

Programs Identified That May Be Affected by Federal Budget Control Act Sequestration Process

On August 2, 2011, President Barack Obama signed into law the Budget Control Act of 2011 (BCA), increasing the nation's debt limit and imposing a series of measures to limit spending and decrease the nation's debt. The BCA created a Joint Select Committee on Deficit Reduction made up of members from the House and Senate, Democrats and Republicans, charged with finding $1.2 trillion in reductions over the next decade. Sequestration, should it occur, is the result of the failure of the Joint Select Committee on Deficit Reduction to propose, and Congress to enact, legislation reducing the deficit by $1.2 trillion as required by the BCA. Sequestration is the process of cordoning off money that may have been authorized by Congress but is now prohibited from being spent. Sequestration will begin unless Congress and the Administration change the law. Sequestration will result in automatic reductions to federal programs not specifically excluded beginning January 1, 2013.

State agencies receiving federal funds were asked to report information on any programs that may be affected by federal funding reductions due to sequestration beginning in January 2013 as a result of provisions of the BCA. At this time, actual sequestration amounts are unknown. Information from agencies estimating potential impacts of sequestration is provided below. Other agencies not listed may be affected by sequestration; however, the potential impacts were not quantifiable to report at this time.

Before adjourning for its August 2012 break, Congress passed The Sequestration Transparency Act of 2012. The Sequestration Transparency Act of 2012 requires the President to submit to Congress a report on the sequestration for fiscal year 2013 that is scheduled to be ordered on January 2, 2013. In mid-September 2012 after state agency surveys were collected, the White House's Office of Management and Budget outlined planned spending cuts of $109 billion for 2013 as follows:

- Reductions to defense programs of either 9.4 percent or 10 percent, depending on how programs receive appropriations from Congress ($55 billion).
- Reduction in Medicare payments to providers of 2 percent ($11 billion).
- Reductions to nondefense spending (like elementary and secondary education or rehabilitation services and disability research) to be reduced by either 8.2 percent for discretionary spending or 7.6 percent for selected mandatory programs (totaling $43 billion).

<sup>2</sup>The State Department of Health federal grant programs of Medicaid and Vaccines for Children are believed to be exempt from the sequestration process and Medicare is limited to a 2 percent reduction.

<sup>3</sup>The future funding level of the program is a legislative decision, the department will defer to the Legislative Assembly for a decision on the future funding of the program.

<sup>4</sup>The Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation is uncertain which programs may be subject to sequestration; however, if any programs are affected the department anticipates either program eliminations or delays in payments to eligible recipients will occur.
