Acting Speaker Solberg administered the oath of office to Sergeant-at-Arms Kniefel.

Nominations then were opened for Speaker of the House.

Rep. Conmy:

"Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

"I stand here with mixed emotions. My regret is in that when we follow this procedure, we lose the services of a fair, fine and true gentleman, Oscar Solberg. As you are all aware, last session we were truly a house divided, and in order to make the Assembly function and to serve the people of the State of North Dakota, it took a good deal of tact, patience and diplomacy of those in positions of authority in this body.

"I am pleased to nominate as Speaker for this session my good friend and running mate Vern Wagner. He has served as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee during the last session. He has the tact, diplomacy and finesse that is necessary to make the House function.

"Vern is starting his seventeenth year as a Legislator, and I believe he is a proper successor to Rep. Solberg."

Rep. Martinson:

"Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly:

"It is indeed an honor for me to second the nomination of Vern Wagner as Speaker of the House.

"He has been a friend of mine for a long time, and he has been a tremendous help to me over the past years. The only regret I have in seeing him move on as Speaker, after sitting beside him the last three sessions, I shall miss his counsel, but I must advise him that as soon as he moves on, I will try and take over his aisle seat."

Rep. Berger: "I wish to place the name of Rep. Tish Kelly in nomination for Speaker of the House for the 1979 Legislative Session.

"I do so for a number of reasons. I have been a long time advocate and supporter of having women in positions of leadership. This attitude came about from having women as chairmen of the school board during my tenure as superintendent of schools at West Fargo.

"In scanning the history of the North Dakota Legislature, I find that only once have we had a woman as Speaker of the House, when Minnie Craig served back in the Twenties, almost half a century ago.

"Tish Kelly comes to us with extensive experience in government. She served as an assistant to Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon in the United States Senate and in a similar position for Rep. Jeffrey Cohalan in the United States House of Representatives.

"Tish has a deep understanding of the human family having lived in several parts of the world because her father was a career military man.

"During the last session she was one of two women appointed by the Chief Justice of the North Dakota Supreme Court to the Judicial Planning Committee.

"Tish has been a competent legislator, and as our speaker she would lead us with grace, dignity and intelligence.

"In this year of political surprises, let us give the public one more. Let us elect a woman from the minority to be our leader."

Rep. Meiers:

"Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

"It is an honor to second the nomination of Tish Kelly as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

"Representative Kelly has good judgment, a keen intellectual mind. As a result, she has the support and respect of all of the Democrats and the Republicans as well, and she would serve very capably in the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives."

Rep. Strinden moved that nominations cease, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Kelly:

"Mr. Speaker:

"I want to thank all my colleagues in the Democratic caucus for their support. It is a singular honor to be nominated for the Speakership, and one this Assembly has not bestowed on a woman for many years.

"I know Rep. Wagner will be an excellent speaker. Last Session I served on the Appropriations Committee under his Chairmanship. He was always fair-minded in his dealings with all the Committee members. If I had to lose, and I knew it was pre-ordained, there is no one I would rather have in this responsible position. At this time, I would like to move that a unanimous ballot be cast for the next Speaker, Rep. Vern Wagner."

The motion of Rep. Kelly prevailed, and a unanimous ballot was cast for Rep. Wagner as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Rep. Strinden moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort the newly elected Speaker to the rostrum, which motion prevailed. Acting Speaker Solberg appointed Reps. Conmy and Martinson. Speaker Wagner then was escorted to the rostrum.

Rep. Strinden moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort Chief Justice Erickstad to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the new Speaker. Reps. Mertens and Eagles were so appointed, Chief Justice Erickstad was escorted to the rostrum, and the oath of office was administered to the new Speaker.

Speaker Wagner addressed the House.

Speaker Wagner:

"Thank you for giving me this great honor. Particularly I wish to thank the members of my caucus for supporting me.

"I accept the office of Speaker with mixed emotions. I know that I will miss the Committee work and the floor debates, but it will bring a new dimension to my legislative experience which can only be gained by acting as the presiding officer.

"It has been my privilege to have served under eight speakers - from both political parties. While these Speakers had different political philosophies, different personalities, and different methods of working, one quality was alike for all of them. That was fairness.

"I pledge to you that I will, to the best of my ability, continue the tradition of fairness in carrying out the duties of Speaker as prescribed by the rules of the House. Our system of government is structured so the majority will prevail, but it also guarantees the minority the right to be heard. At no time will that right be denied.

"The Speaker is also charged with the responsibility of making committee assignments. Every effort will be made to assign each member to the committee requested. This is not possible in all cases. Where it is not possible to honor the preferences, consideration will be given to seniority and prior service on the committee.

"We have a large number of new members. We welcome you. The North Dakota Legislative Assembly is a dynamic institution because of the influx of new members and new ideas. Do not be reluctant to introduce new ideas, but a word of caution, do not be too disappointed if the majority does not immediately accept your ideas. Change is an evolutionary process. The seed of an idea planted today may not bear fruit for many years to come.

"The Constitution grants us 80 legislative days to complete our work. It is my hope that we will not require the entire time allotted. Our goal should be 60 legislative days. If additional days are required we can use them.

"Nearly every Speaker in the past has made a statement declaring the current Legislative Assembly is one of the most significant in the history of the state. I will not repeat that statement.

"However, this session will be very significant in one respect. There are not many of us in this assembly who have served during a session when funds were short, when a vote for a tax increase was necessary to fund the programs adopted by the members of the assembly.

"The state of North Dakota has been fortunate during the last decade. Tax revenues have been adequate to fund programs, and generally a surplus of funds was available.

"The voters have now sent a message. They wanted their taxes reduced, and along with it, a halt to the expansion of government.

"It is always easy to say yes to a good cause. To say no is often difficult. We must now say no to many new programs, no matter how strong some advocates may be.

"This legislature must be very discriminating. The necessary programs should be adequately funded, while new unnecessary programs should be denied. And, yes, in certain instances currently operating programs may have to be eliminated.

"To fail to do this will put future legislatures in very difficult positions.

"During the last session we began a program of deficit financing. This will be accelerated during the current session. While it is not a great problem at this time, we must look to the future. An excessive deficit will require a tax increase in two years, and our major tax revenue source will require a 2/3 majority to change.

"Let a yes vote on a spending program be a reminder that it may also be a yes vote for a tax increase in the future.

"The people of North Dakota have given us a great responsibility. I know that you will accept that responsibility. I look forward to an enjoyable and productive session.

"Two years ago at this time we faced a very unique problem. We were equally divided between Republicans and Democrats.

"Organization of the House seemed to be an impossible task to accomplish. However, reasonable people working together can solve any problem. A compromise was worked out.

"The compromise provided that our good friend, Oscar Solberg, was to be Speaker. None of us regretted that decision. Oscar performed the duties of the office superbly. He ruled the House in a firm and fair manner. He made us all proud to serve with him.

"On behalf of the members of the 45th Legislative Assembly I present you this gavel. May it always serve as a reminder of one of your great moments in history."

Rep. Solberg: "Thank you, Vern, for those kind words, and thanks to all of you. I am going to use this gavel once more.

"I certainly appreciate this gift. It will become one of my prized mementos, and I shall remember the many pleasant and a few trying days when I served as Speaker of the 45th Legislative Assembly.

"Thank you all."

Rep. Strinden:

"Mr. Speaker:

"Before you leave the rostrum, Speaker Solberg, as you officially end your duties as Speaker of the House, please allow me on behalf of the Republican members of the House to express a most sincere appreciation to you for the very fine manner in which you performed your duties as the presiding officer of the House of Representatives.

"The 45th Legislative Assembly was unique in that for only the second time in the history of our great state the House was divided evenly between members of the Republican and Democrat caucuses.

"Some outsiders have magnified the differences which were a part of the session. But, Speaker Solberg and members of this Assembly, under the circumstances it was a remarkably smooth and efficient session. A key to the success of the last session was most certainly the choosing of a presiding officer who had the trust and respect of every house member.

"Speaker Solberg, you are in the true sense of the word a gentleman, a most kind and considerate individual.

"On behalf of all Republicans of the House, thank you for your distinguished and outstanding service as Speaker of the House during the 45th Legislative Session."

Rep. Strinden moved that the House adopt as temporary Rules, the Rules of the Forty-fifth Legislative Assembly with the House Organizational Agreement deleted as shown on pages 43 through 47 of the 1977 House Rules, which motion prevailed.

Committee from the Senate was received, which committee announced the Senate was now organized and ready to do business.

Speaker Wagner announced that the House would be on the sixteenth order of business, and seating of the members would be handled with preference given to those with the greatest seniority after the former speakers and officers for the session had been seated with their delegations.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

TO

ORGANIZATIONAL SESSION 46TH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

Governor Link: "Thank you very much, Mr. President.

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I might say this Assembly is functioning true to form and able to rise to every emergency.

"May I say personally it is a pleasure to be with you and to welcome and congratulate each and every one of you in this Assembly.

"In the American form of government the legislature is the process of government closest to the people. We gather at this organizational meeting, not only as individuals with individual opinions, but more importantly, as representatives of the collective population entrusted to make necessary changes to secure the general welfare of our state. In short, the state legislature is the vehicle for change and a state without a means of change is a state without a means of preservation.

"The legislative power to change is given to two bodies, the Senate and the House. In dividing the legislative body into two branches, our forefathers did not mean to create one house as a bulwark of authority or another house given to the passions of the electorate. Independent of the consequences, it was believed a necessity of the first order to have two houses to slow down the movement of single assemblies and provide an appeal tribunal within the process. An emphasis was placed on reasoned thought. Time and experience has demonstrated the truth of this concept.

"The members of the 46th Legislative Assembly are beset by critical issues, empowered to make constructive changes and entrusted to serve with distinction. I congratulate and welcome each of you, those returning and those newly elected, as you accept the challenge to perform your primary responsibility of critically choosing between alternative solutions to difficult problems. This implies a depth of studied understanding sufficient to identify problems and solutions. We must distinguish between short-term relief and long-term remedies.

"The challenge to government in the 46th Legislative Assembly is to responsibly meet the services asked for by the public within the guidelines established by the public. This means identifying priorities and wringing out the maximum amount of efficient government service per tax dollar spent. In this time of skepticism and doubt, it is more important than ever to act with the future in view and determine what are the important goals for legislative consideration and enactment. If this can be achieved, much will have been accomplished."

"Because of the serious work before us, I want to be as helpful as I can in maintaining good cooperation and communication between the Executive and Legislative Branches of government. My door is open to legislators of both parties at all times. I encourage any individual member or any group of legislators to accept the invitation. Although there are different philosophies and many differing viewpoints, we are all working for the same interests — the people of North Dakota. We are partners in government, and the public of North Dakota expects no less.

"Your responsibilities as legislators begin today. Through a constitutional amendment approved by the voters, you have been given the opportunity to organize and elect your leadership at this pre-session meeting. When the legislature convenes in January, we will be ready to go to work.

"Serving the people requires a special dedication and a special conviction to standards of personal, professional and public excellence. Our constituents have faith that each of us individually meet these standards. For the coming legislative session let us, as a group, dedicate ourselves to the highest standards of excellence and get on with the people's business."

Rep. Strinden moved that joint session of the House and Senate be dissolved, which motion prevailed.

Save these few moments, O God, from being merely a formality, and make them a real experience for each of us here, as we call upon you for guidance and for help.

As this, our North Dakota Legislature begins its 46th session, standing upon the threshold of a new year, filled with unsolved problems and complicated life situations, we need your wisdom and your strength.

We pray that you will bless these persons chosen by the people of this state, for you know them — their motives, their needs, their hopes, their dreams, their fears.

Turn their thoughts to you, and open their hearts to your spirit, that they may seek wisdom in their decisions, understanding in their thinking, love in their attitudes, and mercy in their judgments.

Amid all the pressures brought upon them, may they strive to hear your still small voice, and follow the highest principles known to them.

Bless us in all that is right, and correct us in all that is wrong.

In our differences may we be kind, and in our agreements may we be humble.

And may all the citizens of North Dakota this day renew their commitments to be supportive of this body, striving to be part of the answer, rather than part of the problem, striving to think not about what we can get, but about what we can give.

Bless each of us according to our deepest need, and use each of us for your service.

In the name and spirit of our God of Love, Power, and Justice. Amen

The Enderlin High School Concert Choir presented a vocal selection.

MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE

By

Arthur A. Link

Governor of North Dakota

INTRODUCTION

Members of the 46th Legislative Assembly, officers of the Executive and Judicial Branches of the State of North Dakota and citizens, welcome to this Legislative Assembly. In keeping with the traditions and requirements of our state and its constitution, we gather at the commencement of the 46th Legislative Session as stewards of government, not as a substitute for people, but as instruments of the people. "Government is a trust," said the American statesman Henry Clay, "and the officers of the government are trustees and both the trust and trustees are created for the benefit of the people."

As trustees, our responsibilities are as serious as any preceding Legislative Assembly. We must be forward looking with the wisdom and the quality of mind and heart to see the long view. North Dakota is not a landlocked island isolated from the political, economic or social mainstream of world events. The actions of OPEC, foreign governments, international grain marketers and international money managers have a pronounced effect on the welfare and economy of North Dakota. As a member of the international community of states and nations, we must be prepared to participate.

As trustee of government, we have a responsibility to recognize the apprehension shared by the citizens of our state and nation. Not since the great Depression has the public so severely questioned government performance. This fall, 12 states, including North Dakota, passed propositions or amendments to take tax and spending decisions out of the hands of the state legislatures. We in the nation and in North Dakota are experiencing a unique crosscurrent of two public policy mandates previously argued as mutually exclusive philosophies. On one hand the people are generally optimistic about their personal lives. They neither embrace nor reject government services. The people do not want to narrow the range of government responsibility.

The North Dakota 100 Survey, and more recently, the Futures Workshops held in cities across the North Dakota, point out North Dakotans want a clean environment; North Dakotans want improved health care. North Dakotans want greater state participation in finding agricultural markets and North Dakotans want a strengthened educational system. North Dakotans welcome more job opportunities created by energy, manufacturing and processing industries but not at the expense of the quality of life enjoyed in our state.

While on the one hand people want public services, on the other hand there is an erosion of trust and confidence in the ability of government to accomplish the things people want.

The public has spoken loud and clear saying they want cuts in government spending. The people are talking about government, not against government. This message is saying something more substantial and more far-reaching than an idea of a tax revolt. The public is testing our maturity as public officials, determining our capability to provide effective, coherent public policy.

Inflation is the culprit prodding the demands for better government, not for unrealistic promises, but effective action. The voter has placed exceptional emphasis upon what is viewed as government waste and inefficiency and at the same time has stressed improved performance. Consistent with the public call for continued services and consistent with the call for improved performance, I have submitted a Budget which reflects the realities and needs for the next biennium.

The Budget and many legislative proposals have already been submitted and how well we perform our respective responsibilities will be judged not by what we say but by what we do, and not by what we attempt but by what we accomplish. Over the next 60 days we must strictly adhere to the highest standards of public service excellence. The people will not accept tasks left half done or undone. Unfinished tasks cannot be laid on the altar of political differences, only political indifference.

I look forward to working with each of you — wishing to steer a steady course. The door to my office is open to every legislator and I invite your counsel and friendship on the important matters confronting our state and this Legislative Assembly. Therefore, within the framework of the crosscurrents of public opinion, coupled with my personal pledge of cooperation, I welcome this opportunity to perform my constitutional responsibility. I am pleased to communicate to the Legislative Assembly by message, information on the condition of the state and recommend measures for your consideration.

The recommendations submitted represent a broad spectrum of input from various state agencies, officials and employees of both political parties, and in some cases, affirmation of proposals before the Legislative Council. These proposals reflect the crosscurrents of contemporary public opinion in North Dakota. The four areas, human resources, natural resources, economic development, and government stewardship incorporate the topics and areas which I wish to address.

HUMAN RESOURCES

“The first wealth is health.” Emerson

The health of the mind, the body, the state and the economy is determined by the health and happiness of our human resources. The human resource is the most precious of all resources and cannot be recklessly squandered. The health of the human resource is determined by the quality of human services available, the quality of educational services available and the quality of employment available.

Health Care

Quality health care and its cost to North Dakotans is an issue that affects each one of our lives. North Dakota enjoys some of the finest medical care available to any citizen of the United States. The quality of our rural environment, in large part, is dependent upon access to quality health care facilities and reasonable costs. We must accept the challenge and examine every possible way to contain the costs of health care in these inflationary times. Although I believe we will eventually have a federal health insurance plan, the individual states should take the initiative in containing costs of health care. A need exists for a system of prospective budget and rate review for our hospitals and long-term care facilities. This process should incorporate incentives for the medical care industry and allow the flexibility to continue delivering quality medical care, while at the same time, effectively addressing issues of cost containment.

Discussion needs to be centered around the ability of the state of mandate minimal standards of coverage to the providers of insurance programs. I also strongly urge widespread support of the prepaid practice programs which have been developed under the Health Maintenance Organizations.

I support the expansion of off-site nurse practitioner programs in our state which can extend health care services to many of the areas not presently receiving them. The expansion of home health care and preventive care programs is a positive way to reduce the need for costly remedial intervention. I support the request for funds for a feasibility study to see whether or not the third year of the medical school education should be incorporated into the program at the UND Medical School and return our students from out of state for that particular year.

The future strategy to improve health care in North Dakota emphasizes preventive medicine; specifically, the prevention of illness and death. The nurse practitioner program exemplifies this strategy.

The State Health Department has prepared a report which indicates a reduction in the probability of being killed or seriously injured when a motorcycle helmet is worn. I recommend the Legislature give serious consideration to the findings of the report.

For our children, I encourage the use of automobile restraints to prevent accidents, injuries and deaths, as well as immunization programs to protect children from preventable childhood diseases.

To facilitate better service in extraordinary situations, I am pleased to report the Department of Health has established one of the nation's few statewide emergency medical services communications systems. This was accomplished by placing two-way radios in all of North Dakota's hospitals and ambulance services. Another facet of emergency services deals with the establishment of four poison control centers serving the entire state with poison prevention and treatment services.

Human Services

Human services gives special attention to the needs of people with special problems, such as physical and mental handicapping conditions. An integral part of this program is the institutionalization, as well as the continued development of sheltered workshops and special education programs. Alternatives to institutionalization of our elderly which has had a phenomenal growth during the past 20 years, should be explored so that their independence can be preserved for a longer period of time.

Inflation is especially devastating to people with marginal or no income at all. Because of the inadequacy of payments under the Federal Social Security and Supplemental Security Income Programs, it is necessary that state and counties selectively supplement federal payments. I encourage community-based human service programs to avoid shifting the cost to more expensive programs, eventually foreclosing community alternatives to institutional care.

Abuse of government services is one of our more pressing problems. Because of federal mandate, I support the establishment of a Medicaid Fraud and Abuse Unit in state government to monitor, investigate and aid in prosecuting, if necessary, fraudulent activities utilizing Medicaid monies. This will be a cooperative effort among the Governor's Office, the Social Service Board and the Attorney General's Office.

Human Rights

In a Democracy the primacy of human rights should be unchallenged. In my Message to the Legislature in 1977, I requested a Human Rights Act. Again, I recommend a North Dakota State Commission on Human Rights, a regulatory body having enforcement powers to prevent discrimination against all persons.

The Governor's Council on Human Resources, composed of four committees, is charged with the responsibility to articulate the unmet needs of senior citizens, children and youth, the handicapped and women. Over the past biennium, the Committee on Aging has emphasized the needs of elderly who would like to retain their independence. The Committee on Children and Youth has been concentrating on teenage alcoholism, family planning and youth employment. Since 1979 has been proclaimed the International Year of the Child, their efforts will be accentuated. The Committee on Employment of the Handicapped has studied the accessibility of public buildings for the handicapped and emphasizes the need for employer willingness to hire the handicapped. The Commission on the Status of Women is concerned about the displaced homemaker and continues to support equal rights for all people.

Since the last biennium two federally funded programs have been located in the Governor's Council. The Developmental Disabilities Protection and Advocacy Project was established to protect the rights of those handicapped individuals classified as developmentally disabled. The Youth Conservation Corps is a summer work project targeted toward the 15-18 year-old youth.

Education

One of the most important elements in human health is a healthy mind and the confidence that one has been extended the educational opportunities for full participation in society.

North Dakota can look with pride upon its educational system. We continue strong state support for our primary and secondary schools. Our junior college program plus our colleges and universities provide an outstanding choice of quality education enjoyed by few states of comparable size and population.

We have established a statewide public television network and in the future, I encourage coverage of the State Legislature.

We have a vocational education program that more adequately meets the needs of changing technology and provides the people of North Dakota with a system of education that is practical and meaningful.

In my Budget Message, I recommended $11,825,000, a ten percent increase, for special education. By 1981 we must reach our mandated goals in identifying those in need of special education and in providing this type of service. This increase is justified.

Of equal importance, I am happy to announce that included in the Budget for the second year of the coming biennium is $1 million for kindergarten. There are approximately 9,000 children in North Dakota of kindergarten age. Kindergarten can be an important first step in providing these children with the kind of head start they need in obtaining an adequate education.

I urge strong legislative support of the Old West Regional Commission recommendation for a five-state veterinary college. This will further expand educational opportunities for our people.

I continue to support the concept of binding arbitration for our school system.

Employment and Labor

The ability to secure a job is as important to the health of the individual as to the health of the economy. North Dakota ranks eighth in the nation in the placement job seekers per Employment Security Bureau Employee. Our State Employment Security Bureau has been cited for outstanding results in job placements and employee services. Intense development of coal and oil resources in western North Dakota has caused a serious seasonal shortage of workers, particularly in the secondary work force. Efforts must continue to assist workers in relocating where job opportunities exist. Where housing is necessary, careful planning must consider both construction and permanent housing needs. The upgrading and gaining of new skills for these jobs can be promoted through vocational and higher education, apprenticeship programs, opportunities provided by the Veterans Administration, and on-the-job training via the Comprehensive Employment Training Act.

The older workers of North Dakota have provided the force and stability that has brought our state to its present healthy economic condition. I strongly encourage employers to consider the talents and experience of these older North Dakotans and to hire them whenever possible.

We also have a commitment to the creating of jobs in rural areas. A lack of rural employment causes a severe drain on many small business endeavors and forces job seekers with an inborn love of rural life to seek work in larger cities and other states. We have an obligation to actively promote the location of industry to smaller towns that can provide employment for our citizens wishing to retain a rural lifestyle.

The Employment Security Bureau is primarily responsible for those programs funded under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act. Program refinements, greater efforts to identify training needs and strengthened coordination and linkage between the Employment Security Bureau and education will help make the best possible use of these funds.

In the past, our unemployment insurance system has been an important economic stabilizer during minor economic recessions and has provided a vital wage replacement to thousands of our workers during the winter months when unemployment affects many of our industries. However, we are experiencing a decline in the benefit financing fund. Twenty-four states have seen their funds depleted and have been forced to borrow in excess of $5 billion from the federal government. During the past three Legislative Sessions we have addressed this program and have enacted legislation that kept the funds solvent until the next session.

During 1977, I directed the Employment Security Bureau to make extensive actuarial studies to provide this Legislature with a long-range financially-sound tax proposal. A proposal has been developed and will be presented during this session for your consideration.

Workmen's Compensation

Because of budget constraints, one problem I was unable to address in the Executive Budget was retroactive benefits to people permanently and totally disabled and their widows who are on Workmen's Compensation rolls. Today benefits are tied to a specific amount per week which is inadequate payment by today's standards in this inflationary economy. Although impossible to address in the current Budget, I recommend a Legislative study of this serious problem.

Veterans Affairs

We must also be alerted to the concerns of North Dakota's 61,000 veterans. To date, North Dakota ranks number one in the nation in the use of GI Bill for education by Vietnam era veterans, but the biggest task lies ahead. We must serve the needs of approximately 28,000 veterans of World War II who because of their age will soon need increased medical attention and related needs. We have a responsibility to see that the State Department of Veterans' Affairs is adequately funded.

Indian Affairs

The important objectives of the Indian Affairs Commission need our continued support. The 21,000 Indian people in North Dakota need the cooperation and support of all citizens as they strive to resolve their problems.

NATURAL RESOURCES

"The earth is given as common stock for man to labor and live on."

Thomas Jefferson

The most difficult task in exercising the use of our common stock is the hardest of virtues, self-restraint. Through responsible stewardship of our natural resources, we can maintain a quality of life, vitality and aesthetics. These gifts are not replaceable. The Public Investment Plan and Futures Workshops mirror the importance the people of North Dakota attach to the wisest possible use of North Dakota's natural resources, a quality environment.

In addition, the people have asked to increase the effectiveness of land and water conservation programs; fossil fuel resources should be extracted and converted in the most efficient manner possible; and we must stress increased efficiency of energy use in the state.

Energy Development

We must continue to emphasize comprehensive natural resource planning. Throughout my administration I have adhered to that policy insisting upon cautious, orderly development of energy resources. I believe the people of North Dakota support that approach. A National Federation of Independent Business Survey of North Dakota indicates that businessmen of North Dakota support what has been termed as the "go-slow" approach by an over 80 percent margin.

We have demonstrated our willingness to share our natural resources with the guarantee that there be environmental protection and economic compensation. Our environmental programs are designed for the attainment of clean air, clean water and total reclamation of disturbed land. It is an especially important task given the level of energy development currently in progress in the state. Cooperation between industry and government, in planning and monitoring activities has drawn praise nationally enabling the state to retain local responsibility for federal regulations of air pollution, water pollution, water supply and solid wastes. Local control rather than federal supervision has been essential to our success.

Coal has been the most talked about natural resource over the past several years. However, the increased role of oil and gas is of major significance to the State of North Dakota. Already the number of active drilling rigs breaks the record established in the 1950's during the original oil boom. Current increased exploration activity will manifest itself dramatically in increased production in the next few years. As a result, a problem down the road will be additional support for the state to continue its role in the regulation of the exploration and development of oil, gas and subsurface minerals.

Land Use

In the 1930's Franklin Delano Roosevelt said, "A nation that destroys its soil destroys itself." Sediment and erosion control is a massive national problem and a critical concern here in North Dakota. Our soil resources must be protected from the hazards of wind and water erosion if we are to maintain a high level of productivity for present and future generations. We need to continue and expand our participation in the detailed soil survey program. This information is necessary to determine the basic capabilities and limitations of our soils.

In the future, to promote long-term soil protection, we may consider economic incentives to benefit those who install and maintain sound soil conserving practices. Our goal must be to develop a soil stewardship ethic in the minds of all North Dakotans. Our soil is our most important natural resource and deserves maximum attention.

Water

North Dakota is faced with the never-ending conflicts between federal and state water demands. We must continually assert our rights. Every Governor since the passage of the Flood Control Act of 1944 has supported Garrison Diversion. My commitment remains undiminished. North Dakota still looks forward to the long-awaited benefits of Garrison Diversion. Through continued bipartisan support, I am confident we will succeed.

Along with the North Dakota Water Commission and the Commissioner of Agriculture, I have worked to develop conditions for granting water permits for irrigation purposes and the establishment of water marketing fees to help fund increasing costs of water development projects within the state. We hope legislation will be developed to support these efforts.

A more recent development opening new possibilities for enhanced rural living is rural water systems. The first rural water system appeared in Grand Forks and Traill Counties in 1970. Because of our early interest, in January of 1977, the State of North Dakota was awarded the Old West Regional Commission Rural Water Systems Development Office serving the five-state area. The Office is located here in Bismarck and funded through the Natural Resources Council. North Dakota is particularly interested in rural water systems for two reasons: (1) long-term growth is dependent upon a water supply of a certain quantity and quality for domestic, municipal and livestock use; (2) in many areas throughout North Dakota and the region, citizens and municipalities depend upon water systems supplying water of marginal quality and quantity. Rural water districts aid in meeting the requirements of the 1972 Clear Water Act as amended and, therefore, merit our attention.

Parks and Recreation

The Department of Parks and Recreation has made notable progress during the last biennium. Fort Ransom State Park is being developed by bridging the Sheyenne River from the east to provide better access and by building a primitive campground and day use area. It will be open for public use in May of 1979. Fort Stevenson State Park and Lake Sakakawea State Park experienced major developments. Park visitation is steadily climbing. In 1977, 1,030,000 people visited North Dakota State Parks and in 1978, 1,182,406 — an increase of 14.6 percent. We project a possible 10 percent increase in visitation next year.

The 1975 Legislature authorized the Parks and Recreation Department to establish a system of nature preserves. The program is designed to set aside areas which represent North Dakota's natural diversity and heritage. To date, two areas have been identified and formally designated components of the State Nature Preserve System. To achieve an orderly progression of development, the Department is in the early stages of a statewide parks master plan. Initially the plan will involve the compilation of a management statement for each area administered by the Department. Later the plan will address the direction, goals and role of the State Parks System.

The North Dakota Parks and Recreation Department is also in the process of rewriting the State Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan. This Plan is provided as a planning framework for North Dakota governmental units in meeting the outdoor recreation needs of the future and qualifies the state for continued eligibility to participate in the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program. The Plan takes a closer look at the role outdoor recreation plays in the lives of North Dakotans. It addresses the needs which should be met to keep outdoor recreation a positive factor in our lives.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

"Some people regard private enterprise as a predatory tiger to be shot. Others look on it as a cow they can milk. Not enough people see it as a healthy horse pulling a sturdy wagon." Winston Churchill

Agriculture alone generates about three-fourths of our new wealth annually. No segment of our state's economy has contributed more to the economic progress of North Dakota. We are the most agrarian state in the union. History has shown that no other way than American agriculture would create a more efficient system of food production at lower cost to the consumer. Our system and model is admired by the entire world. The continued economic success of North Dakota is directly proportional to the success of the family farm. An economic corollary to the success of the family farm is the success of the small towns. If the family farm declines, it will bring down with it the basic business structure of rural America. If the family farm does not survive, then a vast majority of the nation's 9 million small towns will disappear from the rural scene. North Dakota would be one state most severely affected. The economic diversity of North Dakota is preserved by maintaining family farms to support these communities. Furthermore, the displacing of the farmers and people from small towns to urban areas does not guarantee job opportunities for the new urban residents.

Nationally, over the last 30 years, over 50 percent of our nation's farms of whatever size and composition have been given up. In North Dakota, over the last 30 years we have suffered an annual loss of about 1,000 farms per year. Today, our best research says there are about 41,000 farmers in North Dakota. Yet, the family farm is more than a statistic — it is an idea. It stands for democracy and private enterprise in its purest and most classic form.

One of the objectives of state government aiding our family farms and rural business infrastructure would be to consider a measure permitting land transfers of sufficient size to assure a prospective farmer a reasonable chance at success while at the same time, removing the attractiveness of super large farms. It should be the goal of state government to attract an equal number of new family entries into agriculture to counterbalance the loss of aging family farm operators. There will be no one to fill the vacuum of the ranks of the family farm if effective countermeasures are not found.

The greatest obstacle to a beginning farmer today is the immense financial burden incurred. To combat this problem, with the approval of the Industrial Commission, the Bank of North Dakota has initiated a Beginning Farmer Program. To date, there has been an overwhelming number of inquiries and over $2.5 million has been committed to the Beginning Farmer Program. The Program participates with the Farmers Home Administration Farm Ownership Program.

Continued agricultural research at the North Dakota Experiment Station by expanding greenhouse facilities deserves our support. Livestock and rangeland research will be affected by the relocation of the Dickinson Experiment Station and the development of the Central Grassland Range Unit. Both warrant serious consideration.

Farm stability may also be emphasized through international marketing efforts. The encouraging and expansion of international marketing opportunities help bring farm prices into relative balance with the rise in the cost of other goods and services in the economy. This kind of balance is essential to the long-term success of the family farm. The North Dakota Department of Agriculture has been able to obtain funding for one person under the United States Department of Agricultural Marketing Service Program. The services this position has provided to the agricultural producers of our state are so valuable that it should have a reliable source of funding to insure its continued functioning.

Initially, the market specialist has focused efforts on the development of market opportunities for a variety of specialty crops and products, particularly in Japan. These efforts have met with success, although the number of producers involved is still relatively small. In 1978 alone, nearly $1.5 million in agricultural sales have been generated and overseas market opportunities have been developed for rapeseed, buckwheat, racehorse oats and honey. At present, this Department of Agriculture activity is the only organized service available to all North Dakota producers of specialty crops. Marketing services can play an extremely important role in agricultural diversification. These kinds of marketing activities met with the approval of the 1977 Public Investment Plan and the priorities identified by the State and Local Affairs Council in the North Dakota Futures Workshops.

The Old West Regional Commission's Trade Office, located in Frankfurt, Germany, opened this past November. It will be a invaluable aid in helping North Dakota find markets for our products, as well as creating jobs in the Old West Region. The Office works to acquaint European businessmen with the products and potentialities of the Old West Region.

Through the Old West Regional Commission's Office, tourism offers the most promising short-term benefits. With the relative changes in the value of the dollar and the deutsche mark, the United States is becoming an advantageous place for Western Europeans to visit. Within the European community, one of the most pervasive attractions is the lore and legend of the Old West cowboy. The recently designated Theodore Roosevelt National Park and the Old West Region ideally fit the attitudes and inclinations of the modern European tourist.

Business and Industry

Although North Dakota's primary concern is a healthy agriculture, we realize the importance of expanding our economic base. Weather and agricultural marketing vagaries place the economy of North Dakota in a high-risk situation. While minimizing the adverse environmental and socioeconomic consequences of energy-related industrial development, we recognize the positive effects of the energy industry.

Continued success of the North Dakota State Mill and Elevator in processing wheat products demonstrates the value of expanding the processing of agricultural products to further our economic diversification.

GOVERNMENT STEWARDSHIP

"Any system of government will work when everything is going well. It is a system that functions in the pinches that survives."

John F. Kennedy (1940)

The 1940 observation of former President John F. Kennedy is equally true today. Although he was referring to an entire nation, member parts of that nation share the burden for the general success of that nation. We find ourselves in a pinch this biennium and our citizens have asked for better, more efficient, more responsive government. Comparatively speaking, since 1967, North Dakota has had an excellent record in containing government growth in personnel and payroll. According to Tax Foundation, Incorporated, from 1967 through 1977, state and local government employees nationwide increased an average of 38 percent. Meanwhile, North Dakota experienced an 11 percent increase. It was the lowest growth rate of all the states in the nation. Over the same period of time, North Dakota state and local government payrolls showed the third lowest percent of increase of all states in the union.

In spite of this admirable record, inflation has taken a heavy toll and our task is no less challenging and no less compelling. If anything, it underscores and critically emphasizes the need for competent, consistent and cohesive state planning. As government at all levels tightens its belt in response to citizen demands for more services and less taxes, sound planning becomes increasingly imperative.

Planning is simply a way of looking at things and a method of making decisions. There is a direct relationship between planning and cost effective action. Planning without action is futile and action without planning is fatal. It is the responsibility of decision makers to authorize programs with clear-cut goals and objectives.

Transportation

The economy of North Dakota is dependent on good, reliable transportation. The importance of good transportation centers on reducing the cost of movement of produce to market at a time and place when the producer may obtain the best possible price.

Our state is in a period of rapid growth and changing needs. Our transportation system — highways, railroads, and airlines — must keep pace with the everchanging demand for mobility. We have a good, basic system in place and our goal is to maintain and improve existing facilities to better serve our present and future needs.

Highways are the dominant form of transportation in North Dakota. The Legislature has established and repeatedly endorsed the policy of matching all federal highway trust funds made available. This public concern has developed the sound, long-term planning so essential to transportation.

In spite of a good highway system, North Dakota has had several serious transportation interruptions this past year. Potato growers had difficulty in moving their produce to market. Our grain shippers have been denied much needed transportation since midsummer. This followed a severe winter during which many railroad branchlines were placed under winter embargo with restricted or no rail service. The annual boxcar shortage continues to plague us. Now we face the possibility of railroads abandoning selected branch lines.

To address this problem, in 1976, Congress passed the Railroad Revitalization and Regulatory Reform Act to permit a planned comprehensive abandonment of rail lines through public input and opportunity for the public and private sectors to salvage all or parts of the rail lines up for abandonment. A State Rail Plan addressing these problems should be ready by the middle of January with possible legislation to implement such a Plan. It is important to understand that if the rail service deteriorates, more pressure will be placed on our highway system. Energy conservation alone dictates that most heavy non-perishable commodities should move by rail.

In spite of a Northwest Airlines strike costing our citizens many millions of dollars, overall airline service in North Dakota is improving with additional flights. We are committed to restoring good flight service for the City of Jamestown, as well as exploring air transportation systems which will improve air traffic services to all cities in North Dakota.

On June 28, I designated the North Dakota State Highway Department as the lead agency in the development of a statewide Intermodal Transportation Plan. The purpose is to develop and recommend an intermodal system capable of efficient, timely, reliable and cost-effective movement of people and goods. The Railroad Revitalization and regulatory Reform Act passed by Congress requires states to draw a Comprehensive Intermodal Transportation Plan.

A State Intermodal Transportation Team Committee serves in an advisory capacity to the Highway Department. The Committee's membership includes representatives of labor, industry, the Executive Branch and the Legislature.

North Dakota faces a number of important transportation decisions — decisions which will determine long-term transportation policy for North Dakota. These decisions should be made only after the extensive study and a well-developed plan of action with sufficient time for public input and a review by the State Intermodal Transportation Team. The State Transportation Plan should be completed by October, 1980.

Taxes

In the past two and one-half years the citizens of North Dakota enacted by initiated measure a sales tax cut and an income tax cut through the revision of the rates of these two taxes. The people, by their actions, have said that we in government must do what is necessary to revise our tax systems or they will take action themselves.

Property tax in our state is in desperate need of reform. I recommend legislation to correct its inequities. The fractional assessments we have tolerated for decades are subject to court challenges because the current law requires property tax assessments to be made at 100 percent of property values and that is not being done. I am hopeful this will be the year for property tax reform.

An issue that has dominated a major part of the time and attention of the last two Legislative Sessions has been the Coal Severance Tax. I encourage you to pass a percentage coal severance tax of 25 percent. This represents a significant compromise in the rate I have previously supported and is recommended in the spirit of resolving the recurring debate centered around this issue. This also represents my substantial support of the position of the North Dakota Association of Rural Electric Cooperatives on the coal severance tax.

Law Enforcement

Public safety and security is important to the quality of life in North Dakota. Traditionally, North Dakota has one of the lower crime rates in the nation. We must continue to maintain that standard of excellence. The Crime Watch Program of North Dakota, patterned after Minnesota's program and implemented by the North Dakota Law Enforcement Council, has been successful. The incidence of burglary was reduced 11.2 percent in 1976 and in the second year of the Program, burglaries again decreased 7.5 percent.

While burglaries have decreased in North Dakota, all other crimes showed an increase. It is clear that we must look for and examine more innovative programs like Crime Watch to combat increased crime in other areas.

One area of special significance is the increasing availability of drugs. Effective drug control measures would be welcomed by the people of North Dakota. Several months ago, I publicly gave my endorsement to a state-level drug enforcement unit. My position has not changed. Funding for this program was not considered in the Executive Budget since it was not requested. In light of budgetary constraints, I recommend that the legislature invite county and local participation to help fund this important program.

Innovative programs, coupled with well-trained officers are the key to successful law enforcement. In the past, the Legislature mandated many law enforcement training requirements. However, the Law Enforcement Council is faced with dilemma, mainly, the financing of its training program. To date, the Council has had to rely on federal funds to carry out these statutory duties. The Legislature needs to consider the advisability of long-term dependence upon federal funds.

Included in the Budget for the upcoming biennium are funds for the women's correctional facility as mandated by the judiciary. The Budget request concurs with the recommendation of the Interim Committee on Corrections and Penology regarding the women's correctional facility.

The women's correctional facility may be only the tip of future corrections reform required in North Dakota. It may be necessary to give consideration to the future location of the penitentiary and conditions of its buildings. The penitentiary, presently surrounded by residential and light industrial development, is located in an area which is blocking potential expansion of the City of Bismarck. This also poses increased security problems.

On a related matter, the North Dakota Law Enforcement Council is responsible for recommending rules for the operation and maintenance of county and municipal jails and for the care and treatment of inmates. This responsibility is shared with the district judges who are mandated to set jail rules. The Judicial Council voted unanimously to transfer its authority to the Law Enforcement Council, believing the executive function did not properly belong in the judiciary. The Corrections and Penology Committee has recommended legislation reflecting this transfer of authority to the Council. I concur with their recommendation.

State Employees

State government must have the ability to retain high quality employees and to assure effective, efficient service. I will call for an interim study resolution to review the many inequities involved in fringe benefits, retirement and medical insurance premiums to name a few. I had hoped to provide more for state employees this biennium but the Budget would not permit me to do so. Furthermore, it became clear that a reasoned, planned approach was necessary to deal with the spectrum of compensation problems.

State Buildings

Efficient, effective government, in part, depends upon the location and accessibility of public employees for the public's convenience. To insure increased efficiency of state government, I support the new state office building that will provide improved facilities for the Supreme Court, state offices and the Legislature. I am happy to report that construction on the North Dakota Heritage Center has begun. This could only have come about by the support of the Legislature and gifts by many businesses and thousands of individuals. The Center is an important step toward establishing a historic foundation for future generations if they are to gain the insights necessary to understand and take pride in the colorful historical past of our grassland setting. The Heritage Center is scheduled for completion in early 1981.

Insofar as the Heritage Center provides a linkage to the past, it is important to note that North Dakota will be celebrating its Centennial in 1989. The Heritage Center and its resources will be a valuable aid in directing our efforts for that occasion. This coming biennium, I will appoint a Centennial Commission with the responsibility to begin planning the state's Centennial celebration.

Upon the completion of the Heritage Center, the Liberty Memorial Building will house the State Library, another invaluable research tool. I support the renovation of the Liberty Memorial Building and have recommended $500,000 in the Executive Budget to begin renovation.

National Guard

During the past year, the North Dakota National Guard has been called to state active duty on a number of occasions to protect life and property and to provide relief from the effects of tornadoes, blizzards, sleet, storms and floods. In January through March of last year an additional expenditure of over $1 million of state funds would have been necessary had the National Guard not been available to assist in snow removal operation. The North Dakota National Guard, over the past year and one half, has been able to achieve and maintain a personnel strength of well over 100 percent of authorized levels and leads all states in the nation. There can be little doubt that a major part of this success is due to the fiscal support the state has provided the Guard in the form of a recruiting and retention budget and the College Tuition Waiver Act. I, therefore, urge that careful and thoughtful consideration be given to requests involving the continuance of current programs and other programs which will significantly contribute to the strength, professionalism, and readiness of the North Dakota National Guard.

Young Adult Conservation Corps

Efforts by our State ABM Coordinator, working with a number of federal, state and local agencies, resulted in the partial reuse of the ABM site at Nekoma, North Dakota.

A Young Adult Conservation Corps (YACC) Camp was opened on August 1, 1978, and will be named the North Dakota Rough Rider Camp. The Camp is programmed for an enrollment of 200 unemployed young adults and a professional staff of 32, with a $3 million annual budget. The Camp is funded through the U.S. Department of Interior and is under the direction of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Work performed by the Rough Rider Camp is conservation oriented, and projects will be on federal lands and public works in North Dakota communities.

We are actively assisting the communities of Minot and Finley to find constructive uses for the radar facilities located there which are due to close.

Election Reform

In the 1977 Message to the Legislature, I recommended a four point election law reform in the belief that the right to vote is the most basic right a citizen in a democracy has. To protect that right, I wish to reiterate my recommendations for election laws governing North Dakota.

- 1) Insure the right to vote by absentee ballot to every person who will not have an opportunity to vote on election day so that no confusion exists as to the validity of such absentee ballots and votes.
- 2) Restructuring party columns in both voting machines and paper ballots and apportioning voting machines according to population.
- 3) Requiring qualified election officials who are given adequate compensation, proper instruction and easily understood election manuals and to have specific duties in assisting voters at the polls.
- 4) Creating an independent advisory commission on elections that would attempt to establish standards of uniformity for the election process.

Judicial Unification System

In September of 1976, the people of North Dakota passed a Constitutional Measure requiring the Legislature to enact a unified court system in the State of North Dakota. Two years of intensive study resulted in a bill draft that would substantially change the structure of the courts in this state. The court unification bill draft is a historic document because it represents the first major legislative reorganization of the Judicial Branch of government in the history of the State of North Dakota. I commend the judiciary for their work to improve the structure and services of the courts in the State of North Dakota. Because of budgetary constraints, I did not include the $16 million request for total state financing of the court system in the Executive Budget. However, I would give my support to improvements in the court system that could be made without total funding from the State General Fund.

Representation for the District of Columbia

As a member of the Executive Committee of the National Governors' Association, I seconded the motion supporting a Constitutional Amendment permitting the citizens of the District of Columbia to have a voice in the United States Congress equal to that of the citizens who reside in the 50 states. The National Governors' Association concurred with the recommendation of the Executive Committee.

As a member of Congress, I served on the District of Columbia Committee.

The residents of our capital district are not allowed to participate fully in our government and I find a continuation of the denial of their right to full representation in the National Legislature indefensible. District of Columbia residents carry the same burdens of stewardship as those in the 50 states but only a handful retain the right to vote in one of our states. The remaining residents, over 700,000, are subject to taxation without representation, conscription without a voice in our international affairs and governance by Congress in which no voting member is accountable to them. Our nation's capital has a unique and special role in our federal structure but this does not justify denial of full voting representation in Congress to those who reside there. I urge ratification by this Legislature of the Constitutional Amendment for full voting representation in the United States House of Representatives and the United States Senate for the District of Columbia.

CONCLUSION

Meeting the responsibilities attendant to improved performance in the areas of human and natural resources, economic development, and government stewardship cannot be constructed on lofty words; only concrete deeds. As the trustees of government, our task is to perform the deeds consistent with the call for continued services and effective delivery.

The measure of success is dependent upon the personal commitment by each of us in this room to participate as fully and constructively as possible in the performance of our public trust.

As we look forward to the 46th Legislative Assembly, the common good is our common cause.

Benediction was offered by Chaplain Donald W. Hill.

THE STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Message By

The Honorable Ralph J. Erickstad

Chief Justice, North Dakota Supreme Court

THE STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

I thank you Lt. Governor Sanstead, Governor Link, Mr. Speaker Wagner, leaders of the Republican and Democrat caucuses in the House and Senate, other members and staff of the Forty-Sixth Legislative Assembly, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen — friends all.

This is the fourth time in the 87 year history of our state and its 46 sessions of the legislature that the chief justice of our state has been invited to speak to a joint session of the legislature on the state of the judiciary. I am very pleased to be invited to speak to you for the third time. Since I last appeared before you, much involving the judiciary has transpired.

TRIAL AND APPELLATE COURT CASELOAD BURDEN INCREASING

Under our present court structure, our trial courts consist of the district courts, county courts with increased jurisdiction, county courts without increased jurisdiction, county justice courts and municipal courts. The juvenile court is a part of the district court. The small claims court is part of the county court system. Each of these courts has experienced a substantial increase in cases filed.

In summary, the caseload in North Dakota trial courts has increased sharply for an extended period. As a consequence, appellate cases have also increased sharply. Our forecasts indicate no foreseeable change in the steep upward trend in demand for court services. The need for additional court services will increase further as the state's energy resources are utilized.

LEGISLATIVE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW JUDICIAL ARTICLE

We are in the process of major reassessment of judicial services in North Dakota. At the center of this reassessment is the greatest judicial constitutional change since our statehood. That change was initiated when the Forty-Fourth Legislative Assembly in 1975 adopted House Concurrent Resolution 3056 which called for the establishment of a unified court system.

This resolution arose out of the legislature. The voters of North Dakota approved the new judicial article in September, 1976, and thus the concept of a unified court system is now an historic fact. The questions now are — Where do we go from here? — How should we proceed to implement the unified judicial system?

The new judicial article establishes a unified judicial system consisting of "... a supreme court, a district court, and such other courts as may be provided by law." (Section 85, North Dakota Constitution). Thus through the approval by the people of the judicial article alone we have become a unified judicial system. It is unified in its present form and we are taking steps to implement this mandate of the people in the exercise of our rulemaking and administrative authority. The acts of the legislature in making structural changes in the future may assist us in implementing that mandate.

A unified judicial system is intended to be a single provider of court services. A unified system is one that is accountable for quality services delivered in an efficient and effective manner. It should be fully implemented.

1977 SESSION — A MORATORIUM ON STRUCTURAL CHANGES

Senator Frank Wenstrom, who served as chairman of the second constitutional convention from which most of the new judicial article evolved, and who served on the citizen's advisory committee, introduced Senate Concurrent Resolution 4021 into the 1977 legislature calling for a moratorium on structural changes in the judicial system pending an interim study. The resolution was approved by the 1977 legislature. The interim study has been completed and its major proposal is now before the 1979 legislature as House Bill 1066.

INTERIM JUDICIAL SYSTEM COMMITTEE

The legislative council established the Interim Judicial System Committee, chaired by Senator Howard Freed, which studied the structure of our present judicial system and the unified judicial system called for in the new judicial article. This study which exceeded 180 person days or 1,440 person hours of study and consultation by members of this house and senate was assisted by a further eighteen-month study by a broadly representative legislative subcommittee of the Citizens Advisory Committee, chaired by Harry Pearce of Bismarck.

The result of this historic effort is included in House Bills 1066, 1067, 1068, and 1071, Senate Bill 2072 and Senate Concurrent Resolution 4006. Together these bills provide for the most important improvements in court services in North Dakota since statehood.

I will not take time to outline the features of each of these legislative proposals let me say simply that they are the result of exhaustive study, and embody many adjustments to reflect the political realities of North Dakota. They merit your most careful attention.

Incidentally, it was in 1066 that the conquest of England by the Normans under William The Conqueror began. You will recall also that England started its development as the great leader in law and justice with the judicial improvements which William The Conqueror brought with him. Accordingly, it should be easy to remember the number (1066) of the central bill of this proposal and to appreciate its importance to the future of our state.

The basic proposal provides for a single general jurisdiction trial court, the district court, and state funding for court services. There are alternative proposals for the composition of the district court. Whatever your decision on the district court alternatives, the basic package is a sound approach to improving judicial services in North Dakota.

This total proposal has both the endorsement of the supreme court and the judicial council.

Let me speak personally for a moment. I have watched this process for over four years. The study effort has been as broadly representative of the public and interested groups as any proposal to be submitted to the legislature. The many persons who have studied this subject have produced a realistic and mature proposal for your consideration. It includes many adjustments to particular needs while retaining the clear purpose of improving court structure and services in North Dakota. The proposal submitted to you has my personal endorsement. Personally, I urge its careful consideration and approval.

The cost of the unified judicial system proposal before you involves a significant shift of financial responsibility from county government to state government, but only a marginal increase in net cost to the citizens for judicial services in North Dakota. Fundamentally this is a proposal to shift costs and to assure accountability, not to increase costs for court services.

Accountability for judicial service improvements is fundamental to a unified judicial system. Structural simplicity and fiscal responsibility are essential to this accountability.

We must keep this important matter of court services improvement in proper financial perspective. By providing the full funding requested for the implementation of the new judicial article, this amount will only represent 3% of the general fund budget. This overall perspective helps to focus on the small relative investment in the judicial system, one of the three great branches of government.

I am speaking here of a progressive process of implementation over a period of time. Let me suggest a practical way to initiate this process in five phases.

In Phase I, the absolutely essential, minimum step is the implementation of state funding in the establishment of the new district court with 48 judges, and magistrates for each county in which a judge is not resident.

These judges include the 19 present district court judges plus 29 associate district judges or district court judges who will ultimately replace the functions of the county courts with increased jurisdiction, county courts without increased jurisdiction and county justice courts.

In Phase II, the services of juvenile court personnel and court reporters could be added.

In Phase III, the clerks of district court and their personnel could be added.

Phase IV could include the costs of juror services and indigent defense services.

In Phase V, the incentives to local government to improve local trial court facilities could be provided.

Together these five phases could greatly improve court services for our people and provide for a deliberate and orderly transition within the unified judicial system. The cost of Phase I, with the addition of the new judges, will be less than $2.7 million in this biennium.

It will not serve the judicial system for me to point out its present weaknesses to you here today. These matters have been reviewed and studied exhaustively for over four years. These problems are complex and sensitive. Let me say, however, that the comprehensive legislative proposal of the legislative council is unmistakable proof of the conclusion that improvements are needed. This legislative proposal provides for a practical solution to those problems.

On N F L televised football the other evening, I was struck by an advertising voice which repeated to the visual image of the recycling of empty cans,

Alcoa can't wait.

Alcoa can't wait.

Alcoa can't wait until tomorrow!

Just like this refrain, the people of North Dakota can't wait until tomorrow if we are going to preserve justice in our time. In the process of saving our material wealth we could lose it and more.

ADMINISTRATIVE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW JUDICIAL ARTICLE

In 1976, the Citizens Advisory Committee appointed a rules subcommittee to make recommendations to the supreme court regarding implementation of the new judicial article by supreme court rule and administrative action. The committee is chaired by William Strutz, who is the son of the former chief justice of our state. This subcommittee has made numerous recommendations to the supreme court since we last met.

EFFICIENT RULEMAKING PROCEDURES

The rules subcommittee proposed, and the supreme court adopted, a new and comprehensive rulemaking procedure for the statewide rulemaking process and the local court rulemaking process of the unified judicial system which emphasizes openness, flexibility, and efficiency. This effort has been taken as the model for similar efforts by state supreme courts in Washington, Nevada, and Wisconsin. We believe that it will serve the unified judicial system well.

THE PRESIDING JUDGE AND THE JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Let me also report that the rules subcommittee has assisted in the development of two concepts which are fundamental to our unified judicial system: The presiding judge and the judicial district.

The presiding judge is the key official in the administration of all trial court services within the geographical area of each judicial district in North Dakota. The rules subcommittee proposed, and the Supreme Court accepted, a rule delegating substantial administrative authority to the presiding judges for the administration and planning of trial court services. This is a major step toward insuring uniformly high quality court services in each county of this state. We are committed to improving the accessibility and responsiveness of court services in each county whatever its size.

The judicial district can no longer be viewed only as a convenient area of the district court. The judicial district is now a geographical area in which all court services, at all court levels, should be administered. The judicial district is the primary administrative unit of the unified judicial system in assuring quality services in all parts of the state.

JUDICIAL REDISTRICTING

Judicial redistricting was also the subject of a rules subcommittee proposal. After months of study and several hearings, the Supreme Court approved new judicial districts to be made effective July 1, 1979. Most notably, these districts separate the counties of Cass and Grand Forks into separate districts and combine the counties of Burleigh and Morton into a single district, while adjusting overall boundaries to provide more effective access by district court judges to rural counties.

These are significant administrative steps toward effective implementation of the unified judicial system.

COURT ADMINISTRATION

And now let me change the subject. You will be happy to learn that with the assistance you gave us last session through appropriation of funds and the passage of enabling legislation, we have been able to make further progress in our efforts to improve the judicial system.

JUDICIAL MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEM

During the last biennium, we moved forward in the development of a case reporting system which tells us where every district court case is, what the status of the case is, which judge is responsible for it, and how long the case has been in the system. The statistics now include both criminal and civil cases. We have completed a juvenile case component to monitor both formal and informal juvenile case proceedings. We are presently completing an improved Supreme Court case monitoring system.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING FOR JUDICIAL AND COURT SUPPORT PERSONNEL

When I spoke to you in 1975, I asked you to approve legislation requiring all judges within our judicial system to receive annual training and education. In response, you passed legislation making it mandatory that all judges of the four lower tiers of our judicial system attend an annual educational session unless excused by our court.

During this last biennium, 900 judges and court personnel attended 36 training programs in North Dakota for a total of over 9,000 person hours of training. This is a remarkable achievement which will have a direct effect on the improvement of court services.

PLANNING FOR OUR FUTURE

In 1975, we saw the need to plan for the future of the judicial system in a more formalized way and on a more long-range basis. We concluded that study and research would be necessary to facilitate the administration of the North Dakota unified judicial system.

JUDICIAL PLANNING COMMITTEE

The judicial planning committee was formed in 1976 to provide a forum for the study of long-term issues for the judiciary and to coordinate planning for the future of court services in North Dakota. The judicial planning committee is chaired by Justice Vernon Pederson and includes all of the presiding judges, lawyers, all levels of the judiciary, court constituencies and the public. This committee has prepared a Master Program which was reviewed and adopted by our court in June, 1977. In this document, the judicial planning committee described every part of the unified judicial system and identified its problems and needs. This committee has set broad goals, specific objectives and itemized tasks for the biennium period and continues to review its progressive implementation with the state court administrator, Bill Bohn.

CLERK OF THE SUPREME COURT

Again our Clerk of Court, Luella Dunn, and her staff have been of great assistance to us in performing the many complex and varied services of the clerk's office. Lu is actually the director of the nerve center of the Supreme Court. My colleagues and I rely heavily on her assistance. Among other duties, she is the Secretary of the State Bar Board, the Disciplinary Board, and the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

ATTORNEY AND JUDICIAL DISCIPLINE

Let me review the work of these three important committees related to the legal profession.

STATE BAR BOARD

The State Bar Board supervises the admission of attorneys to the practice of law. During 1977, 91 were admitted to practice law before our court, and in 1978, 68 were admitted.

DISCIPLINARY BOARD

Public complaints to the Disciplinary Board against attorneys increased from a low of 18 complaints per year to a record high last year of 62. During the last year, five of the complaints resulted in formal proceedings in the Supreme Court against three attorneys whom the Disciplinary Board believed guilty of misconduct.

JUDICIAL QUALIFICATIONS COMMISSION

The Judicial Qualifications Commission, in its brief existence, has investigated 52 complaints against judges.

The judges, lawyers and lay people who serve on these committees are rendering a great service to the cause of justice. These committees demonstrate our commitment to effective accountability and high standards.

MY COLLEAGUES

My colleagues have many responsibilities beyond deciding appellate cases which contribute substantially to the law and its administration.

In the written text of this address, I have elaborated on some of the important contributions of my colleagues and many other judges, to improve the services of the unified judicial system. I hope that you will take time to review it.

CONCLUSION

This is the beginning of a new era for the judicial system of North Dakota. The new judicial article has established a unified judicial system.

We in the judicial system are doing all we can to carry out this mandate of the people, but we are limited in our capacity. We must now depend upon you. Whether we forge ahead or slip back will depend upon the structural changes which you make in our judicial system and the funds you provide for its administration.

Think for a moment if your personal liberty or your private property were at stake in court, or if the custody of your children were in issue in court. What standards of judicial service, what quality and integrity would you want if your life, your property, or your children depended on the decision of a judge in North Dakota?

The new judicial article leaves the Legislature with wide discretion in the statutory implementation of the unified judicial system. But this does not relieve you of the obligation to carry this responsibility to the determined completion of the task given to you by the people of North Dakota.

If we do not heed the voices of our people and truly implement our unified court system now, we may some day see our system abandoned by our people, and in the process lose our freedom.

I truly believe that the time to press forward is now. We cannot wait until tomorrow.

I thank you very much.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Mertens: "Mr. Speakers, Members of the Assembly:

"There have been hearings on bills this morning and there will be hearings on bills tomorrow, some of which might be of extreme importance to your constituents. You have on your desks a listing of the pre-filed bills along with proposed dates they are to be heard. You can pick up a similar listing from the Senate on their pre-filed bills, so when you go home you can discuss this with your constituents.

"If some bills important to your people have already been heard, the Committee Chairmen will cooperate and will have hearings again next week. This privilege should not be abused, but you can go over this listing and make sure your people have had the opportunity to attend those public hearings they wish to attend."

Rep. Strinden moved that the absent members be excused, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Strinden moved that the House be on the Ninth Order of Business, and at the conclusion of the Ninth Order, the House stand adjourned until 12:30 p. m., Friday, January 5, 1979, which motion prevailed.

REPORT
LEGISLATIVE COMPENSATION COMMISSION to the
46TH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

The Legislative Compensation Commission was created by the Legislative Assembly in 1969. Its statutory authority is codified in Sections 54-03-20.2 and 54-03-20.3 of the North Dakota Century Code.

The commission consists of five members appointed by the Governor, none of whom may hold state office or serve in any capacity in state government, at the time of appointment, or during service on the commission. The members are appointed for four-year terms. The current membership of the commission is Mr. Gorman King, Chairman; Mr. Lloyd Bjella; Mrs. Mavis Couchigian; Mrs. Carol Johnson; and Dr. James Mahoney.

The commission held one meeting in Bismarck at which there was not a quorum, and then held another meeting by telephone conference call. During the conference call meeting, the commission considered the results of a questionnaire which had been distributed to the 46th Legislative Assembly during its Organizational Session on December 5-7, 1978.

Responses to the questionnaire indicated that the present constitutional compensation limitation is unrealistic; that the $45 per diem received for interim committee work is inadequate; that the $60 daily unvouchered expense allowance paid during each calendar day of a legislative session is inadequate; and that the $150 monthly unvouchered expense allowance is adequate. A collation of the questionnaire is attached to this report.

The commission believed, in general, that it would be appropriate to hold any recommended compensation increases to the national inflation control guidelines of seven percent. Commissioner Mahoney dissented from this commission consensus. He believes no step should be taken at this time which would increase state expenditures.

The commission then questioned whether the seven percent increase should be spread among each item of compensation over which it had jurisdiction to make recommendations, or whether it should all be lumped in one item. The commission voted to total up a seven percent increase of each item over the biennium, divide that amount by 24, and add the result to the monthly unvouchered expense allowance. Therefore, the commission is recommending that the monthly unvouchered expense allowance contained in Section 54-03-20 of the Century Code be increased from $150 to $180 per month. Commissioner Mahoney also voted in the negative on this recommendation.

The commission also discussed whether it would be appropriate to recommend a change in the current constitutional provision (Section 45) dealing with legislative compensation. The commission unanimously believed that the Constitution should be changed to more realistically provide for legislative compensation. All of the commissioners, with the exception of Commissioner Mahoney, believe that constitutional provision for a Legislative Compensation Commission with authority to set legislative compensation and expense reimbursement levels was most appropriate. Commissioner Mahoney believes that the Constitution should provide that compensation be set by law.

Therefore, the commission is recommending that the Constitution be amended by changing Section 45 from a provision for a daily compensation ($5) to provision for a Legislative Compensation Commission. The commission is submitting a bill and a resolution to accomplish its two major recommendations.

Finally, the commission discussed legislative space needs and the need for more adequate staffing for the entire Legislative Assembly. The commission recognized that the proposed new Judicial Wing and State Office Building will relieve some of the pressure for physical space placed on state government. However, the commission believes that there is particular need for more adequate legislative space. Therefore, the commission recommends that the Legislative Assembly take steps to provide itself with more adequate space and additional staffing whenever, in its judgment, funds for that action become available.

COLLATION OF LEGISLATIVE COMPENSATION QUESTIONNAIRE

On December 5, 1978, a questionnaire concerning legislative compensation (copy attached) was distributed to each member of the 1979 Legislative Assembly. Eighty-five of the 150 (56.7%) members of the Legislative Assembly responded by the end of the Organizational Session on Thursday, December 7, 1978. The following is a collation of the results. Not all respondents answered every question, and some respondents who answered a particular question negatively ventured an opinion as to an appropriate solution.

QUESTION 1

The first of the six questions asked whether the monthly allowance for uncompensated expenses ($150 per month payable semiannually) is adequate. The majority of respondents (52 or 61.2%) think the amount is adequate. Thirty-three (38.8%) think the amount is inadequate. When asked for a suggested amount, the majority of those who responded in the negative (18 or 58%) think the monthly reimbursement should be set at $200. Other answers are: $170 (2 or 6.5%); $175 (2 or 6.5%); $177.50 (1 or 3.2%); $180 (2 or 6.5%); $250 (2 or 6.5%); $300 (3 or 9.6%); and $400 (1 or 3.2%).

Comments on this question included suggestions that the monthly allowance be paid quarterly, instead of semiannually; and that the allowance should be high enough so a wage earner can serve.

QUESTION 2

Question 2 asked whether the present constitutional limitation on daily salary ($5 per day of session) is realistic. Six legislators (7.1%) responding think that it is. The great majority of the respondents (79 or 92.9%) believe the present provision inadequate. Seventy-four of the 79 picked one of the suggested solutions. Most of the 74 (38 or 51.3%) chose the compensation commission solution. Twenty-two (29.7%) chose the method which would have allowed legislative compensation to be set by statute. Nine respondents (12.2%) think the Constitution should set a more realistic per diem; and five (6.8%) think the Constitution should set a realistic salary figure.

QUESTION 3

Question 3 asked whether interim committee per diem payments ($45) are adequate. Only 84 of the respondents answered this question, and 34 or 40.5%, think the interim committee per diem is adequate. Forty-nine respondents (58.3%) think the per diem is inadequate and recommend per diem ranging from $50 to $100. The plurality (20 legislators or 44.4%) believe the per diem should be set at $60, the same as the per diem received during the legislative session. The next largest number (9 or 20%) recommended a $50 per diem.

QUESTION 4

Question 4 concerned the adequacy of the daily unvouchered expense allowance ($60) paid during each calendar day of a legislative session. Thirty-three respondents (38.8% of those responding) think the daily legislative unvouchered expense allowance is adequate. Fifty-two (61.2%) think it is not. Fifty-one of the latter recommend a new rate, and 36 of the 51 suggest $65 to $75. Eight (15.7%) suggest a $100-per-day figure; and six (11.7%) suggest an $80-per-day amount.

QUESTION 5

Question 5 asked whether levels of legislative compensation have a "significant effect" on attracting persons to run for the Legislative Assembly. Eighty-two legislators answered this question, and 45 (52.9%) believe compensation has a significant effect. Comments were primarily to the effect that wage earners and those on fixed incomes are almost prohibited from running. Thirty-seven respondents (43.5%) think compensation does not have an effect on the decision to run.

QUESTION 6

Question 6 attempted to determine legislative opinion on whether compensation levels influence legislators' decisions to remain in the legislature. Fifty-two (61.2%) of the 85 respondents said that it does. Thirty-three (38.8%) said that it does not.

RECOGNITION

Speaker Wagner announced that a former Representative was in the chambers, and requested that the House recognize former Rep. Stuart McDonald, and Rep. McDonald was thereupon introduced to the House.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Was read the second time.

The question being on the final adoption of the resolution.

So the House Concurrent Resolution was declared adopted on a voice vote.

Rep. Solberg moved that the remarks of Commander Floyd Henderson be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Commander Henderson: "Mr. Speaker, Miss North Dakota, Members of the Legislature, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"It is with a great deal of pleasure for me to visit you today. As most of you heard, it was my privilege to sit as a member of this body fifty years ago, in the 1929 session of the Legislature, which was the last session in the old capitol building. I mentioned that to someone this morning, and he said it must have been a pretty hot session, since it burned down the capitol. Be that as it may, it is a pleasure to come back, and I feel highly honored to be recognized by the Veterans of World War I, to serve as their national Commander, and to be able to visit with you.

"Not long ago I was told some politician was told to put more fire in his speeches. A friend of mine felt it would be better for him to put more speeches in the fire. That goes along with another thought I had recently, that we should not take our political jokes seriously, because some of them get elected.

"I don't know exactly what I can say to you. I know that many things have changed. This building has changed a great deal since I served here. The business that is being transacted has changed. That is progress, I guess. I congratulate each of your Members. I have always felt it has been my privilege to make any contribution in any way to the State of North Dakota, as a member of the legislature, and as a member of the Veterans of World War I. It was a privilege for me to serve as State Commissioner of Veterans Affairs for fifteen years, and as Commandant of the North Dakota Soldiers Home for seven years, and in all those years it was my duty to visit both the House and Senate to secure appropriations for the agency I represented. At no time was I not graciously received by the Legislators, and I feel through their efforts, you have made it possible for me to make a slight contribution.

"You may be interested in knowing a little about me personally. As Commander of the Veterans of World War I, I have traveled to every state in the Union except Hawaii and Alaska, and during those travels I have been accused of being a public relations employee of the State of North Dakota. I have never assumed that responsibility, but I have never hesitated to praise the State of North Dakota and what we have done here in North Dakota for our Veterans and every other phase of society. I came to North Dakota in 1913, which is sixty-six years ago this month. Subsequently, I was graduated from Valley City College, and I enlisted in the North Dakota National Guard out here at Fort Lincoln on July 26, 1917.

“An interesting thing I can recall about World War I was the support given by the citizens of North Dakota. North Dakota had a population of some 600,000, and the records show that we gave 31,269 men to the service in World War I, which is 5% of the entire population of the State of North Dakota, and I question that any other state can touch that record. There were over four million men in World War I. Of that four million men, as of September, 1978, the Veterans Administration said there were 660,000 surviving veterans, and North Dakota is charged with 2000 World War I surviving veterans. I question very much that we have that many, but those are the figures of the Veterans Administration.

“I know you have a great deal of work to do. I do want you to know that wherever I go, I am always happy to represent the State of North Dakota. Some of you may realize that the State of North Dakota has paid a bigger bonus to every war veteran who has served from North Dakota than any other state in the Union. Notwithstanding that fact, I understand we have a $140 million surplus, which says a lot for the Legislators and citizens of our state looking after the finances of North Dakota. I am always proud to mention that as I travel about the country.

“The veterans organizations in North Dakota are probably the closest knit of any state in the Union. We have four chartered organizations in North Dakota, chartered by Congress, and they are the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of World War I. Those four have combined their efforts in the interest of all veterans, and have proved most beneficial and have been accepted by the Legislature. They appreciate the cooperation given by the Legislature.

“I don't know, but I heard there is a man who I think out ranks me by some years as a former member of the Legislature, and he was here yesterday. He is Elmer Cart. I don't recall when he served, but it was before me.

“I am very happy to be here, and you may rest assured I will do the best I can to represent North Dakota creditably and serve the interests of the World War I Veterans at all times.”

Speaker Wagner announced that the record should show that Commander Henderson's son served in the North Dakota House of Representatives in 1963.

So the House and Senate Joint Resolution was declared adopted on a voice vote.

Senator Nothing moved that the following remarks of Senator Milton R. Young be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

REMARKS

UNITED STATES SENATOR

"I deeply appreciate this opportunity to speak at this Joint Session of the North Dakota State Legislature. It is like coming home again. It is difficult to realize that it was 46 years ago this month that I first became a member of the North Dakota House of Representatives. I have been coming here every session since, but this will be my last appearance as your United States Senator.

"I am pleased to note that there is still one member of the Legislature here who I served with — that wonderful lady and great Legislator, Brynhild Haugland. I believe this marks her 41st year as a Legislator, which is not only a record of time served but of great contributions to our State.

"My years as a State Legislator and a Member of the United States Senate have been a great experience. They have spanned the years from the tragic drought, grasshopper years and depression of the early '30's to now. Dollars were scarce then and valuable. Now they are plentiful but not worth much.

"I won my first election as a Legislator by only 37 votes and I won my last election by only 186. The Watergate debacle was as much of a handicap the last time I ran as the powerful Nonpartisan League was when I won my first election.

"I wish that the Congress of the United States was as fiscally responsible as the North Dakota Legislature has always been. Unwisely, each Administration and each Congress in recent years has embarked upon countless new and costly programs — some of them necessary. We could well get along without a great many. We are paying the price now for all these programs with huge expenditures and rampant inflation. The national debt is now over $800 billion and the interest alone is $46 billion a year.

“As long as the people of the United States continue to elect liberal-minded, big spending members of Congress, we will continue to have these problems. Many members of Congress, starting about four years ago, are very liberal-minded and until recently very proud of it. Even though there seems to be a conservative trend, most of them have just been re-elected.

“Bill Brock, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, recently on a national television program expressed concern about all of the ‘gimmicks’ members of Congress, and especially the House, have to perpetuate themselves in office. He should know as he was a member of both the House and Senate.

“Two Congressmen were just re-elected, one of whom had already been convicted on 29 counts of fraud and the other was under indictments returned by Grand Juries all the way from Pennsylvania to Los Angeles. One major ‘gimmick’ being used excessively is the boxholder franking privilege. Much of the franking privilege is necessary, but in recent years many liberals have cleverly used the boxholder franking privilege in mailing millions of letters that can make them appear to be either liberal or conservative — whichever meets the mood of the voters at election time. They are somewhat akin to the chameleon that can change colors to better cope with whatever environment they are in!

“The late Senator Langer once told me that any member of Congress with the franking privilege should never lose an election. At that time both the Senate and the House had the boxholder franking privilege. About 20 years ago, the Senate discontinued the boxholder franking privilege, but the House retained it. Since then, a member of the Senate has to address each letter.

“If a Congressional District has 200,000 boxholders, and some of them have more, and the Congressman used his boxholder franking privilege only five times a year, it would mean a million pieces of mail for each Congressman, each year. All Congressional mail is considered ‘First Class’ and the cost of the franking privilege for Congress this past fiscal year was over $47 million. The General Accounting Office is not sure whether the Postal Service is even being reimbursed now for boxholder mail.

“The incumbent Members of Congress, as well as Governors and other high public officials, have other advantages. Forty-four members of the Senate are former Members of the House of Representatives or former Governors. They have a considerable advantage as candidates for the United States Senate. They naturally attain high voter identification. If a Democrat Governor of North Dakota would appoint enough key Republicans to boards and commissions of all kinds, he could hardly lose an election. In the last 52 years, no elected governor of North Dakota seeking re-election has ever been defeated.

“You would be interested to know that 42 of the present members of the United States Senate are former State Legislators. Just in my time, many members of this Legislature have been elected to Congress such as Hjalmer C. Nygaard — former Speaker, Fred Aandahl, Don Short, Rollie Redlin and Governor Link. Experience here is very helpful to anyone serving in Congress. All of the Governors of North Dakota since 1945 have been members of the Legislature.

“Changing the date of the Primary election from June to September provided an unnecessary advantage to incumbents in the top political offices. I am sure many of you recall that on previous occasions, and before my last election, I urged that we return to a June Primary and I suggest it again.

"One of the worst features of the September Primary, in addition to giving an advantage to high ranking incumbent officials, is that it results in a much smaller voter turnout. The major reason for the smaller vote is that farmers in the rush to get their harvesting done, just aren't going to take the time off to go and vote. Many other voters are just returning from their summer homes and vacations.

"This September Primary has been quite effective in reducing farmer participation in primary elections. Most farmers prefer a June Primary. Along with a June Primary, farmers tell me they like the February-March Endorsing Conventions much better than the late ones we have now.

"I can understand why incumbent members of Congress, or a Governor, don't want to lose the advantage of a late primary. A new candidate for these high offices needs more adequate time to gain voter identification and to be able to finance and plan an effective campaign. Many members of Congress, including myself, start planning their campaigns a year or more before the election.

"Both National Parties have a policy of not providing financial assistance to new candidates until after the Primary. The present two months from the Primary Election to the General Election is just not enough. With the late September Primary, a new candidate has practically no chance at all.

"When I was appointed on March 12, 1945, I had to stand for election at the first statewide election which was in June of 1946. My nomination then was more important than the election.

"The nomination then, as now, was by a State Convention of delegates elected by Precinct Committeemen. When I sought the nomination, 2/3 of all the Precinct Committeemen then were Nonpartisan Leaguers. I had a very difficult problem getting a majority of delegates at that convention. The Nonpartisan League had their own candidate and former Senator Gerald P. Nye was an Independent Candidate. Politicians played it rough then. In my home county, for example, the League controlled the County Convention by only one vote, but in selecting their 11 delegates to the State Convention, they made sure I didn't have any.

"There was another problem. I was in serious trouble with my own party at that time because of a quite liberal stand I had taken on a hot national issue. This made it necessary for me to personally meet with many key Republicans all over the state before the convention to try to regain their support. Previous to the convention because of bad snowstorms, Highway No. 2 was completely blocked for ten days or more. To cope with this situation I had to hire a little plane with skis and held several meetings all the way from Williston to Devils Lake.

"I mention some of these experiences so that you can better understand some of the problems I encountered during my first years in the Senate. If I had received only a dozen less votes at that convention, I would have lost the nomination. Thus, I would have had to run as an Independent with practically no chance of being elected. That would have ended my political career. Thus, I didn't know until about three months before the election if I would even be the candidate.

"In succeeding years things were somewhat easier largely because I was one of less than ten State Legislators who, in the Session of 1943, founded the ROC movement which became a power in North Dakota politics for a quarter of a century.

"A new and rather serious problem has arisen with respect to nominations for a United States Senator in the case of a vacancy. Now, as then, the nomination is by convention and there is no Primary.

"When I received my nomination for election from the Precinct Committeemen, practically all of them were elected. Now a high percentage of them are not elected but appointed by District Chairmen of both parties. Thus, in the case of a vacancy in the Senate, a few political leaders in both parties, because of the appointments they have made of Precinct Committeemen, wield far more influence on nominations than ever before.

"There is another problem that has concerned people all over the state. This was brought into sharp focus during the Guy-Young election recount. The judges, which under the law supervised the recount, were fair and honest, but because of the vagueness of the present law, each one differed somewhat on whether a ballot should be counted. Hundreds of voters were disenfranchised because of our inadequate law which governs legality of ballots.

"In one precinct, all of the votes were voided because there was no stamp, not even a signature, by the election inspector. Many other ballots were disapproved because a primary stamp was used for the general election. The ballots in another precinct were counted, on the basis of the county canvass, since all the ballots had been lost. It is understandable why more and more voters do not bother to vote when they are not sure whether their vote will be counted.

"Because the recount procedure was in the nature of a judicial proceeding, it was necessary for both my opponent and me to hire lawyers. In my own case, the cost of the lawyers was some $37,000. Although most of my lawyers discounted their fees, I still had to pay a sizable amount of the cost of the recount myself.

"Much good information could be obtained from the lawyers on both sides of this recount as well as from the judges involved. There have been several editorials on the subject of how the law could be improved.

"Permit me to give you some experiences I have had which cause me to suggest changes in our election laws. The late Senator Mundt, a good friend of mine, suffered a massive stroke in November, 1969. I, along with other Senators, visited him often, but speech for him was practically impossible. He served the remainder of his term, approximately three years, without attending any sessions of the Senate. When he was first stricken, South Dakota had a Republican Governor and many in South Dakota, especially Republicans, wanted him to resign so a Republican successor could be appointed. Many influential Democrats at that time urged him to stay on. Later when they had a Democrat Governor, it was Republicans who urged him not to resign.

"An unusual meeting was once arranged, at the request of some South Dakota people, whereby Senators Goldwater and Curtis, a leading Republican from South Dakota, and I were to take Senator Mundt over to the White House to meet with President Nixon. The purpose was for President Nixon to try and persuade Senator Mundt to resign. President Nixon and Senator Mundt had served together as members of the House of Representatives and Senate and had been close friends ever since.

"We were to meet at the White House at 5 o'clock one evening in late 1970. There was a heavy snowfall that afternoon making traffic very difficult and, for that and other reasons, the meeting was cancelled and, so far as I know, nothing more was done.

"Thus, South Dakota was left with only one Senator and lost the only seat they had on the Appropriations Committee. Some South Dakota people called on me to help them with their problems. Sioux Falls was greatly interested in a Federal project called EROS, which Senator Mundt had previously initiated. This EROS project now constantly receives and processes pictures from the Earth Satellite. They had some problems in getting the funds to make it a reality and I was able to help them. They were so appreciative that they named a street on this project in my honor.

"As a result of the Senator Mundt problem, the South Dakota Legislature revised its election law. Their new law requires that a special election be held not less than 80 and no more than 90 days after a vacancy occurs. The new law does not permit their Governor to appoint anyone to fill a vacancy. The Senate seat remains vacant until it is filled by a special or regular election.

"This is very similar to vacancies in the House of Representatives — where in the case of a vacancy, the seat remains vacant until a special or regular election. This new South Dakota law taking away the authority of the Governor to appoint a Senator to fill a vacancy, was enacted by a Democrat Legislature and signed by their then Democrat Governor.

"Contrary to many newspaper stories, I never have at any time or place suggested that our Governor not be permitted to make appointments to fill Senate vacancies.

"It was the South Dakota situation, which I was so close to, that caused me to make the recommendations I have with respect to changing our State law.

"You are all familiar with the recent situation in Minnesota where the last Governor and the last two United States Senators were not elected and the two Senators served by appointment — one of them for over a year. If Minnesota had provisions in their law such as I have suggested or the South Dakota law, requiring an election to be held within 90 days of a vacancy, they wouldn't have had the political fiasco that practically destroyed the long-powerful Democrat-Farmer-Labor Party. I'm not complaining about the Minnesota results!

"A vacancy in the United States Senate, for various reasons, occurs from time to time. It is entirely possible that North Dakota could have a similar situation. If we don't change our election law, we could have much the same results as Minnesota and South Dakota experienced.

"These proposed changes represent long-needed reform in our election law and more opportunity for new candidates to be elected to high office. These are proposals whose day has come.

"These proposed changes are not something that I need. I don't need any retirement legislation. The law permits me now to resign whenever I want.

"With the opposition of the Governor and the Congressman to my two suggested changes in our election law, they have little chance of being enacted.

"I can live with our present law. I have no intention to resign this year. If I should resign next year, I would do so early enough so all the candidates could have as long a time possible to campaign.

"I deeply appreciate being with you again, as I have every session since 1933."

MOTION

Rep. Strinden moved that House Bill No. 1369 be placed at the foot of the calendar, which motion prevailed.

MESSAGE TO THE SENATE
House Chamber

Mr. President: I have the honor to transmit herewith the following, which the House has passed and your favorable consideration is requested on:

- House Bill No. 1065
- House Bill No. 1075
- House Bill No. 1092
- House Bill No. 1184
- House Bill No. 1212
- House Bill No. 1247
- House Bill No. 1261
- House Bill No. 1265
- House Bill No. 1273
- House Bill No. 1280
- House Bill No. 1292
- House Bill No. 1294

have misunderstood and if so I do apologize, but the testimony indicated to me that if someone interested in starting a business received a grant from this Commission, and then in two or three weeks decided to sell that business to another person, he would not have to pay back that grant to whom had granted it. I object to that system, and I would object to it even more vigorously if it were going to our citizens other than Indians. I am not against it because it goes to Indians. I do not think we should have that kind of program, and that is the reason I voted 'No'."

We hope you do not have to use this often on us, but that it will be placed in your home as a memento of this session.

MOTION

Rep. Strinden moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort Congressman Mark Andrews and Mrs. Andrews to the rostrum, which motion prevailed.

Speaker Wagner appointed Reps. Swiontek and Peltier to such committee, and Hon. Mark Andrews and Mrs. Andrews were escorted to the rostrum.

The Hon. Mark Andrews, United States Congressman from North Dakota, addressed the assembly.

Rep. Strinden moved that the remarks of Congressman Andrews be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Remarks of
HON. MARK ANDREWS
U.S. Congressman

Congressman Andrews: "Mr. Speaker:

"It is a privilege I deeply appreciate to appear before you today. Let me say at the outset that in the House of Representatives in Washington, we are limited to five minutes or less, so this will be no great filibuster. We do not want to upset your very busy schedule. In Washington we call Friday 'Get Away' day, and you understand that terminology.

"There is a great feeling of kinship among legislators, whether in state or in the national legislative bodies. We realize our separate responsibilities, but there is a kinship which develops — possibly on the campaign trail. Mary and I have had many delightful moments campaigning with you. We have also had some interesting times with our Democratic friends, on occasion with them going down one side of the street while we are going up the other side of the street in the same community.

"The two party system is a great one in a legislature like this. The people in America recognize this. They appreciate the contributions made by you. Consider the years Oscar Solberg has been here working for the state of North Dakota, and the years the Dean of the House, Brynhild Haugland, has contributed. The fact you have been returned these many years is proof the people appreciate you. They appreciate the dignity, honesty and ability you bring to this office. We must bring more and more of these virtues into politics to make this system work. On the other hand, it is good to look out here and see so many young people who are serving their first or second terms in the House. I know you are going to continue the Haugland/Solberg tradition.

"The people in North Dakota do want to participate. Right now in Washington we have a tractorcade. Whatever you might think about that method of bringing the views of the people to the attention of Congress and the President, it is getting their attention.

"I understand you have had groups here indicating they do wish to participate in legislation.

"I understand it is traditional for those of us who have come here to make suggestions as to how to amend election laws or make constitutional changes. I have no suggestions in regard to incumbents or challengers. I do have one suggestion along the lines of letting the people participate in decision making. If the change is made to have the North Dakota primary held in late June, I do think it would be interesting to have a Presidential Primary at that time. I get tired of other states having these Presidential Primaries. It is apparent that both great parties of this nation will have several people seeking the endorsements of their parties in 1980, and if the people of North Dakota were given the opportunity to be so heard, maybe we could have some impact on which candidates both great parties select. This is the only suggestion I would give to my fellow legislators. I believe this would be in line with the tradition of the people of North Dakota wanting to participate in the selection of who is to be elected to public office in the United States.

"It is good to be home and speaking to the North Dakota Legislature, which is one of the earliest ones to call for a balanced budget which limits spending. I might mention you people do a better job of that than we do in Washington. In conclusion I would say that more than just limiting spending, there is something else we should be talking about. I have been interested in politics for a long time, and I have learned there are many people extremely knowledgeable about how to unload the wagon — by spending for this program and another program, but not to spend for still another program. What we need in Congress is to study how to load the wagon — what kind of incentives we can give to agriculture, what incentives we can give to business people, so we can get the system back on track. I would like to see incentives in our energy program so we encourage development of new sources of energy rather than to dwell exclusively on how we can tax the business, and make it harder to meet the tax demands, thus making the product scarcer to the general public. If we can recognize ways of loading the wagon to stimulate the economy of our great country, we would have met our objective.

“I know you are doing a great job in North Dakota, which we can talk about with pride in Congress. Milt, Quentin and I can point to this Legislature as one of the greatest in the fifty states.

“It is a privilege for us to be back this afternoon. Mary and I appreciate the opportunity to say hello, and to thank you for your help over the years. And, it is great to be back with the many friends we have made on the campaign trail. Thanks for giving us this time this afternoon.”

MOTION

Rep. A. Hausauer moved that House Bill No. 1387 be returned to the House from the Committee on Education for the purpose of withdrawal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. A. Hausauer requested permission to withdraw House Bill No. 1387. There being no objection, it was so ordered by the Speaker.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1.) A new section to chapter 23-29 of the North Dakota Century Code is hereby created and enacted to read as follows:

PERMIT - GEOLOGIC AND HYDROLOGIC STUDY.) Prior to receiving a permit for a solid waste management facility which would deposit solid wastes in the ground, the person seeking the permit shall conduct a thorough geologic and hydrologic study of the site in which the facility is to be located to determine the presence or absence of an adequate thickness of low permeability rock or sediment between the anticipated base of the proposed disposal pit and any aquifer. The department may issue a permit only if:

1. Tests indicate the presence of low permeability rock or sediment which will prevent leachate from reaching any aquifer; or
2. No site with suitable geologic conditions exists within a reasonable distance of the area to be served by the facility and the person seeking the permit has designed a system employing engineering safeguards to prevent any leachate from reaching any aquifer.

The department, in cooperation with the state geologist and the state engineer, shall be responsible for determining the adequacy of the geologic and hydrologic study, the adequacy of the low permeability layers to prevent leachate from reaching any aquifer, and the adequacy of any system designed to prevent any leachate from reaching any aquifer. For the purposes of this chapter, "aquifer" means a water-bearing formation which yields water in sufficient quantity to be of consequence as a source of supply. For the purposes of this chapter, "leachate" means liquid that has percolated through solid waste and has, during the percolation, extracted dissolved or suspended materials from the solid waste.

SECTION 2.) A new section to chapter 23-29 of the North Dakota Century Code is hereby created and enacted to read as follows:

CONSTRUCTION PROHIBITED IF SUITABLE GEOLOGIC CONDITIONS NOT PRESENT.) Any person who, prior to January 1, 1979, received a permit for a solid waste management facility which would deposit solid wastes in the ground, but who has not yet begun construction on the facility, shall conduct a thorough geologic and hydrologic study of the site on which the facility is to be located to determine the presence or absence of an adequate thickness of low permeability rock or sediment between the anticipated base of the proposed disposal pit and any aquifer. No solid waste management facility may be constructed unless:

1. Tests indicate the presence of low permeability rock or sediment which will prevent leachate from reaching any aquifer; or
2. No site with suitable geologic conditions exists within a reasonable distance of the area to be served by the facility and the person constructing the facility has designed a system employing engineering safeguards to prevent any leachate from reaching any aquifer.

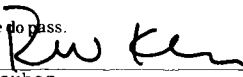

The department, in cooperation with the state geologist, shall be responsible for determining the adequacy of the geologic and hydrologic study, the adequacy of low permeability layers to prevent leachate from reaching any aquifer, and the adequacy of the system employed to prevent any leachate from reaching any aquifer.

SECTION 3. EFFECTIVE DATE.) The provisions of this Act shall be effective on and after January 1, 1979.

SECTION 4. EMERGENCY.) This Act is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall be in effect from and after its passage and approval."

Remarks of

JAMES BIDDLE

President of the National Trust for Historic Preservation

"Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

"I have been on many podiums in my life and introduced many times to many groups of people, but this is about the top, so I will thank all of you here in North Dakota for doing me this honor and for doing this honor to the Preservation Movement in this country which I represent.

"I know this is a busy schedule for you, so I will not hold you very long. I shall only briefly touch on why I am here.

"I have been asked by the Preservation Movement in your state to come and make a little talk on what historic preservation is all about and what is being achieved by this group in America today.

"I head an organization called the National Trust for Historic Preservation which was charged by Congress in 1949 to be the only national organization for the preservation movement in the country to ask you to preserve sites, buildings and objects, and to coordinate the national private preservation movement, and thirdly, to serve as an educational source to educate the American people to the need for preserving their architectural and cultural heritage and their roots. I work out of Washington, D.C.. We have six regional offices scattered around the country. My budget is about $15 million a year and there are 300 employees throughout the nation.

“One important role is to provide you with the services you might need in developing historical preservation movements throughout the communities and towns in North Dakota. The preservation movement is basically a grassroots movement involving the total population. It used to be the preservation movement was made up of a bunch of little old ladies of both sexes. There is another old quote that the preservation movement is run by little old ladies running around in tennis shoes. Thank heaven for those gals, because they were the ones who undertook to preserve Mount Vernon and Monticello for our nation.

“I hope the message I can leave with you today is simply that we must preserve our historic sites. We consider this a social undertaking just as important as your social undertaking here in the legislature in dealing with installation of sewers and lighting in communities. We wish to preserve these historic monuments, which are assets we can use from the past.

“What is past varies from community to community. Here it might be something from 90 years ago, while elsewhere it might be something from 250 years ago. We ask you to conserve for our future use and enjoyment those places of historic significance to your communities and your state.

“I am honored and pleased to be here today. Thank you for having me.”

This amendment decreases funds for the legislative space renovation projects to be completed during the 1979-81 biennium by $1,265,065 from $1,647,195 to $372,130. The decrease is to reflect the fact that many of the renovations are conditioned upon vacancy of certain space in the State Capitol based on occupancy of the new Judicial Wing-State Office Building. That occupancy is now scheduled for late in the next biennium, or early in the 1981-83 biennium, and therefore, the bulk of the renovation will take place in the latter biennium. The principal items of renovation for the 1979-81 biennium include the new elevator allowing access to the Senate balcony area and present Supreme Court library area, recarpeting the legislative chambers, and adding a removable legislative information booth and display to Memorial Hallway.
