

I am in great opposition to this. Library's already have parameters in place. If there is a specific library of concern deal with this individually, do not punish everyone.