2 Code, relating to transfers involving annuities.

3 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

4 SECTION 1. AMENDMENT. Section 50-24.1-02.8 of the North Dakota Century Code
5 is amended and reenacted as follows:

6 50-24.1-02.8. Transfers involving annuities.

- 7 1. For purposes of this section, "annuity" means a policy, certificate, contract, or other 8 arrangement between two or more parties whereby one party pays money or other 9 valuable consideration to the other party in return for the right to receive payments
10 in the future. ~~The~~ Except for purposes of subsections 3 and 5, the term does not 11 mean an employee benefit that qualifies for favorable tax treatment under the 12 Internal Revenue Code or a plan described in the Internal Revenue Code as a 13 retirement plan under which contributions must end and withdrawals begin by age 14 seventy and one-half.
- 15 2. The purchase of an annuity, an instrument purporting to be an annuity, or any other 16 arrangement that meets the definition of annuity in subsection 1 is considered an 17 uncompensated assignment or transfer of assets under section 50-24.1-02, 18 resulting in a penalty under the applicable rules established by the department of 19 human services unless the following criteria are met:
- 20 a. The annuity is irrevocable and cannot be assigned to another person.
- 21 b. The annuity is purchased from an insurance company or other commercial 22 company that sells annuities as part of the normal course of business.
- 23 c. The annuity provides substantially equal monthly payments of principal and 24 interest and does not have a balloon or deferred payment of principal or

1 interest. Payments will be considered substantially equal if the total annual 2 payment in any year varies by five percent or less from the payment in the 3 previous year.

4 d. The annuity will return the full principal and interest within the purchaser's life
5 expectancy as determined by the department of human services.

6 e. The monthly payments from the annuity, unless specifically ordered otherwise 7 by a court of competent jurisdiction, do not exceed the maximum monthly 8 income amount allowed for a community spouse as determined by the 9 department pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 1396r-5.

10 3. Unless done in compliance with subsection 4, a provision in an annuity that 11 purports to preclude assignment or transfer of any interest in the annuity is void as 12 against public policy upon application of the purchaser, the purchaser's spouse, 13 the annuitant, or the annuitant's spouse for benefits under this chapter. This 14 subsection applies only to an annuity for which a payment option has been 15 irrevocably selected after July 31, 2005.

16 4. An annuity, an instrument purporting to be an annuity, or any other arrangement
17 that meets the definition of annuity in subsection 1, purchased after July 31, 2005, 18 is not an available asset and the expenditure of funds to purchase such an annuity,
19 instrument, or other arrangement may not be considered to be a disqualifying 20 transfer of an asset for purposes of this chapter if:

21 a. The annuity is purchased from an insurance company or other commercial 22 company that sells annuities as part of the normal course of business;

23 b. The annuity is irrevocable and neither the annuity nor payments due under 24 the annuity may be assigned or transferred;

25 c. The monthly payments from all annuities owned by the purchaser that comply 26 with this subsection may not exceed the minimum monthly maintenance
27 needs allowance for a community spouse as determined by the department
28 pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 1396r-5 and, when combined with the purchaser's other 29 monthly income, at the time of application of the purchaser, the purchaser's 30 spouse, the annuitant, or the annuitant's spouse, for benefits under this 31 chapter, do not exceed one hundred fifty percent of the maximum monthly

1 income amount allowed for a community spouse as determined by the
2 department pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 1396r-5;

3 d. The annuity provides substantially equal monthly payments of principal and 4 interest and does not have a balloon or deferred payment of principal or 5 interest. Payments will be considered substantially equal if the total annual 6 payment in any year varies by five percent or less from the payment in the 7 previous year;

8 e. The annuity will return the full principal and interest within the purchaser's life 9 expectancy as determined by the life expectancy tables used by the 10 department of human services; and

11 f. The annuity does not include any provision that limits the effect of 12 subsection 5.

13 5. Except as provided in subsection 2, before benefits under this chapter may be 14 provided to an otherwise eligible applicant who is fifty-five years of age or older, the 15 department of human services, or the successor of that department, must be 16 irrevocably named on each annuity owned by that applicant, or by the spouse of 17 that applicant, that complies with subsection 4, as primary beneficiary for payment 18 of amounts due following the death of the applicant and the applicant's spouse, if 19 any, not to exceed the amount of benefits paid under this chapter on behalf of that 20 applicant after age fifty-five, plus interest on that amount at the legal rate from 21 six months after the applicant's death. If the department receives notice within 22 ninety days of the death of the applicant or the applicant's spouse that reliably 23 demonstrates that the applicant is survived by a minor child or permanently and 24 totally disabled child, the department shall remit any payments made to the 25 department under this section to those survivors in equal shares. When the 26 obligations to the minor child or children or permanently and totally disabled child 27 or children and the department are fulfilled, the department shall remit any future
28 payments made to the department under this section to the contingent 29 beneficiaries selected by the annuitant regarding each annuity owned by the 30 applicant or by the spouse of the applicant which complies with subsection 4.
