Committee Testimony for Senate Bill 2352
House Education Committee

Mister Chair and Members of the Education Committee.

Thank you for considering my testimony. I serve as the Executive Director of Ministry on the Margins, an ecumenical, volunteer-based program serving over 1600 people a week. Along with a food pantry, street outreach, and emergency sheltering; we're involved with spiritual groups in the men's penitentiary, women's penitentiary and Missouri River Correctional Center, the Free Through Recovery Program, a Families of the Incarcerated Support Group, and the DOCR Children of the Incarcerated Initiative. I've been blessed to do this work full time for 12 years.

It is an often-used phrase, "I was raised in a totally different world than her." However, I remember the moment I was sitting in the North Dakota Women's Prison and knew – knew very deeply – that I was conceived into a different world than the woman before me. My mother didn't smoke, drink, or use drugs while she was pregnant with me. She watched her nourishment; had comfortable housing and a supportive spouse while I was being formed in her womb. I was born in a hospital, mom was assisted in mothering skills, I was cared for and carried home to the song "I will take you home Kathleen." I began my life connected to family.

Senate Bill 2352 offers the opportunity for a child whose growth in the womb happens while his or her mother is in prison to also have a strong start in life (maybe a different song). SB 2352 recognizes that because mom is incarcerated, this baby and mother probably have better maternal care than ever with medical attention, housing, nutrition, non-abuse, and drug/alcohol free. This bill continues a hopeful trajectory of success by allowing mother-baby bonding to continue post birth, immediately wrapping both in formation for good mothering skills.

If the baby is born with Fetal Alcohol Syndrome or other challenges, early intervention can happen without delay. If the mother is victim of generational patterns of neglectful parenting, new skills can be taught. Financial costs within the foster care system can be saved. Financial costs and the burden of transportation for mother-baby visits can be saved. Financial costs of deferred intervention can be saved.

And as a person who has accompanied women as they try to re-enter society from prison, I can attest to the overwhelming panic and failure that accompanies re-entry, especially when it is done unprepared with a baby in arms. A baby that had been taken from his/her mother at the time of birth, begun the journey of growth separated from this primary connection, and subsequently removed from whoever had been providing early nurturing and given to another new person – a stranger called mom.

Senate Bill 2352 is not primarily for the woman who gives birth while incarcerated. It is for the vulnerable new life born into a totally different world than you and me, and an investment in THEIR future.

I ask you to support this legislation.
