NOTE: This rules amendment was prepared in response to a request at the June 23, 2009, Legislative Procedure and Arrangements Committee meeting to present 2011 legislative deadlines to allow the committee to review those deadlines and how rules may be revised to allow additional time for consideration of measures.

The proposed amendments:

- Extend the deadline for rereferral to the Appropriations Committee in the house of origin from the 23rd to the 25th legislative day. This would give the two-day and the three-day committees an additional day for consideration of measures before rereferral.
- Extend the deadline for rereferral to the Appropriations Committee in the second house from the 47th to the 52nd legislative day. This would give the three-day and the two-day committees an extra week for consideration of measures before rereferral.
- Extend the deadline for reporting measures in the second house from the 55th to the 60th legislative day. This would give all committees an extra week for consideration of measures before reporting measures out of committee.
