for giving me the privilege to present you with the traditional gift to the Speaker, this beautifully engraved watch and as this timepiece ticks away the hours and the days, I hope you will have time to reflect on your experiences as Speaker of this assembly and hope that your remembrances will be pleasant ones.

"Mr. Speaker, I congratulate you on a job well done."

Speaker E. Johnson:

"I assure you this has been the greatest honor and privilege ever bestowed upon me. Nowhere but in a Great Republic such as ours, with the freedom of choice, and equal opportunity, could such a privilege fall to one not tried or tested.

"I have enjoyed serving in the chair as your Speaker. It has been an experience I shall never forget, nor shall I ever forget the many gestures of good will and courtesy shown me from all of you. I only hope that I have, to some small degree, returned the same courtesy you have given me.

"I want to thank you all for the great concern you have for our State, and its citizens. There is not a single Representative here who hasn't honestly and deliberately labored for what he or she have desired as best for their State. Differences of opinion are not deterrent to good government. As Americans, all desirous to do our best, we recognize majority rule as that which must prevail.

"You have labored hard, you have proven yourselves worthy of your election to this body. The friendship attained in your labor will remain forever. As the days wear on your recognition to this fact will increase. The new acquaintances and contacts of this session shall never be forgotten by your Speaker.

"The work of this body can only be as successful as the assistance we all have had from our desk force, the committee clerks, the stenographers, pages and all of the other employees. Never in the six sessions of my work have I witnessed a more dedicated and working force than the group employed here.

"Personally, I want to thank the members of the desk force who have so ably and consistently helped me in the sixty days of this session. Your devotion to duty, your willingness to work and your loyalty to me are greater than words of mine can truly express. I have enjoyed working with you and even more important is the help you have given each and every member of this body. Thank you most sincerely.

"In closing may I again thank Representative Solberg for the complimentary statements and a sincere and lasting thank you to all assembled here.

"As we soon will part, each one to his area, may I wish God's richest blessings upon each and every one of you. Thank you all."

Rep. Aamoth was called to the rostrum.

Speaker E. Johnson:

"Admiration and respect for a job well done lives on, and now it is my privilege and honor to refer to one of our colleagues who so deservingly qualifies all the admiration and respect of the 40th Legislative Session as well as that of the 41st House membership.

"Those of us who served in the 40th Session will remember Representative Aamoth as a very able, conscientious and articulate speaker. We all recall Representative Aamoth's ability to cope with whatever situation presented itself. We recall his concern for fair play, we recall the times when he would inject a touch of humor in the proper time and place. Yes, a true humanitarian, devoted both to respect and duty.

"It has been said that man, by his actions, reflects the inner thoughts and state of his mind. You will recall that when Representative Aamoth was relaxed in the Speaker's Chair, great puffs of smoke from one of his many assortment of pipes would rise with rhythm to the rock of the chair, but when judge Rundle or cyclist Gackle took to the floor the great smudge at the desk would suddenly stop, and the pipe would immediately retire to the desk, the chair would cease to rock and Speaker Aamoth was at attention to take complete charge of the situation.

"Seriously, however, we, who had the privilege to serve in the 40th Legislative Session, will remember Gordy as a great and respected presiding officer.

"It is my privilege and honor to make a presentation at this time. On behalf of all assembled here and with the respect and admiration for your service to this body and the State of North Dakota, I am honored to present you with this gavel, the very one you used to rap order as Speaker of the 40th Legislative Assembly. May it always be a reminder of the friends you have gained here."

Rep. Wagner moved that the special order of business be dissolved and the House proceed with the regular business, which motion prevailed.
