Rep. Jungroth moved that the acting Chief Clerk appoint a committee of two to escort the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to the rostrum, which motion prevailed and the acting Chief Clerk appointed as such committee: Reps. Jungroth and Stockman.

Chief Justice Burke was then escorted to the rostrum and administered the oath of office to the members present.

The acting Chief Clerk announced that the next order of business would be the election of the Speaker.

Rep. Burke:

"Mr. Chairman: The highest honor that this distinguished body can bestow upon one of its members is that of Speaker of the House.

Today, it is my privilege to rise to place in nomination for this honor a man who is, in every sense of the word, deserving of this honor.

He is a man I have had the pleasure of serving with for many years in this House. He is a man I have long admired for his outstanding leadership qualities.

But, most of all, he is a man I have been proud to call "my friend" for some 30 years.

He is a native of North Dakota and knows our state and its problems as perhaps few of us do. His parents homesteaded in McKenzie County in 1906 and he was born on this homestead farm in 1914.

He is a farmer, and knows what it is to be a farmer, both in the good years and the bad.

He is a family man, the father of six children, and he knows what it is to carry the responsibilities of raising a family — both the joys, and sometimes the heartaches.

He is man whose extensive legislative experience dates back eighteen years, since he was first elected to this body in 1947.

He has carved out an enviable legislative record, as Assistant Minority Floor Leader in the 1955 session, and as Minority Floor Leader in the last four sessions.

He has demonstrated his interest in education — one of the most important areas we will deal with here — by his outstanding record as Chairman of the Legislative Subcommittee on Education. It was this Subcommittee that established our Foundation Program that has meant so much to our school program.

This man's interest in, and concern for, education started long before he came here, however. He has been an active member of his local school board from 1944 until his school district was dissolved in order to be consolidated with another district.

He is today the President of the Alexander PTA in his home community.

The man I am nominating for Speaker has taken an active interest in the local affairs of his home community. He is President of the Alexander Lions Club, and has long devoted time and energy to various civic projects.

On the basis of this man's record of achievement — both in these halls and in his local community — I repeat that he is unusually well qualified to serve this House as its Speaker.

And he has another qualification that I would like to touch on.

Though he has served his Party, and his State, well, he will — if elected Speaker — minimize partisan politics for its own sake.

He will not indulge in partisan politics at the expense of the necessary and vital work we in this House have before us in this session.

He will be an able leader who will give fair and equal treatment to each and every member of this House.

Mr. Chairman, for all these reasons — and for many others that time does not permit me to dwell on — it is my great privilege and pleasure to place in nomination for the Office of Speaker of the House — Representative Arthur Link of McKenzie County."

Rep. Shablow: "Mr. Chief Clerk, ladies and gentlemen of this Legislative Assembly.

I wish to second the nomination of Rep. Art Link for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives.

During the time I have served in this house with Rep. Link, I have found he has always conducted himself with honor and dignity, and I am sure he will be honest and fair in every respect in the execution of his duties as Speaker.

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to second the nomination of Rep. Link for Speaker of the House."

Rep. Breum: "I would like to second the nomination of Art Link as Speaker of the House of Representatives. I have served in many sessions with Art and I know that he will do a good job as Speaker."

Rep. Brown: "My Fellow Colleagues of the 39th Legislative Assembly: It gives me a great deal of pleasure and I feel privileged to place in nomination the name of one of my colleagues. The man I am about to nominate for Speaker is the exact opposite of Speaker Link in that he is probably the only bachelor in the House. He is second in seniority only to the Hon. Brynhild Haugland in this House. He was first elected in 1945. As I checked into the history of this outstanding gentleman, I found that he came into this life in a raging snowstorm in 1904. Before I was ever elected to serve in this body, he became well known to the people of North Dakota in his intelligent service to our great state in his services on the Appropriation Committee."

All the old members know Gottlieb Frank and when the new members get acquainted with him you will know he is a great humanitarian. He is a wonderful citizen of North Dakota, and I take great pleasure in nominating Gottlieb Frank for Speaker."

Rep. Mueller: "I take great pleasure in seconding the nomination of Gottlieb Frank for Speaker of the House. He is my long time friend. I have worked with him on committees and have nothing but the greatest respect for my good friend."

I second the nomination of Gottlieb Frank."

Rep. Brown moved that the nominations be closed and the roll call taken, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Streibel moved that the Acting Chief Clerk be instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Rep. Link as Speaker, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Solberg moved that the Acting Chief Clerk appoint a committee of two to escort the newly elected Speaker to the rostrum and such committee was appointed by the Chief Clerk as follows: Reps. Solberg and Burk.

Chief Justice Burke administered the oath of office to the Speaker.

Speaker Link: "Fellow members of this 39th Legislative Assembly. With gratitude and a deep sense of responsibility, I accept the honor you have bestowed upon me. Because this expression of confidence can be extended to so few, and because so many of you are fully qualified and deserving to fill this position, the generosity expressed by you today will never be forgotten. Thank you Rep. Striebel for your motion to make my election unanimous. Thank you all very much.

In order that I may properly discharge the duties of this office I will need your understanding, your help, and your patience. To veteran members and newcomers alike, I solicit your counsel; and any help I can give will at all times be available at your request.

As in former sessions we again have two political parties represented, one by a majority and the other by a minority. Let me assure you that I know what it is like to be in the minority. I can truthfully say that I have experienced many courtesies from former Speakers and it is my desire to do no less in this session. As individual lawmakers each of us represents a Majority. Each and every one of us was elected by the majority of those voting for candidates to fill the several legislative offices of the districts we represent. This means that every member, whether in the majority or minority, has a mandate from the voters of his district to apply his talents and energy in a constructive positive approach to solving the problems for the people of our State. Partisan political maneuvering primarily for possible future political gain will find disfavor in the eyes of the people and will only be remembered as a blight against legislative process. A minimum of partisan political action, and then on a constructive basis, will create an image of respect for the legislature. We should not create controversy for the sake of controversy alone, but should it arise we must diligently and respectably resolve our differences to the credit of all.

Ours is even a greater challenge than the enactment of laws for the State of North Dakota. Ours is a challenge to meet and repel the ever increasing opposition to representative government in the world today. Weakness and decay from within can be its greatest danger. Morality in all segments of society, has its foundation in the heart of men. It is nurtured in the home, church, and school and you and I are today charged with maintaining its presence in government. From the day of election we represent all the voters of our state, 24 hours of the day, 365 days a year. Each of us has not only an opportunity but an obligation to so conduct ourselves that the confidence of the people in the Legislative process of government will be strengthened. The star of representative government must shine so bright that it will be seen and desired the World over.

And now, as we approach the great debate let us not forget — Each of us is master of the unspoken word but when the word is spoken we become its slave.

In conclusion let us not overlook that great source of Spiritual strength delivered to us daily by members of the clergy. During the few minutes of meditation at the start of each new Legislative day let each of us thank God for the privilege of self-government and resolve anew that today will be more productive than yesterday.

We have much to do so let's put our shoulder to the wheel and keep it there until our work is done.

With all the strength at my command dedicated to your service, I again say Thank You."

Rep. Christopher having arrived in the House, he was now sworn in by the Chief Justice.

Speaker Link announced that the next order of business would be the election of a Chief Clerk.

Rep. Hauf: "I would like to nominate a man whose past experience will be of great help to you all in this session. He served in the legislature from 1941 to 1947 and the 1953 session — a total of five sessions. He was floor leader in the 1947 session and he never quite decided whether he was a minority or majority floor leader in 1953.

With his past experience and leadership and his other abilities to keep things moving, I am happy to present the name of former state Representative, Donnell Haugen for Chief Clerk."

Rep. Poling moved that nominations be closed, which motion prevailed and the roll was called.

Rep. Wagner moved that a unanimous ballot be cast for Donnell Haugen for Chief Clerk, which motion prevailed.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE TO THE 39TH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

Ladies and gentlemen of this 39th Legislative Assembly, and officers of the administrative and judicial branches of our state government:

As you approached our North Dakota State Capitol for this occasion, you felt a sense of pride in knowing that your Capitol is among the most beautiful in the nation. A towering building of functional simplicity, it is regarded as excitingly symbolic of Americanism — modern, clean cut, combining handsome lines with strength and purpose. And now we are met in the inspiring elegance of this House Chamber because our fellow citizens have placed in our hands a precious trust that we represent them well under our Constitutional form of government.

You who are new to these legislative chambers today must feel the under-current of excitement mixed with a humbling awe. This is the feeling which comes with the realization that you are an essential part of a legislative process which, if successful, can bring out the greatness of our state. But if this process fails, it can simply relegate our state to mediocrity among our sister states. Let me assure you that veteran legislators and state officials are experiencing this same sense of exhilaration at the start of this legislative session.

Since World War II, our state has been swept along at an ever-increasing tempo with the social, economic and political tides that are affecting the lives of people not only in the United States but in every other nation in the world. The pace of life and the pace of government are no longer leisurely — and they will never again be leisurely. The demands upon our legislators have never been as exacting as those demands will be upon you in this session. The requirements of study and inquiry will tax your patience. The scrutiny which each of you will find yourselves giving your own personal profile of political courage will take place more often in this session than ever before. How well North Dakota will respond to the changing times will be decided in the next sixty days by you. It is never easy to change and leave the comfort and familiarity of the past. Nobel Prize winner Maurice Maeterlinck said, "At every crossing on the road that leads to the future, each progressive spirit is opposed by a thousand men appointed to guard the past."

We have just finished celebrating our 75th Anniversary of Statehood in 1964. On November 2, 1889, President Benjamin Harrison declared North Dakota admitted to the Union. Two days later, Governor John Miller, already elected in anticipation of statehood for North Dakota, performed his first official duty by calling the first legislative session for November 19, 1889. Because it had the extraordinary duties of carrying into legislative enactment the mandatory provisions of the Constitution, the first legislative assembly was allowed one hundred twenty days to finish its labors, though the Constitution limited subsequent sessions to sixty days.

Since that first extraordinary session seventy-five years ago, there have been many stalwart statesmen and many deeply significant pieces of legislation that have played their roles on the stage of North Dakota state government during our biennial assemblies. However, I believe that this 39th Legislative Assembly has before it the opportunity to achieve the most monumental record for progress since that first session seventy-five years ago. I make this statement because of many factors which are present today which have not been present in such potent force in years past. I predict that sound solutions will be found for the massive problems that will sweep across this session, because these problems have been anticipated. Much preparation has been made by our legislators, administrative boards, and commissions to propose carefully formulated positive courses of action.

We have a unique political situation in this session. Majority responsibility in the Senates rests with the Republicans, but in the House of Representatives the Democratic-NPL has the majority responsibility. Political skeptics have already spoken and written their dire predictions of a session mired in political controversy from which little constructive good can come. Obviously, mutual respect and good faith between political parties will be needed to achieve the progress so urgently required in this session. There will be the usual forces outside the legislature itself which will seek to create political dissension in order that legislative progress be stymied in their own self interests. Partisan political implications should be minimized by us where politics serves no constructive purpose.

This will be true in most of the legislation we consider. But where the best traditions of our system of government so require, we should be ready to state our political position loudly and clearly. I need your help and advice no matter what your political persuasion might be. I hope you will seek mine. You are always welcome in my office.

Section 75 of our North Dakota Constitution requires me to "communicate to the legislative assembly by message, information on the condition of the state and recommend such measures as I shall deem expedient."

It is at this point that I wish to emphasize that the recommendations which I make to you have been decided upon after consultation with many of you on both sides of the political aisle over the past months. In many instances, recommendations in this message are affirmations of proposals by the Legislative Research Committee, or other boards, commissions and committees.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

Perhaps the most far-reaching proposal to come before you will be the resolution which embodies a revision of sections of the North Dakota Constitution. The prestigious committee which has been working on Constitutional revision has made a courageous and a masterful contribution to our state in its forward-looking proposals to simplify and strengthen our basic document. The Director of the North Dakota Legislative Research Committee in his article, "Why Change our State Constitution," has some terse but pertinent comments on Constitutional revision. He says, "The respective legislatures are, therefore, the key to the vitality and strength of the states as vital political institutions in the American state-federal system. It is principally upon this branch that the self-imposed restrictions of state constitutions most effectively throttle vital decisions affecting state and local government The States themselves have created a vacuum which they refuse to permit themselves to fill. The political governmental world is no more tolerant of a vacuum than is the physical world, and this self denial on the part of the states has become one of the clear causes of the increase in the power of the federal government.

Yet, while the states loudly lament this increase in federal government, they fail to put their own houses in order so as to make federal action unnecessary."

There may be some changes called for in the recommendations of the Constitutional Revision Committee, but I strongly support their recommendations as they have been amended by the Legislative Research Committee. This session would do well to express its gratitude to the Constitutional Revision Committee and again commission it to continue on in the coming biennium with its important work.

STATE GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION

Closely allied to revision of the Constitution, but in many instances not necessarily contingent on such revision, is state government reorganization. We cannot judge the wisdom or question the motives which originally prompted the decisions to place state government departments, agencies, boards and commissions where they are within state government structure. However, we must assess these state government divisions and the services they perform in the light of present-day or future conditions and demands. There is much that can be gained in efficiency, economy and service by realignment or, in some cases, elimination of departments, agencies or even institutions.

In 1931, a study of state government was made with the objective of legislative action in state government reorganization. That study was completed in the midst of national economic collapse. Subsequent legislatures were so demoralized and fraught with economic problems that little or no action resulted from the study.

In 1942, a report of the North Dakota Governmental Survey Commission was published. This Commission had been created by the 1941 Legislative Assembly. The three-man survey commission was composed of Governor John Moses, State Senator Milton R. Young, and State Representative Targie Trydahl. This Commission's report was based on an exhaustive study by a professional firm specializing in governmental organization. Even though it was made more than twenty years ago, the report of the Commission is amazingly pertinent today.

It has withstood the test of time and is of even more urgent value today than when it was first published. Several outstanding advances in state government such as the Legislative Research Committee and the Department of Accounts and Purchases resulted from the report. But, for the most part, the State Government Reorganization Report of 1942 became the victim of the pressing attentions being directed toward winning World War II.

There is a vast amount of government reorganization which could take place in this session. However, I make the following recommendations on the basis of their pressing needs:

The Division of Labor should be moved from the Department of Agriculture to a position of full and separate departmental status. The Workmen's Compensation Bureau, the Unemployment Compensation Division, and the State Employment Service should be installed as divisions under the Department of Labor.

The collection of state revenue should be the responsibility of only one department — the Tax Department. The collection of motor fuel taxes should be moved from the Auditor's department to the Tax Department. The collection of liquor and beer taxes should be moved from the State Treasurer's responsibility to the Tax Department. The collection of oleomargarine taxes should be moved from the Treasurer's Office and placed under the Tax Department. The Motor Vehicle Registrar's Office should be shifted to the Tax Department. The efficiencies of centralized data processing and the elimination of overlapping staff duties can result from reorganization of our tax collection services into the Tax Department. The taxpaying public needs to be able to conduct its tax business with only one department.

The Board of Administration has long been a controversial part of state government. Its responsibilities under the law reveal that it has been somewhat of a catch-all to receive institutions and agencies which, at the time, did not appear to belong anywhere in particular.

Today, the institutions and agencies under the Board of Administration bear a closer relationship to other strong state departments than they do to the Board. Clearly, the Board of Administration should be abolished. I recommend that the State Hospital at Jamestown, the State School at Grafton, and the Tuberculosis Sanatorium and Retarded Children Center at San Haven be placed under our Department of Health on July 1, 1965. I recommend that the remainder of the Board of Administration's responsibilities be phased out to other state departments on July 1, 1967, following an interim study of the matter by the Legislative Research Committee.

The Budget Board has been very faithful in discharging its duties in the time available. However, I am sure that the majority of the Budget Board would agree with their vice chairman that our state's budgeting has become so complex that we should follow the lead of forty-four other states and adopt a system of an executive budget. I strongly support this view. I recommend that a Division of the Budget be placed in the Department of Accounts and Purchases so that budget preparation can be a continuous process from one legislative session to the next.

Our state has long depended upon its National Guard as the arm of government which could cope with insurrection, riots and disasters. But the advent of the atomic bomb created a type of mass disaster which would require extensive civilian participation in planning national survival. Thus, Civil Defense was born. It is now evident that there is a need for a very close coordination between our Civil Defense system and our National Guard as they cope with disasters either large or small. It has been proved in recent years that in the event of disaster, it is the National Guard which has the heavy equipment and the trained operating personnel to move quickly to provide relief. I therefore urge you to place our state Civil Defense system under the Adjutant General and within the administrative structure of our National Guard.

North Dakota is the most agricultural state in the nation. We should have the strongest, most purposeful Department of Agriculture of all of the fifty states. Over the years, agencies have been created outside of the Department of Agriculture to serve special segments of farming. The time is here to bring all of these agricultural agencies as divisions into an integrated Department of Agriculture.

Our concepts of consumer protection and public health have sharpened since the first pure food laws went into effect. The State Laboratories Department has filled a need for many years. Today, the functions of agencies which guard the public health should be centered in our State Department of Health. I recommend that such services now rendered by the Department of Agriculture and the State Laboratories Department for the protection of consumer health be assigned to the State Department of Health and its Health Districts. I urge that, by resolution, you instruct the Legislative Research Committee to study the activities now carried out by the State Laboratories Department in fields other than the maintenance of human health to determine the extent of consumer protection which is needed in this day and age of extensive federal inspection. It is my opinion that all of the functions of the State Laboratories Department could be either assigned to related departments or abandoned.

We will in time see the advisability of a Department of Conservation. We see many examples of present agencies such as the State Game and Fish Department, the Water Conservation Commission, the Soil Conservation Committee, the State Historical Society and State Parks Division, the State Forester, and the agricultural experiment stations working at purposes that are not well coordinated. I urge that the Legislative Research Committee be directed to recommend legislation in 1967 setting forth the agencies and functions which should come under a Department of Conservation.

The Constitutional Revision Committee will be considering the remainder of our State Constitution in the coming biennium. I recommend such governmental reforms as the establishment, by legislative act, of a Department of Commerce containing business and professional regulatory agencies, and a Department of State Business Operations.

These improvements in administrative organization should be considered at the same time as we ponder revising the remainder of the Constitution.

REAPPORTIONMENT

Representative government implied that legislative representation be based as nearly as is practical upon equal numbers of citizens in each legislative district. The recent ruling by the United States Supreme Court leaves no alternative but that we reapportion both our House and our Senate in this session or have the matter turned over to the federal court for solution immediately following our adjournment. I urge you to make reapportionment an early order of business and determine that it shall take place here rather than in court.

I wish I could foresee a hope of retaining our State Senate on its modified area basis, for I am one who regarded area representation in one of the two houses as a positive force rather than a detriment to Representative Government. It now appears, however, that county lines will often be violated in carving out new legislative districts which conform to the requirements of our federal Constitution. Our State Senators will be selected from the same districts or combinations thereof which elect our State Representatives. To attempt to set up State Senate districts which do not conform to reapportioned House of Representative district boundaries would result in election chaos. There will, however, be a positive side reaction to the United States Supreme Court ruling on reapportionment. Many thinly populated counties, in losing their guaranteed House member or Senator, will be losing the only justification in these days of high costs for continuing the county as a political subdivision. Now we can expect counties to seek tax economies by consolidation of the counties themselves or some of the services they render. We must be sure that our state laws make it as easy as possible for counties to make these adjustments.

Our state has been fortunate, following the 1961 drought, to have enjoyed three successive years of relatively good agricultural crops and prices. For the past three years, we have been back on top as the number one cash grain state of the nation. We lead all other states in the production of hard red spring wheat, durum, rye, malting barley, flax seed and sunflower seed. Our dry, cool climate has made us a state of remarkable quality control of our agricultural production.

Farming is so important as our basic industry that we must continually seek to expand our farm income, even while we seek to diversify our sources of total state economic gross product from other sources. Grain marketing improvement continues to be a pressing need. I recommend that the Minnesota Legislature be urged by you to eliminate Section 233.07 of the Minnesota Code, which requires a duplication of federal grain grading. Failure to have this problem solved legislatively will only cause further lawsuits as we continue to seek enlargement of the favorable federal court decision obtained last fall.

To show this state's determination to offer grain grading services to all of our shippers, I recommend that the grain grading service in the State Seed Department at North Dakota State University be reinstated. I would further recommend that the State Seed Department be authorized to purchase present private grain grading services if these services become available for purchase. Grain grading in the marketing channel is a function which is not designed to serve the best interest of the grain grader, but rather is designed to give unbiased third-party service for the benefit of the producer, shipper and buyer. Like the commercial grading of potatoes, dairy products, meats and other farm commodities, the grading of grain should be a responsibility of government.

A question often asked is, "Why are we a major producer but not a major processor of agricultural commodities?" North Dakota's aspirations to obtain increased numbers of food and feed processing industries depend in part upon the cooperation we receive from the railroads serving us.

A food or feed processing industry of any size would have to buy the raw product on the basis of an established grade. Grain which leaves North Dakota before a grade has been placed on it is not available for purchase or diversion to North Dakota industrial purchasers. I urge you to require by law that any railroad on which North Dakota grain originates be required to furnish hold points for grain sampling at such locations as are designated by our Public Service Commission. Failure of railroads to grant hold points in years past has assured that processing would take place to the east of our state.

The state's gross agricultural product measured in dollars is simply total yield times price. There is a constant erosive action by critics of price supports and controlled production in favor of the free market boom and bust philosophy. Since farm costs do not follow the boom and bust movement but continue on a slowly rising trend, I urge you to ask Congress and the President to strengthen the price support of wheat and of feed grains. The cost-price squeeze has already forced thousands of our farm families off the land and out of the state. Attrition to the number of families on our farms is a mounting social and economic problem for every North Dakota community.

More intensive use of our present farm units is one method of holding our farm families on the land. Irrigation is one method of intensifying land use and stabilizing farm production at a higher level. Hundreds of people have been working for two decades to bring large-scale irrigation to North Dakota. A strong resolution from this 39th Legislative Assembly to the Congress and President of the United States in support of the Garrison Diversion Unit would be timely and prudent.

ECONOMIC DIVERSIFICATION

The North Dakota Bar Association has adapted the uniform commercial code to our laws. The modernization of our business procedures under a state law which is the standard law in an increasing number of states would enhance our business and industrial climate for our existing businesses and those who might seek to locate here. I recommend its adoption.

The fabulous beauty of our Badlands, the largest body of water between the Great Lakes and the Pacific, the nation's top rodeo cowboys, the best waterfowl shooting anywhere, an Indian heritage, four beautiful seasons, and an air conditioned northern route highway system second to none are only a few of our natural advantages so attractive to out-of-state visitors.

The development of our outdoor recreation industry and tourist business offers the most immediate advancement in the direction of rapidly expanding our state's total income. I urge you to provide increased financial support for our Travel Department, our State Historical Society, our State Parks Division, our state water resource development program, and our Economic Development Commission. I am asking that an Outdoor Recreation Agency be created and funded in order that we might effectively participate in the Federal Outdoor Recreation Planning and Development Program. It would be appropriate for this body to add its endorsement to the efforts to obtain a scenic highway through the Badlands, connecting the North and South Units of Roosevelt Park.

Our crude oil industry has shown sound growth in the past two years, but constantly increasing Canadian imports of crude oil into our marketing area pose a threat to our crude oil economy. As our oil fields mature, we marvel at the way entire fields are operated as a unit in order to obtain a maximum secondary recovery of oil. So critical will be the need to institute unitized secondary recovery in many fields soon, that I urge you to enact an Oklahoma-type unitization law with appropriate protection to small interests.

OUR HUMAN RESOURCES

We need to continually examine the society in which we live and ask ourselves if we are truly doing those things we could and should do to make this state a better place for people to grow up in, work in, and retire in.

Our record in support of education in ratio to our personal income has been excellent. But we need to do much more. In 1959, the 36th Legislative Assembly strove to establish a foundation program to provide state support equal to sixty percent of the average cost of educating our children at both primary and secondary levels. Rising costs have caused our state support to now equal only about thirty-eight percent of current per pupil costs. I recommend a substantial increase in the per pupil payments in the education foundation program to bring state support up to at least fifty percent of per pupil cost.

Most of our concern in the field of education in this session will be over our need to provide greater state tax support to our public schools and our state institutions of higher education. This will be necessary if we keep up with increasing enrollment and the constant competition to improve the quality of our education. But there is another less glamorous field of educational opportunity which has in recent years been served only by the Manpower Training Act. Poverty exists principally among the untrained and the unskilled. Yet, work is available for those who only a surprisingly small amount of training. Perhaps it is that self-confidence and pride which go with knowing that you are a necessary human on this earth and that your work is a necessary contribution to society that have made the Manpower Training Program a productive life-saver to so many unskilled people. Adequate support by you of the Manpower Development and Training Act matching program could actually reduce indirectly other costs such as welfare and delinquency, which are by-products of people who possess little ability to hold down a job.

The war on poverty is a genuine battle. It will be waged over a broad front and various programs old and new will be used as weapons. You might think that we have no poverty problem in North Dakota. Until we realize that we have 16,000 young people between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one who come from families with less than $1,000 annual income, we cannot comprehend the need that exists under our own noses. It is for these young people that the war on poverty is designed. I strongly urge you to establish a state agency to direct our state's efforts and help local communities in this complex federal program known as the the Economic Opportunity Act.

When we speak of holding down jobs and the need to have people who possess at least minimum skills, we need also to think in terms of what will be minimum wages. A tragic reflection of our attitudes toward our citizens with minimum skills has been our record on minimum wage legislation. A minimum wage of $1.00 per hour amounts to only $160.00 per month based on a forty-hour week. I recommend that we adopt not less than $1.00 per hour as this state's minimum wage.

The social changes taking place in every community in North Dakota are creating new problems, all of which are seeking solutions. In our youth today, we find a need to channel their pent-up energies in ways that do the young people and their communities good. Physical fitness, jobs, automobiles, delinquency — these are some of the considerations which need to be monitored and quided by up-to-date programs for youth.

Our parents and grandparents living in this state are also finding themselves swept up in the rapid social change. Earlier retirement, longer life and a desire to keep contributing to society create a situation for our older citizens which cannot be taken lightly. The needs of our elderly today will be the needs of all of us in time. A compassionate state government must keep tuned to the needs of its elderly. I recommend that the separate voluntary Governor's Committee on Youth, on the Aged, and on the Handicapped be encouraged. These committees should be authorized an executive secretary to serve their needs from one office funded in the Public Welfare Department.

Upon President John Kennedy's request, a voluntary Commission on the Status of Women was formed in North Dakota. That Commission's report will be available to you. I recommend that improvements in our laws be made to bring about equality under the law where discrimination against women might now exist.

When we talk of human resources, we are speaking of people like you and me, or our loved ones. Even the thought of one of us using our state institutions such as the State Hospital at Jamestown, the State School for the retarded at Grafton, and our other state institutions oftentimes seems remote. Yet, there are those among us who have first-hand knowledge of the remarkable accomplishments of our charitable institutions in spite of inadequate state support.

If someone told you that there was a hospital in North Dakota where the cost per patient day was less than $5.50, you would be forgiven if you expressed disbelief. The State Hospital at Jamestown returns 1,600 patients per year back to private life and does so at a cost of less than $5.50 per patient day. This cost includes board, room, drugs, nurses, aides, doctors, psychiatrists and everything else. Obviously, a mental treatment program in 1965 that must operate on an average cost of $5.50 per patient day is a pitiful spectacle — particularly when you realize that private institutions having the same treatment responsibility have a per patient day cost of approximately six times as much.

We must permit more funds in this session for our charitable institutions — if only to reflect cost of living increases and the availability of more effective but costlier treatment methods. Once again, it needs to be mentioned that timely investments in treatment or rehabilitation often prevent a much costlier bill for the state for welfare or for institutionalizing individuals for long periods of time. I must pay tribute to the superintendents of our charitable and penal institutions, who are performing so magnificently despite the severe financial handicaps under which they must operate.

OUR HERITAGE

Does being a North Dakotan mean anything special to you? It should. If your ancestors were pioneers in this state, you have sprung from remarkably hardy stock. The ethnic groups, often direct from the Old Country, settled this state, for the most part, in the past one hundred years. These early settlers came here because they sought freedom, opportunity and a challenge. Here, like fine steel, they were tempered in fire — the fires of adversity. Those who survived the blizzards, drought, hail, rust, heat and loneliness were truly a selection of the strongest and most determined. We have a rich North Dakota heritage that began with Lewis and Clark and is still being made by such present-day giants as Eric Sevareid, Lawrence Welk, Dorothy Stickney, Roger Maris and Ivan Dmitri.

We need to do much more than we are doing to preserve our heritage — so rapidly slipping beyond the horizon.

North Dakota needs a Heritage Center. We need a place where the citizen, the student, the tourist can trace the development of our state by viewing the relics of the past. The color and customs of our Indians, our western frontiersmen, our cowboys, our Swedes, Germans, Icelanders, and all of our other ethnic groups need to be preserved. The historic development of our natural resources, oil, lignite, salt and our electric power generation should be accurately recorded and displayed. North Dakota art should be shown and its development traced.

In order to do justice to raising the esprit de corps that should spring in the hearts of every generation of North Dakota, I propose a Heritage Center Building for the Capitol grounds in Bismarck. Such a building should be designed for adding to, as the decades roll by unfolding more of what will become a part of our North Dakota heritage. The building I propose would take the place of the inadequate Liberty Memorial Building now housing a small collection of our state's historical treasures. With the rapid rise in tourism, I believe a state Heritage Center could be made to be self-supporting.

CONCLUSION

I have, in this message, spoken of some of the needs of our state. I am sure you were conscious of the fact that many of the recommendations would require increased appropriations. Some of these increased appropriations would stimulate the economic activity in our state and should be regarded as investment spending. Other increased appropriations would not stimulate economic activity, but must be regarded as the price we must pay if we want the services of the state expanded or maintained. To discuss budgeting, fiscal practices and taxation in a more thorough manner, I will submit to you a printed addendum to this message tomorrow.

Budgeting and taxation are all important considerations. But we must not allow public finance to become an end in itself. We must not let fear of the future paralyze us into inactivity. We have before us a legislative challenge for progress that is unparalleled in our state's history. Let's make the 39th Legislative Session stand out as the greatest!

Benediction by The Reverend Benson, Rabbi Diamant and the Reverend Engel.

Rep. Giffey moved that the joint session be now dissolved, which motion prevailed, and the House stood recessed until 1:30 p.m., January 7, 1965.

Rep. Streibel moved that Governor Guy's message to the legislature on "Budgeting, Fiscal Affairs, Taxation," be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

BUDGETING — FISCAL AFFAIRS — TAXATION

Definitions —

Budgeting implies that our government revenues are limited and, therefore, we need to make the best use of our limited dollars in obtaining the most for our tax money in state services. How true this is!

Fiscal affairs includes our business procedures in using state funds. It establishes our systems of purchasing, paying and accounting for goods and services.

Taxation is that process of annually levying from the state's gross product sufficient revenues to operate the government.

Because all of these matters are inter-related, they are presented here together as an addendum to my message to the 39th Legislative Assembly in accordance with Section 75 of the North Dakota Constitution.

In The Beginning —

You and I must be in substantial agreement in estimating what the financial condition of the state government will be on June 30, 1965, as a point of departure in planning for the 1965-67 biennium. This is necessary if we are to consider appropriation bills and tax measures against the same background of information. Any estimates of future tax revenue or future government expenditure must be arrived at by a process that projects the experience of past tax revenue and expenditures into a future pre-constructed on what we know or can predict about conditions ahead. Our estimates must be reasonable and preferably conservative. A future which does exceed our expectations can do us no harm; but a future which falls short of our estimates would create serious problems in budgeting and fiscal affairs.

The Last Legislature's Estimates in 1963 —

The last session of the legislature was aware that state appropriations would exceed estimated state tax revenues by about 17 million dollars. I was in agreement with this estimate which was consistent with all of the factors known and in existence at that time. Shortly after the legislature adjourned, a series of events began which altered the best information available to legislators during the session.

These events included:

(1) The reorganization of the North Dakota Tax Department with resultant increases in tax collections.

(2) The turn-back of 8.75 million dollars of unspent appropriations on June 30, 1963. This sum vastly exceeded the amount estimated by the 1963 legislature.

(3) The continuation of a higher than average level of state agriculture gross product measured in dollars from 1952 into 1963 and 1964. This created a natural increase in government revenues.

(4) The institution of a second multi-million dollar public works program in missile site construction centered at the Grand Forks Air Force Base. All of these unforeseen happenings were of a positive economic nature and the by-product was increased state government revenues. These increased revenues and unspent appropriations, along with revenue increases from a broadened sales tax at a higher rate, made it possible for our state government to proceed safely through the biennium without the income which would have accrued from tax measures defeated in the 1963 referendum. I should stress that unforeseen happenings affecting government revenue can be negative as well as positive. Some restraint then is advisable in predicting economic conditions for the future. But it will be necessary for us to come to some agreement on government revenue estimates for the 1965-67 biennium in order to intelligently pass on appropriation measures or tax measures.

Actions of the Budget Board in Preparation for this Session —

The Budget Board, in its report to you, estimates an unobligated balance in the General Fund on June 30, 1965, to be 13.5 million dollars. They estimate revenues for the coming biennium of 96.75 million dollars. These are estimates based on our present tax program and a continuation of a stable level of economic activity. From these two figures, we total the amount that could be expended from the General Fund. We find this would then total 110.25 million dollars. This figure does not include transfers of profits from the Bank of North Dakota or the State Mill and Elevator.

In the present biennium, 4.25 million dollars in profits were transferred, by legislative authority, to the General Fund. Approximately the same amount of profits could be safely transferred to the General Fund in the next biennium. If this were done, the total expendable amount available to the General Fund in the next biennium would be increased to 114.5 million dollars. The above estimate of tax revenue presumes a continuation of the 2 mill state property levy. If the full allowable 4 mill state property levy were used, an additional 2.8 million dollars of tax revenue for the biennium would result.

An operating balance of at least 10 million dollars is recommended as necessary in the General Fund. If this amount were agreed upon as an operating balance, only 104.5 million dollars would then be available for expenditure.

Printed here is a statement of income estimates which guided the Budget Board:

Also included are the approximations used to estimate the General Fund unobligated cash balance on July 1, 1965: November 21, 1964

GENERAL FUND

Cash Balance July 1, 1964	11,000,000.00
Estimate of revenue for present fiscal year to June 30, 1965	50,500,000.00

Estimated Unobligated July 1, 1965	13,500,000.00
Projected Revenue	96,750,000.00

*Note: Cash Balance July 1, 1963	16,900,000.00
Cash Balance January 30, 1964	4,674,000.00
Cash Balance March 16, 1964	4,330,000.00

This is an example of why it is advisable to set a minimum of $10,000,000.00 as an operating balance in the General Fund.

Appropriations from the General Fund for the present biennium are $101,161,947.52. The Budget Board received requests for the 1965-67 biennium totalling $144,557,207.09. The Budget Board scaled these requests down and approved budgets totalling $110,021,533.00. It must be noted at this point that the Budget Board allowed no appropriations for buildings, nor did it approve appropriations for requested new programs. To approve the latter, the Budget Board believed it would be giving tacit approval to programs which were the prerogative of the legislature.

Methods of Increasing the General Fund Without New Taxes —

There are methods which I recommend to (1) add to General Fund income; (2) shift the appropriation obligation from the General Fund to another fund; or (3) eliminate entirely an appropriation obligation from the General Fund.

In the latter category, I print here a statement of balances of the Korean Conflict Adjusted Compensation Series Bonds as of December 27, 1964:

KOREAN CONFLICT ADJUSTED COMPENSATION

Probable Interest Collections to July 1, 1965		120,000.00
TOTAL ASSETS			4,931,971.11

You will note that before the present biennium expires, there will be sufficient funds listed as Assets accumulated to more than offset the remaining liability. The law then requires that the monthly payments of $37,500 from the General Fund to the Korean Conflict Bond principal and interest account cease. This would relieve the General Fund of approximately $900,000 in bond repayment obligations in the coming biennium which was not subtracted from the General Fund biennial obligations approved by the Budget Board.

The Highway Department is financed by highway user taxes which are dedicated funds. These monies cannot be diverted for purposes other than those defined by law as supporting construction, maintenance and administration of our highway system. The large bulge in available federal highway matching funds has been met in this biennium. It is my recommendation that the following changes be made in Highway Department finances:

(1) The appropriation for the Highway Patrol should come from highway users funds without transferring the Highway Patrol to the Highway Department. This would relieve the General Fund of a 1.7 million dollar biennial obligation.

(2) The Use Tax now collected by the Motor Vehicle Department should go to the General Fund rather than the Highway Department fund. The Use Tax is not a highway users tax. This would add approximately $600,000 per biennium to the General Fund.

(3) The Motor Vehicle Registrar's office functions should be transferred to the Tax Department, but the appropriation to operate the Motor Vehicle Registrar's office should continue to come from the Motor Vehicle Registration Fund, as is done at present.

These actions suggested above would increase the amount of expendable monies in the General Fund by approximately 3.2 million dollars. This would allow a new figure of 107.7 million dollars of expendable monies in the General Fund.

Budgeting and Budget Recommendations —

Budgeting involves our judgment on what we should spend state money for and how much should be spent. Most of our budget decisions involve the expenditures and income to the General Fund. We are restricted in the actions we can take with dedicated funds such as Highway User Funds. Some state funds are trust funds and neither the principle nor interest is available for state government operation. This category includes such multi-million dollar funds as Land Department Funds and Workmen's Compensation Reserve Funds.

In talking budgeting, we have to be careful not to bandy about dedicated or trust funds sums as expendable for general government operation. It is a great disservice to the public to create the impression of great mythical unused reserves being held back at the same time that taxes are being increased.

The vice chairman of the Budget Board has stated the need for an executive budget. This would be a budget prepared by a division in the Department of Accounts and Purchases rather than a budget prepared by the Budget Board. It would increase the responsibility of the executive branch of government without decreasing the power of the legislature. I strongly endorse this suggestion.

I must comment on the budget submitted to you by the Budget Board. I believe that the amounts allowed for some of our charitable institutions are inadequate. The State Hospital at Jamestown and the State School for retarded children at Grafton and San Haven deserve stronger financial support. The new program being installed at the State Industrial School needs to move out strongly financed.

The Foundation Program for Education has proven very successful. It has, however, been slipping badly from its stated objective of supporting public education at 60% of average per pupil cost. Increased enrollment will require an additional 3.2 million dollars for the coming biennium at the present rate of payment. The Budget Board's budget already includes this increase. I strongly recommend that an additional 8.5 million dollars be appropriated for the next biennium to bring the support of the Foundation Program for Education up from its present 40% of per pupil cost to approximately 50%.

The problem of construction of state buildings for our colleges and other institutions is an enormous one. Each biennium, whether we construct new buildings or not, several million dollars in depreciation and obsolescence takes place. This does not even include necessary expansion of physical plants in the years ahead. We must devise an orderly system of financing new buildings each biennium. This requires a plan of building replacement that extends at least twenty-five years into the future. It is only from a well-thought-out plan that intelligent deviation can take place in the years ahead.

Our present college enrollment is 17,152 students. The Bartholomew Report predicts a leveling off of college student enrollment at nearly double this figure in 1975. We need to be poised to cope with the rapidly expanding college enrollment. It would be appropriate that the tax-paying public not be called on to finance college buildings on a pay-as-you-build basis during these critical years to 1975. The repayment of the cost of these buildings over a much longer period of time would be sound and much less oppressive to the taxpayers. Our state has been using the bond issue method of financing for many years. Our last bond issue for Korean Conflict payments to veterans will be paid up at the end of the biennium. Our state will be debt-free on July 1, 1965. I recommend that a constitutional amendment be proposed which would permit us to keep up with building needs through a general obligation bond issue. Present constitutional bonding limitations may have been realistic in 1918, but they are dangerously vague and confining in 1965. Should the need for bonding to build state buildings materialize as predicted, the legislature should be able to act quickly to float the bonds.

The Federal Government, by its Higher Education Facilities Act, has expressed its concern over adequate preparation for the flood of new students. I believe our Board of Higher Education should have the funds and the flexibility to wisely use this federal program. I therefore recommend that not less than 5 million dollars be appropriated to the Board of Higher Education rather than to lined amounts to specific buildings.

This would not preclude the authorization of specific college buildings even though an amount were not listed after the building authorized.

We see too often the evidence of poor design and poor construction in state buildings. State officials are not technically qualified to know whether the state's interest is being protected. Our construction program should be planned with the help of a state architect in the Department of Accounts and Purchases. This would not mean that the state architect would actually draw specific building plans. Private architects would continue to contract for this work. The state architect would simply advise on long-range building plans for all departments, and oversee the state's interest in specific building plans and the construction therefrom.

I am recommending substantial increases in appropriations to those state departments which form our Outdoor Recreation Committee. It will be the work of these state agencies that will determine our success in making rapid advances in what can be a lucrative tourism industry. The Federal Government is offering a very timely inducement in matching funds for planning and developing outdoor recreation. Courage and faith in our determination to broaden and diversify our state's economy will call for appropriations which have never been regarded seriously in the past. I recommend that the Outdoor Recreation Committee be established by law and funded directly in order to match federal funds.

Taxation Proposals —

The tax program you establish will determine the amount of governmental services our state will have and, to a degree, the excellence of those services. You will be concerned with the revenues which support not only state government but also all other political subdivisions including our cities. A tax, no matter where it comes from, can be traced back to a taxpayer's pocketbook and to the income that fills that pocketbook. Our tax goals in this session should be:

(1) To provide revenues for the services people need, rather than to tailor those services to existing tax income.

(2) To strive for increased equity among taxpayers of similar businesses and incomes; and

(3) To require all who derive their income in our state to support their government in proportion to the financial advantages they have gained by earning their living in this great state. Tax legislation to be recommended in this session will call for the abolition of some taxes and the enactment of replacement taxes or new taxes. There will be measures recommended to achieve tax equity and efficiency of administration.

Property Taxes —

There was a time in our history when a person's personal property and real property reflected not only his ability to pay taxes but also reflected the benefits he would receive in government services. Those days are gone forever. We are now in a period of the "professions" where substantial personal income is being earned by a greater percentage of our population without the need to own productive personal property and real estate in order to earn that income.

Perhaps no other tax has involved more turmoil and difficulty in recent years than the tax on personal and real property. This tax, producing around $85,000,000 annually, has remained as the major source of revenue for North Dakota political subdivisions since statehood. Fifty-eight percent of this revenue forms the bulwark of primary and secondary education; 19% goes to county government; over 11% supports municipalities; 6% goes to townships; 3% goes into state purposes, and the remaining meets the expenses of various special districts.

It is time for us to honestly and courageously face up to the multitude of problems that have grown with the years in the field of property taxation. Let us start first with personal property.

After decades of effort, we must admit that fair administration of the personal property tax is beyond the realm of possibility.

Even if it could be fairly assessed, the basic concept of the tax would remain unchanged in that possession of depreciating personal property in no way approximates ability to pay. It discourages investment in productive tools and is a depressant on our economy. It causes unfair competition against the businessman who is willing to invest in a good inventory to better serve his community while catalogue companies escape taxation.

I suggest a program of eventual elimination of all personal property taxes, with the first steps being taken in this session. We should begin by eliminating the tax on household goods, musical instruments and clothing. This measure should carry an emergency clause eliminating the tax in 1965.

This portion of the tax, even though probably improperly administered at present, affects everyone and is the most troublesome and expensive to administer. The per capita school tax of $1.00 must go with it.

Before any great advances can be made in the other areas, we must consider constitutional changes to secure the present and future bonding capacities of our political subdivisions so that they can continue to meet the needs of their people. In addition, we need to arrange for the payment of bonds from sources of revenue besides the property taxes. We must take the property presently classified as personal property that is of real estate nature and reclassify it as real estate. This would mean reclassification of improvements on leased sites such as elevators and warehouses, and public utilities.

The people would have to concur in a constitutional amendment protecting the bonding capacity of political subdivisions before a complete elimination of the personal property tax could be brought about. At such time, I propose that we eliminate the personal property tax by applying percentage reductions to all categories at the same time, with the percentages being governed by replacement revenue raised. Using the percentage method assures all interested parties of equal treatment and eliminates controversy over priorities for various categories of personal property.

In devising a method of redistributing the state-collected taxes to political subdivisions, it would be wise to consider placing all replacement revenue into the school foundation program. Then the authorized mill rates for school purposes could be reduced in proportion to the replacement revenue. The authorized mill rates for other political subdivisions could then be increased to compensate for the loss of personal property taxes. The end result would be a reduced total local burden on personal property and an increased burden in state tax revenues. As a state, we have established a policy of equalized tax support for education. State standards have been developed for minimum educational programs. On the other hand, there is no clear state policy of asking all taxpayers to share in the cost of supporting equally all political subdivisions in their various desires to render governmental services. It is better for local government to determine for itself the level of expenditures and the type of expenditures it chooses, using funds over which it has complete responsibility.

Real Estate —

While we seek to eliminate personal property taxes, we must work to make all property taxes more equitable. The sales-ratio study conducted pursuant to legislation passed in the last session has brought forth clear evidence of the wide disparity in property assessing within counties and between counties. If we permit this situation to continue, taxpayers will seek redress in the courts as they have been doing in other states.

The State Board of Equalization has recognized this serious situation by placing public utilities on a 6-year program in moving their assessments to a level of 35% of market value. Working without any statistical information such as the sales-ratio study, the Board estimated this to be the state average.

In compiling information for the sales-ratio study, the tax department found assessments within counties ranged from 5% to as high as 200% and 300% of market value.

If the county average was low in comparison to the state average, the 21-mill school levy was raised for all taxpayers in the county — including those already over-assessed — further aggravating the injustice.

This situation is so widespread in the state that it is evident we need more full-time personnel working on property assessments. I suggest that in this session we adopt a measure that would call for full-time county supervisors of assessments in all counties by July 1, 1966.

I believe that consideration should be given to establishing a common level of assessment on all property in the state, to be achieved within a reasonable period of time. We have a common level of assessment prescribed by statute, but not used in practice. School districts overlapping county lines, unjustifiably high assessments to raise local funds, and the state mill levies all require equality of assessment. Some political subdivisions are intentionally over-assessing to meet local budgets under the rigid mill rate limitations. Either all local government general fund mill limitations should be removed to permit more local autonomy, or limitations should be developed on budgets rather than on mill rates.

Unless positive steps are taken in this session regarding the assessment and levying of taxes on property in North Dakota, we can expect increased taxpayer unrest that may well have very serious repercussions.

Income Tax —

The last session of the legislature made a meritorious effort in trying to adopt a new simplified income tax program for North Dakota taxpayers. This effort to place the North Dakota income tax on the basis of a percentage of the federal income tax has attracted great interest on the part of taxpayers and deserves serious consideration in this session.

In addition to providing the taxpayer with great simplicity in meeting his obligations under our income tax program, the simplified income tax would assist greatly in coping with administration of income taxes. North Dakota has completed a formal agreement with the internal revenue service that provides for a better exchange of information between our tax department and that federal agency. With many source records now available to the state, a state tax based on a federal standard would greatly enhance fair and equitable enforcement. Furthermore, in the process of converting our present income tax base to a new income tax base, we should be able to plug loopholes and increase revenue sorely needed at this time.

The chief obstacle to the new simplified approach is our desire to retain the very provisions that prevent simplification. If we really want to simplify our income tax program and if we desire full and fair enforcement, then we must be willing to sacrifice our pet provisions in state income tax law. I submit to you that the following changes should be considered to bring the North Dakota income tax provisions more closely to the federal provisions so that we may achieve simplification, if not in this session then at least in 1967:

(1) Our filing requirements should be made similar to federal requirements so that every person, married, head of household or single, who makes over $600 would be required to file a return. At the present time, persons who are married or the head of a household must earn $1500 before being required to file a state income tax return.

(2) We should adjust our exemption for heads of households and married couples from the present $1500 to the $1200 provided by federal law.

(3) We should limit our medical deductions to the medical expenses that exceed 3% of income as in the federal income tax law.

(4) We should remove the federal income tax paid as a deductible item on state returns.

(5) We should restructure our income tax rates so that they parallel the graduation of the federal tax rates and reduce our maximum rate somewhat to prevent the top income tax bracket from becoming unduly burdensome.

(6) We should make our federalizing procedures more automatic through authorization of a constitutional amendment so that we do not face time lags in which federal changes are made which cannot be incorporated into the state law until the legislature meets and approves the changes.

These are some of the hurdles that confront us before we can seriously consider developing an income tax based on a percentage of the federal tax in order that taxpayers will be able to file their returns on a simple postcard-sized return. Because of federal constitutional provisions regarding the taxability of interest paid by the federal government on its bonds or other obligations, we must hold the option out to the taxpayer to file the lengthy return if he chooses.

There are only four states of those levying income taxes that have failed to adopt a system of income tax withholding. North Dakota is one of those four states. I hope this session will give serious consideration to adopting a general withholding law to become effective July 1, 1965. This is the best method available to us to be sure that everyone who earns income in North Dakota is carrying his fair share of the tax load.

In addition, I would like to see an emergency measure adopted that would provide for withholding of income tax from employees when the Tax Commissioner feels that such tax is in jeopardy due to the transient nature of the employment. This could be invoked for the months of April, May and June of 1965 to cover a number of very large payrolls that will be engaged in the state.

Along with the withholding program, North Dakota should adopt the system of declaration of estimated income for self-employed and corporations.

In regard to the corporate income taxes, this session should be aware of legislation now pending in Congress that would encroach on the right of the states to determine the corporate tax base of corporations doing interstate business.

The state tax departments of many states have considered various formulas and have agreed on a base involving corporate earnings, sales and facilities. I suggest that this uniform formula for allocating income of interstate corporations be adopted for North Dakota even though it will mean a slight decline in corporate income taxes. The proposal in Congress does not provide for use of the sales factor in the formula and, if passed, would be detrimental to our revenue structure.

At the present time, North Dakota taxes banks and savings and loan establishments on a flat 4% of net income in lieu of both corporate income taxes and personal property taxes. In the last session, an effort was made to increase the rate of this tax. I support increasing this tax to a point where it is comparable to the taxes paid by other corporations on income and personal property.

If we remove the deductibility of the federal income tax on individual income tax returns, we should consider doing the same on corporation returns.

In the case of corporations, the federal government has already established a basis for taxation. I suggest that North Dakota consider adopting provisions that conform to the federal program.

Some of the changes I suggest in income tax provisions would result in new revenue for the state's general fund. Here are figures that have been compiled in regard to some of these changes. Unfortunately, we do not have resources available in either the Tax Department or any other state agency to develop figures for all changes.

Changing heads of households and married couples exemption to $1200	$ 990,000.00
Changing medical deductions	(Not available yet)
Eliminating the federal income tax as a deduction on individual returns	$6,200,000.00
Revision of graduation in tax rate	(Not available yet)
General withholding (new revenue for this biennium only)	$1,150,000.00
General withholding (permanent improvement in collections)	800,000.00
Emergency withholding (for April, May and June, 1965)	80,000.00
Eliminating the federal income tax as a deduction on corporate returns	$3,600,000.00

The above figures are for the biennium and are based primarily on the 1963 income tax records of the Tax Department. Figures for other proposals can be developed once basic policy on them has been developed.

The graduated income tax has emerged as a more justifiable method of raising revenue in this twentieth century because it reflects the earning power of all people, including those who earn through property ownership.

The review of the North Dakota sales and use tax administration and statutes by Dr. John Due and John Singer ordered by the last session of the legislature has proved fruitful, both in terms of improving sales and use tax administration as well as detecting loopholes in our present sales and use tax statutes. The legislative research subcommittee on taxation has given careful study to the recommendations of these outstanding experts and has drafted some legislation that deserves your study. Some of the legislation would improve the administration of these taxes while other bills increase revenue.

In view of the pressing demands on the state general fund, especially in the field of education, we need to be particularly concerned with protecting the present sales and use tax base — and expanding it when there is justification. I believe that broadening the sales tax base to include liquor, wines, beer, cigarettes, snuff, tobacco, cigars and oleomargarine is worthy of support. Most of these items fall into the category of luxuries and do reflect an additional capacity of the purchaser to pay additional taxes.

The Due-Singer report suggests broadening the service feature of the sales tax to those real estate items that are in reality personal property in nature, such as built-in stoves and refrigerators. This suggestion is primarily for the purpose of giving more rhyme and reason to the tax on services.

We know that catalogue sales in North Dakota create competition for North Dakota businessmen without incurring the obligation to pay equal personal property taxes and, in most cases, to collect a sales or use tax. I support the measure to broaden the law to cover catalogue companies under the sales and use tax laws.

Improved enforcement has reduced unfair competition greatly in our border cities. I feel that we should accord North Dakota businessmen the opportunity to sell to out-of-state residents who do not consume their purchases here. This would help reduce the impact of sales tax on competition from across our borders. The loss in state sales tax revenue would not be sufficient to justify forcing these border merchants to continue their present delivery expenses in order to make their sales exempt under present law.

Casual sales of motor vehicles have become a large area that is escaping taxation and creates competitive characteristics unfavorable to business. With North Dakota's excellent titling law, we have the machinery to broaden the sales tax to include casual sales of motor vehicles. In addition, I recommend that motor vehicles use tax receipts be assigned to the general fund.

North Dakota stands to lose thousands of dollars in sales or use tax in the coming years unless the tax on sand and gravel is clarified. A loophole has developed in our sales and use tax laws. I suggest that we consider substituting a gross production or severance tax on sand and gravel in lieu of the present sales and use tax.

In some merchandising fields, repossession becomes necessary. Under existing law, the unpaid balance is not deductible from gross sales unless the merchandise was financed by the seller. There are some inequities in this procedure and I would suggest that repossessions be treated as any other returned merchandise.

In addition, I believe that North Dakota should make the sales and use tax as fair as possible. We should remove all possible elements of unfair competition, and be prepared to see that the sales and use tax laws are fully and fairly enforced. This means both statutory changes as well as additional Tax Department staff to properly handle the duties assigned by law.

The proposals outlined above that would accrue additional revenue for the biennium for the general fund are estimated as follows:

General broadening of the sales tax	$3,795,000.00
Broadening of sales tax to "built-ins"	30,000.00
Obligating catalogue companies to collect tax	150,000.00
Including casual sales of motor vehicles	1,160,000.00
Gross production or severance tax on sand and gravel (new revenue)	200,000.00

Associated Problems —

There are other state problems which become involved in budgeting and in fiscal affairs. I shall discuss several of the most pressing.

The lack of job classifications, salary schedules, working hour standards and fringe benefits has made it difficult for comparative budgets to be drawn between departments. The extension of the Merit System to all departments would not only be more business-like, but it would cultivate a sense of fair play in the minds of state employees.

We find our state government in constant competition with private business for competent employees. Several state departments have established retirement plans. Our state has reached a maturity which would justify consideration of a state employee retirement plan for those employees not now covered. This is a far-reaching proposal which should be undertaken only after adequate study. I believe that, in competing for state employees, the cost of fringe benefits are either paid as fringe benefits or they will be found in increased salaries.

The high cost of construction and the large number of new and old buildings presently insured and now valued at $315 million make our State Fire and Tornado Fund present balances completely inadequate. Legislation to cause the Fund's reserves to accumulate to the $12 million allowed under the law is urgently needed. This should be done by permitting increased premium rates. The statutory limit at present is that the premiums not exceed 50% of standard board rates, as long as the reserve fund exceeds $3 million.

We are operating North Dakota state government in the most business-like manner we can. However, the revenue to operate this business is obtained through an antiquated tax structure which has not responded to change. I would like to furnish you with a greater refinement of information in tax matters. However, neither my office nor any other office in state government has adequate staff to conduct tax research.

In order that continuing tax research be conducted, I recommend that a Tax Institute be established in the Bureau of Business Research at the University of North Dakota. This Institute would be the repository for tax information and data from our state and our sister states. The direction of tax research performed by the Tax Institute should be under the Legislative Research Committee. Only through careful study can we achieve a continual improvement in taxing equity and taxing methods.

There is a danger in this session that we become so absorbed in seeking reasons for not changing our tax structure that we lose sight of the reasons why taxes are levied. The traditional fear and political expediency that surround tax matters will be ever present to cast their paralyzing irrationality over all proposals which may cost money in this session. But the public, in its desire for greater services, more efficiency and a modernization of our government is ahead of traditional positions taken by past legislatures. Action by the voters on referred and initiated measures these past few years indicates to me a steady rise in voter interest in government. Such measures as the secret primary ballot and the four year term for state officials were given very little chance for passage by the professional politician. These measures passed and indicate to me that the majority of the public hungers for innovation and improvement in government.

As the days wear on and tensions rise in this session, I hope our smiles can somehow become broader. I wish you a most satisfying experience as you perform the highest order of citizenship — that of being representatives in this democratic form of government.

MESSAGE TO THE HOUSE

Senate Chamber

Bismarck, January 13, 1965

Mr. Speaker: I have the honor to return:

House Concurrent Resolution "A"

GERALD L. STAIR, Secretary

Rep. Giffey moved that the remarks of Congressman Redlin be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Congressman Redlin was introduced by Lt. Governor Tighe.

Congressman Redlin: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honored Guests, Members of the House and Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen — I indeed do bring greetings to you from Washington. Your kindness and welcome are appreciated deeply.

I want to tell you that they get snow in Washington. They got seven inches yesterday and as they are not prepared for this it caused more pandemonium than here.

It is certainly a pleasure to be here with so many of my colleagues with whom I worked closely for six years as a member of the legislature. I hope to be able to meet many new friends among you. I believe we are really all colleagues in our work.

I had hoped the Chairman today would be the Speaker. As a former member of the state Senate I am used to saying 'Mr. President' as they do across the hall and now I must learn to say 'Mr. Speaker.'

I have not played hookey and am failing to represent you down in Washington. I contacted both the Speaker and the floor leader and they assured me that the work this week would not be very important. It will be mainly messages and those we can look over in our offices. So I took this opportunity to come home to North Dakota to get my wife and children and bring them back to a furnished house that we have rented in Washington and which will be our home.

I am particularly happy to be here today on Broadcaster's Day. They are continuing to be important in democracy and progress. They are a part of the 'team of democracy,' protecting the rights of the people and strengthening the society of man.

In my opinion they get the information to the people to assimilate in all corners of this nation and in fact, all over the globe.

It is essential that this be done for democracy and growth.

You are going to hear about the Radio Code Board of the National Association of Broadcasters. I am happy to be here and to hear this talk.

My experience in Washington shows there is a feeling of confidence today in the future and destiny of America. It is going to continue to grow as a nation and keep the economic momentum, continuing to meet the need of society and that monumental growth to help us to meet the problems of the future.

We from North Dakota, who are representing this state, are working together to make sure that North Dakota is a part of this great effort.

It is a privilege to be here. Godspeed in your important work."

Rep. Giffey moved that House Resolution No. 1, as shown on page 42, House Journal, be adopted at this time, which motion prevailed and the resolution was declared adopted, on roll call vote.

RICHARD ISTA, Asst. Chief Clerk

Rep. Streibel moved that the following poem by Rep. Hauf be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

THE 39th IN REVERSE

The Ship from China for the Democrats has come in Many years have gone by before we were able to win
 A majority in the House we have this time

To do something wrong now would be a crime
The empty chairs as claimed were filled
By a good margin so that we are thrilled
Some still wonder what went wrong
That so many voted in our favor so strong
It seems rather quiet on the Northern front
By one who was late in filing his expense account
The investigations proceeding have been calmed
By eliminating those who were involved
Some too are not with us any more
They have gone to meet St. Peter at the door
But now the state's problems on us will depend
The policies in the past which we wanted we must now defend Miracles of course will be expected by some Like more services and less taxes to come
Most likely the minority now will liberal be
To raise the taxes so they can blame you and me
The Speaker this session no doubt from this victory
Will be one whose name will go down in history
In the House this session he will keep all in line
So no one will be able to criticize the Gov. at any time
The majority floor leader no doubt will be kinder
To all who will not raise his gander
Some members of last session's economy clan
Now admit they were wrong and are now willing to follow a more civilized plan
Some even admit the Democrats are really human and commending
With liberal thinking and conservative spending
Our goals should never be what can we gain for ourselves
But rather how can we help those who cannot help themselves
But we must all reach out for a Guiding Hand
From Someone higher who is in command
To guide us all for what is best
For this here State and all the rest.

"United States District Court

39th Legislative Assembly
Bismarck, North Dakota

MESSAGE TO THE SENATE

House Chamber
Bismarck, January 14, 1965

Mr. President: I have the honor to transmit:
House Bill No. 545

Which the House has passed and your favorable consideration is requested.

DONNELL HAUGEN, Chief Clerk

Rep. Brown moved that the remarks of Rep. Streibel be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Streibel: "On January 5th, each of us took a solemn oath to uphold the Constitution of the State of North Dakota and the Constitution of the United States of America.

In administering this oath, no consideration was given for the dissident opinions that might prevail within the minds of us as individuals.

We have just received a copy of the decision of a Three-Judge Federal District Court with regard to the reapportionment of this Legislative body in which we now serve.

I quote: "We hold that the Thirty-Ninth Legislative Assembly of North Dakota, consisting of members elected under existing law, will have a de facto status; that at such regular session it should promptly devise and pass legislation creating and establishing a system of legislative districting and apportionment consistent with federal constitutional standards; that the effective date of this Order and Decree will be stayed until after the 1964 general elections have been held and for a reasonable time after the commencement of the 1965 Legislative Assembly in order to afford such Assembly a reasonable and adequate opportunity to enact such apportionment legislation. We retain and reserve jurisdiction herein for such further relief and orders, if any, as may hereafter be deemed proper." Unquote.

The Court further establishes in its decision certain guidelines to which we are advised to adhere.

1. That we should promptly devise and pass legislation.
2. That we be apportioned on a population basis.
3. That we use our political subdivision boundaries when possible.
4. That we can use single-member districts or multi-member districts.

We have just recently witnessed, in our sister state to the West, the incident of a federal marshall serving notice upon her legislative body, that a citizen is asking for relief of representation under the United States Supreme Court's Reapportionment decision relative to "one man, one vote".

The injunctive relief prayed for by five plaintiffs, residents and voters of North Dakota, was temporarily denied, but the jurisdiction which has been retained and reserved by the Court can be resumed.

The decision is our responsibility to make. The Court, in good faith, has granted us, the de facto legislative body, a reasonable time to carry out the mandate of the Court.

As Minority Leader, and in behalf of the minority, I would urge that this most important decision be promptly expedited.

I take this occasion to serve notice that we the minority are ready to assume this most important responsibility."

Rep. Giffey moved that the House now stand recessed until 1:30 p.m., January 15, 1965, which motion prevailed.

DONNELL HAUGEN, Chief Clerk

TENTH DAY AFTER RECESS AND ELEVENTH DAY

He was a man of great spirit, of great courage, and of great wit. Throughout his life he was a consistent champion of freedom and of justice and of personal independence.

Although always an Englishman, he was the son of an American mother and was so revered by us Americans that Congress in 1963 made him an honorary citizen of our country. His recent death is, I believe, a great loss to ordinary men the world over.

For these reasons, I am certain that all of us here, as representatives of the people of North Dakota, would like to join with others from around the world in expressing our deep grief and sympathy at the death of Sir Winston Churchill."

Rep. Jungroth moved the previous question which motion prevailed.

The question was now on the motion of Rep. Streibel, which motion lost on a division vote: ayes, 41; nays, 62; absent and not voting, 6.

Rep. Wagner moved the original prepared remarks of Rep. Streibel be printed in the House Journal, which motion lost on a voice vote.

Rep. Streibel's remarks were ordered printed in the House Journal, pursuant to Rep. Giffey's motion on page 235 of the Journal.

Rep. Streibel: "I question the action of introducing House Bill 698 without any numerical listing in the schedule of rates.

This most certainly is a major deviation from standard practices adhered to by this body in the past.

House Bill 698 embodies the heart of the Governor's tax program and is perhaps one of the most important, as well as controversial, measures that will come before this session.

In its present form, and I have checked the original bill, it is a nullity. It contains no starting point for debate. It is not a bill, as we have familiarized ourselves with the term, but merely a vehicle with many unknowns.

Are we to assume that the Governor's tax program is in the same state of flux and uncertainty as is connotated in House Bill 698? Is this the leadership we can anticipate for the next 39 Legislative days?

This measure, likewise, is in gross violation of Joint Rule 14 which we adopted on our 4th Legislative day and which is printed on page 74 of our House Journal.

By a unanimous vote, we adopted this new joint rule regarding the creation of Fiscal Notes whereby any bill or resolution introduced into either House having an effect of $5,000 or more on the revenues, expenditures or fiscal liability of the state, except appropriations measures carrying specific dollar amounts, shall have a fiscal note attached as herein provided.

I pose two questions: "Where is the fiscal note?" and secondly, "How can a fiscal note be prepared for a measure that is a nullity?" A measure, if you please, that has left blank spaces in lieu of specific figures.

In order to be responsive to this important issue, in order that we might position ourselves to properly represent the taxpayer of North Dakota, I submit we have to approach this important issue in the arena of "specifics" and not that of blank spaces.

I would appreciate an explanation concerning the matter."

Rep. Wastvedt thanked the Assembly for plant and good wishes received while in the hospital.

Rep. Giffey moved that the absent members be excused, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Giffey moved that the House stand adjourned, which motion prevailed.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY AFTER RECESS AND TWENTY-THIRD DAY

Bismarck, January 27, 1965

The House convened at 1:00 p.m., pursuant to motion of Rep. Giffey.

Speaker Link announced that the House would be at ease to receive the North Dakota Legion Band and for the program.

Speaker Link introduced Lt. Gov. Tighe.

Rep. Stallman moved that the presiding officer appoint a committee of four to escort Mr. Jack Williams to the rostrum, which motion prevailed and Senators Kautzmann and Lashkowitz, and Reps. Olienyk and Stallman were appointed as such committee by the Lt. Governor.

Senator Torgerson: "Hon. Gov. Wm. Guy, Lt. Gov. Tighe, Speaker Link, Members of the Legislature, Fellow Legionnaires, and Friends. This is Jack Williams Day. I am proud and honored to take part in our program honoring our good and true friend, Jack Williams, Adjutant of the North Dakota Department of the American Legion.

We have with us today, the famous North Dakota American Legion Band, and now will be favored with a number by them."

Number by the band.

At this time it gives me great pleasure to introduce former State Representative Donald Loder, a member of the North Dakota American Legion Band — Donald Loder.

Rep. Loder: "Thank you. Governor Guy, Platform Guests, Members of the Legislature, Ladies and Gentlemen. "As you probably all know, the Legion Band is happy to perform before the state legislature. We appeared here two years ago.

"The Legion Band was organized in 1921. We are happy to have two of the original members still with the band — our director Ed (Shave) Green, and Rudy Hoefs, who plays baritone.

"We are happy to be here to honor our State Adjutant, who has always been a friend of the band and worked for us, always helping to get us to the national convention. And we are sure he is going to be working with us in the future."

Senator Torgerson: "I am honored to introduce Senator Edwin Becker, and American Legion member."

Senator Becker: "Lt. Governor Tighe, Speaker Link, Honored Guest Jack Williams, Senator Torgerson, Legion Band Members, Fellow Legislators and Friends of Jack Williams. I am honored to have been asked to participate in this program honoring our good friend Jack Williams.

I have learned to know and cherish the friendship of this man who is honored and respected by thousands of Veterans, Legionnaires and their families, not only in North Dakota, but in all areas of the United States.

Jack Williams, we are honoring you today because we want you to know that we forever appreciate the uncountable good deeds you have performed for those of us who belong to the American Legion and for all Veterans and their families.

We today note with enthusiasm and sincerity the fact that you have been Department Adjutant of the North Dakota Department of the American Legion during the entire history of the Department, and in that capacity, you have been a prime builder of the Great American Legion we have in North Dakota today.

You are the only Department Adjutant in the entire National organization who has been active in that position continuously since 1919.

You have worked untiringly in the establishment and growth of Veterans Hospitalization in North Dakota and have constantly strived for the continued improvement of Veterans benefits and services. You are one of the pioneers in developing the American Legion Baseball program throughout the nation which has grown to include more than 16,000 teams a year.

This year we are especially proud because the anniversary of the birth of this outstanding American Legion Baseball Program will be celebrated with the National finals in the Dakotas.

The 1953 session of the North Dakota legislature, in an unprecedented action, expressed its gratitude and appreciation to you for your many years of service in this great American cause.

Jack Williams, the prayers and best wishes of all the thousands of your friends are with you today, more than they have been at any time in your long career of service to a cause we all believe in. May God Bless You and give you the health and continued wisdom to remain the faithful servant we have learned to know and to love."

Senator Torgerson: "I have known Jack Williams for a long time and having had the privilege of serving as Department Commander of the North Dakota American Legion, I have learned to know Mr. Williams well. And when I served in this capacity, I really found out why Jack Williams has earned the title 'Mr. American Legion.' He has proved to be an outstanding person who has always had this philosophy—'What can I do for my fellowmen?' JACK, WILL YOU PLEASE COME FORWARD.

On behalf of the 39th Legislative Assembly, it is indeed an honor and a pleasure for me to present you with this plaque, a token of our appreciation to a great American — and this is the inscription on the plaque: To Jack Williams from the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota in recognition of a lifetime of service to his State, Nation and Fellowmen, and given with respect and esteem of the Legislative Assembly — 1965."

Number by the band.

Senator Torgerson: "I wish to thank former State Representative Donald Loder, Senator Edwin Becker, the Members of the American Legion Band, Bill Sweeney, Manager, Shave Green, Director, and everyone who helped to make this program possible.

And now I ask Lieutenant Governor Tighe to take over."

Rep. Stallman moved that the remarks of Jack Williams and Donald Loder be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Jack Williams: "Governor Guy, Lt. Governor Tighe, Speaker Link, Members of the 39th Legislative Assembly, and my Fellow Americans. Under ordinary circumstances I could make a speech on anything at any time.

"I never was more happy nor more surprised than I am at this moment, but I would like to say to all of you that I first came to a legislative session in 1919 — a special session.

"It has been my good fortune to have attended all of them since then. In 1962 I was a little late in getting here as I had a heart attack but I made it so my record is complete.

"And now I would like to say to the members of this legislature and to the citizens of Bismarck and North Dakota, that I have seen many men and women serve in the House and Senate — many fine people — devoted people — working for their honest beliefs, who had the courage of their convictions. Many of them have passed on. And never in my memory, and I had personal associations with all of them when I used to stay out here for all 60 days of the session — never have I found one whose word was not good; who was not honorable and not trying to do what he thought in his own mind, was best for the State of North Dakota. And that includes the various Governors that I have had the pleasure of knowing, and working with — that goes way back to Governor Lynn Frazier. They have all been honorable men and women who tried hard, and willingly, to represent their state. They were conscientious and helped to make our state a better place to live.

"Now, Ladies and Gentlemen, I don't wish to take up any more of your time.

"How could anyone be happier than I am at this moment to have on the platform, Governor Guy, Lt. Governor Tighe, Speaker Link, and Members from the House and Senate, and to say how much I appreciate this plaque given to me and to say "Thank you" from the bottom of my heart."

Rep. Hertz moved that the joint session be adjourned, which motion prevailed.

The House was called to order by Speaker Link.

Rep. Giffey moved that the Senate be asked to return House Bill No. 602 which was erroneously messaged over, which motion prevailed.

House Concurrent Resolution "N". A concurrent resolution relating to the disclosure of personal financial interest in legislation by members of the legislative assembly.

Was read the first time, and was referred to the Committee on General Affairs.

Rep. Winge: "Speaker Link: I received an invitation from the Grain Dealers Association to attend their annual convention in Fargo yesterday.

"Upon consultation with our Speaker we made arrangements to take the Highway Department plane down because of the number of experts there. Such a panel never could have been at a committee meeting of the legislature so we decided it was best to go and see what they had to say as their main theme was transportation.

"These were the men we had on the panel.

9:10 a.m. — Panel — "A LOOK AT AREA TRANSPORTATION"

MODERATOR: Herbert W. Herbison, Extension Marketing Economist, NDSU

PANEL MEMBERS:

Russell Dudley, Chairman, Transportation Comm., Minneapolis Grain Exchange, Minneapolis

John Agrey, Traffic Director, Public Service Commission, Bismarck

John Finsness, Commerce Counsel, Chamber of Commerce, Fargo

Ernest Hanson, Traffic Director, Chamber of Commerce, Grand Forks

Fritz Ottem, President, National Malting Barley Association, Osnabrock

2:10 p.m. — Panel — "TRANSPORTATION PERSPECTIVES"

MODERATOR: Dr. Fred Taylor, Professor and Chairman, Agricultural Economics, NDSU

Vince Brown, Vice President, Great Northern Railroad, St. Paul Minnesota

Edward L. Boisseree, Hearing Examiner, Bureau of Rates and Practices, ICC, Washington, D. C.

Clifford Pulvermacher, Director of Sales and Purchases, ASCS, USDA, Washington, D. C.

Edgar Freimuth, Assistant Port Director, Seaway Port Authority, Duluth

"I am certain the information given by these on the panel was desired by every one and I want to thank the Highway Department for the use of the plane and to thank you for letting us go and take part. This will be something that can be used by us on the Transportation Committee for sometime."

Rep. Duncan: "Mr. Speaker: I, too, would like to thank you for being excused yesterday so that I could go to the meeting of the North Dakota Grain Dealers Association meeting in Fargo. The theme of the meeting was transportation and freight rates.

"Freight rates are very pertinent to the farmers and to every citizen in the State of North Dakota as this is a producing state and an exporting state so freight rates are very, very important to us. Some work has been done with the railroads on a reduced export rate on wheat to the West coast. The freight rate was $1.34 per 100 pounds to Portland, Oregon and other Northwest coast ports. Some of the railroads have reduced the rate to 95¢, which is an export rate, as our wheat moves into the export market. We are now asking for an export rate of 75¢ so that we can compete in the foreign markets, for instance, Japan. We feel that this way we could compete with Canada for this market and also the Southern states, for instance, Kansas, which already has a reduced export rate.

"I would like to say that North Dakota's spring wheat and durum is of the highest quality and is in demand in this foreign market if we could get an export rate that would allow us to compete in this market. It is very important to the economy of North Dakota and I would urge this 39th legislature to go on record as recommending this export freight rate for North Dakota wheat and durum."

Rep. Stockman moved the remarks of James Leahy be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Dear Otto:

I read in the Forum
Your latest poem,
It made me homesick
To want to come home.

There is lots of news
From Bismarck, I see
And the problems are about
The same as in '63.

The Colleges need more money
And the Judges do too,
But the home folks want to pay less
When their taxes are due.

Streibel has invited the Governor
To a G.O.P. Caucus
I suppose some of the Republicans
Are raising a ruckus.

The Republicans are asking the people
What taxes they like to pay.
But that won't make much difference
Unless McCarney gets his way.

Stallman wants to get Reapportionment
A rolling,
And there are lots of different plans
But I haven't seen one by Poling.

We need a separate Labor Department,
Don Hertz will say.
I bet Aamoth's vote
Will be "nay".

The voters will be registered
If Brown has his way,
And Powers says the women
Need equal pay.

San Diego's weather is sunny
Warm and clear.
I see North Dakota is an
Icebox this year.

There will be no more poems
Says Otto Hauf,
And this will be the only one
From Jim Leahy, the College Prof.

Even with Link at the helm
 And Giffey in control,
 I'd like to be back
 To answer the roll.

Sincerely,

JAMES E. LEAHY
 Assistant Professor
 School of Law
 California Western University
 San Diego, California

TWENTY-SIXTH DAY AFTER RECESS AND TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY

Bismarck, February 1, 1965

The House reconvened at 1:00 p.m., pursuant to the motion of Rep. Giffey.

Speaker Link announced that the House would be on the fourth order of business.

Speaker Link read a communication from Governor Guy concerning winter range condition in western North Dakota and making recommendations for relief thereof in accordance with the following message.

SPECIAL MESSAGE

to 39th Session of the Legislature

Mr. Speaker:

Winter storms of unusual severity and cumulative damage cause me to communicate this urgent request to you for consideration by the membership of the 39th Session of the North Dakota Legislature.

A widespread storm over much of western North Dakota on November 26, 1964, left a blanket of heavy snow over the usual winter grazing ranges. Subsequent warm weather and light rains followed by a sharp freeze made this snow-fall on impenetrable crust through which livestock are unable to dig for feed.

On December 15, 16, and 17, 1964, the most severe blizzard in modern history struck the southwestern portion of the state. Fine snow, high winds and very low temperatures killed and crippled livestock by the thousands and left roads, yards and feed supplies locked in abnormally solid drifts. These drifts are so large and so solid that they cannot be worked with light snow-removal equipment.

Livestock losses daily are a part of the lingering toll which can be expected to continue right through the critical weeks of spring when cows suffering from improper nutrition will be dropping weakened calves. The calves which live will in many cases be suckled by cows in severely run-down condition. New snow and constant drifting have made cuts deeper and hay supplies more firmly locked in snow.

The counties of Hettinger, Adams, Slope, Bowman, Golden Valley, Billings, McKenzie, Stark, Grant and Sioux have been declared disaster areas by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman. This designation was requested by the County Disaster Committee in each county. This committee is made up of the chairman of the County ASCS Committee, the County Agent, and County Farm Home Administration Supervisor. The requests of the County Disaster Committee are reviewed, and then confirmed or rejected by the State Disaster Committee, made up of the counterparts at the state level of the members of the County Committees.

The Governor then certifies to the Secretary of Agriculture the findings of the State Disaster Committee. The USDA disaster relief program includes 3% non-secured FHA loans, and a feed supply program at less than support prices for specified daily rations to foundation livestock herds.

The railroads serving the counties south and west of the Missouri River responded to my request for lowered freight rates on grain delivered to all counties south and west of the Missouri River. The reduced rate went into effect on January 1, 1965.

A federal aid program for disaster relief through the office of Emergency Planning, as set forth in Public Law 875, operates directly under the office of the President of the United States. Any state which seeks to qualify under this federal program must first spend a specified amount of non-federal funds in coping with a disaster. This amount of non-federal expenditure is established by a formula. The amount set for North Dakota is $350,000. This extraordinary expenditure of non-federal funds can be made up of cumulative sums expended by counties, townships, school districts, the State and other political subdivisions.

Because of the gravity of conditions caused by the heavy accumulations of snow and because of the danger that exists to isolated families, prompt attention to their plight will be required. The serious economic losses to our livestock industry are widespread enough to warrant an early attack on the problem of moving feed and livestock together. Conditions will undoubtedly remain precarious for six weeks or more.

I recommend that you take the following action:

1.) Appropriate $350,000 to a Disaster Relief Fund for the 1966 biennium with an emergency clause attached. This sum would be available to meet disaster emergencies not anticipated by any other state budget. This sum should be administered by the State Emergency Commission.

2.) Authorize the Emergency Commission to establish direct disaster aid on such matching basis as it may deem proper through such state agencies as are appropriate to meet the needs for prompt effective action.

3.) Make changes in our statutes which would permit the Emergency Commission to appropriate money from the Contingency Fund to any state budget in excess of the present ten percent limitation, if the emergency were of a disaster nature requiring extraordinary expenditures by that state budget in order to effectively cope with the disaster.

The need is urgent for legislative action to cope with the present snow conditions.

Respectfully recommended,
WILLIAM L. GUY
Governor

TWENTY-NINTH DAY

Bismarck, February 2, 1965

The House convened at 2:00 p.m. with Speaker Link presiding.

Prayer was offered by Rev. George E. Amundsen, St. Paul Lutheran Church of Center, North Dakota.

Roll call: All members present except Reps. Bergman, and Johnson of Billings.

Line 42, page 323, add the following: "The question was now on the adoption of the committee report, which motion prevailed."

Change "Tuesday" to "Monday" at the top of pages.

And when so corrected recommends that the same be approved.

REP. OPEDAHL, Chairman

Rep. Froeschle moved that the report be adopted, which motion prevailed and the report was adopted.

Rep. Streibel asked that his remarks be printed in the House Journal, which permission was given.

Rep. Streibel: "The proposal of the 3% sales tax by the Democratic majority in the House represents a confession of error in judgment in the area of tax policy. The elimination of the personal property tax in North Dakota is too important a piece of legislation to be handled by over-night caucus action.

This, coupled with the repeal of the personal property tax, general withholding, establishment of an income tax filing fee, the elimination of medical expenses and federal income tax payments as a deduction for state income tax filing, the lowering of personal exemption for husband and wife from $1500 to $1200, the increase in income tax rates, the increase on insurance premium tax, the re-vamping of the classification of utilities and lease site property, the upward readjustment of the corporation income tax schedule, and the broadening of the sales tax to include every transaction, product and service to the point where it should more properly be termed a "Labor Tax", represents a tax reform package that has far too reaching an effect on the taxpayers and political subdivisions of our state to be approached in this manner.

This latest addition to the so-called "Tax Package" has obviously been offered in haste for political gain on the part of the Democrat majority in the House. We of the Republican Minority in the House want to call the attention of the taxpayers of North Dakota to the impact this will have on their pocketbook.

The elimination of the personal property tax will eliminate approximately 35 million dollars in local revenue. No workable formula has been advanced to properly reallocate this back to the local political subdivisions; considering only 5.8% of this goes to the state and 94.2% to local government this could raise havoc with locally financed programs. The same can be said for the re-allocation of the utility and lease site tax dollar.

I wonder how the low and middle income wage earner will feel toward paying an additional 35 million dollars in taxes that he previously contributed only a small part to. This is what the taxpayer of North Dakota has today as a result of this frantic action on the part of the Democrat House majority:

1. A 20 million dollar increase in expenditures by the Governor while still leaving a 7 million dollar deficit in appropriations over anticipated revenue.

2. A $1,500,000 deficit in the replacement of the Personal Property tax with a one-cent sales tax.

3. A state budget that will approximate 157 million dollars, an increase of 55 million dollars over the last biennium.

On January 25 the Governor told a Republican House caucus that the sales tax was a, quote, "regressive tax". The complete broadening of the sales tax coupled with the major shift of tax responsibility will deal a financial blow to the low, middle and fixed income groups that will be drastically "regressive".

We commend the House Democrat-NPL majority for their "change of heart", which I feel certain was brought about by Republican questionnaires and Republican concern for taxpayer sentiment.

What will happen to the financing of the local bond issues? Will real estate assume all bonded indebtedness? These are only a few of the questions the people of North Dakota are asking because of a major tax shift motivated by a political caucus in a 12th-hour desperation move to save political face."

EIGHTH ORDER OF BUSINESS

Rep. Hauf moved that the remarks of Rep. Giffey be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Giffey: "There were remarks made yesterday on the floor of this house regarding the proposal of the Democratic-Nonpartisan League majority to establish a 1-cent sales tax for a special personal property replacement fund that would provide for the total elimination of personal property taxes in 1966.

If you will refer to House Bill 693, you will note that the majority party expressed its intention over a week ago (Jan. 21) to eliminate the personal property tax from the tax structure of this state.

We are as serious today about achieving that objective as were were when House Bill 693 was introduced.

The Democratic-Nonpartisan League has been long recognized as the guardian of the interests of the working folks, the farmers and the small businessman.

Our concern for the wage earners has been well-demonstrated in past sessions of the legislative assembly.

In the 1959 session, the Democratic-NPL supported a 75-cent minimum wage. The Republican majority killed it.

In 1961 and in 1963, we supported a $1.00 minimum wage. The Republican majority killed it.

In 1961, we supported a separate labor department. It was passed by the Senate but killed by the house majority.

In 1963, we supported a separate labor department. It was killed by the house majority.

As a rule, the Democratic-NPL membership has supported measures for wage-earners and they have been killed by the Republican majority party at that time.

The Democratic-Nonpartisan League regards the income tax as the tax that is most equitable in that it best reflects the ability of a person to pay taxes and share the cost of public responsibilities.

The Democratic-Nonpartisan League has a history of being opposed to regressive taxes, such as personal property taxes and sales taxes.

We will continue to be the guardian of the working folks, the farmers and the small businessman and we will continue in our efforts to minimize the impact of regressive taxes in our tax structure.

Statements made by some leaders in the Republican party and attempts to secure loaded answers to loaded questionnaires indicated to us that the Republican party was more interested in increasing the amount of regressive taxes in the tax structure and in protecting those individuals and organizations that have the ability to pay.

We noted that there have been no positive statements or no positive proposals on the part of the minority membership of this house to eliminate the personal property tax. We also noted that the minority proposed an increase in the sales tax for general state revenue.

In analyzing the situation, we came to the conclusion that the minority, in proposing the regressive sales tax for state revenue, was attempting to close off all hopes of eliminating the personal property tax in this session, in 1967 or at any time in the future.

In view of this situation, we decided to accelerate our tax reform program by moving up our goals for eliminating the regressive personal property taxes in 1966 by tying up the additional one per cent sales tax for that purpose.

I believe, if the minority had its way in this session, it would increase the sales tax, reduce the income tax, and leave the working man, the farmer and the small businessman with no relief whatever from other regressive taxes. The Democratic-NPL membership has no intention of standing aside while this sort of a tax patchwork was being executed.

In our estimation, it is better to give the taxpayers some relief from regressive taxes by eliminating the personal property taxes than to offer them nothing and pile up the regressive taxes in our tax structure.

I detected in the comments made yesterday a genuine opposition to repeal of the personal property taxes. The same old stalling proposals and questions were raised.

If we are going to give property tax relief, then this relief is going to have to come from the state tax sources. This means that any time there is going to be replacement from the state level, there is naturally going to be an increase in the state budget. The figure of $157 million does not frighten me when I know that $35 million of it is going for tax replacement and is not being used for money at the state level.

If our only purpose was to prevent increases in the state budget merely for the purpose of preventing increases, then personal property tax elimination is forever ruled out of the thinking of the legislative assembly.

The method of returning this replacement money has been developed and will be refined in each new legislative assembly. We intend to use an average of the past three years of money collected by every political subdivision and return the money, dollar for dollar, to school districts, townships, cities, counties and every other levying district. We intend to deduct the administrative costs of assessing personal property taxes.

Maybe this approach will not meet with the approval of different individuals in this assembly but at least it is a beginning on a program that should have been started years ago when the minority party of today was the majority party then.

The matter of bonded indebtedness has already been considered. A constitutional amendment, embodied in Senate Concurrent Resolution "L", provides for increased bonding capacities for political subdivisions. House Bill 836, considered in committee yesterday, provides the statutory machinery for paying off future bond issues from revenue other than property taxes. Careful thought on our method of replacement will reveal that increases in property taxes to pay off existing bonded indebtedness will not be necessary.

Our basic intention in accelerating our personal property repeal program is to prevent anyone from juggling the state tax structure to increase the regressive taxes without elimination of other regressive taxes. The minority party understands very well that this is our purpose.

We promised the people of this state that we would provide for the elimination of the personal property taxes. We intend to do everything we can to achieve this objective. We will not accept more study, more complications and more confusion. We want action and we intend to see that this session keeps faith with the people."

Rep. Fossum moved that the prepared remarks of Rep. Streibel be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Streibel: "In answer to Rep. Giffey's charges that Republicans oppose a minimum wage law, I wish to take this occasion to inform him that I, along with other Republican members of the House, are on a minimum wage bill, the prime sponsor of what is Rep. Hertz.

With regard to the creation of a separate labor department, a Senate Bill sponsored by Senate Republicans does call for the establishment of a separate labor department. The only difference is the manner of selection of the Labor Commissioner.

The accusation that we oppose the elimination of the personal property tax—I wish to attention you to the fact that our policy committee early in the session came out for the elimination of 6F, 7, 8 and 9.

We repeat, how can a Sunday night and Monday morning political caucus adequately come up with a tax plan at a so called 12th hour.

The Chief Executive of our great state in his annual message to this body cautioned us on the following, and I quote from his message:

"I would like to furnish you with a greater refinement of information in tax matters. However, neither my office nor any other office in state government has adequate staff to conduct tax research.

In order that continuing tax research be conducted, I recommend that a Tax Institute be established in the Bureau of Business Research at the University of North Dakota. This Institute would be the repository for tax information and data from our state and our sister states. The direction of tax research performed by the Tax Institute should be under the Legislative Research Committee. Only through careful study can we achieve a continual improvement in taxing equity and taxing methods."

What provision has been made for financing the Medical School at the University of North Dakota?

What provision has been made to supplement the 21 mill County Levy for educational financing?

What will happen to financing base of all local bond issues?

Why build up a reserve from the additional 1¢ sales tax from July 1, 1965 to January 1, 1967, at which time the first payment is due. Our agricultural economy in North Dakota is depressed enough without allowing a 15 or 16 million dollar reserve to build up. The best place to keep this money is in the taxpayer's pocket, at least as long as possible, rather than the State Treasury.

Real Estate Taxes have been thrust into the spotlight for the first time this session. The people of North Dakota must be appraised of this and the hour is short indeed. This is a direct result of the frantic reform advanced by the majority. It amazes me no end that a partisan political caucus, which has been thrust into the corner of embarrassment, can over night come up with the formulas and answers that tax experts, economic advisors and experienced leaders in Government, on a bi-partisan approach, have failed to uncover after four or more years of exhaustive study and research.

There is little disagreement that taxes on real property has reached a saturation point, a point of diminishing return, if you please. Yet, the majority of this House have seen fit to completely disregard this fact of life.

Is it out of order for this body to begin to concern itself with frugal "tax and finance management"? Is it too old fashioned that this House take heed of the one who will feel the impact the greatest, the taxpayer?

We have had thrust upon us a so called "tax reform package" that has ramifications innumerable, implications unknown and consequences that could be concerning indeed.

We are concerning ourselves in this session with the greatest demand for increased expenditures this state has ever known. Shall political expediency receive priority or shall common sense judgment and appraisal be allowed to prevail to the benefit of all North Dakota?"

I do not believe that the majority of the voters of the State of North Dakota have elected us to this body for that purpose.

I would hope that hereafter this body concerns itself with the needs and desires of the people of North Dakota and not demean itself to settling matters between labor and management."

EIGHTH ORDER OF BUSINESS

Rep. Harrison moved that the remarks of Rep. Jungroth be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Jungroth: "Fifty years ago this month, a political movement which grew into national proportions was born in the State of North Dakota.

The political history of the United States will record a deserving place for the part played by people of North Dakota in the founding of the Nonpartisan League back in the year 1915. North Dakotans can be proud of the fact that from the Nonpartisan League of 1915 and 1916 there sprang two great political parties of the Midwest — the Farmer-Labor Party in Minnesota and the Progressive Party in Wisconsin.

As the 50th anniversary of the birth of the NPL is taking place this year, it is fitting that the origin of the League was brought to public attention in a recent Minot Daily News article. Writing in the February 1 Daily News, columnist Dick Dobson had this to say on the founding of the Nonpartisan League:

LEAGUE LAUNCHED HALF-CENTURY AGO

By Dick Dobson

Fifty years ago this month, the Nonpartisan League, last of the historic and colorful agrarian protest movements, was born in North Dakota.

The NPL arose from the same discontent that produced the old Grange, the Greenback party, the Farmers Alliance, the Populist party and the other political action organizations which swept the Midwest in the late 19th Century.

Always a fertile ground for agricultural agitation, North Dakota first rebelled in 1892 by going for the Populist presidential candidate, Gen. James B. Weaver.

As the old movements rose and fell, the embers of agrarian progressivism continued glowing in North Dakota until they burst into a full-scale political prairie fire in 1915.

Those flames, which spread into 13 states before they were extinguished, sprang up when North Dakota's 1915 Legislature declined to approve construction of a state-owned terminal elevator.

They were fanned by a state representative named Treadwell Twichell, who purportedly told a large delegation of farmers lobbying for the bill to "go home and slop the hogs."

Whether by design or chance, Arthur C. Townley, a one-time Socialist organizer and a bankrupt flax farmer, chose this propitious moment to launch the Nonpartisan League.

Townley had mulled over the idea of nonpartisan political action through control of the primary elections for some time, but it apparently was an associate of his, A. E. Bowen, who first advocated the plan.

Townley, then residing in Minot, drove the short distance to Deering in late February 1915 to "sell" Fred B. Wood, a prominent leader in the Equity Co-operative Exchange, on the idea.

In his book on the NPL, Robert L. Morlan said Townley got "a not too enthusiastic greeting" upon arrival at the Wood farm. He continued:

"Mr. Wood and his two grown sons, Howard and Edwin, had heard many schemes of how to save the farmer, but their interest mounted as they listened to this intense young man who eagerly explained his plans until far into the night.

"F. B. Wood thought the whole proposition fantastic and unworkable, but Townley kept after him for three or four days, when at last youth, if not age, was won over.

"Late one evening, Howard Wood and Townley scribbled a brief 'platform' on a scrap of paper by the light of a kerosene lamp in the kitchen of the Wood farm, and early the next morning they started out in a bobsled to talk to neighbors, Howard handling the introductions and Townley giving the sales talk."

The story of the NPL in its heyday from 1916, when it won control of state government, until 1921, when the governor and other key office-holders were re-called, is well known.

One monographer credited it with bringing a "New Deal" to North Dakota when Franklin D. Roosevelt was only an obscure official in the U.S. Navy Department.

At its peak, the NPL had 200,000 dues-paying members. It evolved into the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota and joined with the Progressive party in Wisconsin.

After crumbling as a national organization, the NPL still continued with occasional success in North Dakota. For 25 years, it was a personal vehicle of the late William Langer.

In 1956, the League broke its nominal Republican moorings and merged with the Democratic party, a union which has produced new election triumphs.

Although the NPL is little more than a paper organization today, having been fully absorbed into Democratic machinery, it will live on, in name if not in fact.

The Nonpartisan League after 50 years is as native to the North Dakota political landscape as smoke-filled rooms and bombastic campaign oratory.

DONNELL HAUGEN, Chief Clerk

THIRTY-SECOND DAY AFTER RECESS AND THIRTY-THIRD DAY

Bismarck, February 6, 1965

The House reconvened at 1:00 p.m., pursuant to the motion of Rep. Giffey with Speaker Link presiding.

The Speaker announced that the House would be on the eighth order of business.

Rep. Streibel moved that the Speaker appoint a committee of two to escort Hon. Milton Young to the rostrum which motion prevailed and Reps. Knudsen and Krenz were appointed.

Senator Young addressed the House.

Rep. Giffey moved that Senator Young's remarks be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Senator Young was introduced by Speaker Link.

Senator Young: "Mr. Speaker and Members: I didn't think when I was sworn into this body, 32 winters ago and 32 pounds lighter, that I would be back here now. My service here was my happiest years of my life, as I said in the Senate — I really enjoyed it. Those memories will stay with me all my life. I consider this more my home than the United States Senate.

There are a little different situations here than we deal with in the U.S. Senate but those you deal with are just as touchy in many respects and sometimes more so.

I note you are having the same budget problems that we had back in 1933 but yours are not as tough as ours were then. Our total budget in 1933 was $4,244,000 to operate on for a two-year period. That is all the money we had. I remember that someone from Sioux County testified that they didn't even have enough collected to buy postage stamps to mail letters, let alone pay their officials.

We got $5.00 a day. I paid $2.00 for a room and the other $3.00 went for laundry, eating and refreshments. One thing about the refreshments is that we didn't import them as they were mostly home made.

If I could be permitted just one thought — it would be this: I follow you fellows very closely. I get the daily papers and I follow what you are doing almost more closely than what we are doing — especially when my friend, Rep. Hauf, talks about "federal matching."

When we get through with this session, you will have more problems trying to keep track of the federal programs requiring matching.

One item that I think you are interested in — and I am — We have gone quite a way in making the State University one of the best research centers in the United States, with three million for a research laboratory. We have a very fine state laboratory and research programs there.

Another law passed a year ago permits you to match federal funds in construction of research facilities and equipment, and this is one of the finest research laboratories in the United States.

Some states, about 4 or 5 years ago, embarked on a fair sized program. The University of Nebraska for example is one. One thing they found was an edible plastic. Today they are building a million and a half program to make edible plastic. We know now that plastics can be made from farm surplus — just as strong as steel.

I have been ranking Republican for sixteen years on the Appropriation Committee and I know their feeling is to be more inclined to appropriate money for research in states where there is sizeable matching for the reasons that there must be more interest evidenced there in this kind of research. And I think there is research done more for agricultural programs than all the other programs put together including farm price supports.

One of the most interesting subjects that I have to deal with on any committee, is that dealing with the CIA — the Central Intelligence Agency. The appropriation for the CIA is several times the amount of all other appropriations all together. Because of the secret nature of the agency, we have to bury some of this appropriation in other items. Only six members on each side know what is appropriated and where it is buried. So if you think some items are excessive, we may have buried some of the appropriation for CIA there. And it is not only that CIA is a secret operation but they do a lot of research. After the U-2 incident, CIA embarked on a program to build a new plane to replace the U-2. President Johnson has announced that we spent a million dollars and the speed is secret but it is in excess of two thousand miles and height of 90,000 feet for military service and in the interest of reconnaissance.

This is only one phase. Last fall I went around the world. This is an advantage of being on the Appropriations Committee. You may get travel orders at any time to go any place. In fact the chairman will urge you to visit these installations. One of the most interesting places I have visited was one in the Far East. This is one of our more important installations. They took me over in a military plane and when we landed they handed me a couple of pictures they had taken. I asked where they had got them and they said they had a camera lens in a plane about a block away and took the picture. This was the most fascinating place I ever visited; just a dot on a letter could mean a message of three or four paragraphs.

This is just rambling but this is one of the most interesting parts of that particular committee.

It doesn't seem like 32 years ago since I first came here. There is not a single member left here who was here 32 years ago and only three or four left here who were here when I left 20 years ago.

In the Senate I am the 14th ranking member over all and the 4th ranking Republican. The years really do move on — the only one I can remember right now is Grandma Smith and I think she rode that horse into Bismarck, 32 years ago!

Thank you!"

Rep. Streibel moved that the Speaker appoint a committee of two to escort Congressman Andrews to the rostrum, which motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed Reps. Powers of Cass and Hilleboe.

The Speaker introduced Congressman Andrews.

Rep. Giffey moved that the remarks of Congressman Andrews be placed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Andrews: "Mr. Speaker and Members: This is one of the finest things that can be offered a person — to be asked to speak to the legislature in your home state.

One of the things I have not done is to serve in the legislature.

You folks do a wonderful job in building a stronger North Dakota and providing better opportunities for all.

Actually, all folks in politics are interested in the legislature. One of my dearest friends who is a long time member of this body who I don't see here today, Miss Brynhid Haugland, said to me a few years ago "Mark, you better run for state office some time." I never knew whether her judgment was right or wrong.

We came back here from Washington after hearing about how cold the weather was in North Dakota. Senator Young and I stepped off the plane and found the weather warmer than it had been in Washington. I assume, Mr. Speaker, that this is perhaps a change back in North Dakota. I guess we people in office are kind of used to having the heat turned on but it is a privilege to be working in Congress or in the legislature out here. When we serve in these bodies after we have gone through a campaign and when we get into the legislature, we forget all about political parties and work for the best interest of North Dakota.

I think we have to recognize that our state has many opportunities and we all share of course a great privilege and a great responsibility.

Thank you for the opportunity to have been able to talk to you for a few minutes today."

Rep. Aamoth moved that House Bill No. 806 be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Solberg asked for five minutes recess for Committee on Appropriations, which was granted.

Rep. Solberg: "The House has just passed House Bill No. 504 which carries with it an appropriation of $350,000.00, for construction of an auditorium at the Grafton State School. This building, which has been sorely needed is largely the result of the efforts of a member of this House, who has pointed out this need for many sessions.

Having served with this man on the Appropriation Committee for many years, I can say that his sympathy and compassion is not limited to this school but extends to all the penal and charitable institutions that house our unfortunate people in North Dakota. As busy as we are, I think we should pause a moment to pay tribute to this man and I request that the chief clerk read Resolution "R-1" at this time."

Rep. Solberg introduced:

House Concurrent Resolution "R-1". A concurrent resolution directing the board of administration to name the auditorium to be constructed at the Grafton State School after Representative Wilfred Collette.

Was read the first time.

REP. BELQUIST, Chairman

Rep. Haugland moved that the report be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Burk requested that his remarks on House Bill No. 805 be printed in the House Journal.

Rep. Burk: "House Bill 805 which I introduced myself was a bill for the abolishment of the State Laboratories Department.

The State Laboratories Department is a department to analyze foods, drugs, oils and compounds to make sure that such items are not of inferior quality.

Under the terms of the law the State Laboratories Department is supposed to inspect food and drugs, narcotics, poisons, oleo-margarine, imitation ice cream, eggs, beverages, cosmetics, petroleum products, insecticides, commercial feeding stuffs, paints and varnishes, livestock medicine, commercial fertilizers, flour and bread standards. The law provides for the maintaining of a State Laboratories Department at Bismarck and makes the sheriff the local inspector. In addition, the Department maintains a number of field inspectors. The Department has been under heavy criticism in recent years.

I find that the State Board of Pharmacy has taken over the inspection of narcotics and drugs, the Livestock Sanitary Board has taken over the inspection of livestock medicines. As to liquors, these liquors are first inspected by the Federal Government and then re-inspected by the State Laboratories Department. Laboratory employees admit privately that their re-inspection is unnecessary. The duplicate inspection of the Laboratories Department of hotels, motels, and tourist courts has been justly subject to heavy criticism. These facilities are inspected by the State Laboratories Department and re-inspected by the State Health Department in all areas where there are district health units. It is hard to understand why oleo-margarine should be inspected by the Laboratories Dept. and the labels on butter inspected by the field force of the Dairy Commissioner when the oleomargarine and butter are in the same shelf in the supermarket.

The State Laboratories Department inspects samples of gasoline. An independent oil distributor in North Dakota testified before the committee that he pays about $1800.00 per year in fees for having his products inspected but not a single inspector has been at any of his places of businesses or inspected any of his products for three years. He justly wonders why he was required to pay about $5400.00 in fees without a single inspection. The amount collected from the petroleum industry is about a quarter of a million dollars a year. The State Laboratories Department admits that in the past three years it has found only one sample of gasoline with a lower octane content than the standard required. It seems to me that the collection of three quarters of a million dollars when you find only one sample of defective gasoline cannot be justified under any circumstances.

The committee has determined that my bill should be indefinitely postponed. I realize that attempting to abolish a long established department and to greatly decrease its size, presents an insurmountable task. I therefore am not making a substitute motion to place the bill on the calendar.

One of the employees of the State Laboratories testified before the committee that management in his department left much to be desired. I hope that the State Laboratories Commission will see fit to eliminate all the duplicate inspections and consolidate the functions of the Department into the Department being a laboratory alone. I am sure that if we do this we can cut the appropriation of the Department by at least $100,000.00.

We should have one central laboratory in North Dakota. The resolution introduced in the House for a study on a Department of Commerce is a step toward such a central laboratory.

Since the taxpayers of North Dakota are being called upon to pay additional taxes for education, I am sure our citizens will insist that the many duplications of services which we now have in our state be eliminated."

North Dakota families made twenty-six million dollars less in 1964 than in 1963, and wheat farmers made eleven million dollars less while harvesting twenty percent more"; and recognizing that this drop in farm income was due, in large part, to the defeat of the National Wheat Referendum in 1963, although it was approved by a large majority of North Dakota farmers; and

WHEREAS, on February 3, 1965, the President made public his agricultural recommendations to the Congress, in which both the President and his administration clearly demonstrate both a knowledge of and concern for our nation's farm population, including the farm population of North Dakota; and

Whereas, having heard the President's farm message to the Congress, the members of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-ninth Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota are in further agreement with the President of the North Dakota Farmers Union in terming the President's farm message "excellent" and in stating: "We salute you as a great President, and we look forward to our role in building the great society of which you dream;" and

WHEREAS, the efforts of the President of the North Dakota Farmers Union are recognized and commended for the timely value and salutary effect on those charged with aiding President Johnson in formulating his agricultural message to Congress;

Rep. Powers of Cass:

"I have a few remarks about House Bill No. 706 and I would like to have them printed in the Journal.

Members of this assembly, I am from Cass County and I would like to state my position to Cass County and to whomever it may concern regarding this bill.

Early Monday morning I received a lot of pressure from Cass County as to my vote in committee on this bill. This report had not come out yet on the floor and all the facts were not known or given.

I was on the majority report. In committee, I was the first to say that we should support North Dakota products. I still believe this. If we do not — we cannot expect others to do it.

We had a very good and lengthy discussion on this bill. Some thought it was unfair and impossible to use North Dakota fuel — others were ignoring the law and doing it regardless. Again — I was the first to say that if there is a law that is not and cannot be enforced — then it should be repealed. I am not against the eastern part of the state which seems to be affected.

A vote was taken for indefinite postponement — I voted for this. Then the minority asked to file a report. After this notice was given — Rep. Brown asked to have the "repeal" entered into the minority report.

At once — this made two different subjects to vote on — and I also was on the minority side. At the time, it did not seem so important until the heat was turned on from Cass.

I have not changed my mind about North Dakota products — but I am going to support the minority to repeal even though I voted on the majority side — because — there is no need of a law that is not and cannot be enforced.

I hope this explanation clears the air in Cass County."

 140 months remaining in the year during which the house trailer

 155a of the
 156 county to which the collection was credited.
 157 4. All refunds shall be charged against the fund and the 157a county
 158 to which the collection was credited and a continuing 158a appropriation
 159 to pay such refunds is hereby made. The county treasurer

 166a and
 167 information and shall give notice by mail to the owner of the

167a amount
168 of tax and penalties due and that if the amount due is not paid

173 registrar shall give notice by mail to the owner, which notice
173a shall
174 be in substantially the same form as that required in the first 175 paragraph of this subsection.
176 2. If, after notice given as provided in subsection 1 of this 177 section, the owner does not pay the amount due, the registrar
177a shall
178 have available to him to enforce collection of the amount due
178a either
179 or both of the following procedures:
180 a. Institute an action in the name of the state for and on 181 behalf of the state against the person charged with such 182 tax and penalties; or

196 this act and the penalties for failure to comply. Such infor-

198 lot or property. The local law enforcement agency shall 198a make inspec-

200 where trailers are known to be located, for the purpose of 200a determining
201 if the provisions of this Act are being complied with. If he shall 202 determine that any person is not complying with the provisions 202a of
203 this act he shall give such person a warning and inform him 203a that if 204 he fails to comply within ten days after issuance of such 204a warning,
205 the registrar will take such action as is necessary to assess and 206 collect the tax and penalty due. A copy of the warning shall 206a be sent

 222a apportion
 223 and distribute to the state, the county and local taxing districts

So the motion of Rep. Streibel was declared lost.

The question was now on the motion of Rep. Harrison that the report of the majority of the Committee on Finance and Taxation be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Streibel:

"There were many propelling reasons for the introduction of House Bill No. 704, the 3% Sales Tax Measure. The people of North Dakota, more especially the retail merchants who have to administer the 2¼% law, are irritated with the ¼% and the difficulty of its application.

Another area, and one which provides even more irritation, is the wide variance in the area of service, the so-called "labor tax", to which it applies. The broadening which was applied two years ago has not been received with favor, yet there are some of us who are contemplating a blanket coverage. A coverage if you please that will be much more regressive and considerably more irritating than the ¾ths of one percent increase which House Bill No. 704 proposes.

Tourism has fast become one of the front-running catalysts in our state's economy. We have measures before us that will provide tax revenue to promote this valuable potential in our state's economy. House Bill No. 704 provides an additional avenue for tourists to contribute when they tour our state and enjoy that which it has to offer them in terms of nature and its original beauty, and the intriguing history of the old West. I pose this question, 'How will the tourist participate through the Income Tax Program?' He will contribute nothing!

Sales Tax is one of the most stable taxes we have outside of the area of property. Contrast this with the fluctuating potential of the Income Tax area. Just recently one of the Governor's close economic advisors in a talk on government financing advocated that strong consideration be given to the sales tax approach.

Sales Tax has many factors in its favor, one of which is 'ease of collection,' another 'minimum evasion,' another 'low administrative costs.' Contrast this, if you please, with the 'enforcement problems' in many areas of income tax, 'high administrative costs' in the form of personnel and IBM machine installations.

Another factor favoring the sales tax approach to financing this session is that it has always been closely allied with primary and secondary education, and this is the very area where the demands are the greatest. The people of North Dakota have long associated sales tax with educational needs.

Perhaps the post propelling reason that Sales Tax should be the approach is the people of North Dakota. Only 18 months ago they said 'No' to the very program being advanced by the majority of this House, and even today, this month, the polls show them turning it down by a four to one ratio, while at the same time asking us to consider a 3% sales tax."

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Finance and Taxation to whom was referred House Bill No. 619 has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended as follows:

In line 23 after the word "a" insert the words "sixty percent"

In line 51 after the word "a" insert the words "sixty percent"

In line 74 after the word "a" insert the words "sixty percent"

In line 97 delete the triple brackets

In line 98 insert triple brackets before the word "seven" and after the word "hundred" and insert in lieu thereof the words "four thousand"

In line 99 delete the triple brackets

In line 103 after the word "question" insert the following "except that in districts of less than four thousand, a sixty percent majority shall be required to approve"

And renumber the lines accordingly.

And when so amended recommends the same do pass.

The party bringing the action may determine if the trial jury should be informed of the trust relationship."

There is hereby imposed, and the commissioner of insurance shall collect, the following taxes on insurance companies doing business within this state:

((1. From)) a. On every insurance company doing business in this state except stock and mutual companies organized under the laws of this state, a tax equal in amount to ((two and one-half)) three per cent of the gross amount of premiums (including reinsurance premiums), considerations for annuities, membership fees, and policy fees received ((in this state during the preceding year, such tax to be payable at the time when the annual statement of business required by law is filed))) by such company upon its business done in this state;

- b. On every domestic stock and mutual company, a tax equal in amount to two percent of the gross amount of premiums (including the reinsurance premiums), considerations for annuities, membership fees, and policy fees received by such company upon its business done in this state; provided, however, that every domestic stock and mutual company shall receive credit against the tax imposed in this subsection in an amount equal to one-half of one percent of the gross amount of premiums on which a retaliatory tax is imposed by any other state by reason of the tax imposed in subsection a of this section.

((2. From))) c. On every domestic fire insurance company, whether mutual, stock, or otherwise, other than a county mutual insurance company, a tax upon its fire insurance premiums of assessments, or both, equal to one-half of one per cent of the gross premiums and assessments, less return premiums ((on all direct business)) received by it, or by its agent for it, in cash or otherwise, upon its business done in this state. Such tax shall be collected for the purpose of assisting in the maintenance of the fire marshal's department ((and shall be payable on or before April first in each year)).

2. The taxes imposed by this section are due and payable on or before September 15th of each year and are in lieu of corporate income taxes upon such insurance companies.

3. On or before September 15th of each year every company which is subject to any tax imposed by this section in respect to the year ending the preceding June 30th shall file with the commissioner of insurance an insurance premium tax return in such form as the commissioner of insurance may prescribe. Such return shall show for the year ending the preceding June 30th the gross amount of premiums (including reinsurance premiums), considerations for annuities, membership fees and policy fees received by such company upon its business done in this state during the period covered by such return, and such further information as the commissioner of insurance may require to enable him correctly to compute and collect the taxes imposed by this section; provided, however that the return required to be filed on September 15, 1965, shall be for the period beginning aJanuary 1, 1965, and ending June 30, 1965.

4 Any insurance company which fails to pay any tax imposed by this section within the time required shall be subject to a penalty of ten per cent of the amount of tax due, plus one-half of one per cent of such tax for each month, or fraction thereof, from September 15th of the year in which the tax became due until the date of payment. Such penalties shall be paid to the commissioner of insurance and disposed of in the same manner as other receipts under this chapter.

5. The commissioner of insurance shall give to each insurance company which fails to pay the taxes and penalties imposed by this section at least ten days notice in writing by certified mail of the time and place of a hearing to show cause why its certificate of authority should not be revoked. Upon hearing, the commissioner of insurance shall revoke the certificate of authority of any insurance company which does not establish to his satisfaction at or before the hearing that the taxes and penalties due from it have been paid. An insurance company whose certificate of authority has been revoked pursuant to the provisions of this section may have the certificate restored by the commissioner of insurance during the period for which it was issued upon the payment by the insurance company of all taxes and penalties due from it the payment to the commissioner of insurance of a fee of ten dollars."

491A 1. There is hereby imposed, beginning on July 1, 1965, an 492A additional tax of one per cent upon the gross receipts of

492Aa retailers

493A from all sales at retail that are subject to the tax imposed by

494A section 57-39-02, which additional tax of one per cent shall be

495A collected by the tax commissioner in the same way that the tax

496A imposed by section 57-39-02 is collected, and which shall be

496Aa subject

497A to all of the provisions for definitions, delinquency, enforcement

498A of collection, exemptions, assessments, penalties, refund, notice

499A and appeals to which the tax imposed by section 57-39-02 is 499Aa subject.

500A Provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not 501A become effective if for any reason any other provision of this Act
 502A does not become effective, nor shall the provisions of this section
 503A continue in effect if this Act does become effective and any part 504A of it is invalidated or disapproved in any way, other than by 504B action
 505A of the legislative assembly, that would cause it to become 506A ineffective.

507A 2. All moneys collected and received by the tax
 507B commissioner
 508A pursuant to this section shall be paid into the state treasury 508B and 509A credited to a special fund to be known as the "personal 509B property
 510A tax replacement fund". Out of this fund the state treasurer
 510B shall
 511A first provide for payment of any refunds of the tax that are 512A allowed. The net amount of moneys remaining in said 512B "personal
 513A property tax replacement fund" are hereby appropriated for 513B allocation and distribution as follows:

- 514A
- 515A a. The state tax commissioner, with the aid and assistance
 516A of the county auditor of each county, shall determine 517A for each of the years 1962, 1963 and 1964 the cost to 518A the county and to the various political subdivisions
 519A in the county of assessing and of equalizing the 520A assessments of all personal property assessed in the 521A county on an ad valorem basis by locally appointed or 522A elected assessors or other officers performing assess-523A ment duties and the cost of levying and collecting the 524A taxes levied thereon. The total amount of such costs
 525A for each of the three years then shall be added
 526A together and the total divided by three to obtain the 527A average yearly cost of personal property tax
 528A administration for the three years in each county.
- 529A b. The state tax commissioner shall determine from the 530A abstracts of tax lists furnished to him by the auditor 531A of each county and from such other information as 531B may
 532A be furnished by the county auditor or obtained from 533A other sources the total amount of all taxes levied
 534A for each of the years 1964 and 1965 on a millage basis
 535A by the state, county, and the various taxing districts
 536A in the county on all taxable property except the per-536B sonal
 537A property classifications that include household goods,
 538A clothing and other personal belongings and musical 539A instruments. The amount of such taxes levied for each 540A of the years 1964 and 1965 in each county on such 541A taxable property shall be added together and the total 542A divided by two to obtain the average yearly amount of 543A such taxes levied in the county for the two years. This 544A average yearly amount of taxes levied in the county
 545A shall then be multiplied by the decimal fraction
 546A of .95 to obtain the amount which is hereinafter
 547A referred to as the "county adjusted average tax 548A collections".
- 549A c. On or before the first day of December, 1966, the state
 550A tax commissioner shall then furnish to the state
 551A treasurer a certificate which shall show for each 552A county the "average yearly cost of personal property 553A tax administration" as determined in subdivision a

- 554A of this subsection and the "county adjusted average 555A tax collections" for each county as determined in 556A subdivision b of this subsection. The state treasurer
 557A after receiving the tax commissioner's certificate
 558A shall add together the "county adjusted average tax
 559A collections" of all counties. From the total so
 560A obtained he shall subtract the total for all counties
 561A of the "average yearly cost of personal property tax 562A administration" in each county as certified by the tax
 563A commissioner and the difference remaining shall be the 564A maximum amount of moneys in the "personal property
 564B tax
 565A replacement fund" that shall be allocated in 1967 and 566A each following year in accordance with the formula
 567A prescribed in subdivision d of this subsection.
- d. The maximum amount available for allocation and 568A distribution each year out of the "personal property
 569A tax replacement fund" as determined in subdivision c
 570A of this subsection shall be allocated by the state
 571A treasurer to each county by multiplying that amount
 572A by the fraction which has as its numerator the "county 573A adjusted average tax collections" for the county as 574A determined in subdivision b of this subsection and 575A which
 576A has as its denominator the total of the "county adjusted 577A average tax collections" for all counties.
- The state treasurer, after making this allocation, 578A shall certify to the treasurer of each county the 579A amount allocated to that county and the treasurer
 580A of the county shall then, as hereinafter provided, 581A determine the portion of the amount certified by the 582A state treasurer that shall be allocated to the state
 583A and to each taxing district in the county and shall 584A certify to the state treasurer the amount so allocated 585A to the state. In determining the allocation to the 586A state and to the taxing districts in the county, the 587A treasurer of the county shall apportion among the 588A taxing districts of the county, including the state, 589A the amount certified by the state treasurer in 590A proportion to the average of the taxes levied on a 591A millage basis by each taxing district, including the 592A state, for the years 1964 and 1965.
- e. The state treasurer, after receiving the certificate of 593A each county treasurer showing the amount allocated to 594A the state and after satisfying himself as to the 595A correctness of such certificate, shall distribute to 596A the treasurer of each county the difference between 597A the amount certified to the treasurer of the county
 598A pursuant to subdivision d of this subsection and the 599A amount certified by the treasurer of the county to the 600A state treasurer as the portion allocated to the state.
 601A The state treasurer shall transfer to the credit of the 602A state general fund the amount certified by the 603A treasurer
 604A of each county as the portion allocated to the state.
 604B The treasurer of each county, upon receiving the 605A distribution, shall credit it to the various taxing 606A districts, other than the state, in the county in 607A accordance with the allocation made pursuant to 608A subdivision d of this subsection.
- f. The formula for allocation and distribution of moneys
 609A out of the "personal property tax replacement fund"
 610A shall be the same for each year after 1967 as that 611A used for the year 1967. The allocation and distribu-
 612A
 613A
 614A

614B bution
 615A of moneys out of the "personal property tax replace-
 615B ment
 616A fund" shall be made by the state treasurer and the 617A treasurer of each county as soon after January first 618A of 1967 and of each year thereafter as can reasonably 619A be done.
 620A g. It is further provided that any appropriation made 621A for the allocation and distribution of moneys in the 622A "personal property tax replacement fund" shall not be 623A effective unless all personal property that is locally
 624A assessed on an ad valorem basis becomes wholly 624B exempt
 625A from assessment and taxation no later than in the year
 626A 1966 and for all following years pursuant to other 627A provisions of law.

Rep. Giffey:

"For the first time in the history of this state this body will pass to the Senate a measure that will provide for the elimination of all personal property taxes.

House Bill No. 698, as amended, is our program for tax simplification and equalization. It is our approach to simplifying the tax structure of the state and reforming the tax imposition so that it will be more equitable for everyone. House Bill No. 698 is our answer to years of piece meal tax programs that has snarled up the tax system so badly that we find ourselves repealing the laws we passed in the last session and passing laws we will need to repeal in the next session.

House Bill No. 698 is designed to bring order out of chaos. It is designed to absorb the shock of eliminating the personal property tax and still provide the minimum needs of the state, particularly in the field of primary and secondary education.

This measure will repeal all personal property taxes in 1966 and, if approved by two-thirds of this House, will repeal the personal property taxes on household goods, clothing and musical instruments at once.

This measure provides for returning revenue to the political subdivisions to replace the revenue lost through repeal of personal property taxes.

House Bill No. 698 provides for raising the revenue to replace personal property tax, partly from the simplified income tax and partly from a special sales tax levy of one per cent.

House Bill No. 698 provides for a simplified income tax program that will enable every taxpayer to fill out his own income tax return without fighting his way through two different complicated sets of rules and regulations. He will be able to use a post card tax return.

House Bill No. 698 provides for a broadening of the sales tax to stabilize the state tax structure so it can absorb the shock of personal property tax replacement.

This bill also calls upon the financial institutions of the state to share in this tax reform and revenue program by adjusting corporation income tax rates and changing the basis of taxation for banks and savings and loan institutions.

House Bill No. 698 will get rid of the fraction on the sales tax that has caused difficulty for our businessmen; it will reduce income tax regulations down to one set of rules; it will dispose of the countless impossible laws and rules for assessing personal property taxes.

House Bill No. 698 will equalize the tax program of the state. According to statistics developed by Dr. W. E. Koenker, property taxes are the major factor contributing to a terribly regressive tax structure in North Dakota. Those in the income group of $1,000 or less are paying almost 28% of their incomes in taxes — and over half of these taxes are property taxes. On the other hand, the upper income groups are paying less than half this burden in taxes, primarily because property taxes have a declining impact at upper levels. The repeal of personal property taxes will tend to reduce the total regressivity of the state tax structure and thereby equalize the tax burden.

House Bill No. 698 is the only measure in this legislative session designed to eliminate all personal property taxes and designed to provide for an orderly transfer of the tax burden involved.

House Bill No. 698 is an action measure for simplification and equalization. It does not call for delay for further study . . . further research . . . further investigation . . . as we have seen for so many years. House Bill No. 698 does something that will start us on the road to an improved tax structure.

The timid who have always feared to venture forward will be paralyzed by fear of some unknown complication. My suggestion to the fearful is to move to the back of the line and seek the protection of those who are not afraid of the future.

This measure recognizes every interest. It does not place an undue burden on any taxpayer nor does it give favor to any one group. It is a compromise in itself. It combines various kinds of taxes to accomplish the objective. While it does not meet the harsh demands of the rabid believers in one special tax, it does moderate these advocates of one tax by providing for a part of their tax combined with the proposals of other advocates of other taxes.

House Bill No. 698 is a dramatic step for North Dakota. It represents a change of course from the continual patching in each session of the legislature. It is a dramatic step for equalization and simplification. If the taxpayers of this state could all sit in this body this afternoon, I am confident that they would give this measure their overwhelming support. I hope that this body will reflect the sentiment of these taxpayers by passing this measure by the two-thirds vote necessary to carry the emergency clause."

Rep. Meschke: "One of our greatest challenges, one of our greatest opportunities and indeed one of our greatest responsibilities at this Session is to repeal the most unjust and most cumbersome of our tax burdens — the personal property tax.

Lest this Assembly forget the nature of this one part of our tax structure that we are here seeking to rid ourselves of forever, I would like to point out some of the reasons that make passage of House Bill 698 imperative.

The personal property tax is the most regressive . . . the most archaic . . . the most inequitable . . . the most costly . . . and the most detrimental tax that North Dakota carries on its books.

It was first levied when the only concept of taxation at the local level was property taxation. There were no income taxes, no sales taxes, or any of the other taxes that have come to widespread use in this century. The personal property tax was imposed in the 1800's and we have continued to drag this monstrosity with us into the 1960's because we have lacked the courage and the imagination to solve the problems that its elimination creates. We should clearly understand that it is a tax from territorial days . . . and it is a tax for territorial thinkers.

This is 1965. This is not 1880. If we are to meet the challenges of 1965, we cannot afford to use the crude, rusty implements of 1880. We cannot use a wooden plow to till thousand-acre farms. We cannot use binders to handle 100,000 bushel crops. We cannot use horses and buggies to travel Interstate 94 . . . and we cannot use the personal property tax to meet the needs of this generation.

The concept of using depreciating personal property as a measurement of an ability to pay a tax in this day of professional services and financial institutions is completely foreign to my concept of equity.

There may have been a time when the vast majority of our people were farmers and storeowners when personal property was held in more equal relationship than it is today. But that time is long past. The insurance agents, the real estate agents, the stockbrokers, doctors, lawyers and countless other service and professional practitioners now carry on today's business with little, if any, inventory of personal property.

In this modern age of diversity, the basic premise of a personal property tax is grossly inequitable.

Income taxes are based on an ability to pay; sales taxes are based on an ability to buy; real estate taxes are based on benefits received and appreciation of property. But the personal property tax is placed upon things of depreciating value that have in themselves no measured ability to pay a tax.

What value is there in a combine when a farmer has no crop?

What value is there in a cow when the livestock market will repay the rancher less than his cost?

What value is there in an inventory of groceries until it is actually sold with a markup that will reflect a gain?

What value is there to the enterprising manufacturer in his assembly line until he can actually sell his goods?

The personal property tax is not based on the ability to pay It is not based on the ability to buy it is not based on benefits received it is not based on appreciating value it simply compels payment of a tax before any money is earned or changes hands. It is more regressive than any other tax levied because the owner of personal property must pay the tax even if he must borrow money to do so. Therefore, the tax must be based on the assumption that it is a flat head tax and that all who are subject to it own property equally and will thereby share the burden of taxation equally. As I have indicated previously, this may have been more true in the 1880's than it is today but there certainly is no justification for this assumption in 1965.

In addition to being inequitable in its basic premise, the personal property tax is inequitable in its administration. And in spite of 80 years of effort 39 legislative assemblies passing exemptions and additions plugging and unplugging loopholes the administration remains as inequitable as it was the first day an assessor gee-hawed his oxen to start his job.

We have 1700 part-time assessors in this state who have the responsibility for trying to make equitable assessments on every conceivable kind of property. To do this job fairly, every one of these 1700 assessors must be an expert in home-furnishings, drapes, paintings, jewelry, livestock, race horses, farm machinery, and every other single piece of personal property that exists. It should be obvious that the part-time assessor cannot do this job of professional appraising. So what does he do?

He does not assess on the basis of market values as the law requires. He assesses on the basis of averages and we see the first deviation from equitable administration of an inequitable tax. By doing this, we have compounded its regressivity. When an average is used, the owners of valuable property are under-assessed and the owners of less valuable property are over-assessed.

Since the local assessor is human like everyone of us, his judgment is further marred by his personal relationships with his neighbors. His friends may benefit from his assessment and his enemies may burn.

Perhaps the inequitable manner in which averages are used is not quite so serious as the property that is left out of the assessment completely. I understand that one legislator has said that his county sold more cows than it had assessed and there were still plenty left over.

In one county, there was a township of 50 assessments and not one single piece of haying equipment was assessed. In another township, there was not one single plow. In one county, one assessor was applying a 10% valuation, while all the others were applying 35% to contractors equipment. One county auditor reported that she had nudists in one whole township since there was no clothing listed by the assessor. These examples point out the inequity that grows out of having 1700 different methods of appraisal in personal property. A sampling of business inventory assessing by Doctor Koenker pointed out that grocery stores were being assessed seven times higher than implement dealers. Even in cases of similar kinds of stores owned by the same company there is a wide disparity in the assessments from town to town. A J. C. Penney store in one town is not assessed the same as for the same inventory in another town.

My conclusion from these facts is that there is no sound, no practical method for administering the personal property tax without developing a massive program that would eat up the entire revenue.

Evidently, the early pioneers of this state realized that the assessments would not be equal and so they established equalization boards for the townships, the municipalities, the counties and the state.

The very existence of a board of equalization is a legal confession of the fact that the original assessments were not properly made and therefore must be corrected. The law clearly states that property must be assessed in relation to its market value. Unless the assessor does this in the very first instance, there is no hope of ever rectifying the injustices that exist in the assessments through so-called boards of equalization.

A board of equalization does not adjust assessments on the basis of market values but rather the board adjusts assessments on the basis of average values. So here again, we see the use of averages confounding the administration of personal property taxes. And as the assessment moves from local government to the county and then to the state, the application of averages continues to widen the gap between the assessment and its true relationship to actual value.

And in order to correct what seems to be improper assessments, boards of equalization will raise or lower whole townships or whole cities by 10% or 20%. This penalizes the taxpayer who has been properly assessed in order to bring up the taxpayer improperly assessed.

The state board of equalization has quit trying to equalize assessments on all property except livestock because there is no uniform market for the vast majority of items in personal property taxation.

But, the inequity in administration does not stop here. After the assessments have been thoroughly equalized, the tax is levied. Those who plan on remaining in the neighborhood pay their taxes. Those who plan on leaving will not pay their taxes. The result can be easily seen by viewing the long lists of unpaid personal property taxes published yearly by our newspapers. So the cumbersome collection system increases the tax burden for those who pay their taxes.

The cost of administering the personal property tax is a staggering one and unfairly levied against only some of the various political subdivisions. The yearly cost has been very conservatively estimated at $400,000. I suggest that it is much closer to $800,000. This cost is borne primarily by the assessing level of government and by the county, with all other benefiting political subdivisions bearing no part of the cost. But there is also a much greater cost — that cost is in the inequities that have been permitted to exist in real estate assessments because of the time required to work on personal property taxes. We now know that the real estate assessments within counties range from 10% all the way up to 200%. If this part of our tax structure is going to be corrected, we must permit local government to spend time and effort in this area. As long as local government is saddled with personal property taxation, real estate inequities will not be corrected.

The adverse effects of the personal property tax have been felt by every person who has chosen to invest in the North Dakota economy.

We want our farmers to invest in modern, efficient machinery but the personal property tax discourages this investment when the farmer knows that he will be taxed when he buys a combine and taxed every year thereafter.

We want our merchants to have progressive businesses, with full lines of merchandise, but how can we expect them to invest when they must compete with the catalogue companies who pay no inventory taxes or when they know they will be taxed on their stocks without regard to location, turn-over or mark-up?

We want industry and manufacturing in North Dakota. But, how can we expect growth when we discourage the type of manufacturing that provides jobs, wages, and opportunities with a tax on inventories.

We want people to have television sets, hi-fis, and other modern conveniences without being penalized by assessment of taxes.

I submit to you that the personal property tax has outlived what little value it may have had in 1880; that it is inequitable in its premise; it is inequitable in its administration; that it is impeding the economic growth of our state; and that it should be repealed by House Bill No. 698."

Rep. Christensen:

"In view of these circumstances — circumstances which all of us have known for years — you would think that action would have been started years ago to get rid of this undesirable tax. There are reasons that have dissuaded the timid from acting.

In the first place, the very fact that it exists, as a rusted in part of the tax structure, has discouraged many from trying to change the sacred, historic impact of this tax that everyone gets to pay. Secondly, it involves the prerogatives of local government. Third, it serves as a part of the local bonding base. Fourth, replacement revenue is necessary. Fifth, a method of redistributing the replacement revenue must be developed.

I submit to you that House Bill No. 698 meets the minimum requirements presented by every one of these alibis for inaction.

The age of the tax has no relationship to its equity. In fact, this changing world demands that we review our institutions so that they are able to keep pace with the changes in society.

Home people say that repeal of the personal property tax will mean that some will escape taxation completely. I submit that the premise of levying a tax — no matter how grossly inadequate — simply so that someone can pay a tax, is far from any concept of equity. They are saying that even if it costs 100% in administration, it is good to have a tax just so someone can pay it.

Under House Bill No. 698, everyone will get to share in the tax responsibility though the sales tax and those with ability will share in the income tax.

There are those who say that the rights of local government will be infringed through the proposal to collect taxes for local government through the state tax structure. These advocates evidently choose to increase real estate taxes or choose not to repeal personal property taxes at all.

I don't think any member of this entire legislative assembly is qualified to discuss the infringement of the rights of local government when session after session the legislature has sought to keep an iron fist on every insignificant action of every political subdivision. There are even occasions when we refuse to let the citizens of local government have the opportunity to vote for themselves on issues of significance only to them.

I don't consider it much of a right for local government when it is compelled to levy and collect an unjust tax simply because it doesn't have any other resources available.

If we choose not to collect the revenue at the state level, then what is the counter-proposition? A local income tax or a local sales tax? Measures of this type have already been killed in this session. Is it an increase in real estate taxes? House Bill No. 698 does not in any way tend to interfere in the right of free choice at the local level. The only way this could be altered is by the future decisions of the legislative assembly. If we cannot trust future sessions of the legislative assembly, then we cannot trust the democratic processes that produce legislative assemblies. If the legislative assembly is not qualified to reflect the will of the people, then what group or body is?

The bonding capacity of political subdivisions is protected by House Concurrent Resolution "Z" and by House Bill No. 836. Resolution "Z" provides for a constitutional amendment to increase the bonding capacity of political subdivisions so that they will have the same bonding capacities without personal property as they now have including personal property. This measure will be voted upon in June, 1966 in time for the changes being made.

House Bill No. 836 is the statutory companion to Resolution "Z". In addition, it provides that bonding subdivisions may pay off future bond issues from revenue other than property revenue. In this way, we will be able to avert any increases in real estate taxes, even though real estate stands as the final security for the bond issue. Real estate mill increases to pay present bonded indebtedness will be offset by mill rate declines for operating budgets.

House Bill No. 698 provides for the replacement revenue necessary to offset the loss of revenue by local government. There have been many long arguments through the years over the new source of revenue that would be used to offset the loss of personal property taxes. House Bill No. 698 and other revenue bills have been drafted to spread this added state responsibility as fairly as possible. I am convinced that this reform and revenue program is the best attainable program. As the majority leader has stated, it penalizes no group and favors no class.

The point has been raised about the shift in the tax burden as a result of the elimination of personal property taxes. Our basic assumption in trying to eliminate the personal property taxes is that it is unfair because it is levied without regard to a capacity to pay. We contend that this tax has been paid by the wrong people for 80 years and that there is no reason whatever to continue to penalize people engaged in occupations that require heavy investments in personal property. Certainly, there will be new burdens of taxation in new areas. But any program of improving equity is going to result in new tax burdens in new areas. Anyone who thinks contrary hasn't chosen to give any thought to the problem.

There are those who want to place all of the burden on sales tax. There are those who want to place it all on income tax. There are a few who advocate special taxes for relieving specific categories of personal property taxes.

The tax reform and revenue program has brought all of these proposals to bear on this problem of providing replacement revenue. Some will come from income tax; some from sales tax; and some from special taxes. No one group is being called upon to bear the whole load. The adjustment is well distributed throughout the tax structure. And in the process, there will be more equity than there is at the present time with personal property taxes.

For those prophets of doom, I'll frankly state that this revenue program does increase the state budget in this total adjustment of the tax burden from local to state government. The advocates of "holding the line on state taxes at all costs" are not advocates of personal property tax repeal. How else can you replace personal property taxes?

The program developed in House Bill No. 698 prevents an increase in the tax burden on real estate. We have been very careful to assure real property owners that they will not end up paying for the repeal of personal property taxes."

Rep. Hauf: "Mr. Speaker: Members of this Assembly. The problem of returning the lost revenue to political subdivisions has not been easy to solve. There are those who have come forward to announce that after years of research and study, there is no solution. To those I say — you have been so blinded in your search for the perfect system that you have forgotten the terrible inequities that now exist . . . inequities that are incomparable to even the greatest of errors in a replacement system.

After 80 years, it is time to admit that there is no perfect solution and there never will be as long as men disagree over the concept of perfection. It is time to get down to business with a program of action.

House Bill 698 provides for two methods of distribution. One approach is a trial approach that may prove to be the best method for use in the future. The other approach is to guarantee that every levying political subdivision will receive revenue lost "dollar for dollar".

The first approach is the use of $2.8 million per year to place in the school foundation program to replace the loss of household goods, musical instruments, clothing and the per capita school tax.

The bill expresses the intent of the legislative assembly to the effect that school districts are expected to reduce mill rates on other property in proportion to the amount of replacement revenue received.

The bill further provides authorization for other political subdivisions to raise their mill levies in direct proportion to the amount of money lost through elimination of these lesser categories of personal property.

It is true that this is not an iron-clad solution from the standpoint of rigid controls on local government. However, it seems to me that it is necessary that we invoke the cooperation of local government in attacking this whole problem of personal property tax elimination. No one seems to trust local government. No one seems to feel that our officials in our school districts, our counties and our cities are responsible. Well, I for one, would like to give them an opportunity to demonstrate their ability by using this trial replacement system.

The second formula involves the larger portion of replacement money. But before I discuss this formula, I want to outline the basis on which the amount of replacement revenue is determined.

We have reclassified all property on leased sites to real estate so that this property will continue to be taxed as it is now. Railroads and public utilities will continue to be taxed.

The political subdivisions will be repaid on the basis of their average levies in 1964 and 1965, discounted five per cent because all taxes levied are never collected. The cost of assessing, equalizing and collecting personal property taxes will be deducted because this is an expense that will not have to be borne in the future.

We arrive at a final annual total of around twelve and a half million dollars that will be paid from the special personal property tax replacement fund established with a one per cent sales tax on a broadened base. The revenue from this tax will be about $11.1 million per year — slightly short of matching the obligation over a period of years. However, there will be plenty of money in the fund during this biennium to meet our commitments. We feel that our estimates on the broadened base are somewhat conservative and we should wait until the next session before we pass judgment.

Under our "dollar for dollar" replacement formula, every political subdivision in this state will get exactly the amount of money it used to get from personal property taxes. If some county grasshopper levy used to receive a dollar and a half from personal property taxes, the county will get that dollar and a half for the grasshopper levy.

There is a very good reason for channeling the bulk of the replacement revenue on a "dollar for dollar" basis. We are making a very significant change in the present situation merely by changing the source of revenue from a local source to a state source. From a very practical standpoint, I feel it would be a serious error to try to compound the problems growing out of this change by adding other complications with different replacement formulas.

If local government is levying this tax for local needs, then shouldn't we accept their decisions at face value and recognize these needs by giving them the money they received under the personal property tax. There is no doubt in my mind that these needs will change with a changing population. To my knowledge, there have been very, very few formulas or proposals enacted in the past that have weathered decades of change. Then why should we try to resolve this problem as though we had to settle it for all future generations?

This is not the last legislative assembly. There will be another and one after that. These future sessions will have thinking people who can adjust replacement formulas with changing times. To start this program any other way would not only rally opposition on the basis of the replacement but, if enacted, it would disrupt local government. I submit that the approach in House Bill 698 is sound . . . it looks to the future by testing one method . . . it recognizes the present by using a "dollar for dollar" method.

There are many benefits to be gained by eliminating the personal property tax. We will be rid of an obnoxious tax that has undercut the confidence of taxpayers in the entire tax system. We will reduce administrative costs that are now a total waste. We will have a tax structure that is more equitable and less regressive. We will have less human hardship, grief, and disappointment by removing this tax from many communities. We will be saving friendships for neighbors who in the past have had quarrels with the assessors about their neighbor's assessment. We will encourage new manufacturing plants to come to our state.

There is a price we must pay. We must pay replacement taxes. We may be faced with some new administrative duties as retailers and employers. We may have to do a little more work in different county and state offices to make the system work. But I think the greatest price at this time is the courage and the determination that we must show in this chamber today to get this job started.

To those who fear or to those who obstruct, I ask you for your plan. Where is your revenue program for replacement? How are you going to eliminate personal property taxes? How would you replace local revenue without increasing the state budget? What better way do you have to protect real estate? Where is your formula for replacement?

If you choose to drag your feet . . . if you are timid and prefer inequity to continue . . . then let me assure you of this. If you are convinced that this plan will not work . . . that it will have terrible consequences . . . then let those of us who are responsible for the plan pass the measure. For if it is so full of mistakes, you will never again be troubled by our presence.

I submit to this assembly that House Bill 698 is a plan carefully designed to assure greater equity in our tax structure. It is a plan that is long overdue. I urge you to pass it, not on the basis of party affiliation, but rather on the basis that the citizens of North Dakota are entitled to a tax program that is more equitable and fair for everyone.

Mr. Speaker, I now yield to Rep. Backes."

Rep. Backes: "Mr. Speaker, I would like to emphasize the importance that has been placed on the simplification of our tax structure in House Bill 698. It is my contention that the taxpayers of this state and the administrative branch of government have been compelled to waste time and money due to the complicated methods we have been using in handling the state income tax.

If we can help the people of this state by at least making the paying of taxes easier, I think we should move as speedily as we can to achieve that goal. I believe that House Bill 698 goes a long way toward this objective.

79% of the farmers and businessmen . . . over 50% of the wage-earners now are required to use professional accountants to help them fill out their state income tax returns. With over 180,000 returns being filed yearly, and assuming that each taxpayer pays $5 for his state return, this measure can save those taxpayers $450,000 a year or $900,000 a biennium in accounting fees.

This may cut down our proposed sales tax revenue a little . . . but it is worth every nickel to the taxpayer.

House Bill 698 adopts federal taxable income as state taxable income. This means that the taxpayer can be provided with a simple IBM card for filing his income tax. He won't need an accountant or an attorney once his federal return has been completed.

There will be one set of rules for determining taxable income. The taxpayer will not have to dig his way through two sets of complicated, detailed instructions to fulfill his tax responsibility.

By going to the federal taxable income as our base for computing income tax, we knock out some of the things that have been held sacred in this state—such as domestic dividends, military pay, medical and hospital deductions, different filing requirements. We have recognized that the federal taxable income is a broader base upon which the tax is levied and have made adjustments in the rate tables to account for this fact.

In the process of reforming and simplifying the income tax program, we also recognized that some revenue had to be raised to eliminate portions of the personal property tax and meet the increased obligations for education. The new rate tables provide modest increases for everyone so that all can share in some way the responsibilities for education and personal property repeal.

A person earning $5,000 will pay $12 more each year. Persons earning between $6,000 and $11,000 will have increases of $25.00 to $30.00 per year. Under the new standard minimum deductions provided by the internal revenue service and adopted by House Bill 698, families of four with incomes of $3,000 and under will not have to pay a dime. Now that the $6.00 minimum tax has been eliminated, House Bill 698 provides for a tax truly based on the ability to pay.

There are some who believe that the top income brackets should have received greater increases in their income taxes. The income tax rates at the upper brackets are already very high in North Dakota and great increases would not be equitable. Even our moderate income tax increases leave us far behind Montana and Minnesota in tax rates.

By disallowing the deduction of federal income tax, we broadened the taxable base greatly in this category and the upper rates had to be reduced to keep the increase reasonable.

This should be ample evidence of our good faith in developing a tax program that penalizes no group and caters to no class.

By going to federal taxable income, we have made the filing requirements similar to those of the federal. This means that everyone who earns over $600 will be required to file state returns as well as federal returns. This will greatly simplify the procedures necessary to see that everyone is meeting his responsibility to the state. We have all known for years that thousands of North Dakotans have never filed income taxes. Fortunately, a good deal of this has been straightened out but it required a good deal of expense and manpower to do it.

House Bill 698 puts corporations on the same federal taxable income base as individuals. As soon as it was announced that the federal tax paid was going to be disallowed, we heard a hue and cry about the terrible effect this would have on our industrial development program. The increases in corporate income tax were proper and in no way punitive.

The maximum corporate tax rate was cut from six per cent to five per cent to offset the effects of the new tax base. Even though the tax increase was averaged out at 68%, North Dakota's corporate rates are very competitive. We are below the corporate tax rates of Montana and Minnesota.

But this in itself does not tell the whole story. We must bear in mind that House Bill 698 provides for the elimination of personal property taxes. This will greatly offset the increases in corporate tax increases and will encourage new industry to come to North Dakota. The type of industries we can attract are the kind that produce goods. And these are the kind that provide jobs, wages and new income.

Here are some actual examples of manufacturing and processing plants in North Dakota right today:

One manufacturing firm will not have any increase in corporate income tax and $3,800 in personal property taxes will be removed.

Another manufacturer received a tax increase of $700 and eliminated $1,930 in personal property taxes.

This is the kind of situation that will bring new businesses and industries to North Dakota. There will be new jobs for our young people; new money in our cash registers; and more diversification in our economy. Only five states have eliminated personal property taxes.

By federalizing our corporate income tax, we open the way for 11-20S corporations. Corporations would be able to file under state law as partnerships and only one set of books would be necessary for both state and federal tax purposes. This is a clear example of simplification.

A uniform corporation income tax measure is moving through the legislature. This act will be more workable under federal taxable income since it will be easier for corporations doing business in our state to allocate their income.

House Bill 698 will plug loopholes in our income tax program. In 1964, the federal government required every person in military service to declare a state of residence. Many military men stationed here declared North Dakota as a state of residence since we have not levied an income tax on resident military personnel. These people have avoided income taxes both in their home states and in North Dakota. House Bill 698 would make them taxable and it would also include the full-time National Guard staff.

The filing of separate returns by married couples with only one income has been used as an escape from taxes. In 1960, we had only 10,000 such filings. Today, we have 19,000. This bill plugs that loophole by requiring both to have incomes that are attributable to their services.

The domestic dividend has been a discrimination against anyone who wishes to purchase and own stock in non-resident corporations. In addition, this escape from taxation has been available primarily for those people on the inside of closed corporations. If the opportunity to invest in these closed corporations were more available to everyone, it may be a justifiable means of encouraging expansion and growth. But, as it stands today, it is a benefit for only a privileged few.

I don't believe in passing tax laws just to make administration easier. But there are some definite administrative advantages that become taxpayer advantages. These should not be overlooked.

With one set of income tax rules for both state and federal, it will be easier for the income tax division to explain what few deviations there may be in the state income tax. This will help the taxpayer and will cut administrative costs.

With one set of rules, auditing of returns will be much simpler since the state can then rely more completely on federal audits. It will be possible for the computer to do most of the work and free manpower for review of out-of-state corporations, companies and landowners. These areas have been virtually neglected due to lack of manpower. This review and follow-up will prove very beneficial to those who pay their taxes.

Even though federal audits are available to the state, it is up to the state to collect its own taxes. Out of 800 audits turned over in one year, North Dakota received $125,000 in revenue. A backlog of federal audits is continuing to build up and there are over 2,000 pre-refund audits available each year that haven't been touched. There are 5,000 corporation returns that come in each year that have never been touched. We have 15,000 out-of-state landowners who are receiving income in this state and require auditing. There are 2,500 foreign corporations operating in the state on which no federal audits are available and require checking. Unless we are sure that all of these companies and individuals are paying their share, we have not really met our obligation to our taxpaying constituents.

One of the important things that we as legislators can expect from this income tax simplification program is better statistics upon which to pass legislation. By using the federal taxable income, we will have access to the statistics compiled by the internal revenue service as well as any additional ones that can be obtained from the computer system.

In conclusion, I would like to say this. I know that there are some of us who object to the income tax. There are some who dislike withholding. There are some who prefer that the state strike out on its own course. But at the same time, there are some who dislike the personal property tax. There are some who also dislike the sales tax.

In House Bill No. 698, we have taken into consideration the likes and dislikes of every group. We have tried to weld together a tax reform and revenue program that everyone can accept. Casting partisan politics aside, I honestly believe that this is a program that is fair to everyone. It recognizes the views of both the liberals and the conservatives and it melts these views into one program that everyone should be able to support.

I urge you to support it, not for political reasons, but because it is the best possible program for simplification and equalization of the tax structure in North Dakota."

Rep. Shablow:

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of this legislative body:

House Bill No. 698 provides for general withholding of income taxes, by those who now withhold federal income taxes. While this program does not receive the warm support of employers, it is one of the prices that employers will pay, for tightening up the tax program so we can eliminate personal property taxes.

All of us know that there are thousands of people who earn income each year in this state, who do not file income tax returns. As an answer, some have proposed only a nonresident withholding, with a nonresident being defined, as one who has not filed an income tax form for the preceding year. This system of withholding from nonresidents only will not be any better for an employer than general withholding.

The Senate has passed a nonresident withholding measure. While I respect the intent of the sponsors, I must point out the problems involved in this type of system.

On January 1 of 1967, every resident of the state of North Dakota will become a nonresident, for withholding purposes because he has not filed an income tax return, and that will make him a nonresident.

The employer will withhold from every employee until each one files his income tax return. In order to furnish proof that he has filed, he will most likely be required, to provide a receipt from the income tax division. Not only will this increase the cost of administration for the income tax division, but the employer will be faced with part of his payroll on withholding, and part of his payroll without withholding.

Each time an employer hires a new employee, he must check to see if the income tax is paid. If the employee has just been released from military service or if he has just come to the state, the employer must withhold. In any event, the employer is going to have some employees on withholding and some without. Nonresident withholding is going to be more difficult for the employer than general withholding and general withholding has more advantages.

Each year, the state income tax division receives about 2,500 taxable returns with no money. The department must spend money to secure payment. Withholding will put an end to this practice.

State law requires that everyone who has the income must pay an income tax, and yet the state law does not give adequate jurisdiction to collect the income tax from people residing on Indian reservations. General withholding will end this problem since the Bureau of Indian Affairs, will withhold the tax.

Without question, all nonresidents working in this state will contribute their fair share to our tax program without confusion for the employer.

Out-of-state corporations with employees in North Dakota will be required to withhold taxes.

In addition, the withholding program will enable the state general fund to operate at a lower level. At the present time, we need an operating balance of $10 million in the general fund, but, with the general withholding, this can be reduced to $8 million. It will not be necessary to levy new taxes, to maintain a larger general fund balance if we use this method that other states are using. It is the taxpayers money in either case.

One very important advantage to withholding is from the employee's standpoint. Most employees would prefer to pay their taxes on a regular basis, than be faced with one lump sum, even if that sum is only $25 or $30.

Going along with the spirit of simplification, we can expect that the income tax division, will prepare the simplest withholding system possible. I am sure that the division will recognize the intent of this legislation and will make every effort to abide by our intent.

General withholding will increase income tax collections during the next biennium by approximately $800,000. It is indeed unfortunate that we have waited so long, to develop the system in North Dakota.

By using the W-2 forms, the income tax division has been checking income tax returns with the computer. On one employer, the names of 949 employees were reported — with only 200 having North Dakota addresses. The withholding should have brought in over $38,000 on these employees.

Last year, the income tax division keypunched 80,000 W-2 forms, from selected employers, out-of-state contractors, state government, and political subdivisions. By using the computer, these names were matched against the list of income tax filers, and there were 21,000 names that could not be accounted for with income tax returns. If those 21,000 people owed the average tax of 46 dollars, the state missed one million dollars.

The district office of the internal revenue service in Fargo reports about 210,000 individual income tax returns. The income tax division receives 195,000 of which 15,000 are out-of-state residents. This means that there is a gap of 30,000 returns between the state income tax division and the internal revenue service.

Even with the extra effort that has been put out to close this gap, the income tax division needs every reasonable means, to see that every taxpayer, who has a liability in the state meets it. Until we have used every method available, to see that everyone meets his obligation, we will continue to be running back to the taxpayers with new taxes. Those people who are now paying their fair share, are entitled to know that everyone else is carrying his part of the load. The best method by which this may be achieved, is through the use of general withholding. If the employer pays his tax, I am sure that he wants to have his employees, in-state or out-of-state resident, pay their share. Withholding will plug one of the biggest loopholes in our tax structure.

As a small business man, I believe that after filling out the federal forms for withholding, the extra work for state withholding will not increase my work load to any great degree.

Mr. Speaker, with your permission I will yield at this time to Rep. Lundene."

Rep. Lundene:

"Mr. Speaker, Members of this assembly:

I am sure that there are others in this chamber who would rather explain House Bill 698 as it pertains to the sales tax. I want to assure you that I rise not to defend the sales tax . . . it is a regressive tax that strikes the lower income group hardest . . . it has no relation to ability to pay . . . but at least I console myself with the idea that we are using it to rid ourselves of an even greater evil . . . the personal property tax. And for this reason . . . and this reason alone . . . I feel that I can explain the role of the sales tax in this total simplification and equalization program.

We often isolate taxes in the tax structure and refer to them when they stand by themselves rather than refer to them by their relationship to other taxes. The sales tax is regressive . . . that is true

. . . but not as regressive as personal property tax. To my way of thinking, other forms of taxes would be more ideal for replacing the personal property tax. But we must work for the attainable and I believe that the attainable in this session is a combination of taxes that will moderate the supporters of special taxes that hit special groups.

At the beginning of this session, many of us felt that we had marching orders from home to the effect that we'd better to something about the unrealistic quarter per cent on the sales tax. The choice was to go back to two or go up to three. The only basis on which I could justify increasing the sales tax was to obtain some improvement in the tax structure that would be justifiable.

The personal property taxes are levied against people whether they have money or not. Many have had to borrow the money to pay their property taxes. When they have no income at all, they still must pay their property taxes. To me, this is the worst kind of taxation. If a person has the ability to buy . . . it may not be as good as the ability to pay . . . but at least it is better than making a person pay a tax when he has no money at all.

House Bill 698 broadens the sales tax to alcoholic beverages, tobacco products, advertising, and professional services of various kinds.

The tax on alcohol and tobacco can be regarded as a luxury tax. It is something we can get along without if we must.

The tax on advertising is actually a tax on businesses . . . and will help offset the benefits business will receive from elimination of personal property taxes.

In this age of services, it is as justifiable to tax the services a man renders just as much as it is justifiable to tax the commodities another man sells. Many of these services are the types used by businesses and, in this way, businesses will help shoulder a part of the replacement responsibility.

The farmer will be called upon to help provide the replacement revenue under the sales tax. He has actually already been paying a large part of the sales tax. In 1963, he paid 10% of the total sales tax collected when he bought machinery and implements. He paid more when repair services became taxable. Under this bill, he will pay more in taxes for these things and will pay for services to agricultural products besides.

Everyone — the businessman, the farmer, the professional man, the wage-earner — is being called upon in House Bill 698 to help meet the need for tax reform. The goal of more equity in taxes can be achieved only through the cooperation of everyone. If this program of simplification and equalization is going to be achieved, we will all have to work together to make it work.

I am indeed happy that the majority party in this Assembly has been able to come up with a tax plan that will make it possible for a semi-retired — middle aged — farmer like myself to contribute to the operation of our state government."

Rep. Streibel:

"The following remarks I address to the people of North Dakota, the news media and this body, and I request that my remarks be printed in the Journal.

Is this tax simplification? Is it tax equalization? Is it fair? Is it right? Is it good for the people of North Dakota?

Why is it a tax change? Why for the first time are sales tax, use tax, income tax, personal property tax, insurance tax, cigarette tax, etc., lumped together? Why is the taxation of the wage earner lumped in a bill with the banker? Taxpayers of North Dakota, there is much more in House Bill No. 698 than the repeal of the Personal Property Tax. This package will hit your pocketbook with an impact that will not allow you to forget it.

Because our Democratic friends know that the people have the right to refer a law passed by the legislature through the referendum or to change it by the initiative. They further know that for the people to exercise their rights on this package deal, they will have to actually stop all state government and bring it to a halt. You know this and all the people of North Dakota know this, and I say to you that it is an attempt to rob the people of their right to vote because 65 Democrats dictated to by a small handful do not dare trust the people of North Dakota. They do not dare to submit this tax package, or any part of it, to a vote of the people. They are not willing to stand on the merits of the program.

We will show to you that this bill does not represent tax equalization — it creates inequality. Representative Hoffner, Chairman of the Democrat Policy Committee which created this package, when asked if it didn't give a "windfall" to the merchant, admitted that it did and told us that the savings would be passed on to the consumer. Do you think the big chain store will pass its savings on to the customer or to the out-of-state stockholder? All personal property is not to be taxed, real estate is. If I own my home. If I own my farm, the Democrats say I have an ability to pay taxes. They may be mortgaged. They may be worth $5,000 net. My neighbor owns all personal property. It is worth $100,000. The Democrats say he has no ability to pay taxes. My Democratic friends say our transient merchants shall pay no tax and this is tax equalization.

Let's turn to tax simplification. Now local elected people spread, collect, and administer the personal property tax. Our Democratic friends propose that Lloyd Omdahl take it out of your hands. That is simple, but it is an awful concentration of power in one man. The Republican party doesn't believe in it. The people don't believe in it. The local governing boards don't believe in it.

Another example of tax simplification is the power given to the same Lloyd Omdahl to assert that you or I owe him taxes and through the forum of an administrative proceeding allow him to go into every department and agency of state government and examine into your personal affairs. That is a lot of power, isn't it? But it is simple.

However, there is one part of tax simplification that is really not so simple and even our Democratic friends admit this. The replacement monies for the personal property tax are to be distributed by this same Lloyd Omdahl, back to our local communities based upon the present location and value of personal property. Every change of local property, every increase or decrease in its value will require "economic reapportionment", and the Democrats have no better formula for economic reapportionment than they have for "legislative reapportionment". The only difference will be that you will be talking hard dollars and cents and pocketbooks and the fight will be harder and the inequalities and the damage to every individual school, township, city, county, park district and businessman will be far greater.

This in short is the 'slick-quick' solution turned out on Lloyd Omdahl's mimeograph machine. Three weeks after Governor Guy told you that personal property tax had to be gradually eliminated only after careful study and that no office existed in state government today that could make such research. The position of the Democratic party and its proposals would be laughable if it weren't so grimly serious and affected the welfare of the people of this state so drastically.

What do the Republicans think should be done? They think first of all that with only 600,000 people in this state, losing population, needing new industry and business, needing more money for education, with one of the highest per capita taxes in the nation, with a state that is the only one out of 50 with a loss in personal income last year, that we should provide the necessities of government with a tax load spread equally and cut out the "fluff"! We do not think we can afford, at this time, the extras of the Governor's requested appropriations for a heritage commission, the Governor's council on human relations, the Governor's recreational areas, the Governor's economic council, etc. The people of this state, as well as the Republican party know, although the Democrats do not, that not one bill has been introduced by the Governor to cut one cent from the cost of government. We believe in paying for the necessities through taxation paid by all of the people. Our polls indicate the sales tax is preferred. Further, the Republicans say to this legislature and to the people, that if the present flood of bills aimed at taxing industry and business out of North Dakota and keeping outside business from coming in, is not stopped, we will have nothing left on these prairies but an agricultural economy dependent upon the whim of the Democrats in Washington. If the recent statement of the President, wherein he stated that we need only one-third of the farmers, is a sign of things to come, we Republicans don't look forward to it."

Rep. Streibel requested that the amendments to House Bill 698 be divided to be voted on.

Speaker Link announced that House Bill No. 698 deals entirely with the one subject of taxation so the amendments cannot be divided under Rule 23.

Rep. Streibel appealed from the decision of the Chair and a roll call was granted.

Mr. Speaker

And the decision of the Chair was upheld.

Rep. Brown: "Mr. Speaker — Members of this Assembly — We are being asked by the majority party to accept a tax package, which they have not passed, that has been wrapped together from the fragmentation of a political blast that was detonated by a frustrated tax commissioner whose only desire was to satisfy the yen for political gain. True to his over zealous publicity desire — this ambitious young politician, without an ounce of realistic reasoning — perpetrated this fantastic, unrealistic, unsound, unworkable plan — if enacted into law, would not only bring chaos to our state, but would bankrupt every citizen of North Dakota.

As we proceed today it will clearly be pointed out that this monstrosity was motivated only for political headlines.

I am surprised, that my good friend Representative Backes, Chairman of the Finance and Taxation Committee would allow his good background and character to be used for such a political hoax.

Good government costs money and that money can come from only one place — THE TAXPAYERS EARNINGS.

Reliable financing and operation of government cannot be flipped around like tinkler toys.

It is our duty to soundly appraise the needs of our state, government, welfare, education, and our political sub-divisions — Honestly face up to our obligations and in a realistic, intelligent manner bring out of this session a program of expenditures within a reasonable and sound fiscal structure.

The Democrats offer their tax package relating to 'tax equalization'. The package is labeled by an ex-advertising man who is now supposed to be a tax man. It is well advertised but inaccurately labeled as tax equalization.

The Governor stated in his message that the personal property tax on household goods, musical instruments and clothing should be taken off this session. He said the rest of the personal property tax could not be removed this session because:

1. The bonding capacity of political subdivisions would have to be protected by a constitutional amendment requiring a vote of the people.
2. The elimination of personal property taxes should be gradual after careful study, and there was no office in state government (at least there wasn't in January 1965) to make a tax study and
3. That local government should control its own funds and their expenditure.

His party stated that they would not raise the sales tax because it was regressive — that all increases must be the income tax.

The Republicans said and the people in a poll said they wanted a sales tax increase and not an income tax increase. In the special election held on July 17, 1963, the voters of North Dakota by a mandate of 6 to 1, emphatically directed opposition to this very program.

The question was then posed — how do the Democrats raise the sales tax as the people want — and as the Democrats said they would not do — without making an about face and flatly admitting they were on the wrong track.

The answer was truly that of an advertising man — not a tax man — our tax commissioner — gave them something for nothing — we will abolish the personal property tax — increase your sales tax — increase your income tax — increase your real estate taxes — and for good measure, increase all the powers of the man who is tax commissioner — just for good measure.

There has been

1. No constitutional amendment adopted to protect the bonding capacity of the local subdivisions which Guy said was necessary.
2. No careful study and tax research
3. No gradual elimination of the personal property tax

It is beyond me to understand how our Speaker can completely ignore the request to divide this question, when there are eight distinct and separate questions to be decided.

The people of North Dakota deserve fairer and more consideration."

Rep. Elkin:

"I am sure that the vast majority of North Dakota taxpayers including myself, favor repeal of the personal property tax. But should the repeal of the personal property tax be used as bait to get us to vote for the rest of this monstrosity—this so-called tax reform bill. Because I favor repeal of personal property tax should I vote to increase income taxes as stiffly as this bill requires? Because I favor repeal of personal property tax, you are expecting me to broaden the Sales Tax base farther than anyone ever dared imagine any legislature would go.

By offering me the bait in the form of the elimination of the personal property tax, you expect me to tax the citizens heavier than at any time in history.

I remind this body that we will not be doing anyone any favors when we repeal one unjust tax and at the same time slap on him heavier, stiffer taxes than he ever dreamed possible.

The Governor told us recently at a meeting down at the Prince Hotel the theme of this session insofar as taxes is concerned is going to be Equity of Sacrifice — plainly put, it hurts you less to pay taxes than it does me. Therefore, let's tax you. We can't feel it if we put a high tax on corporate income — so let's do it — this appears to be the theme. But in following this theme I fear we lose sight of the fact that in reality there is only one group that pays taxes — the consumers. This tax proposal before us today in reality is not just a proposal to forgive the personal property tax — it is a proposal to raise the total tax take to the State Treasury higher than any citizen ever dared imagine. Only one group will be taxed — the consumers. You and I as consumers are being asked to tighten up the belt and dig deeper.

Perhaps the best example of our tax commissioner's long training in advertising work is the statement in the tax package that it relates to tax simplification.

It is not simplification. It is separation of the individual taxpayer from his rights. Simply put, it separates the little fellow from the party bosses.

1. Beginning on line 480 of the tax package the tax commissioner's prepared, mimeographed bill would authorize him to "examine any record, report, return or statistical information gathered or maintained by any state department. It is stated that he shall not make such information public except
 1. by subpoena of the tax commissioner
 2. by any court subpoena
 in any action or proceeding to establish the amount of or enforce the collection of income tax.

Simply stated, our tax commissioner can roam through all your records in any state office pertaining to anything from vital statistics up or down by simply saying he has commenced an administrative proceeding to check you out. The possibilities of the use of all personal and business information compiled about you for political purposes is frightening.

2. The withholding provisions are equally shocking. In line 384 the employer is made liable for the employee's taxes and penalties. In line 397 the employer's property is made subject to a lien for these taxes. In line 387 the employee is then made not liable for his tax to any person. Even the federal government which is no slouch in collecting taxes and using withholding has only imposed a penalty upon an employer who willfully fails to comply.
3. Governor Guy told the legislature it was better for local government to determine for itself the level of expenditure — using funds over which it has complete responsibility. The tax package put the collection, disbursement, and adjustment of funds and expenditures on a state level — the tax commissioner runs the whole show — not local elected people.
4. The distribution of tax monies to replace the personal property tax is fixed according to present personal property values and locations. It will penalize any area that grows in property valuation when at the same time it will need increased revenues for increased governmental services, and will reward and favor those which decline and have declining needs. It will require at best a fight by those who are unfairly treated to obtain their share from those who have more. In short, it builds in a tax inequality without any means of correcting it. Do we want to create the need for economic and tax re-apportionment as well as legislative? Even the court can't straighten that out.
5. The extension of the sales tax to even services furnished by local government such as garbage further increases local financial problems, and further centralizes power in state officials.

And another point, but perhaps even more important, there is one further danger in having the State collect the revenues and then remit or reimburse the local subdivision — re-apportionment enters in as a factor. Isn't there a danger that some time in the future the under-represented rural areas might not get back their fair share from the then city-controlled legislature?

Finally, the manner in which this proposal has been placed before us is objectionable to say the least. This attempts to put into one bill — literally cram into one bill — subject matter which should be in several bills. This is wrong. Each area should be debated and voted upon separately. Each should be passed or rejected on its own merits.

We, in this legislature, are being asked to swallow the entire package — or to reject. You who drew up this package are depriving me of my basic right and responsibility as a legislator — my right and responsibility to vote for those proposals I favor and against those specific proposals I oppose. I oppose this package in its present form.

Rep. Dornacker: "Let's take a good look at taxation.

Our founding fathers when they landed upon this nation started out without taxation. The first years they placed all they produced in a common storehouse. This was 100% income tax with complete forgiveness of both personal and real property.

It only took two years to find out this did not work as not all brought all they produced to a common warehouse. The lazy brought all, the hustler saw what little his neighbor contributed so brought only the same and kept some hid. The result was almost starvation for the lazy, as there was not enough to go around in a common pool.

What did they do? They started our present tax system. They appointed men to inventory each person's holdings and set a percent he was to contribute for the working of the government, to feed the widow and the orphan.

In their case you could call this income or personal property tax as it was paid in barter, corn, food, wood etc.

This program has gone up through the years and now has been added, income, sales, use taxes and in some states franchise taxes.

Never in the history of our nation or the world have people ever been happy in paying taxes. When I say people I should qualify, this in saying some of the people, majority wise we as citizens realize we have to contribute a share of our blessings to provide government, education and our common protection.

Every so often people get to the point where they are easily led into and many times justly so a tax rebellion. At the height of this rebellion they will many times vote for or against good or bad proposals. However when given some time and information the people make less mistakes than the governing bodies who are their elected officials.

Many people say you have to direct the people, I say we better listen as their direction is safer than ours.

Let's take a look at last fall's election. The people of North Dakota were offered the elimination of personal property and they turned it down, why?

They had time to take a look at each other, our schools and the future. They said, will it be fair to take all of the tax off a farmer who has $50,000 in machinery and rents land and then take no taxes off the man who owns the land? They said, we think this might work but let's try this on only household goods, musical instruments and small items. Let's let the legislature try it on this, first.

Let's see if they can find a way to return this money. If they can do this in small ways then we can go ahead if it looks wise and fair. They said, if the return is not fair or workable and increases the load on real estate it will be small and is worth the risk.

Had the people wanted all this, they would have done the job last fall.

What happened earlier in this session?

When the proposals of various taxes came out in papers, there was a 2% tax with complete broadening against 3% on less broadening. Again the people spoke, they cried give us 3% and less broadening. Have we listened? No, we are here today because, sure we listened but we are two parties, we are like the two farm organizations. If one is for this, the other is or thinks it has to have a different program. We here today are making the same mistake. You, the majority felt you could not take the Minority Sales Tax Proposal so in haste a different plan had to be resolved.

Is this why the jump into complete elimination of personal property?

We are going to have to compromise in the end. Wouldn't it be better for our people if we could do this in an orderly manner instead of a pell mell rush of hasty conference committees of which become partisan six-man legislatures.

Would not this have been the time to forget we are of different parties when it comes to tax problems. We are all North Dakotans and none of us are blessed with superhuman brains or ability. When we play politics with the people we all suffer including our own children.

We need people in North Dakota, we need Industry. They go together but hasty legislation, extreme changes, wild schemes, erratic changes in Corporation taxes, Bills against Industry, against Labor, Management will be remembered for years. The image we build here today will be on the screen for years to come.

Wouldn't we the members of this House be doing a better job if we had or would have sat down and said, let's make this tax package a hybrid tax bill. Let's take the good from both and there is good in both and combine it into a workable, equitable and fair plan for our people."

Rep. Tweten:

"It is not tax equalization to replace one inequity with several greater inequities. Actually, the people voted down the proposal to repeal all personal property taxes.

Ability to pay is measured not only by income, but by wealth or property. A repeal in one act of all personal property taxes will result in many inequities.

Why should a farmer who owns no land, but only leases, pay no property taxes although he may own $100,000.00 worth of property, all personal property? Why should the farmer who owns land pay a tax when he may have one-tenth of the wealth of the other farmer? Why should a large chain store with a tremendous inventory pay no personal property tax when a small store owner has to pay on his real estate? How about the small local merchant competing against the big chain with its tax-free large and attractive inventory of merchandise? Why should there be no tax on the stock of merchandise of transient merchants who come into the state and compete with our merchants?

When Rep. Hoffner tells us that the merchant will receive a windfall in tax saving because of the removal of a tax on his stock of goods, do you honestly believe that the consumers will benefit because the merchant will pass along the saving in the form of lower prices, or will the chain pass it along to its out-of-state stockholders?

I do not believe that the farmer who has a large amount of livestock which is wealth, or a large amount of machinery which is wealth, believes that it has nothing to do with ability to pay taxes, nor do I believe he thinks only real estate should be made to pay. The only difference with real estate and personal property is that real estate can't be taken across the state line to avoid taxes. Why should many persons who own nothing but personal property be free of all property taxes? Yet they can under the laws vote to place bonded debt against the real estate owner. Is this tax equalization?

The income tax is, we are told, the fairest tax — it is based on ability to pay. But there is great difference between gross income and net income. The income tax favors certain taxpayers — particularly the wealthy and penalizes the wage earner. The little fellow's gross income is not protected by depreciation schedules, by capital gains treatment — by depletion allowances, by business and travel expenses. What is so equal about the wage earner paying a tax on all of his income and the capital gains taxpayer paying on part of his income?

The sales tax as contained in the tax package would produce more amazing inequities. For example, a man can build a $100,000.00 home and pay sales tax on the material only. But the little fellow who has to buy a trailer or mobile home will pay a sales tax on the total of material and labor for his home. There will be no sales tax collected from an Oklahoma combiner or threshing man but there will be if you hire a lawyer to protect yourself against the tax department.

What is so fair about the removal of a tax that will — it is even admitted by the Democratic party — give a windfall to some taxpayers, the tenant farmer and his livestock, and machinery, and the itinerant or out-of-state big chain merchant and his inventory and not to other taxpayers?

This act or tax package does not exempt property or tax property on any classification of whether the property produces income or profit or whether it does not. An unimproved lot, a home, and a losing farm operation are all taxed if they are real estate. Personal property whether it produces profit, as livestock, contractor's equipment, merchant stocks, is not taxed even if it is a gold mine. Such taxation encourages transients. It discourages home ownership and farm ownership. A Democratic Democrat would call it regressive."

Rep. Johnson: "In my previous sessions, we have had fair treatment and so has the public. Until this session, hearings have been held on bills, pro and con. Amendments have been openly discussed pro and con. Committee members and the public have had available bills and amendments for study and consideration.

Until this session, we have not seen the legislative process violated, abused, and turned over to the party officials.

Bills have been introduced which violated house rules and were meaningless. An example, the Democratic income tax bill which was blank as to tax rates.

Bills have been introduced, printed, distributed, and completely amended at time of hearing. They have been heard, discussed, without those present even having the amendments or copies of the amendments to follow the hearing of the party officials testimony. The sales tax bill is an example.

Bills have been introduced to apply to one business, heard, amended in executive committee by party officials, and finally acted upon without hearing or knowledge of those affected, and made to apply to another business. An example was the tax on premium income of foreign insurance companies, which in executive committee was amended to tax our North Dakota companies, without their being heard at all. The insurance industry in that matter was treated to another new practice — the opportunity of appearing to resist a bill without ever hearing who the sponsors were or why they proposed it.

Bills have been introduced affecting the very life blood of the state, amended, reamended, and then heard without the amendments being generally available, without time to consider them, and without committee hearing. I refer to the sales, income tax, and personal property tax bills — or the so-called Democratic tax package.

What has happened to the legislative process? It has been taken over by a Commissioner on the 7th floor of our state capitol who owns a mimeograph machine. Our Democratic House members have become leg men carrying the material prepared there to the house committees. Business people — and North Dakota industry and business — the targets of the seventh floor, have rightly asked by what right tax money — public money — is used for party bills, by party politicians, for party politics. They rightly ask why they should pay for the attack on business and industry. How much has been expended for the piles of amendments on amendments we have been treated to?

A party line, set by a central committee of the party composed of the party officials, and rubber stamped by the party is no less frightening in North Dakota than it is anywhere else. Rigid voting of the party line is no more attractive in North Dakota than it is elsewhere.

We think the Democrats should have heeded their leader's advice when he said mutual respect and good faith would be needed in this session. The public thinks so too.

Guy stated in his message to the legislature: "Route"

1. "I suggest a program of eventual elimination of all personal property taxes with the first steps being taken in this session.

We should begin by eliminating the tax on household goods, musical instruments and clothing."

2. "The people would have to concur in a constitutional amendment protecting the bonding capacity of political subdivisions before a complete elimination of the personal property tax could be brought about."
3. "It is better for local government to determine for itself the level of expenditures and the type of expenditures it chooses, using funds over which it has complete responsibility."
4. "Neither my office nor any other office in state government has adequate staff to conduct tax research."
5. "Only through careful study can we achieve a continual improvement in taxing equity and taxing methods."
6. "Action by the voters on referred and initiated measures these past few years indicates to me a steady rise in voter interest in government."

EVERY SINGLE ONE OF THE ABOVE STATEMENTS OF THE GOVERNOR HAS BEEN REPUDIATED BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN THE HOUSE INCLUDING THE ADDITIONAL STATEMENT.

"Mutual respect and good faith between political parties will be needed to achieve the progress so urgently required in this session."

Rep. Boustead:

"The Democrat Income Tax Plan, better known as House Bill No. 698, penalizes the most productive bracket of the state's economy. This measure, if allowed to become law, will drastically curtail the opportunity of investment choice. The proponents of this measure have as their prime objective the obligation of the taxpayer to the government first. It hits hard at that segment of our economy which even today is reeling backward from successive blows to its pocketbook in the form of budget cuts in the farm program, lower price supports, budgetary cuts in agricultural research and an administration that says 'we advocate a reduction in number of farms from the present three million plus to one million.'

We have heard, on many occasions, the proponents of House Bill No. 698 express the need for developing industry. It is my contention that this tax measure will do more, in just one fatal push of the voting machine button, to weaken any favorable business climate industry might enjoy in North Dakota than any other tax bill that will come before this body during this session. It embodies many factors that will 'cripple' industrial development, the very area which is so vital if we are to ever have hopes of broadening our tax base, which today is the key to government financing, education and service expansion.

House Bill No. 698 raises some income categories 100%. House Bill No. 698 lowers the man and wife exemption from $1500 to $1200. It will disallow the federal income tax as a deduction on state returns, which in effect, will be the establishment of a 'tax upon a tax.' It drastically increases the computation percentage, while at the same time lowering the taxable income categories.

House Bill No. 698 sets into motion general withholding, the direct effects of which will be shown in the form of IBM cards and machines, additional office hours for every employer in the form of payroll withholding, quarterly reports and year-end summaries; it will in time create the demands for additional office space and personnel in our tax department. One need only to look at our sister state to the east where you find a tax department housed in a five-story building, office space almost comparable to our entire capitol building, 530 employees and IBM machines row upon row. These are merely a few of the side benefits the taxpayer will accrue.

We would be vulnerable indeed, in the area of government financing, if we should make income tax the so-called 'hard core' tax for financing our state government. All of us know that agriculture is the backbone of our economy. We are also aware of the fact that it can fluctuate and how vulnerable we could be should we have two marginal crop years, back to back.

If all of this were not sufficient cause for concern with regard to that which House Bill No. 698 embodies, let us take heed of that which occurred on July 17, 1963. The electorate of this state, through the avenue of referral, proved by the overwhelming vote of 108,575 to 19,021, we want no part of such a tax program. The people today in answer to polls are turning it down in a resounding fashion, in fact, by approximately a 4 to 1 margin.

A political party, who just two years ago harshly criticized an almost identical approach to government financing, a Governor, who just two years ago saw fit to allow this almost identical tax package to become law over his silent protest in the form of denying it his signature, today are saying this is the answer.

I am proud and possess a deep sense of satisfaction in taking this means to inform the taxpayers of North Dakota that the Republicans in the North Dakota House of Representatives stand ready to represent the desires which they so vividly displayed in the privacy of the election booth on July 17, 1963.

It is amazing indeed that such a program which only two years ago was so unpalatable can now, almost overnight, become the answer to all problems. In order that the desires of the great majority of the taxpayers of North Dakota might be represented and projected to this gathering, I oppose House Bill No. 698."

Rep. Aamoth: "I want to ask Rep. Giffey a question and have it and the answer printed in the House Journal.

"Rep. Giffey, as floor leader for the majority and one of the sponsors of House Bill No. 698, would you please tell us, for the record, for the people of this great state of North Dakota, and for the members of the minority party, just what this bill before us, will bring in, in revenue, to the State of North Dakota?"

Rep. Giffey: "Mr. Speaker, I know that the fiscal note has been prepared and delivered to the Legislative Research Committee."

Rep. Aamoth: "Well, I would like it for the record."

Rep. Giffey: "Mr. Speaker, we had it checked with the Commissioner and he said it had been prepared and delivered to the Legislative Research Committee. I have never seen it."

Rep. Aamoth: "Well, the Legislative Research Committee is not the legislature. And we have before us the largest tax bill ever acted on, and we don't know what we are talking about. I think we should tell the people what we are asking them to pay — and we want it on the record!"

Rep. Giffey: "Does the desk force have it?"

Chief Clerk Haugen: "Yes."

Rep. Aamoth: "Well, if you will inform the majority floor leader, he may know what we are discussing and he can then give it to the House."

Rep. Giffey: "I will ask the Chief Clerk to read it."

And the fiscal note was read by the Chief Clerk as follows:

"NEW REVENUE IN HOUSE BILL 698:

Income tax: individual income tax, $6.9 million; corporate income tax, $2.7 million; expected increase in collections due to withholding, $800,000; shifting of income into this biennium due to withholding, $1.1 million.

Sales and use tax: total broadening to alcoholic beverages, tobacco products and additional services @ 2%, $5.2 million.

Special 1% sales and use tax for replacement of personal property taxes: biennial collections for this fund expected to be $22.2 million. Payment due from this fund January 1, 1967 will be about $12.5 million.

Bill appropriates $5.6 million for replacement of certain personal property replacement.

Net gain to general fund: $11.1 million."

Rep. Streibel requested a five minute recess which motion was withdrawn.

Rep. Streibel requested that a summation of questions which he has prepared be inserted in the House Journal, which request was granted.

Rep. Streibel:

"Let no one tell you that we are eliminating taxes! We are raising taxes! We will be spending $20 million to $30 million more than any legislature has spent in the history of our state. We will be raising the taxes in every category including insurance premiums, cigars, liquor, cigarettes, sales tax, broadening the sales tax to the point where it more appropriately is a 'labor tax', income tax, general withholding of income tax, real estate taxes, etc. All this, if you please, while still leaving a $7 million deficit in the general fund. All this, if you please, without any assurance whatsoever that local subdivisions of government will be in a position to finance their programs without additional revenue.

We, of the minority, rise not to oppose the elimination of the personal property tax. We rise only for the purpose of posing some questions, the answers to which are vague, undeterminable, and in some instances, unknown. As floor leader for the Republican minority, I feel it is my duty to appraise the taxpayers of North Dakota of the implications this can have in the areas of 'tax responsibility' and 'governmental subdivision financing.'

Won't the elimination of all personal property taxes severely reduce the legal debt limit of local governmental subdivisions?

What will be the legal status of outstanding debt if the debt limit is reduced below the amount of outstanding debt of, for instance, a local school district or a small municipality?

Tax levies supporting bond issues are scheduled in dollar amounts, paid in annual installments until the debt is completely amortized — such annual installments will automatically require a higher mill levy if part of the assessed or taxable valuation is taken away.

Won't the elimination of all personal property taxes shift much of the burden of financing or support of debt to real property?

Won't it be even more difficult for school districts to pass bond issues if the whole burden of such debt must be borne by real property only?

How would our economic cycles affect or influence the replacement taxes and what resulting effects would this have on financing local government?

If the replacement taxes now under consideration and the re-allocation of such revenue is based upon a formula that takes the average of the years 1963 and 1964, how would adjustments be made in the future for changes in the economy of local subdivisions of government?

How would a community that experienced a large industrial expansion similar to the Air Base installations at Minot and Grand Forks, the sugar beet plant at Drayton, and the generating facilities at Stanton, cope with meeting the needs and strains this would place upon their local economy?

The elimination of the personal property tax will likewise eliminate the need for local assessors, it will take away much of the taxing power of local subdivisions of government and make them more dependent than ever on state government. Are we not building a bigger and bigger state government at the expense of local government and the loss of 'home rule'?

What provision has been made for financing the medical school at the University of North Dakota?

What provision has been made to supplement the 21 mill county levy for educational financing?

What about the variance of uncollected personal property taxes which shows some subdivisions collecting all but two or three percent while others have an uncollectable factor of ten percent or more? Do we concur that it is equitable to penalize the subdivisions who have done a good job in order to subsidize those who have done a poor job?

How do you devise an equitable formula to cover the deviation that exists with regard to that portion of the total tax base that personal property represents, wherein you find a fluctuation of 15% in Morton County to 28% in Slope County?

The answers to these questions and many more, the Democrats are allowing to go by default. The taxpayers of North Dakota must be ready to accept this undetermined responsibility. We Republicans of the House want them to be aware of what could lie ahead."

Rep. Tweten:

"House Bill No. 653 when introduced by me was a simple bill to clarify the procedure and to allow the payment of taxes on trailer houses in four equal quarterly installments. This bill was referred to the Finance and Taxation committee January 20 and was heard shortly thereafter. Action on the bill was then delayed until the last day for hearings and an amendment was presented which deleted everything after the words 'A Bill.'

The majority then substituted a Senate Bill which had been definitely postponed in the Senate. This bill had a good hearing in the Senate and was opposed by a large number of people whom it would affect. Also, over 150 petitions were presented in opposition to this measure. To the best of my knowledge, the only supporter of this bill was the State Tax Commissioner. Had the majority wished to present this matter in the House they may have presented it as a delayed bill. They chose, rather, to substitute it under my name for these reasons.

Mr. Speaker, I move that the amendments to this bill not be adopted and that the bill be placed on the calendar without amendment."

So the bill was declared lost.

Rep. Brown: "Mr. Speaker, I have in my hand four yields which I would like to have printed in the House Journal."

Rep. Knudsen: "I yield to Rep. Fay Brown on House Bill No. 724."

Rep. Aamoth: "I yield to Rep. Fay Brown on House Bill No. 724."

Rep. Boustead: "I yield to Rep. Fay Brown on House Bill No. 724."

Rep. Wagner: "I yield to Rep. Brown on House Bill No. 724."

Rep. Brown:

"Mr. Speaker: I would ask to have my prepared remarks printed in the Journal.

At the outset, so there will be no misunderstanding or charges of personal interest: I own no stock in any public utility, nor am I a consumer user of Rural Electric-generated electricity. I am quite aware of the many Rural Electric Cooperative board members sitting in this chamber as legislators and also of the very capable and skilled attorneys, also members of this body, who also are retained as legal counsellors for R.E.A.'s.

The original intent of the public law creating Rural Electric service was one of the most beneficial laws ever enacted to serve mankind. It brought to rural inhabitants first electric energy, via low interest rates on appropriated funds out of the public treasury — and, if my memory serves me correctly, at the time of the passage of the R.E.A. Act, the Federal Government was borrowing money for about 1½% interest. In the ensuing years, Federal Government borrowing interest rates have increased to the present rate of about 3.78%. R.E.A. loans by the Government remain at 2%. Be that as it may, it appears that the 2% rate could still be justified IF R.E.A.'s had not departed from their proper purpose.

If I understand correctly, when an R.E.A. cooperative reaches a break-even point, any excess revenue shall be redistributed to its patron members, by reduced rates or patronage dividends in cash.

I find that in many cases this requirement is being circumvented, by issuing patronage dividend certificates and placing the cash earnings into a capital reserve fund — which fund is being used to buy Government bonds and commercial stocks; financing various enterprises by interest-bearing loans; and, if you please, have expanded into operated and managed enterprises outside the field of generating electric power and service. I have been informed by an unimpeachable source that one locally-owned R.E.A. cooperative has the exclusive franchise on U. S. Steel prefabricated houses and buildings.

On the other side of the coin, there are those conscientious, loyal, and appreciative small locally-owned R.E.A. co-ops that adhere strictly to the original purpose and intent of the R.E.A. public law. It is because of these locally-owned co-ops and in defense of privately-owned public utilities that I speak in opposition to House Bill No. 724.

Always we will have those whose greed and hunger for power transcend the welfare of the good of the individual, such as King Midas, lover of gold — who became so greedy that when visited by the god and granted the fulfillment of one wish, wished that everything he touched would turn to gold. And so it happened. But, lo and behold, he touched his only daughter, and immediately she turned to solid gold. By one touch he destroyed that dearest to him, his own flesh and blood.

Not only will House Bill No. 724 strangle public utilities, but it will destroy the very thing that the Rural Electric Act created to serve user-owned cooperatives and will turn them into public utilities.

This bill would amend the law so as to prevent a private electric utility company from extending its system beyond the point to which it is now built unless the NEAREST cooperative or R.E.A. utility consented to the extension. Section 3 of the Bill, beginning at line 60, prevents the Public Service Commission of the State from issuing any certificate unless the "nearest" electric cooperative shall "consent in writing to such extension." By this provision, the elected Public Service Commission, representing the public, is without power to protect the public, but is subject to the direction of the electric cooperative.

With 90 days after this Act became effective, the private utilities would have to file a map of all its customers outside of a municipality, and this map would then limit its customers outside the municipality to those shown on the map. Thus the whole state of North Dakota would, by this bill, be divided up, with all the territory except the present part served by the private utility handed forever to the electric cooperative, whether they serve it now or not.

No consideration is given in this bill to the particular problems involved in each situation, or the desires of the people who live in the various areas. They would have no choice but to take electricity from the nearest cooperative, when the cooperative chose to serve them. The Public Service Commission has no power over the cooperatives at all, either as to rates and charges or type of service.

Electric cooperatives are now permitted to serve non-members up to a number equal to 20% of their membership. (Sec. 10-13-03, N.D.C.C., as amended in 1961.) If this bill is passed, cooperatives will become the only power suppliers available to most of the area of North Dakota, but without any regulation of rates or service by the Public Service Commission or anyone else. Power companies have been accused many times of being monopolies, but this creates a monopoly by law of most of North Dakota in favor of the cooperatives, who claim they are not public utilities.

Section 6 of the bill, lines 130 to 132, provides that a cooperative 'shall not be deemed to be an electric public utility.' This clause is doubtless inserted to try to head off a court decision that because of what a cooperative does, it is a public utility whether it admits it or not. A number of courts have held that a cooperative has become in fact a public utility because of what it does and how it conducts its business. Dairyland Power Co-op v. Brennan, 82 N.W. Law 2d edit. 56, a 1957 Minnesota case.

The cooperatives say that this bill is a 'territorial integrity' bill. They say it is necessary to protect their service areas. But in fact it is questionable whether a cooperative has any service area at all when it claims it is not a public utility. If a cooperative claims to be the power supplier for any area and has the only right to service the public within such area, how can it claim that it is not a "public utility" and exempt from regulation by the Public Service Commission on behalf of the public? Whether or not an electric supplier is a public utility depends on the facts in the case, not a legislative declaration.

When the legislature is asked to enact a law for the particular benefit of a certain business — and the electric cooperatives are engaged in business — the legislative concern is whether or not the public rights are safeguarded. In the utility field the public is represented by the elected Public Service Commission, but here we are asked to handcuff the Public Service Commission and direct that it keep its hands off the cooperatives, whatever the facts of any situation might be in the future.

Electric cooperatives are given a favored tax treatment, and there is a reason for this when they are members only serving themselves; but if they are to become public power suppliers and given exclusive areas from which they can keep all other suppliers out, then what justification is there for the favored tax treatment? The end result will be the elimination of a part of the public utility tax base. There will no longer be the incentive to grow which has been responsible for the growth of business and the tax base.

The Federal law provides that loans at 2% will be made to electric cooperatives "for the furnishing of electric energy to persons in rural areas who are not receiving central station service" (Sec. 904, U.S.C.A., the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 as amended). This bill would, in effect, freeze most of the areas receiving central service and make it impossible for public utility companies to continue to grow and to furnish the electric energy we need for the attraction of industry.

There is no question that there is competition between the electric cooperatives and the public utilities; the proponents of this bill admit to that. If there is a need to regulate such competition in behalf of the public, then it should be regulated by the Public Service Commission; it is the only fair way to do it and the only way the public can be given any protection at all. To carve up the state and hand most of the area over for good to one of the electric suppliers is to eliminate any regulation on behalf of the consumer. He will then take the rates he gets and have no one to complain to, much less get any relief.

The only fair method of settling a dispute is to provide for a referee of some kind. This bill provides that one party to the dispute has the power of settling it without any referee; simple justice would recognize that this is wrong in principle. Such a bill as this may well turn out to be the worst thing that could happen for the electric cooperatives in North Dakota. This bill would take them far down the road toward being a public utility, whatever the bill says in Section 6. I do not believe the rank and file members of all the electric cooperatives in North Dakota realize the extent of this bill or would be in favor of it if they did.

I ask you to run to page 4 of the Bill, line 70, and listen to this language: "or unless, upon hearing before the commission, called upon notice, it shall be shown that the service required cannot be provided by an electric cooperative corporation."

This language completely defeats the intended purpose of the bill.

Historically speaking, R.E.A.'s have been instrumental in the passage of legislation since 1937 expressly aimed at keeping them from being subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission.

The quoted section of this bill with reference to statutes in other states and decisions on district and supreme court levels will permit evidence tending to inquire into economic and feasible abilities of an R.E.A. to serve in a disputed area.

House Bill 724 does not give any set of standards or a basis upon which to rule in the event a public utility should offer to show that an R.E.A. cannot provide service in a disputed area. Therefore, it can be concluded that when the matter comes before the Public Service Commission and an offer is made on behalf of a public utility to show "inadequacy," the Commission can, in the exercise of its discretion and if forced to do so, require the R.E.A. to be examined as to rates, economic stability, and every other area of internal structure.

If this is the case, the R.E.A.'s will undoubtedly be completely subject, in all things, to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission.

One who ignores history is a fool. The history of the attitude of utilities shows that the one thing they would desire above all things would be to inquire into the internal workings of an R.E.A. Under the proper circumstances this can be done and predicated directly in House Bill 724.

We as legislators should concern ourselves with the good of all.

Life is a series of compromises for agreement and compatibility.

Men of sound mind and reason can and should live together.

There is a purpose for R.E.A.'s, and there is a purpose for public utilities.

Let us not be the instrument that would fulfill the wish of a King Midas.

As you prepare to vote on House Bill 724, remember these lines:

THE MAN IN THE GLASS

Anonymous

When you get what you want in your struggle for self
 And the world makes you king for a day,
 Just go to a mirror and look at yourself,
 And see what that man has to say.
 For it isn't your father or mother or wife
 Whose judgment upon you must pass;
 The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
 Is the one staring back from the glass.

Some people may think you a straight-shootin' chum
 And call you a wonderful guy,
 But the man in the glass says you're only a bum
 If you can't look him straight in the eye.
 He's the fellow to please, never mind all the rest
 For he's with you clear up to the end,
 And you've passed your most dangerous, difficult test
 If the man in the glass is your friend.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of years
 And get pats on the back as you pass,

But your final reward will be heartaches and tears
If you've cheated the man in the glass."

Rep. Lundene asked to be excused from voting on House Bill No. 724.

Rep. Staven moved that Rep. Lundene be permitted to vote on House Bill No. 724, which motion prevailed.

House Bill No. 724. A Bill for an Act to amend and reenact sections 49-03-01 and 49-03-05 of the North Dakota Century Code relating to certificates of public convenience and necessity and complaints thereto, and for limitations on electric public utilities serving customers in designated areas.

"As Mayor of a city and a large user of R.E.A. and a customer, I feel that both are needed. In our city the power company is one of our largest taxpayers. Paying $6,865.00 in 1963.

We need both R.E.A. — and Public Utilities — there is a place for both. I do not feel the legislature is the place to decide territory rights. This should be done in the Public Service Commission, in the same manner as territory disputes with the Railroads and Trucks.

Had this bill provided for such a provision, so we would not in cities be found with part of the people on one rate, the other on a rate not protected by the Public Service Commission, I would have supported the bill, as written I must vote against the bill."

Rep. Knudsen:

"In no way do I want my negative vote on House Bill No. 724 to be construed as any opposition to the humanitarian service rendered by R.E.A. cooperatives. My main concern is that the giants of R.E.A., a generating organization, are completely ignoring the original purpose of the R.E.A. "member-user" and the entity of the locally-owned cooperative utilities. I would certainly never be a part of denying rural America electric service. Neither would I be a part of the strangulation, by discriminatory legislation, to prohibiting the exercise of free and competitive enterprise."

House Bill 726. A Bill for an Act to amend and reenact sections 10-13-01 and 10-13-04 relating to purposes of electric co-operatives and members of electric co-operatives.

So the bill was declared lost.

Rep. Loerch:

"It is my opinion that this bill is unfair for these reasons:

1. It discriminates against some business men who I think are honest, sincere in their dealings with the sub-division of the State of North Dakota and the state itself.

2. We have the Accounts and Purchases department using bids to purchase the needs of the state. Also some of our political subdivisions take advantage of this buying price.

3. Part of this law refers to stockholders of corporations. I am aware that these are a group of companies banded under one banner doing business with the State of North Dakota. Now let me state I sincerely believe that these members of these companies or company are honest and sincere as any one else in the State of North Dakota but because of the nature of their setup it is possible for them with the great number of members that they have throughout North Dakota that they in the future could well control the vote of this legislature. I have faith in their integrity that they would never misuse this privilege if the occasion should occur. Therefore, I would not recommend legislation to lower this 5%. I firmly believe that it is time to remove this bill from our law books. For if a situation should ever arise when someone tries to line their pocketbook through corruption I am sure this legislature with the assistance of our courts could well take care of it."

House Bill No. 754. A Bill for an Act to create and enact subsection 26 of Section 52-01-01, and to amend and reenact subsections 6, 7 and 25 of section 52-01-01, sections 52-01-04, 52-02-01, 52-06-14, 52-08-03, 52-09-03, subsection d of section 52-10-02 and to repeal sections 52-08-04, 52-08-05, 52-08-06 and 52-08-07, of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to definitions and creation of Employment Security Bureau.

So the bill passed and the title was agreed to.

Representative Bryce Streibel:

"Mr. Speaker: I rise on a point of personal privilege and request that my remarks be printed in the Journal and that the question I put and the replies given, likewise be printed in the Journal. The minority was denied the request to divide the question on House Bill 698 and we are using this media to put into the record our vote on a portion of this issue.

I will pose a question which will represent a specific division of House Bill 698, and ask that the replies of each Republican House member be affixed thereto."

"I will poll the Republican House members on sections 2, 3, 4, and 5, and the repeal of subsections 9, 10, and 11 of section 57-02-05, and sections 18-03-09, 37-01-27, 57-15-23, and chapters 57-03 and 57-31 as contained in section 38 of the amendments to House Bill No. 698 divided from the remainder of the sections contained therein and considered separately. These sections relate to the repeal of the personal property tax and are distinct and divisible from the remaining sections.

Do you favor the repeal of the personal property tax?"

Speaker Link ruled a poll by Rep. Streibel on a point of personal privilege out of order.

Speaker Link informed Rep. Streibel that any member may rise on a point of personal privilege and state his point, whereupon the following members rose on a point of personal privilege to indicate that each individually favored the repeal of the personal property tax:

Aamoth	Dornacker	Johnson, G.V.	Schaeffer
Bier	Duncan	Knudsen	Stockman
Bilden	Elkin	Lang	Streibel
Boustead	Fossum	Larsen	Tough
Bowman	Frank	Miller	Tweten
Brown	Froeschle	Mueller	Unruh
Christopher	Ganser	Olienyk	Wagner
Coles	Hickle	Powers, Barnes	Wastvedt
Cannolly	Hilleboe	Reimers	Welder
Davis	Johnson,	Rivinius	Wentz
Dick	Barnes

Reps. Rundle and Whittlesey rose on the same point of personal privilege to indicate their opposition to repeal of the personal property tax.

Rep. Meschke:

"Yesterday, the minority leader told us that he did not oppose repeal of the personal property tax. However, he went on to place eleven (11) questions in the House Journal on pages 706 and 707, and I believe that it is significant that his questions related only to the personal property tax.

It seems to me that these questions reflect either opposition or a lack of understanding. Assuming the latter, it seems appropriate to specifically answer these questions.

These are in prepared form, and I request their entry in the Journal.

Under the carefully planned program of personal property tax elimination provided for in House Bill No. 698, the bonding capacities of our political subdivisions will remain the same as they are today. House Concurrent Resolution "Z" and House Bill No. 836 provide for increasing the bonding capacity and the payment of bonds from sources other than property taxes. This means that future replacement revenue can share in the amortization of bonds and increased real estate taxes will be avoided.

Since House Bill No. 698 does not contemplate that real estate will have to pick up new bonded indebtedness, it shouldn't be difficult for school districts to approve bond issues.

The economic cycles of the state will in no way affect the replacement revenue since the state is guaranteeing the payment of the replacement revenue. The state has a much broader base of taxation than local government and is in a better position to guarantee tax revenue than local government.

House Bill No. 698 contemplates the use of 1964 and 1965 as a basis for replacement revenue. It is unfortunate that the minority floor leader had not read the bill carefully enough to observe this before recording his question. If there are future changes in the economy of local government, then succeeding legislative assemblies should be called upon to meet these changes. The economy of the state has changed since 1890 and it is time that we changed the horse and buggy personal property tax. Let us do it in this session. I am sure that future legislative assemblies will be able, and willing, to do better at the task of meeting changes than past sessions.

Personal property tax provides no particular protection for any community in the event of increased economic activity due to an industrial development or expansion of population. These changes are borne primarily by other programs, of which personal property is a fractional part.

Increased school needs are met by the school foundation program. This program has been increasing its support to local education. Highway construction is borne primarily by the state highway department. If federal projects are involved, federal money is available to meet a large part of the needs created. If such developments result in new — please note the word new — housing, then the new housing will share with the other real estate.

The role of personal property taxes in meeting obligations of the projects suggested are insignificant. The new factory will be taxed as real estate and will add considerably to the property base. Factory type developments usually result in residential construction and personal property on household goods has never been a significant part of the tax base in these situations.

To suggest that local government has 'home rule' or taxing power is erroneous. The taxing power of local government is now rigidly controlled by the legislative assembly and the premise that local government is losing 'home rule' is completely fallacious. The mill rates are controlled. The spending is controlled. The officers are controlled. There should be more home rule than there is.

It is strictly a matter of judgment whether a local right is involved or not. I don't consider it a "right" to be forced to assess a farmer for his combine when he has no crop or to assess a businessman on his inventory when he is on the brink of bankruptcy. It is a situation where the local government is compelled to levy and collect an unjust tax. Elimination of the personal property tax will enable local government to do a better, more equitable job on real estate.

House Bill 698 takes on major steps in the total program of adjusting the tax structure as it relates to personal property. The revenue source is changed from property to state-collected. No doubt, the replacement system will need to be changed as times change.

The medical school levy will be deducted before the funds are paid to the political subdivisions. This is provided for and will not decrease the share of the political subdivisions.

The 21-mill levy will receive its "dollar for dollar" share just like every other levy made by every political subdivision.

The minor point of discounting the levy by 5% hardly deserves an answer. It is petty and suggests that even insignificant adjustments be provided for in this session. This will give most of the counties more than they collected now and it will reduce some counties by a few dollars.

Regarding the variance from county to county in the amount of personal property being taxed in each county, we are matching them dollar for dollar. Any other method would seriously injure some counties and help others. We cannot afford to radically change the amount of revenue each political subdivision will get. This system will be used until better formulas are devised. We believe in crossing one bridge at a time.

The opposition is so caught up with its search for a perfect tax with perfect solutions that it is blinded to the gross inequities that exist in personal property taxation. Perhaps the dollar for dollar replacement is objectionable to them but I respectfully submit that it is not as inequitable as the present personal property tax administration.

It takes courage and determination to move ahead. The Democratic-NPL and, I am sure, the people of North Dakota have had enough stalling and studying. It is time to move."

DONNELL HAUGEN, Chief Clerk

FORTY-THIRD DAY AFTER RECESS, FORTY-FOURTH AND FORTY-FIFTH DAYS

Bismarck, February 18, 1965

The House reconvened at the Call of the Chair, with Speaker Link presiding.

Speaker Link called Rep. Giffey to the Chair.

Speaker Link:

"Members of the Assembly — This House has just completed many hours of legislative work and debate on committee reports and bills.

One of the longest debates I have ever experienced occurred on Tuesday afternoon when the House considered an amendment to House Bill No. 698.

This amendment begins under Section 1 as follows:

"SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE — DECLARATION OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT.)

1. This Act may be referred to as "The 1965 Act for Tax Simplification and Equalization".
2. It is the intent of the legislative assembly to equalize, in part, taxation by replacing taxes on personal property, to the extent provided in this Act, with taxes on incomes, with privilege taxes on building and loan associations and on banks and trust companies, and with retail sales taxes and excise or used taxes.

It is the further intent of the legislative assembly to simplify the state income tax laws so that every person, including every corporation, required to file a North Dakota income tax return is able to compute the amount of income tax liability, if any, to this state in the easiest and most simple way feasible."

Representative Streibel, as Minority Floor Leader, requested that the amendment to House Bill No. 698 be divided to be voted on. This required a decision from me as Speaker and upon a question from me Representative Streibel stated that he planned to divide the amendment into eight parts. I thereupon announced that House Bill No. 698 deals entirely with the one subject of taxation so the amendment cannot be divided under Rule 23.

It was not my desire to be arbitrary or deny the minority any rights that are theirs. The Speaker has a responsibility to assure orderly processing of measures before the House and I could not see that dividing the amendment to House Bill No. 698 would accomplish this. Whenever the rules of our House do not speak, we are governed by the rules of the United States House of Representatives.

Section 480 under the heading, "DIVISION OF THE QUESTION", speaks thus:

"If a question contain more parts than one, it may be divided into two or more questions. But not as the right of an individual member, but with the consent of the House. For who is to decide whether a question is complicated or not — where it is complicated — into how many propositions it may be divided?"

Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, which our Senate uses, says in Sec. 314, "PRECEDENCE AND RULES GOVERNING DEMAND FOR A DIVISION."

"3. Whether a proposition contains two or more subjects is a question to be decided by the presiding officer in the first instance but that decision is subject to appeal."

This is what was done in the case of the request to divide the amendment to House Bill No. 698.

I ask not that everyone agree with the decision of the Speaker. I ask only that you consider the responsibility of the Speaker and the propriety of the course of his actions in light of the foregoing.

Most of all I hope that we can all agree that we are fortunate to have a form of government whereunder no matter how violently we may disagree we can resolve those differences in a peaceful manner."

Speaker Link returned to the Chair.

Rep. Rundle:

"Mr. Speaker: I have consistently been against the continuance of the present personal property tax and I voted no on an unofficial proposal last night thinking I was registering a protest against the present personal property tax.

I am in favor of repealing the present personal property tax, although I will not pay too high a price in other taxes to get it repealed."
