11 to lay on the table; to move the previous question; to close, limit, or extend debate (which ~~five~~ 12 six kinds of motions must be decided without debate); to move to postpone to a day certain; to 13 refer; and to amend. These motions have precedence in the order in which they are named.
14 No motion to postpone to a day certain or to refer, having been decided, may be entertained
15 again on the same day.

NOTE: This proposed rules amendment is in response to a suggestion that House Rule 312 (Motions during debate) also should list a motion to allow a member to vote under House Rule 322 (Procedure in excusing member from voting). The location of the proposed amendment follows the approximate order of precedence of motions listed in Section 187 of Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure.

Senate and House Rules 317 are amended to include the motion to permit a member to vote within the list of nondebatable motions. The listing of the motion to permit a member to vote within the kinds of motions decided without debate recognizes the current provision of Senate and House Rules 322: "Upon motion, the question must be put to the [Senate/House], 'Shall the member, for the reasons stated, be permitted to vote?' which must be decided without debate."
