CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA OF 1972

RESOLUTION No. R

Introduced by Committee on Resolutions

1 A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the 2 State Library Commission and its employees for the many 2a services
3 rendered to the delegates, committees and staff.

5 WHEREAS, the State Library Commission has been most 6 cooperative during both the interim and plenary session in 6a providing
7 individual delegates with historical material on the North
7a Dakota
8 constitution of 1889, which appeared in various newspaper
9 articles; and

10 WHEREAS, the State Library Commission built up a large
11 collection of books, pamphlets, documents, research papers and 12 other materials on state constitutions in general and made this 12a all
13 available to the staff of this Convention as well as to the 14 committees and delegates; and

15 WHEREAS, these services added greatly to the success of the 16 delegates in drafting the document which is the proposed
17 constitution of 1972;

18 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH
18a DAKOTA

19 CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

20 That the North Dakota Constitutional Convention express its 21 appreciation to the State Library Commission and its employees
22 for all the services rendered to the delegates, committees and 23 staff of the Convention, during both the interim and plenary
23a session.

24 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of the resolution 24a be for-
25 warded to the State Library Commission at Bismarck, North
25a Dakota.

The question then was on the final adoption of Resolution No. R, which was adopted on a voice vote.

President Wenstrom requested unanimous consent of the convention to consider Resolution P, which request was granted.

Delegate Unruh requested unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Resolution No. P, which request was granted.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Delegate Byrne requested that the following remarks be printed in the Journal.

Delegate Byrne:

“Mr. President:

“A short time ago, the widow of the late State Senator William R. Reichert, Stark County, wrote to me after reviewing some of the personal files of Senator Reichert.

"Among these items was the Convention badge of his grandfather, William Ray, who was a delegate to the 1889 North Dakota Constitutional Convention.

"Mrs. Reichert asked me to present the badge to the officers of this 1972 Constitutional Convention and that it become a part of the permanent records of this Convention. I hereby submit it to you.

"This should be of particular interest to the delegates because of the major role played by Senator Reichert on behalf of Constitutional Revision. One of the few times in the history of the North Dakota Senate, Senator Reichert, a member of the minority, was elected Chairman by the majority to head the Committee on Constitutional Revision. We should pay a late tribute to him for the part he played in developing interest in the field of constitutional reform."

MOTION

Delegate Unruh moved that the final draft of the Constitution as presented in the following Procedural Committee Report be not read from the desk, which motion prevailed.

This article shall not be published as a part of the constitution after adoption.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 1A. Two-house legislature (Bicameral)

If the electors approve alternate proposition 1A and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then the following shall comprise Article IV, Legislative Branch:

Section 1. LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

The legislative power of the state is vested in a legislature consisting of a senate, composed of not more than forty-nine members, and a house of representatives, composed of not more than ninety-eight members, which jointly are designated as the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota.

Section 2. TERMS OF OFFICE.

Members of the legislative assembly shall be elected for terms of four years.

Section 3. QUALIFICATIONS.

Each person elected to the legislative assembly must be, on the day of his election, an elector in the district from which he is chosen.

Section 4. RESTRICTIONS.

While serving in the legislative assembly, no member may hold any full-time elective state or political subdivision office nor any full-time appointive state office established by this constitution or designated by law. During the term for which he was elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any full-time office which has been created, or for which the compensation has been increased, by the legislative assembly during that term.

Section 5. REAPPORTIONMENT.

A legislative reapportionment commission, consisting of electors appointed by the district judges in a number and manner as shall be established by the district judges, shall fix the number of senators and representatives and divide the state into as many senatorial districts of compact and contiguous territory as there are senators. The commission shall guarantee, as nearly as practicable, that every voter is equal to every other voter in the state in the casting of ballots for legislative candidates. One senator and at least two representatives shall be apportioned to each senatorial district and be elected at large or from subdistricts thereof. The commission may combine two senatorial districts and provide for the election of senators at large and representatives at large or from subdistricts thereof.

The commission shall prescribe its own procedures. Upon agreement by a majority of its members, the commission shall file its reapportionment plan with the secretary of state, and it shall become effective sixty days after the date of filing; provided, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission. If the plan fails to meet state or federal constitutional requirements, the court shall direct the commission to revise the plan within a stated time.

Commission members shall be appointed following adoption of this constitution and immediately following the 1980 general election and every ten years thereafter. No member of the legislative assembly shall be eligible, during his term of office, for appointment to the commission. Commission members shall serve until each reapportionment plan becomes finally effective, and shall be compensated as provided by law. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

Section 7. SESSIONS.

The terms of legislators shall begin on the first Tuesday after the third day of January following their election. The legislative assembly shall meet to organize on the same day and may meet in plenary session no more than eighty natural days during the biennium. The days need not be consecutive, and meetings for the purpose of impeachment or on call of the governor shall not count against the eighty-day limitation. The legislative assembly may authorize its committees to meet at any time during the biennium. Neither house may recess or adjourn for more than three days without consent of the other.

Section 8. PROCEDURES.

The senate and the house of representatives shall each elect one of its members presiding officer at the beginning of each regular session.

If two or more candidates for the same office receive an equal and highest number of votes, the secretary of state shall choose one of them by lot.

Each house shall determine its rules of procedure, and may punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence. With the concurrence of two-thirds of its elected members, either house may expel a member.

The presiding officer of each house shall sign all bills passed and resolutions adopted by the legislative assembly, and the fact of signing shall be entered at once on the journal.

Every law enacted by the legislative assembly shall take effect on July first after its filing with the secretary of state or ninety days after its filing, whichever comes later, or on a subsequent date if specified in the law; unless, by a separate vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the legislative assembly declares it an emergency measure and includes the declaration in the act. An emergency measure shall take effect upon its filing with the secretary of state or on a date specified in the measure. Every law enacted by a special session of the legislative assembly shall take effect on a date specified in the act.

REPORT OF PROCEDURAL COMMITTEE

Mr. President:

Your Committee on Style and Drafting recommends that the Convention take no further action on the following proposals for the reason that each proposal has now been incorporated in the final draft:

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposals Numbered 5-2, 5-3, 5-4, 5-5, 5-7, 5-8, 5-9, 5-10, 5-13, 5-14, 5-15, 5-16 and Committee Proposal No. 1-121.

DELEGATE UNRUH, Chairman

Delegate Unruh moved that the report be adopted, which motion prevailed.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Delegate Hernett requested that the following remarks be printed in the Journal.

Delegate Hernett:

"Mr. President:

"As you know, I have been a committee chairman in this convention and am proud of the work my committee did and the long hours they spent, but I am sure I can speak for all the committee chairman and all of the delegates when I express my thanks and admiration to the members of the Style and Drafting Committee chaired by Delegate Unruh.

"When the session started I think I, and others, had no real conception of the work Style and Drafting would have to do. As the session progressed I began to see the tremendous responsibilities they were charged with. When they completed their Style and Drafting redrafts which were submitted to the committees, I was amazed at the few changes that the committees found necessary to make.

"Certainly no other group of people worked longer and with more scrupulous concern than did that committee. In addition to their own committee functions, they spent endless hours these last two weeks working weekends, including Sundays, recess days and evenings, perfecting the work of the Convention. The patience they demonstrated in hearing every request and attempting a solution to every problem within the scope of their assignment was highly commendable. Even when their drafts were presented to the floor and changes were made by the Convention, changes that were not always good, they never complained but patiently went back to their work, and Mr. President, I would like to express the thanks of the Convention to this committee."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Delegate Rundle moved that the following remarks of Delegate Cart be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Delegate Cart: "Mr. President:

"When we met at Mary College in December, 1970, we listened to a number of people who were brought in from out of state who no doubt had great talent and so forth. We proceeded from there, but we selected our own staff from our own people of North Dakota, and I think that was one of the wisest things we ever did. We have one of the best staffs I have ever seen assembled for a long period of time. They have worked diligently, they know the state and all of its people, and the real credit for a lot of the work that has come out of this convention should be given to this excellent staff recruited in North Dakota. One of the staff I can almost claim as my boy — at least Roy Gilbreath and my daughter went through the Bismarck schools together.

"This staff has done an outstanding job."

President Wenstrom declared the Convention would stand recessed until 1:15 p.m.

The Convention reconvened with President Wenstrom presiding.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Delegate Trenbeath announced his presence at the Convention.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Delegate Litten requested that the chair recognize Delegate Pearce, that he be allowed the privilege of the rostrum, and that the same courtesy be extended to Mrs. Wenstrom, which request was granted.

Delegate Litten moved that the following remarks of Delegate Pearce be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Delegate Pearce: "Mr. President, Mrs. Wenstrom and Fellow Delegates:

"By pledging my life, I obtained from the Secretary of State the Journal of the 1889 Convention, and I found on the next to the last day on Friday, August 16, 1889, the following resolution was introduced:

"WHEREAS, The Hon. F. B. Fancher, President of this Convention, has in his trying position as our presiding officer, a situation of great delicacy and responsibility, acquitted himself with uniform courtesy, eminent fairness and infinite patience; and

"WHEREAS, It is an honored and beautiful custom on the final adjournment of deliberative assemblies of this character to donate by resolution to honored and respected presiding officers, the chair they have occupied and the gavel they have wielded; therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, That as a token of our respect and confidence, we hereby order that the Chair he has so honorably filled and the gavel he has so ably and impartially wielded, be and is hereby presented to Hon. F. B. Fancher, President of the Constitutional Convention of North Dakota, assembled at Bismarck July 4, 1889."

"With great diligence, I pursued the possibility of giving the President his chair. I discovered the Convention does not own it, and under no circumstances can we give you the chair. However, at the opening of this convention there were two gavels made by the School for the Deaf. This was the gavel that has inscribed on it 'Constitutional Convention, State of North Dakota, 1971-1972' and which was used at the opening of this Convention. While Frank already had possession of it, I find no document giving him title. Therefore, the first thing I want to do on behalf of the Convention is present to you, President Wenstrom, this gavel as a symbol of the authority you have heretofore wielded.

"I am not through.

"Now, I hope you attended carefully the language I read from the 1889 Journal. The same language would be appropriate here. Frank, you have occupied this position as our presiding officer, a situation of great delicacy and responsibility, and clearly, no one could have acquitted himself with greater uniform courtesy, eminent fairness and infinite patience, and I can think of no new words to express any better what we all feel. The manner in which you have presided has contributed a great deal to the success of this convention.

"I also notice that this is the first time I have been up here since the convention started, despite my exalted position as Vice President, and I want the Convention to know that it was not Frank's fault I have not been sitting up here. On many occasions he has summoned me, but I have successfully resisted.

"Since we could not give Frank the chair, we did want Frank to have something permanent to express our appreciation, so the Delegates have had prepared, and I wish to present to you, Frank, this plaque in the shape of the State of North Dakota, 'North Dakota Constitutional Convention 1972' over the seal of the State of North Dakota, 'Frank A. Wenstrom, President. In appreciation for your skillful leadership, patience, dignity, and high sense of purpose shown throughout the building of a new Constitution for this great state from ninety-seven grateful delegates.'"

President Wenstrom: "Thank you so very much, Vice President Pearce and fellow delegates.

"I believe I know something about what Mark Anthony felt when he said in that Shakespeare play 'Julius Ceasar', when he said at the grave of Brutus, 'I must pause until my heart comes back to me.'

"This is a tremendous experience.

"It would be quite out of character if I were not deeply touched by your many acts of good will. The many kind words which have been said of me on this occasion cause me to blush with embarrassment. I could not, without vanity, assume that I merit such praise. I cannot deny, however, that I have tried to discharge my duties as your president, to the best of my ability. I can only thank you delegates for your belief that I have made some approach to the ideal of a good president. I am profoundly grateful to the 97 delegates who helped me serve this constitution.

"Fellow Delegates, as Bill stated to you, I have tried on numerous occasions to get Bill up and preside. The privilege of presiding at a Constitutional Convention is something that does not happen every day, and I was really happy that Bill told you that I had tried to get him to preside. The other thing that has happened today that I have often tried to do before and I have always failed is to get my wife to come up to the rostrum and sit with me. That I have not been able to do, so Bill, in spite of the fact that I have not been able to get you to preside at a session, you were able to do this. It was very evident after that one time I stopped the convention to read a special announcement that my wife wished to make, it is very evident just who does run the Wenstrom household."

Delegate Litten requested that the chair recognize Delegate Saugstad, which request was granted.

Delegate Litten moved that the following remarks of Delegate Saugstad be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Delegate Saugstad: "President Wenstrom: I have been asked to present to the various chairmen of the various committees that have functioned throughout the plenary session and also to the staff members Certificates of Commendation. I believe we have had what I think are exceptional and unusual participation by each and every delegate. We have had, I feel, the utmost co-operation from everyone. We have had tremendous response from our staff. I think we have had good direction from the Executive Director, the Assistant Director and the professional staff. We have had, I think an excellent staff from top to bottom, and it is impossible for us to single out and make special mention of the various individuals for the many wonderful things each and every one has done.

"I, for one, am extremely proud of our entire staff. As I read off the names, a page will pick up the Certificate of Commendation and deliver it to the person mentioned.

"William R. Pearce, First Vice President

"Lois Vogel, Secretary

"Donnell Haugen, Chairman of the Committee on Finance and Taxation

"S. F. Hoffner, Chairman of the Committee on Legislative Functions

"Ralph Maxwell, Chairman of the Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage

"Gail Hernet, Chairman of the Committee on Executive Functions

"Roland Meidinger, Chairman of the Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands

"George Longmire, Chairman of the Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions

"George Unruh, Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting

"Fred Scheel, Chairman, Committee on Resolutions

"John D. Paulson, Co-chairman of the Committee on Public Information

"Richard Dobson, Co-chairman of the Committee on Public Information

"Agnes Geelan, Chairman of the Committee on Rules

"James R. Dawson, Chairman of the Committee on Ballot

"Joseph Byrne, Chairman of the Committee on Coordination and Transition

"Ailsa Simonson, Chairman of the Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal

"C. Warner Litten, Chairman of the Committee on Employment

"John Decker, Chairman of the Committee on Photography

"Leroy Erickson, Chairman of the Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing

"Dean Bard, Executive Director

"David Peterson, Assistant Executive Director

"Roy Gilbreath, Chief Clerk

"Leo Leidholm, Assistant Chief Clerk

"J. Vernon Asheim, Proposal Clerk

"Barbara King, Desk Reporter

"Michael H. Keedy, Committee Counsel

"Dwight S. Cuffe, Committee Counsel

"J. A. Gilje, Information Director

Delegate Litten requested that the President recognize Delegate Scheel, which request was granted.

Delegate Litten moved that the following remarks of Delegate Scheel be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Delegate Scheel: "Mr. President:

"I think a few of you will hark back to the days when the Second Lieutenants were called the 'Ninety-Day Wonders.' Assembled here among us are a lot of 'sixty-day wonders,' and we have ripened awfully fast. Of course, there are a lot of old sergeants and old veterans and old colonels in this too, but I think the man to whom I am about to present this Certificate of Commendation deserves a little bit of special mention.

"I know I heard from the mouths of others and certainly it was my experience that he presented and gave confidence to a lot of delegates when we came in here in that organizing session, during the work that ensued and during the interim. Secondly, he was a friend, I know, to delegates here. I have heard from a lot of different people, and I know I personally experienced it. My wife got a letter telling how I was doing, what I ought to be doing down here, instead of telling what I hadn't ought to be doing, which was reassuring to her, I think.

"Third, he has been chairman of our Calendar Committee, and I think you can see just exactly how well this thing is working out. All during these days, starting when we first were at the symposium at Mary College we were told we just couldn't do it in that amount of time, and then as committees would come out here to Bismarck, and it would be either a rainy day or a sunshiny day, but the remarks were always the same — 'You just can't do it in that amount of time.' The other day he showed me the calendar, and it looked to me like it had been written by a Monday morning quarterback — everything worked out just beautifully.

"Then, of course, he has been acting President of this organization at times, relieving Frank Wenstrom.

"The fourth thing — I think we have a little extra time — and I would just like to recite this. When I was in service, I lived in a quonset hut, and each night the enemy would come down over the island and you could hear the sirens starting at the North end of the island coming all the way down the island, and the anti-aircraft guns would go off one after the other, but I never really thought too much about it. But, one day unbeknownst to us, during the day they moved an anti-aircraft gun — a 90 mm. gun — right in next to the quonset, and so we heard them all start down the line like this, and when that one went off right next to the quonset hut, there wasn't a fellow in there that wasn't on his belly in just an instant. And, I think the first time when I heard the first 'no' vote come out of my compatriot delegate here on the right, I didn't really know what happened. It just took us six inches off the chair because he made up for twenty-five around here who didn't know exactly which way they wanted to vote because he and Roy Gilbreath have got the voices you just heard here to undo us all.

"But I think lastly that his constituents in Minot and around Minot can be mighty proud of the man they sent down here and became our Second Vice President. With this I will present this to you, Stanley Saugstad."

Delegate Litten requested that the President recognize Executive Staff Director Dean Bard, which request was granted.

Delegate Litten moved that the following remarks of Executive Director Bard be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Executive Director Bard: "Mr. President:

"It is a great pleasure for me to make this presentation, and I feel deeply honored in being permitted to do so. During all the time the staff has been associated with the Convention, it has been a real pleasure to serve President Wenstrom. We have not always agreed on how we felt things should be done. In all these instances, your President has listened patiently to us, and given our views the weight they deserved. On occasion we have had to work long hours to complete our tasks, but with the understanding we have received, it has made the load lighter.

"He has truly been a wonderful person to work for, and we will miss the association after the special election is over.

"Speaking of the special election brings me to the small token of our appreciation the staff wishes to present to President Wenstrom today. But, before I do, I want to say a word about it, as it has a special significance for us. It is in the form of a ballot, and it is inscribed as follows:

"To President Wenstrom from your staff

Dean Bard
David Peterson
Michael Keedy
Dwight Cuffe
Arnie Gilje
Mary Alice Simonson
Barbara Benish
Mary Lee
Jane Thoemke
Marian Ehli
Donna Heisler'

"Now, we have done something else on this plaque that we think is fitting and appropriate: We have anticipated the results of the special election and marked the 'Yes' box on the mock ballot accordingly. We think this will be a fitting memento to what we feel will be a favorable vote by the electors on the product built by you and your fellow delegates, President Wenstrom, and we hope in years to come this token of our esteem will remind you of this fact."

President Wenstrom: "May I again say a word of appreciation to my friends on the staff along with the people who again make it so difficult for me to talk. I sincerely appreciate this — another beautiful momento of one of the most wonderful experiences in my life — that of serving in this Constitutional Convention."

Delegate Peterson: "Mr. President:

"I think there is one more announcement or expression of gratitude, and that is to our John Q. Public of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention. We have had a gentleman who has attended every committee meeting of the Education Committee throughout the summer and, further, he has worked diligently and been very interested and we have had many times when we needed the public participation. Therefore, our committee for fun and because we truly feel he deserved it, we prepared a resolution in our committee and presented it to R. J. Sailer."

Delegate Dawson: "Mr. President:

"I would at this time like the Convention to recognize the work of the League of Women Voters for their publications and newsletters."

INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTION

The Resolutions Committee introduced:

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

Delegate Cart: "Mr. President:

"I voted no because I have doubts about two divisions of the new Constitution that have been approved. I feel the Executive Branch and the Legislative Branch have been substantially removed from the general public."

Delegate Hubrig: "Mr. President:

"I take this opportunity to explain my vote of No. I have no alternative but to vote no, as I truthfully feel I could not have gone back to my people and tell them I voted for the Constitution that I myself could not believe in.

"I want one thing understood. I have no animosity against anyone who voted against what I thought should have been voted for. This has probably been one of the hardest jobs I have had to do in a long time — to come here and have to vote no. I did, and I am going to be honest with my people, and I am sure the people who sent me here will understand the position I am in, and I pray, 'God, Grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, and the courage to change the things I can.'"

Delegate Rundle: "Mr. President:

"I also would like to explain my vote. No hard feelings whatsoever. I intended all the way through to tell the people in my district to whom I owe my entire allegiance that there are many good things in this new document. There are some that I do not like, and I am going to tell them — they know how I voted, and I will tell them to vote as they please. I would like you to know I didn't want to vote, but I stayed here and voted. At my age I could have ducked out."

Delegate Stanton: "Mr. President:

"I voted no because it is an unnecessary motion. It is not a complete document. I think there is a lot of good in there, and something not so good, and it is for the people of North Dakota to make the ultimate decision."

Delegate Dobson: "Mr. President:

"The delegates to North Dakota's 1889 Constitutional Convention wrote a good constitution for their times. But times have changed greatly in the last 82½ years, and the people have recognized that North Dakota needs a new constitution. This convention is proposing to the people the 1972 constitution.

"It is a constitution that honors the past, provides for the present and looks to the future.

"It is a constitution that has been shorn of obsolete and redundant provisions, statutory detail and surplus verbiage.

"It is a constitution that provides for sweeping away the complex and expensive spiderweb of bureaucracy that now burdens state government and replacing it with a governmental structure that would be responsive, efficient and economical.

"It is a constitution that preserves — and, in many cases, expands — every right guaranteed to the people under the old document.

"It is a constitution that is progressive and innovative, comparatively brief, easy to read and easy to understand.

"It is, in sum, a constitution that will place North Dakota at the forefront in the rank of states, a constitution that will serve, in many respects, as a model for other states to emulate, a constitution that every North Dakotan can proudly claim as his own.

"Therefore, I voted 'Yes.'"

Delegate Pearce: "Mr. President:

"May I explain my yes vote. You might have noticed that it sounded a little weak. I voted yes because a no vote would have been misinterpreted. I did not feel that the question that we voted on was a proper one. I do not feel that the vote of 93 adopted the Constitution. I thought all that we could do is submit what we had done. My real vote is on the various proposals as recorded in the Journal — my yes votes. We must send it out for the people for their ultimate adoption or rejection."

Delegate Paulson moved that 10,000 copies of the Constitution be printed in the type as used in today's Journal, and that ten copies be sent to every delegate, which motion prevailed.

Delegate Pearce moved that the officers of the convention be directed by the body of this Convention to sign and execute a Certification of the Document we have now put together which will ultimately then be forwarded to the Secretary of State for submission to the people, and as a part of that ceremony, each of the delegates may be invited to come by the desk and also sign the document, which motion prevailed.

The 1972 Constitution was then signed by the Delegates of the Constitutional Convention except Delegates Baker, Benz and Butler.

ANNOUNCEMENT

President Wenstrom announced he is rescinding his appointment of the Public Information Subcommittee on Coordination of Delegates Paulson, Diehl and Omdahl.

Delegate Longmire moved that the following remarks of President Wenstrom be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

President Wenstrom:

"It is not my purpose at this hour to weary you with a long speech. It would be a poor reward to you in return for the great honor you have shown me by electing me President of this Constitutional Convention and in that capacity being privileged to serve as your presiding officer.

"I do wish to express to you, the delegates to this convention, my sincere appreciation for the continuous cooperation and assistance which you have given me while serving as your president. Your support has not been passive or mere approval: It has been spontaneous, active and enthusiastic. I think it is worthy of note, that no delegate has ever failed to accept a committee appointment or other assignment when asked to do so by your president. As you delegates are aware, these assignments have not always been classified as easy.

"Your unbelievable attendance records at committee meetings during the interim, as well as here at the convention itself, have written upon the pages of history for all to see, a true indication of your dedication and determination to carry through to completion our task of redrafting a constitution for the State of North Dakota. You have not avoided your responsibilities. I have stated many times, both privately and publicly of my high regard for the delegates, my colleagues, to this convention. By electing you as delegates to this constitutional convention, our citizens have definitely reaffirmed my faith in our elective system.

"A special thank you to my fellow officers of this convention, for their many acts of kindness, consideration and courtesies they have granted not only to me, but to all our delegates, our visitors, and to the public-at-large. You have given freely of your time and talents.

"The chairmen and vice chairmen, of all our committees associated with this convention, have thoroughly demonstrated their abilities for leadership; they have shown great industry in their work and eloquence in the meeting room. Their most important quality, however, has been, their absolute fairness. This I am aware of because of my personal observations and from the reports given me by our citizens who have attended their meetings.

"As to our professional staff; our general convention staff; and our desk force — no organization could have a more loyal and hardworking crew. Their devotion to the work of the convention and to the delegates, individually, as well as collectively, has been a major factor in our successful operation and to the many accomplishments of this constitutional convention. We wish for all our (may I call you assistants?) to know that your work in our behalf is sincerely appreciated. Your good work will not be forgotten.

"You, the delegates to this constitutional convention, are a grand group of men and women. You are a group of which all North Dakotans can be justly proud. To you I owe my affection — my gratitude — my respect.

"On August 17, 1889 — last day of the first constitutional convention:

"Delegate Stevens presented the president an appropriate gift. President Frederick Bartlett Fancher responded as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Convention: Like the pilgrim of the olden times, who having journeyed in many countries, gathering wisdom and knowledge by the way, ascends at last the summit of the east hill, and bending on his staff surveys afar the highest place of all — so have we, after a long, interesting and varied experience, reached the end of our labors and behold, gleaming into light, that Jerusalem of our souls — a completed constitution.'

"Fancher concluded with congratulations, thanks and goodbye.

"By coincidence today, February 17, 1972, we are finishing the work of this constitutional convention 82 years and six months to the day later.

"We have come to the closing moments of this Constitutional Convention. It falls to the President to say the last words of farewell.

"May I begin by again expressing to you the deepest appreciation of which I am capable for the trust you have placed in me. I can only say, I have tried to justify your trust. Our Convention has been a fruitful one: I honestly and sincerely believe that we can all return to our homes secure in the knowledge of our mission being accomplished; a job well done. And may I close this Constitutional Convention with words which, in many languages, in many forms, in many religions, have brought comfort and strength. 'May the Peace of God, which passeth all understanding, be with us and remain with us always.'

"I am now advised that all the business of this Constitutional Convention has been cared for: The only function remaining is to entertain and put the motion that this Convention do now adjourn."

Delegate Saugstad moved that the absent members be excused, which motion prevailed.

Delegate Cart moved that the Second Constitutional Convention of the State of North Dakota be adjourned sine die, which motion prevailed.
