SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

With the tragedy of the Columbia on the minds of all of us, we are going to take a moment to honor those seven brave explorers who chose to risk their personal safety in an endeavor for the greater good. They gave their lives in service to this country and to the world.

Laurel Clark, a mission specialist on the Columbia who would leave behind a husband and daughter and faced with the dangers involved in her job replied, "there are a lot of different things that we do in life that could potentially harm us, and I choose not to stop doing these things."

Risk is inherent in life - death is inevitable - but how we live is our choice.

Today, let us remember just how fortunate we are to have had these seven people serving our country...Seven individuals who understood that while a ship is safest in a harbor, that is not what ships are for...Seven individuals who refused to stop doing "those things" with risk.

These astronauts are examples of how we should live life. With a willingness to sacrifice, in the pursuit of knowledge, doing the things that we love.

Our prayers are with all those who mourn.
