Rep. Backes moved that Rep. Wentz be seated provisionally subject to later final action by the House after an investigation and recount by a special committee of the House consisting of four members, two from each party, appointed by the permanent speaker, to report its findings to the House on January 4, 1977. This motion was duly seconded.

Rep. Backes:

"Mr. Speaker — Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I rise to support the motion I have just made and request that my remarks be printed in the Journal. Never in all my years in the House of Representatives have I heard such adverse public reaction to the ruling by a district judge in an election contest disenfranchising some 200 absent voters.

"The final decision of the House of Rep. Wentz's seating may not be found in a recount but more in the decision of this House as to the justice and equality of disenfranchising these 200 voters.

"The issue of the proper seating of a House member from District 41 has been on the minds of many legislators and citizens of the State of North Dakota over the past several weeks. There have been considerable efforts in the executive and judicial branches of government to resolve the issue of who should be declared the winner in District 41. Involved has been the local canvassing board, the State Canvassing Board, 2 district judges, the Attorney General, and the Supreme Court. In most instances, these bodies have been unable to unanimously reach a decision on who is the real winner. The action to this point by the different levels of government, indicate that complex issues are involved and that there is more than one opinion as to the outcome. Legal and constitutional questions have been raised that have not been resolved. With all the maneuvering by both sides some questions must be answered. With all the questions being raised, at least one answer can be agreed upon by all. That is, the House is the final judge of its membership. It would seem proper that the House ought to fulfill its obligation by attempting to investigate and settle the question by methods which by precedence have been pursued in the past. The motion I have made is in line with procedures in similar circumstances before the House in 1968 and in previous sessions.

"I think it is important that we review the situation in District 41. Following the election, the local and state canvassing boards met and certified Norma Kuhn the winner. On advice of the Attorney General, the Secretary of State did not issue a certificate of election to Mrs. Kuhn, when Janet Wentz proceeded to call for a recount, the district judge ruled that certain absentee ballots could not be counted because the election board failed to stamp and initial them. As a result of that ruling, the recount committee declared that Janet Wentz was the winner.

"I think it is important that we understand the reason why ballots are to be initialed and stamped. It is to prevent fraud. In the recount procedure, no evidence of fraud surfaced. When a voter goes to the polling place to vote, he has the opportunity to observe the ballot given to him to be sure that it is proper. The voters have a certain responsibility to see that their ballots are stamped and initialed. In the case of absentee ballots, the voter has no way in which to control the ballot to the extent of seeing it is properly stamped. No doubt, election officials were unaware that the ballots ought to have been handled in the manner which the district court judge ruled. It is interesting to note that absentee ballots which are received by the county auditor too late to be sent to the proper precinct, are to be counted by the county canvassing board, but there is no provision in law for those to be initialed and stamped.

"It should be noted that in the recount of the U.S. Senate Race two years ago, several district court judges ruled that absentee ballots, even though not stamped and initialed by the election board, were to be counted since no evidence of fraud existed. The rulings by these several judges are in direct conflict with the ruling of the District Judge in Minot. We say that the law ought to be fair and applied uniformly. If done in this manner, either Bill Guy should be in Washington as our U.S. Senator or Norma Kuhn ought to be in Bismarck, seated in this chamber as a full voting member. The issue is that simple.

"Much of the proceedings over the last two weeks have had political overtones. That, I suppose, we can expect when the result of the seating of one of our members will have a tremendous effect on which political party shall organize the House. But with all political consideration aside, this much seems apparent to me.

"Two hundred voters of this state were denied their precious right to select their representatives, through no fault of their own. It seems to me that since no evidence of fraud has been brought forth, the people of District 41 by majority vote, however slim, have indicated they want Norma Kuhn to represent them in the House of Representatives. It seems to me that the wishes of the voters of District 41 is paramount and overrides any political considerations that either party might wish to impose.

"We of the Democratic-NPL Party want to cooperate and get on with the business of the House. But we feel a sense of obligation to the people of District 41, those people have been denied their precious right to vote. This House has an obligation to them. This House has an obligation to the people of all of North Dakota to see that there is not a double standard applied in our judicial decisions.

"There is no doubt that enough questions have been raised that the House must proceed pursuant to the motion. To do less would be to dismiss our obligation as provided in the Constitution. The questions in this election are more than political and legal ones. They tug at the very heart of the system of government which we have pledged to uphold. In conclusion, this matter definitely requires the attention of the House. I would hope that this motion will prevail and then we can proceed in an orderly manner to meet the Constitutional responsibility thrust upon us to organize this assembly in the next few days and await the results of this select committee upon our return in January."

Rep. Strinden rose on a point of order, inquiring if Rep. Wentz would be permitted to vote on this motion. Discussion followed.

Speaker Reimers declared a five minute recess.

House reconvened with Acting Speaker Reimers presiding.

Acting Speaker Reimers then ruled that Rep. Wentz will be entitled to vote on the motion before the House, which he stated was in accordance with the motion of Rep. Backes. Rep. Backes stated this was not the intent of his motion, and he did not feel Rep. Wentz should be entitled to vote on his motion.

Rep. Strinden reviewed a recount situation in the Forty-fourth Session concerning Rep. Ruth Meiers, when House Resolution No. 1 was put to a vote. At that time Rep. Backes moved that Rep. Meiers be allowed to vote, which motion prevailed. Rep. Meiers stated the record would show that she abstained from voting on that measure. Rep. Strinden acknowledged that Rep. Meiers did not vote, and extended his apologies to her, and requested that such correction be entered in the Journal. His statement was made only to indicate that at that time Rep. Backes had favored Rep. Meiers voting.

The House then recessed for five minutes.

The House reconvened with Acting Speaker Reimers presiding.

Speaker Reimers ruled that Rep. Wentz could vote on the motion, which ruling was challenged by Rep. Backes upon proper motion.

Rep. Strinden moved for a call of the House, which motion prevailed. With all members present, Rep. Strinden moved that the Call of the House be dissolved, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Backes requested a recorded roll call vote on the motion to challenge the ruling of the chair, which request was granted.

Rep. Strinden: "Mr. Speaker, I would request that my remarks be printed in the Journal.

"In 1943, there was a deadlock in the House of Representatives, and for three days they voted 56 to 56. Every morning they went into session and voted 56 to 56. Then they recessed and came back in the afternoon and voted again 56 to 56. At the end of three days they decided they had given the public enough of a political circus, and decided they had been charged to act in the interest of the people and must rise above political bickering.

"I see that no purpose would be served by a select committee of the House serving as a recount committee. The motion calls for a committee made up of two Republicans and two Democrats. Does anyone here in this Assembly truly believe that this committee could come to a decision on the question of absentee ballots being stamped and properly initialed.

"Let us look at the history of recounts in the Legislature. Prior to 1971, the Legislature took care of their own recounts. We did not have recount legislation. When there was a contest, a petition was filed, and a select committee was appointed and that select committee then brought a report to the House or Senate. This posed some real problems for the Legislature, and in 1971 the recount law was passed, and if you will check the Journal you will find it had virtual unanimous Republican and Democrat support. This recount law provides that if an election contest is within one-half of a percent of the vote, of the top vote of the winning candidate, there will be a recount. The recount will be in the District Court, and the District Judge will conduct the recount.

"I agree with Rep. Backes completely the Constitution gives the House the final decision as to the qualifications of its members. We are a separate branch of the government. However, what good is going to be served by having a committee of two from the Republicans and two from the Democrats sitting down and going through something that has already been done by the District Court. Does anybody think this will be constructive, or are we just prolonging the turmoil. Are we taking the parliamentary battles of this session and transferring it on to the session in January? Will we have more delays and only accomplish the giving of a bad image to the Legislature itself?

"I would suggest, Ladies and Gentlemen, it is not in the public interest to have a committee of this legislature conduct a recount, because a recount has been held and a decision has been made, according to the law which was passed in 1971. We realize that the recount may have gone the other way. I would suggest that when the difference of vote is only eight, we really do not know the winner until the recount has been held. This is why we passed this legislation in 1971.

"Again I ask this House, will this Committee be able to come to a decision? Isn't it obvious that we will be split 2 to 2?

"In 1968 a select committee of the House was appointed for a recount in Cass County. This is recorded in the House Journal that several ballots had to be discarded, and the most prevalent reason was that the ballots were not stamped and initialled, or the ballot was stamped but not initialled. The law is quite specific on this point.

"In a recent recount before the court Judge Graff rejected ballots not stamped and initialled. The law is quite specific on this point.

"No, we will only prolong the agony and turmoil if we think a recount by a select committee of this House is going to settle anything. We do reserve the right to judge qualifications of our members, and I might add that every one of us is provisionally seated, and let us not forget that. The Constitution is specific, and court cases have spoken to it. If some conditions or situations should arise pertaining to me or any other member at any time whether it be on the 40th legislative day or 55th legislative day, a member of this House could stand and question my qualifications to serve. There is no restriction on that.

"I would suggest to the members of this House that in the spirit of cooperation we organize, and I would propose that there be a committee selected by the floor leaders on both sides to meet as a special coordinating committee and follow the procedure set in 1943. Let us go about the business of organizing this House.

"It is bitter to lose. I am sure if the verdict of that District Court had gone in favor of the Democrats, the Republicans would have been as concerned as you are, and I am sure if that had been the case, Rep. Backes, you would have been doing what I am doing now in defending the District Court and the Recount procedure.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, the facts are there is nothing hard and fast in a recount. There are gray areas. There is no precedent that is firmly established one way or the other. For that reason that recount Committee, if there should be one, of this House would not be conclusive other than being 2 to 2. The Recount has been held, it was a legal recount conducted as we have specified by law. I would suggest we accept it and get on with our business."

Rep. Backes requested a recorded roll call vote on the motion, which request was granted.

ROLL CALL

The question being on the motion of Rep. Backes that Rep. Wentz be seated provisionally subject to later final action by the House after an investigation and recount by a special committee of the House consisting of four members, two from each party, appointed by the permanent speaker, to report its findings to the House on January 4, 1977, the roll was called and there were ayes 50; nays 50; absent and not voting 0.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE
to
ORGANIZATIONAL SESSION
45th Legislative Assembly

Governor Link: "Thank you, Mr. President, Speaker Reimers, Members of this Joint Legislative Session.

"It certainly is a first for me as it is for all of you with an equal division of the House. It is difficult for me to know which side to turn when I came down the aisle.

"I wish to give you my personal congratulations, and welcome each of you here to this organizational and orientation session of the Legislature.

"Welcome to the members of the 45th Legislative Assembly. Congratulations to those of you who have won election victories. I know that in the elation of victory you are also feeling the heavy responsibility of the faith which your constituents have placed in you.

"I am looking forward to observing a rather interesting session from the other end of the hall. We have often heard the old axiom of putting your house in order, but this is sometimes easier said than done.

"Seriously, I am hopeful that election differences will be put aside after they are resolved. I would be very disappointed if these differences are allowed to cloud the legislative session and prevent each of you from doing the most constructive, positive job possible.

"You are facing a difficult session. I guess I have said this and felt this way during my years in the Legislature as each session approached, and even more so since I have become Governor. However, I think that developments in recent years such as the emphasis on our natural and energy resources, have focused even greater responsibility on the deliberations of North Dakota's House of Representatives and Senate.

"Your job will be made somewhat more difficult by the passage of the tax reduction measure in the recent election.

This session is important, too, because what you do in the next several months will begin to lay the groundwork for North Dakota's second century.

"In the executive branch of government we have begun planning for North Dakota's second century. The initial step of this planning has been the North Dakota 100 Program. I was very pleased to have the support and cooperation of the Legislative Council, through Senator Robert Melland, in emphasizing the importance of this program to all North Dakotans. A survey was sent out and more than 8,000 persons have responded. A State and Local Affairs Council will be reviewing the priorities demonstrated by this survey, and will channel this public input into executive, legislative and judicial branches of government.

"This 45th Legislative Session will begin to plan for North Dakota's second hundred years. What you do will affect not only those living in North Dakota in 1989, our centennial year, but your actions will also affect your children and your grandchildren.

"As you know, I served many years in the Legislature. Because of that experience, I place great importance on communication between the executive and legislative branches of government. I want you to know that my door is always open to any one of you who feels a need to discuss matters important to you, to me, and to the citizens of our state.

"The next several months you will be about the work of the state. This is a time when we want to work within the context of our own philosophies, and yet it is a time when we must minimize personal and political interests so that we might best serve the citizens of North Dakota.

"I look forward to your presence in the next several months. Again, welcome."

Members of this Assembly, I think that this shall stand possibly for centuries to come as the only time that this has happened in the history of this great state. Of course, I am speaking of Rep. Haugland, and I would like to have the Assembly recognize her."

Chief Justice Erickstad administered the oath of office to Chief Clerk Gilbreath and Desk Reporter Barbara King.

Acting Speaker Reimers announced that nominations were open for the office of Speaker of the House

Rep. Martinson: "Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly:

"It is indeed a pleasure and an honor for me to nominate the Republican candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives. The man I am about to nominate is not only a colleague but a personal friend.

"Rep. Vernon Wagner of Bismarck has been a fiscal leader in the House since he was first seated in 1962. He has served as Vice Chairman of the Social Welfare Committee, Vice Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and last session was Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House. As you veteran Legislators know, Rep. Wagner knows parliamentary procedure and the legislative process extremely well, and quite obviously, this is a most important quality in a Speaker. Vernon is a man of many talents, and his integrity, honesty and fairness is unquestionable.

"Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege for me to place in nomination the name of Rep. Vernon Wagner of District 47 for Speaker of the House of Representatives."

Rep. Eagles: "Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly:

"It is with pleasure that I second the nomination of Rep. Wagner for Speaker of the House. Not only can he serve with distinction, and we can all agree he has earned this recognition. He has served this Assembly very ably, and possesses many fine qualities for serving as Speaker. We have no trouble understanding him, and he says what he means and means what he says. I am pleased to second the nomination of Rep. Vernon Wagner for Speaker of the House."

Rep. Mertens: "Mr. Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives.

"I consider myself singularly honored to have been asked to nominate Rep. Oscar Solberg for Speaker of the House.

"Rep. Solberg is the type of person for whom insincere flattery is unnecessary. His life and work speaks for themselves without the need for any embellishment by others.

"Rep. Solberg was first elected to the North Dakota House of Representatives in 1949. He has served continuously to the present time except for 1957, when he was endorsed for the office of Lt. Governor. He is second in years of service to this body only to Rep. Haugland. Both were honored by the House of Representatives during the last session for their years of service and were presented with suitable plaques.

"Rep. Solberg has served continuously on the Appropriations Committee, and was chairman of that committee in 1965.

"He has been a continuous member of the Legislative Council. He has served longer on this committee than any member of the Legislature. He has served two terms on the Education Commission of States.

"His deep interest has been the International Peace Garden. He has served many years on the Board of Directors. He currently serves as President of that Board.

"North Dakota could pick no finer ambassador of friendship to our northern neighbors of Manitoba, Canada.

"He has been a constant promoter of the International Music Camp.

"This list could go on indefinitely. He has received numerous awards from national and international groups. However, I am sure Oscar's greatest award comes from his many friends and the respect they have for him.

"Just one example of the commendations he has received is this quote:

'My reaction is that your community is indeed fortunate to have a man of your stature in its midst.' General Omar N. Bradley.

"I personally have never known any other Legislator who is as well liked by every member of either party as Oscar Solberg. As Speaker he will be impartial and fair. He will chair this body with careful regard and consideration for all members. In our present dead-locked compromise position, he is certainly the man we need.

"Mr. Speaker, at this time I wish to place in nomination the name of Rep. Oscar Solberg, District 9, Rolla, for Speaker of the North Dakota House of Representatives."

Rep. Richard: "Mr. Speaker:

"I am pleased to be allowed to second the nomination of my colleague Oscar Solberg as Speaker of the House. I have observed that he has the same respect here as he has respect and admiration at home. It is with a great deal of pride and enthusiasm that I second the nomination of Oscar Solberg as Speaker of the House."

There being no further nominations, the nominations were closed.

Abstaining and not voting:

Solberg Wagner

Rep. Strinden moved that the following remarks of Rep. Wagner,

Speaker Solberg, Chief Justice Erickstad and former Speaker Reimers be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

Rep. Wagner: "Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

"It is quite significant that we should be evenly divided along party lines during this the 45th Legislative Assembly. The odds for that happening are beyond comprehension. It is obvious that each candidate for Speaker has the support of his caucus. For the loyal support given to me by my Republican colleagues I am grateful. We could easily continue to battle ad infinitum, but I do not believe we were elected by the people to sit in disagreement over a period of several days. We were elected to serve the people of North Dakota.

"To be elected Speaker is the highest honor that can be given by his peers. To say that I do not want the honor would be less than honest. Yes, I am disappointed, but my disappointment is tempered by the knowledge that the person who will be the Speaker is one of the finest persons I have ever had the privilege of knowing. I have served with Rep. Oscar Solberg on the Appropriations Committee for six years, and have come to know him as a kind and considerate person with the highest degree of integrity. I am sure that we can work with him. To expedite the business of this House, I would ask that we support the agreement that was drawn up by the committee, and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would ask that my name be withdrawn as a candidate, and move that a unanimous ballot be cast for my good friend Oscar Solberg for Speaker."

The motion of Rep. Wagner prevailed.

Rep. Strinden moved that a Committee of two be appointed to escort the Honorable Oscar Solberg to the rostrum, which motion prevailed. Acting Speaker Reimers appointed Reps. Strinden and Backes to such committee, and the Honorable Oscar Solberg was escorted to the rostrum.

Chief Justice Erickstad: "It is a great pleasure again for me to participate in this ceremony, and I know that all of you have demonstrated the great faith that you have in the prospective leadership of this House, first for Rep. Wagner who has just been recognized, and now it is a pleasure for the House to recognize you. I have known you a long time, and have regarded you as a personal friend. It is indeed a privilege and pleasure for me to have this opportunity of giving this oath of office to this high position to which you have been elected and for which you are so highly qualified."

Chief Justice Erickstad administered the oath of office to Rep. Oscar Solberg, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Former Speaker Reimers: "Oscar, I want you to have this gavel. You have to be one of the nicest guys in the House of Representatives in my entire acquaintance, and you will have a lot of fun doing this job, and these people will enjoy having you do it."

Speaker Solberg: "Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly:

"First of all, I want to thank Vern Wagner for his generous and kind remarks.

"It is an honor to accept the position as Mr. Speaker and I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to those who supported me. It has been my privilege to have served under many Speakers, both as a majority, and minority, but most often as a minority member. Without exception, they have been fair and impartial. I intend to follow this tradition.

"This session is unique in several ways. It has perhaps the greatest number of freshman legislators of any session I have served. To these legislators I want to say 'Welcome.' The door to the Speaker's office will always be open to you for any advice or assistance that you may wish.

"For the first time in history, our state has recognized the need for additional time for the legislature to cope with the many problems that come before it and by a vote of the electorate has been given an additional twenty days for the biennium. I support the recommendation of the Interim Committee on Legislative Procedure and Arrangement that we 'aim' for a sixty-day session with the present deadlines in effect and keep the additional time in reserve. I need not dwell on the tie vote that separates our two political parties in the House or the controversy that has resulted from this vote.

"As Speaker of the House, I seek your cooperation and good will so that we may have a successful and productive session. The electorate of this state who sent us here expect this of us, and the State of North Dakota deserves our best efforts.

"I want to give a special thanks to those who made and seconded my nomination.

"At this time it becomes my pleasant duty to make a presentation. It is customary at this time to present the outgoing Speaker with the gavel he used to preside over the previous session. This one is quite worn, but is inscribed, 'Robert F. Reimers, Speaker, 1975 Session, House of Representatives.'

"I believe this will become one of your most treasured momentos and will provide many pleasant memories of the time you have spent in House of Representatives. When you are sailing around in southern waters, we hope you will think of us back in North Dakota."

Retiring Speaker Reimers: "I am going to use this gavel one more time. Thank you very much, Oscar.

"Serving as Speaker of the House of Representatives has probably been the high light of my political career, and it is not likely that I shall ever again run for the House of Representatives.

"Carol and I are entitled to some time off. I have made a pledge to my wife that we will now spend as much time at leisure doing as we choose, probably in the south, as I have been spending in politics. If I carry out that pledge, we will be spending a lot of time playing around.

"We have bought a boat in the south, and if I can get that Norwegian deckhand trained properly — whose duties include swabbing the deck and doing the dishes — we will get along just fine.

"Seriously, the only thing I can say is thank you very much. I really have enjoyed working with the entire Legislative Assembly. I have enjoyed working with all the people in the capitol involved in the legislative process, and the Legislative Council people specifically. Many things I would like to see done in the legislative process remain to be done, and I suppose over the years what I feel is moving away from the conservative philosophy, which I prefer to call the common sense view, will reverse itself when money gets shorter, regardless of what party you represent. These things generally take care of themselves.

"Thank you for working with me."

Speaker Solberg then asked that the Assembly recognize Mrs. Reimers, who was given a standing ovation.

Rep. Strinden moved that the House stand at ease until 11:15 a. m., for the Joint Session, which motion prevailed.

JOINT SESSION

The Joint Session convened, with Speaker Solberg presiding, who then relinquished the chair to President of the Senate Sanstead.

President Sanstead introduced Mr. Ralph Dewing, who addressed the session on the work of the Coal Development Impact Office, of which Mr. Dewing serves as Director.

Senator Lips moved that Joint Session be dissolved, which motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, with Speaker Solberg presiding.

Speaker Solberg ruled that the House would stand in recess until 2 p.m.

" . . . TOWARD NORTH DAKOTA'S SECOND CENTURY"
GOVERNOR ARTHUR A. LINK
MESSAGE TO THE FORTY-FIFTH
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY
Presented January 4, 1977

Introduction

"Increased citizen participation in public decision making."

North Dakota 100

Members of this Forty-Fifth Legislative Assembly, officers of the executive and judicial branches of our state government and friends:

Greetings to this Legislative Assembly. Less than 100 years ago our state opened for business. After celebrating the 200th anniversary of our nation in 1976, it is difficult to realize that North Dakota will not celebrate its 100th birthday until 1989.

Now is the time for us to be looking toward North Dakota's second century. Now is the time for us as public officials to plan for our second hundred years. Now is the time for us to involve citizens of this state in planning and determining that future.

As we approach the "exciting eighties (80's)" in North Dakota, we are about to embark upon a new era. Our state has many options as we approach our hundredth birthday, and we must closely involve our citizens in looking at these options and choosing our direction. I believe that good government is government which is fully responsive to the needs of the people, granting full participation in line with the fundamental freedoms first stated in the United States Constitution.

One of the most valuable tools our state has in determining North Dakota's second century options is the North Dakota 100 Program. The State Planning Division, Regional Planning Councils, and thousands of citizens across the state have launched the North Dakota 100 program. Senator Robert Melland, as Chairman of the Legislative Council, joined with me in signing the Program Survey introductory letter.

"What do you want for our 100th birthday?" is the theme. A survey of citizen attitudes and concerns has been conducted, and the results are being shared with the executive and legislative branches of state government, with local government and all interested citizens. Throughout this Message, I will refer to input and results already received through the North Dakota 100 Program.

These efforts by a broad cross section of North Dakota citizens are vital in determining the kind of state we want on our 100th birthday, just twelve short years from now. I urge each of you, as legislators, to study carefully the results of the North Dakota 100 questionnaire if you have not already done so. The results provide valuable insight into the broad general direction North Dakotans would like to see their decision makers take on a wide number of concerns.

I believe you will see a number of interesting priorities reflected in the opinions of our state's citizens. They are interested in protecting our natural resources, they are conservation-minded, they want to preserve the quality of life we enjoy here. They favor a moderate rate of economic growth that will increase the variety of job opportunities for our youth, reduce unemployment and increase family incomes. In planning for North Dakota's second century, we must set priorities based on this citizen input.

I am looking forward to working with each of you, and I want you to know that the door of my office is open to every legislator. I invite your counsel and friendship in dealing with the important issues which will confront all of us.

My Message to you today will provide recommendations, some general and some specific, for your consideration. My Message also provides information about the condition of the state.

It is important to note that my Message to you is the result of consultation with many of you on both sides of the political aisle. In many instances, recommendations in this Message are affirmations of proposals by the Legislative Council or other boards, commissions and committees. In addition, the input of various state agencies, officials and employees has been invaluable to the preparation of this Message.

Most importantly, the input of the citizens of North Dakota has had a major effect on this Message. I hope this input will similarly effect each of you in your upcoming deliberations. Each of you has a grave responsibility in this Forty-fifth Legislative Session which will begin to lay the foundations for North Dakota's second century.

Human Resources

"North Dakotans have a deep concern for people who need special help to participate in our society to their fullest potential, a sense of fairness for those who are being denied an opportunity to participate, a certain hard-headed common sense that our society is stronger if each individual is enabled to contribute to the common good, an unwillingness to see anyone fall below basic levels of need, and a sense of people being the state's greatest asset."

North Dakota 100

The challenge to each of us is to serve our people well and this means a concern for basic human needs. As we prepare for North Dakota's second century, we must be aware of a wide range of human service goals including assisting the physically and mentally handicapped, reducing the amount of unemployment, creating new job opportunities, providing needed health care, and providing special services for the elderly. These human service goals are among those which received the highest rating when North Dakotans answered the question, "What do you want for our 100th birthday?"

Human Services

From the birth of our state in 1889, and even before that time, North Dakotans have displayed a special concern for their neighbors. The philosophy and the attitude has been that we do, indeed, love our neighbor as ourselves.

The North Dakota 100 survey reflected a continued concern in this regard. For example, nearly 90 per cent of the respondents considered services to the physically and mentally handicapped a top priority.

In practical terms, this concern for our neighbor must be expressed in a programmatic and budgetary manner.

Let us begin with the health of the individual. The future of health care and local public health services in a rural state is a critical area and one which deserves our careful concern and attention. Providing health services takes money, and I have covered the budget needs for the Department of Health in my budget message. The broad program of the State Department of Health merits legislative and financial support to maintain a better quality of life for North Dakotans.

In order to best serve citizens at the local level, the Health Department is requesting support to strengthen local, county and district health units by improving preventive medicine programs, providing for a health status evaluation, and developing methods to improve primary health care in the rural areas.

The State Health Department is also placing a special emphasis on providing medical assistance through physicians and other professionals in rural areas. To augment this, I recommend a cooperation and active physician recruitment program to be conducted by the University of North Dakota Medical School, the Health Department and private concerns so our citizens can receive physician services within reasonable driving distances of their homes.

A recent development in the health area is the creation, through federal mandate, of a State Health Coordinating Council. The SHCC will be involved in health planning, coordination and research development in the years ahead. We cannot over emphasize the importance of coordination at every level in the delivery of expensive health services. Such coordination can result in efficiency and lower costs of health care for the individual. In addition, such planning allows an assessment of local needs in concert with a statewide plan.

In the budget, I have included administrative positions which will assist in the expansion of the WIC Program — an exceptional protein-nutrition program for Women, Infants, and Children. This program has been very successful in providing high-level nutritional food for those persons most in need of such provisions.

In providing social and rehabilitative services, federal financial participation for the assistance payments and medical programs is based upon North Dakota's per capita income which has risen. Consequently, the state must increase its share in the Economic Assistance program by approximately $6 million. This has been included in the budget as it is necessary to provide these matching state dollars to secure the federal dollars to serve the needs of North Dakotans.

North Dakota has recently embarked on a statewide program for the enforcement of child support obligations from absent parents. This program should return revenues to the state general fund and ultimately reduce the number of dependent children relying upon AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children). State legislative action is required to enable state and county officials to pursue payments from these absent parents.

We must be mindful that families and individuals receiving social or rehabilitative assistance from the federal or state government are feeling the effects of inflationary times most acutely. In many instances, families or individuals with no income or very limited incomes may not qualify for such programs as AFDC, Medical Assistance, Food Stamps or Supplemental Security Income. In these instances the individuals have no recourse but to apply for the County General Assistance Program with its limited funding base. For these reasons I support national reform in the Medicare, Medicaid and Supplemental Security Income programs. When initiated, these reforms will provide great assistance and benefits for people at the state level.

A Transition Program is needed for probationers and parolees. In most instances, a program does not exist for these individuals to help them as they return to local communities. General assistance and rehabilitation services aid from state agencies is often delayed several days so that an interim period exists for the returning ex-offender. Unfortunately, it is during this critical time that many probationers and parolees again involve themselves in criminal acts. The state needs to coordinate its services with county, municipal and private agencies to assure a positive and caring transition program for ex-offenders. I have included $25,000 in the budget for this purpose. This transition program will be coordinated with the CETA ex-offender program as well as with other social and rehabilitative services.

I discussed the Medicaid Program for medically needy children in the 1975 State of the State Message and I again want to bring it to your attention. It is estimated that 7,000 children under age 21 would be eligible for the program under Title XIX of the Social Security Act. Children from homes of the working poor where the cost of insurance programs are prohibitive and social service benefits are unavailable do not receive necessary medical care.

I did not include the Medically Needy Children program in the budget because I had already advocated a 34 per cent increase in the Social Service Board budget for other necessary and current programs. This program would have received high priority had there been more income projected for the next biennium. However, with a limited budget, we must strive to maintain our present social service programs. I will be open to further discussion with legislators regarding this program as it deserves thorough review prior to possible enactment in view of the fiscal restrictions we are facing.

For the past several months, I have placed special emphasis on utilization of the vacated non-tactical ABM facilities at Nekoma. At present, a task force which I have appointed to plan utilization of this facility has formulated a plan for rehabilitative and educational purposes. You will be hearing from this task force during the Legislative Session and I hope you will give the task force your consideration.

Advocacy and Human Rights

The Governor's Council on Human Resources is an advocacy body. The Council has prepared a legislative report on the Committee on Children and Youth, the Committee on Aging, the Committee on the Employment of the Handicapped, and the North Dakota Commission on the Status of Women. I call this to your attention because this report contains many valuable suggestions in each of the four human resources areas with which the Council deals.

As we approach North Dakota's 100th birthday, it is especially appropriate that we consider the special contributions and needs of our native Americans. The Indian people in North Dakota have a rich heritage. This heritage should be provided in curriculum studies for all the school systems in the state. The historical foundation begun by this state's first citizens must be fully represented in the North Dakota Heritage Center.

As a further effort to preserving this heritage, I have provided in the budget for a major in Indian Studies at the University of North Dakota.

The North Dakota Indian Affairs Commission needs our support for its important objectives. As Chairman of the Commission, I urge the cooperation and support from all citizens in understanding and assisting the 21,000 Indian people in North Dakota as they attempt to resolve their problems through their self-determined efforts.

I have introduced and had approved by the Midwestern Governors' Conference a resolution regarding jurisdictional concerns between the federal and state government and Indian reservations. I recognize and affirm the separate jurisdiction which is so important to North Dakota tribes. However, confusing problems exist as to provision of services to Indian people for health, welfare, employment and education. For example, there is a lack of reimbursement from the federal government to counties having federal government lands such as Indian reservations and military installations as well. This problem needs to be addressed for the benefit of all who inhabit federal lands, and who deserve the services and assistance to which all Americans are entitled.

Advocacy for human rights is best realized — and perhaps only realized — if enforcement powers exist to accomplish goals of nondiscrimination. A Human Rights Act would prohibit discrimination against all persons. We need a North Dakota State Commission on Human Rights. This would be a regulatory body having enforcement powers to enforce the Human Rights Act. About a year and a half ago I appointed a task force to consider this matter and their research will result in a measure which will be before you during this Forty-fifth Legislative Session.

Coordination of Human Resources

I believe that as we have taken the initiative to coordinate natural resources through the Natural Resources Council in the executive branch of government, so must we also turn our attention to the further coordination of the human resources branches of North Dakota government. To that end, my office has secured a federal grant from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to conduct a demonstration project in human resources coordination through the Executive Office. The purpose of this program will be to develop a Human Resources Coordinating Council which will facilitate communications, comprehensive planning, and needs assessment for all human services agencies in state government.

The Coordinating Council will also bring together county and regional service delivery agencies to strengthen the coordination of planning and services at the local level and to address the problems of duplication or lack of services to people in need.

Another example of coordination is evidenced by the cooperative needs assessment and planning process which is jointly being accomplished by the state and county Social Services offices and the Regional Councils. As the various agencies of government prepare for the impact of increased energy development, it is prudent that all planning and service-oriented agencies cooperate in this fashion.

The human resource delivery systems of state government can best serve our people when there is comprehensive planning, coordination and communication efforts. A gift which we can give North Dakotans now and in the next 100 years would be an effective and efficient system of delivering human services.

Educational and Cultural Concerns

One of the most lasting gifts North Dakota can provide to its citizens for its second century is that of good education. North Dakota must continue to extend educational opportunities to all of its citizens.

In keeping with this goal, it is necessary for North Dakota to increase foundation payments for schools. In the executive budget, I have recommended an additional $31,621,195, a 21 per cent increase, for the foundation program to provide state support at the 70 per cent level. In order to provide for educational opportunities, it is necessary that the state support program guarantees a base per student of $765 the first year of the biennium and $840 the second year of the biennium plus an additional 5 cents per mile for the transportation payment.

With regard to higher education, I have suggested a general fund budget for the universities and colleges under the jurisdiction of the Board of Higher Education, including the medical school, of $107,983,831. This figure represents an increase of nearly $20 million, or 23 per cent.

To provide for academic and technological changes I recommend several new programs, including the major Indian studies at UND, a land and ranch management program at Dickinson State College, and irrigation technology at the State School of Science. I have further provided funds for Title IX implementation and compliance which I consider of great importance in terms of providing equal opportunity for all persons in our education system.

The passage of the initiated measure to reduce the sales tax from 4 to 3 per cent has created a very difficult environment for considering new programs and new physical structures. For that reason, on the campuses of North Dakota institutions for higher education I have been able to recommend only one capital construction facility. That facility is a dairy expansion unit for the extension service on the campus of North Dakota State University. Our current economic situation and the necessary determination of priorities made it impossible for me to include other buildings in my Executive Budget.

I had hoped to recommend that kindergarten be funded on a state-wide basis, but budget constraints have prevented me from doing so. I do believe it is an important new program we should look at on a state-wide basis if the financial picture during the Legislative Session appears to improve. The number of children of kindergarten age has increased 58 per cent over the last two years, from 2,156 children in the fall of 1974 to 3,404 in the fall of 1976. We must look toward serving these children.

I have further recommended $2,142,038, a 30 per cent increase, in special education. It is vital that we provide quality education for our citizens at all levels. This increase will allow special education to continue at the present level with some additional expansion, which will help us reach our mandated goals by 1981 in identifying and providing this type of education.

To implement and develop an education program which meets the needs of a changing technology, we must provide all people of North Dakota a system of education that is practical and meaningful based on present and emerging employment needs. In a nation in which only 17 per cent of the jobs require a baccalaureate degree, our citizens can profit from vocational-technical education. I have supported the concept of creating multi-district vocational education boards by three or more school districts, a measure that was passed in the last session of the Legislature. I urge continuing support and action which will permit the state to move forward in providing quality vocational education to the people of our state. Vocational education assumes new importance as we make plans to prepare our own citizens for new jobs which will come through energy development.

My budget calls for the establishment of statewide public television. I have included more than $4 million in the Executive Budget from the general fund in order to implement this much-needed program. Statewide public television will continue educational opportunities for people at all levels, and provide fine entertainment alternatives.

The impact of modern television on the mind and behavior of young children is beyond comprehension. The time is long overdue that we provide more wholesome, educational viewing and learning television programs for our children. I urge your approval of statewide public television.

I have also included $200,000 in the Executive Budget for the endowment of the arts. The North Dakota Endowment would function at the state level as the national endowment functions at the federal level of the United States Government. The purpose of the North Dakota endowment would be to build intrinsic quality in the lives of North Dakotans now and in the future through grassroots programs which would 1) preserve and increase understanding of North Dakota's heritage for today and the future, 2) increase cultural awareness and participation through programs in arts, crafts, the theatre, ethnic and folk arts, literature, journalism, public media, historic preservation and interpretation, visual arts and architecture, 3) make the arts available to more North Dakotans, and 4) encourage the development of our state's finest talents.

I believe we saw a preview of what a North Dakota Endowment can do as we watched the Bicentennial activities in our state. Here we saw the cultural and ethnic heritage of our state's citizens come to life. The North Dakota Endowment would make an important contribution to the quality of life in North Dakota and would become a sustaining and positive force for the cultural life of the state.

We must also continue to support the North Dakota Council on Arts and Humanities and I have made provisions in the budget to continue the efforts of the Council. The aesthetic expression of our people is an important birthright gift to North Dakotans in 1989.

Our heritage is an extremely appropriate gift which we can make to the people of North Dakota and to each of our descendants. The North Dakota Heritage Center is our state's major Bicentennial project and it was recognized throughout the nation as one of the most unique and meaningful Bicentennial projects. Progress on the Heritage Center has been good, beginning with $5 million appropriated by the 1973 Legislature. The $1.5 million necessary in private donations and funds to match the $4 million state appropriation from 1975 has been achieved. A most stimulating, historical and exciting groundbreaking was held this fall on the State Capitol grounds. A day-long Heritage Festival took place to commemorate this important project. An architectural firm has been commissioned, and drawings have begun for the Heritage Center.

Consultants and architects and our own historical experts have determined that to build an adequate structure to provide for the physical needs of the state's historical and cultural programs, and to represent the vigorous, independent and strong nature of our people and our way of life, an $8-10 million building is necessary. I am asking that the 1977 Legislative Assembly appropriate an additional $2 million so that this structure can be completed in the most economical, efficient and adequate manner. To postpone making the building a complete one at this point, would be to invite greater expenditures in the future. Rather than constructing an inadequate structure or asking for a greater appropriation to accomplish the same task at a later point, I ask that we get this job done now. I am excited about the response and the vision which has been involved in the North Dakota Heritage Center. The North Dakota Heritage Center will preserve the historic remnants of our past, so that our descendants will be able to gain insight from past cultures, and so that we and those who follow us may take on a greater pride in the quality of our fellow men and women and their accomplishments. The understanding of our past which the Heritage Center will facilitate will also be a historical foundation for future direction. As we approach our state's one hundredth year, the Heritage Center represents an important, early step toward properly observing North Dakota's Centennial.

I believe we must also look at our state's teacher retirement program and consider bringing it in line with comparable programs across the nation. It must be adequate to serve the needs of those who provided educational services to the citizens of this state for so long.

Employment and Labor

We must be extremely concerned about giving people equal opportunities. I have discussed this under the topic of human rights. I believe in giving employees equal opportunities. For this reason, I again urge your support of a human rights commission and a North Dakota Equal Employment Opportunity Act. Such an act prohibits an employer, employment agency, labor organization or licensing agency from discriminating in employment practices because of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age or marital status.

The Central Personnel Division, which was initiated in 1974 and was authorized by the Forty-fourth Legislative Assembly, has proven valuable. Although the Legislature did not authorize a complete personnel system, the Central Personnel Division has provided a sound base upon which, given additional time to mature, a more complete personnel system can be developed. The Central Personnel System gives us a mechanism to insure that state employees' salaries are adequate, competitive, and fair, and this has been of significant aid in developing the biennial budgets.

In order to further the State Personnel Policy of affirmative action, the Central Personnel Division has employed a State Affirmative Action Officer. This individual will provide technical assistance to agencies in implementing the affirmative action policy in a consistent manner throughout state government.

Through Executive Order, an innovative Employee Assistance Program has been established. This program provides employees with confidential referral and counseling opportunities for a variety of problems ranging from marital to alcoholism without threat of job loss. The program is beneficial for the employee and it is beneficial for state government as an effort to keep employees able for most efficient productivity. The program has had considerable use since its inception six months ago.

I know that you will consider legislation which would extend to public employees the opportunity to bargain collectively with their employer. I support such legislation. Employees deserve the right to be listened to with respect to their working conditions, rates of pay, and other concerns. These matters can be negotiated into a contract within the private sector and that privilege should be extended to the public sector. A law of this nature would provide a mechanism to resolve disputes and avoid interruption of service to the public.

I concur with recent federal legislation related to unemployment insurance which would extend coverage to state, county and municipal employees, and to agricultural and domestic workers under certain conditions. In my State of the State Message in 1975 I urged that unemployment insurance be made available to agricultural and public employees. More than 18,000 employees fall into these two categories.

I also support the extension of the Special Unemployment Assistance Program. The purpose of unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation is to provide income maintenance at two levels. These programs help individuals avoid personal economic hardships and they also sustain purchasing power on the main streets throughout our state. This kind of income maintenance is particularly important in our smaller towns and communities. Further, public and agricultural employees deserve the same protection in the event of an injury or a serious illness as any other employee. The benefits should also be adjusted to provide compensation equal to two-thirds of the weekly wages of the employee.

Each of these areas of legislation that affect workers in our state give the people of North Dakota an opportunity to determine the conditions for their own well being.

A commission consisting of employees and management worked with the Workmen's Compensation Bureau during the interim to study the problem which exists for individuals receiving Workmen's Compensation benefits who became eligible many years ago and whose benefits are no longer adequate in view of today's cost of living. The study commission concluded that retroactive benefits should be funded out of the general fund rather than from Workmen's Compensation due to the fact that the present day employers felt they should not be obligated to assume the liability, much of which was possibly assumed by the Bureau prior to them going into business.

I also support legislation to improve retirement benefits for all state employees.

I am pleased to report that through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA), administered through my office, more than $9 million was received this biennium to hire personnel for local governmental bodies and for private non-profit groups as well as for state agencies and institutions. This federal job program has assisted North Dakota in providing more services for its citizens. I have given special attention to this program within my office, in an attempt to make sure that these employees were placed where the need was greatest and to serve the greatest number of people possible.

Finally, I believe that we must develop job opportunities for North Dakotans to encourage our young people to stay here and to utilize the tremendous human resources which we have in our state. I will discuss this further in the section on economic development.

Through new job opportunities, through new labor laws, and through the concerns and efforts of business and government, I believe we must work to increase family incomes in North Dakota.

What needs must be assured for the workers of North Dakota for our 100th birthday? Good working conditions, fair salaries, equal opportunity for advancement, adequate benefits including retirement and unemployment provisions . . . these are the needs of our citizens today and they will be the needs in 1989.

The Continuing Gift of Natural Resources

"North Dakotans believe that conservation of our state's natural resources is a higher priority than economic development."

North Dakota 100

The responses of North Dakotans to the North Dakota 100 survey indicate that the responsible stewardship of our natural resources — maintaining their vitality, usefulness and aesthetics — is a continuing gift we can provide for North Dakota's second century.

As we look toward 1989 we must continue and increase support for protection of our natural environment. We, as public officials, must join with the citizens of the state as responsible stewards of our land, our minerals, our water and our air.

The Natural Resources Council was established by Executive Order and later approved through statute by the Forty-fourth Legislative Assembly. Although the Forty-fourth Session of the Legislature agreed to give statutory approval to the Natural Resources Council, the Council did not receive any appropriation.

In order for the Council to adequately function, it is necessary for the state to take two steps. The first step is to redefine the powers and duties of the Natural Resources Council Chairman in order that the body may function more efficiently. The second step is for the state to commit funding to the Natural Resources Council for a chairman and a minimal staff. Natural resources are of primary importance to the state and its people. Coordination of agencies dealing with energy development, land use, conservation of soil, water, air, game and fish management, and recreation and parks is a sound proposal for the State of North Dakota.

I consider the initiation and coordination efforts of the Natural Resources Council a major planning tool and aid in preparing for the future. The proper statutory authority and state monetary commitment is a necessity for comprehensive natural resources planning. In this area of natural resources planning and coordination, the state's activities to date have been loosely defined, and have been 100 per cent federally funded. It is the responsibility of the state, not the federal government, to achieve the wishes of North Dakotans to place protection of the natural environment as a high priority.

Energy Development

The responsibility of the state of North Dakota to coordinate and develop comprehensive natural resources planning has been brought into sharp focus by expanding energy development. I have followed a policy of cautious, orderly development regarding the utilization of our energy resources. I believe the people of North Dakota support that approach as evidenced through the electoral process, and in the more specific, scientific evaluation through North Dakota 100. Energy development must be in keeping with the conservation and protection of our natural environment.

North Dakotans are willing to share our natural resources providing we get maximum environmental protection and economic compensation. However, we recognize our responsibilities to future generations in utilizing the one-time harvest of coal in a responsible manner and to protect our land, air and water for generations to follow.

Because of the importance of energy development in our state's future, a great deal of emphasis has and must continue to be placed on energy research. Through the Old West Regional Commission, I was able to obtain a reclamation research grant for mined land planning. Funding from the Commission has been terminated and I believe we must continue this important research through different funding. Interest accruing in our severance tax trust fund might be appropriately spent for continued reclamation research in order to successfully return mined land to maximum productivity. Reclamation research could and should be coordinated by the Natural Resources Council in order to assure fiscal responsibility in the use of our trust fund.

Research of this nature and in many other areas has been done, not only in our state, but on a regional and national basis also. I believe the efforts of this office to work on the energy issue on a regional basis has had a very positive effect. Work through the Old West Regional Commission, the Western Governors' Regional Energy Policy Office, and the Midwestern and National Governors' Conferences has been a very positive force, and has kept North Dakota a leader in regional, state and federal energy relations. Regional and national relationships of this nature must continue if we are to formulate our own destiny.

Land Use

Land use planning is the vehicle for responsible stewardship. North Dakota needs a general-purpose planning statute that will provide for minimal planning guidelines and nomination, designation and management of critical land areas. Present statutes place responsibility for land use planning in the hands of townships, county and city units of local government. I firmly believe and support keeping major responsibilities for land use planning at the local level.

However, state government also has responsibility for land use planning that should be considered by this Legislative Assembly. Three specific needs must be met if we are going to have comprehensive land use planning: 1) Present statutes governing township, county and city planning, zoning and subdividing authority are confusing and in potential conflict. These statutes must be clarified and harmonized. 2) Local units of government need assistance in land use planning both in terms of minimum guidelines and procedures and staff assistance. State government must provide that assistance. 3) A need exists for a general purpose, critical areas land use planning statute to establish procedures for land development and land use concerns that have greater than local impact. Such procedures should provide for citizens and local and state officials to work together in identifying, nominating, designating and managing critical land areas.

Unplanned land use can be particularly devastating. As stewards of the land, our first responsibility is to protect the very soil from which we earn our living and feed the world. The surface mining for lignite, and agricultural practices which cause unnecessary soil erosion, are examples that could lead to decreasing agricultural productivity. We have taken steps to provide for surface mine reclamation legislation. We must continue to review this legislation and provide for adequate enforcement of this law.

Inadequacies of enforcement powers for violators have been pointed out in the recent decision by the Public Service Commission. I hope you will support the establishment of stronger, more comprehensive penalty clauses as will be presented by the PSC legislation.

In addition, we must preserve the rights of surface owners by assuring adequate surface owner protection. This is especially important in our state in which extensive split ownership of mineral and surface estates exists.

I also recommend that the Board of Higher Education instruct the Soils Department at North Dakota State University to initiate a study to determine the magnitude of soil erosion and saline seep problems. Unplanned use of the land as exemplified by these areas can cause future problems which will take prime agricultural land out of production.

Comprehensive land use planning by all levels of government followed by adoption of a land use policy and implementation of the policy through laws and ordinances is necessary in planning for North Dakota's second century.

Conservation

North Dakota 100 statistics on the priority of conservation for North Dakota are revealing. More than 90 per cent of the citizens responding rated conservation of natural resources as a high or medium priority goal. Economic development goals rank lower than natural resources and conservation. Equally significant, these results were true on a broad basis throughout the state with no distinct differences from region to region in this ranking of conservation as a basic goal.

Conservation has always ranked high on my priority list. North Dakota has a tradition of conservation.

Energy conservation is one of the efforts we are making which could mean an improvement in the quality of our environment. Theodore Roosevelt, a great conservationist who was familiar with North Dakota, said:

"What will happen when our forests are gone, when the coal, the iron, the oil and gas are exhausted, when the soils shall have been still further impoverished and washed into the streams, polluting the rivers, denuding the fields and obstructing navigation. These questions do not relate only to the next century or to the next generation. It is time for us now as a nation to exercise the same responsible foresight in dealing with our great natural resources that would be shown by any prudent man in conserving and wisely using the property which contains the assurance of well being for himself and his children."

Over a year ago, the National Governors' Conference called for national leadership in an energy conservation program. This Conference and the Federal Energy Administration jointly developed the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975. The goal of this Act is for states to develop plans that will reduce their 1980 projected energy consumption by five per cent. Five per cent is not enough, and will not solve all of our problems. It is, however, a start, and nationwide a five per cent reduction could amount to a significant energy savings.

To facilitate the Energy Policy and Conservation Act in North Dakota, I have formed an Energy Conservation Advisory Council. The Council will provide information, guidance and support in the development of an energy conservation plan for North Dakota. I ask that you as Legislators give this Council and the conservation planning staff, your support and assistance in this important work. Among the measures the Council will look at is the adoption of new building codes to conserve energy. Such building codes should be a consideration of this Legislative Session.

To all the citizens of the state, energy conservation could mean a savings in home heating bills, electric bills and transportation costs. To farmers and business people it could mean a reduction in the percentage of their overhead attributed to escalating energy costs. Nationally, there are many other conservation measures we must continue.

In January, 1974, I established an Office of Energy Management. Expanding needs in the area of energy management and conservation mandate continuation of this office. Legislation has been submitted to fund this office and I urge your approval of it.

In North Dakota no statement on conservation can be complete without a strong emphasis on soil conservation. Our soil must be protected from hazards of wind and water erosion so that we can sustain a high level of productivity. We need to continue our soils survey program to obtain the fundamental information of soil capabilities and limitations. Our goal must also be to develop a stewardship or conservation ethic in the minds of all North Dakota citizens.

Because North Dakota's soil is our most valuable natural resource, and because 95 per cent of that land is being utilized for agricultural production, soil conservation is a necessity. We must protect this vital resource and enable our soil to provide a sustained high level of production for present and future generations.

Water

As North Dakota approaches its second century, we find ourselves in a new era in water management and allocation. We must have a new sense of responsibility to the water needs of our state and region now and in the future.

Beneficial use of water is traditionally defined in economic terms. However, the demand for keeping water quality high for instream uses such as recreational, aesthetic or ecological, must also be recognized as a beneficial use.

North Dakota must deal with conflicts between federal and state water demands and rights and we must assert our own state's rights. Last August the Governors from the Missouri River Basin Commission all voiced their concerns over federal involvement in water allocation. At that time I expressed concern over the continuing encroachment by federal agencies upon the right of states to determine natural resources objectives. Drafts of contracts allowing the states to sell the water from the Missouri were drawn. Our State Engineer and the State Water Commission has rightfully rejected such contracts because accepting them would deny our state's rights and would likely concede ownership of the water to the federal government.

You know of my long-term support for Garrison Diversion. This fall, I was pleased to invite Governors Wendell Anderson of Minnesota and Richard Kneip of South Dakota to join me for an up-to-date briefing on the Garrison Diversion project. The Governors came to Fargo where we not only heard current information about Garrison, but we also issued a strong statement in support of the Garrison Diversion Unit. The Governors concurred with me that development of the irrigation aspects of Garrison Diversion would benefit all three of our states since increased yields and a more stable economy would have a significant beneficial regional economic impact. I believe people throughout the state are beginning to recognize the vital importance of Garrison Diversion because of recent water shortages and the drought. I continue my support for this project and other programs and projects that are similar such as the Souris River flood control and the Pembilier Dam project and the reestablishment of the Souris-Red-Rainy River Basin Commission.

Many other concerns exist related to water, conservation and management. Examples of a few of these are increased drainage of our natural wetlands, flooding, such as that which occurs in the Devils Lake Basin, and the need for rural and municipal water systems.

Recognizing some of these concerns, I was pleased that through the Natural Resources Council, and later with Legislative support, studies such as the Devils Lake Basin Project were initiated. I support the continuation of this important management effort. Also, we have been able to obtain, through the Old West Regional Commission, a rural water study program to be conducted in North Dakota as well as the other four states of the Region. I believe it will be of great assistance to North Dakota in defining its rural water needs.

All of these water concerns point to a need for funding a comprehensive water management program. The job of proper water management is going to become even more difficult. I am counting on the continued support of the Legislature for the State Water Commission and its important work.

Air and Water Quality

In terms of protecting our natural environment, we must be especially concerned about the preservation of air and water quality. To do this job adequately, we must give regulatory bodies such as the State Department of Health the necessary funding and manpower to accomplish their tasks. We must give them the tools they need to assure clean air and water in North Dakota at the present time and in the future. To accomplish these important tasks, the Health Department must respond to the increasing demands of new industrial applications, and the review of air and water quality pollution sources outside our boundaries.

Recreation and Parks

We enjoy our environment through utilization of our state parks, through camping, hunting and fishing and other forms of recreation.

To more efficiently and economically manage some of our recreation resources, I combined the offices of director of North Dakota Park Service and director of the State Outdoor Recreation Agency. This management system has been most effective and I ask you to support this measure for streamlining government in the necessary legislation which has been prepared.

Visitation at the major state parks during the 1976 season established a new record for North Dakota. During the months of May through September, nearly 850,000 individuals visited our state parks compared to approximately 770,000 in 1975. The State Park system is growing in response to the need and demands placed upon it by the public. I urge your continuing support for this important facet of state government service. The continued development of our natural resources for public enjoyment is certainly a challenge we must carry into the second century of our state's existence.

I am pleased to report that the State Park Service has recently acquired acreage for a new park near Fort Ransom in the Sheyenne River Valley. In addition, since I last reported to the Legislature, two newly-developed State Park areas are available to the public. These are Lewis and Clark, southeast of Williston, and Fort Stevenson, south of Garrison.

In June of 1976, North Dakota's first National Recreation Trail, the Old Oak Trail, was dedicated at Lake Metigoshe State Park.

In summary, all of the areas I have mentioned have a common thread which ties them together, that is, comprehensive planning of our resources. I must reiterate, that although each of the areas of energy development, land use, conservation, water, air and water quality and recreation and parks are developing planning at their own agency level, it is essential that these functions be coordinated for the maximum benefit of the state. It is the ability to plan together, adequately and in a non-duplicating fashion, that will take our state from one where conflicts exist in our natural resources development to one where we can look with pride at the well planned, well conserved and well used resources of our state.

Economic Development for Our Second Century

"North Dakotans from all parts of the state favor a moderate rate of economic growth with adequate protection of the natural environment and conservation of natural resources."

North Dakota 100

Depressed farm prices and drought refresh the memories of many North Dakotans of the frustration and pain of the 30's and the continuing need to balance the state's economy so that short and long-term economic problems in one sector of the economy are less crippling than the overwhelming impact of low prices and adverse weather on our heavily agriculturally oriented economic base.

During the budget process for the 1977-79 biennium we have considered the need to broaden our economic base. The state has experienced substantial growth in the industrial, tourism and mining sectors of our economy. Economic diversification can benefit all of the people of our state.

Our people have indicated they are unwilling to sacrifice our quality of life or the precious environment in which we live in order to have economic development. In the North Dakota 100 survey, our citizens indicate a strong preference for farming and ranching and related activities such as processing agricultural products. Tourism, construction, and heavy and light industry are favored by over 50 per cent of the respondents, indicating the desire for more variety and job opportunities. Oil and coal development for both conversion and export all fell well below the 50 per cent mark.

With this in mind, I propose that we increase our efforts to broaden the state's economy in those areas where we can most easily maintain our agrarian lifestyle and quality environment. Agriculturally related industry, tourism and further development of certain areas of our oil and mineral wealth can provide our people with important jobs and enable the units of government within our state to function and provide important services for our people. We must constantly look for new areas in which we can develop economic opportunities for our people. New economic opportunities for our state and our people will receive my continuing attention in the next four years.

Agriculture

Our quality of life in North Dakota is largely dependent on agriculture as the major component of our economy. We need to look at the factors which will keep agriculture healthy, or will return it to good health. Cattle and grain producers have faced low prices. The farmer's share of each dollar spent by consumers for food dropped to 37.6 cents in October, 1976, the smallest in more than five years, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Four important factors are necessary for a healthy farm economy: adequate moisture, marketing, family farms and food policy. To assist farmers suffering from losing cattle and grain production, we must continue to help farmers look for new and better ways to market our products.

I believe in this, and I have acted. I led the bi-partisan Industrial Commission, and people from the private sector, on a trade mission to the Middle East early in 1976. We planted some seeds which we are now beginning to harvest. One of the companies which participated in the Mission recently sold 30 metric tons of soybean seed to the Egyptian Government's Ministry of Agriculture. The firm indicates that further trade is anticipated with the Egyptian Government.

I have also had trade discussions with Japanese leaders both in that country and the United States. I believe Japan is an excellent prospect for increased trade in the future, especially for North Dakota grain products.

Industrial development must also be encouraged by the sharing of information. This fall, the first Annual Governor's International Trade Conference was held in Fargo. This is an excellent forum for an important purpose. I intend to support similar conferences in the future, with joint sponsorship by private and governmental organizations. This kind of private-public teamwork is a necessity as we look to maintaining a healthy agricultural situation in our state, and toward diversifying our economic base.

I affirm the value and necessity of the family farm. The numbers of family farm units are declining, down 16,000 from 1960. I am concerned about the continuation of this trend, and the relationship of such a decline to our smaller rural communities.

One way to address this problem is to provide assistance to the young farmers of our state. In the North Dakota 100 survey, more than 60 per cent of our citizens called for more active state help for young farmers.

We are helping by making farm loans available. The Bank of North Dakota served more than 500 farmers with farm ownership and operational loans totaling over $22 million. The State Land Department currently has approximately 1,600 farm loans totaling nearly $40 million.

We must also consider the transfer of land from one generation to another, and estate taxes. I have addressed these topics in the section on taxation.

Marketing and the family farm are important issues for all North Dakotans. These issues take on an even broader significance as we consider our worldwide responsibility to produce food.

From time to time, North Dakota farmers continue to experience shortages of fuel and fertilizer. I believe our long-range planning should consider the possibility of North Dakota producing fuel and fertilizer from lignite for our own use — thus protecting our agricultural economy.

Business and Industry

The energy industry is important to North Dakota and will, no doubt, continue to hold the spotlight for some time to come. We must insure that North Dakotans receive the positive effects of the energy industry.

In addition to the importance of the energy and agricultural industries, diversification is necessary to encourage stability of an economy based heavily upon agriculture in which commodity prices vary considerably from year to year.

During the past biennium, more than 90 new plants or expansion of existing firms provided an average of 1,700 additional jobs each year. While unemployment in the state climbed four-tenths of one per cent during the past two years, the 5.5 per cent of unemployed remains well below the national average.

Continued emphasis should be given to promoting our sound industrial climate. North Dakotans need jobs. However, to provide these jobs we must recognize that keen competition for industry exists among the 50 states.

During the past 24 months North Dakota has pursued economic development not only by enlightening the nation's businesses and industries to the benefits of operating in North Dakota, but also by exploring foreign markets as well. New markets for existing industry mean expanded production and more jobs. The long and complex process of securing our rightful place in the world market was enhanced last March with the Trade Mission to Egypt and Jordan.

The reactivation of a community development program in the state has encouraged and supported more than 50 cities to expand local economic bases, build local pride and provide a better place to live for thousands of North Dakota citizens.

North Dakota's third highest revenue-producing industry, tourism, will expand in North Dakota's second hundred years. I support the expansion of this desirable industry which benefits people by giving them recreational, aesthetic, and historical experiences. Statistics show that our visitor rate has increased throughout the state from Bonanzaville to the Peace Garden to the Badlands. State government has cooperated with private industry in supporting tourism in North Dakota. The citizens of this state are supportive of the tourism industry. In the North Dakota 100 survey, tourism was second only to agriculture in terms of approval of our state's residents for growth encouragement.

Diversification

The key to progressive economic development for North Dakota's second century is diversification. Although recognition and support for the agriculture industry must and will be continued, we must realize the need to expand our economic base so that the well-being of both rural and urban citizens in our state is not totally dependent on this one area. We can and must diversify without risking our environment or our quality of life.

Protecting Our Citizens

"Among the reasons North Dakotans like North Dakota is the general quality of life, including less crime and violence than other states."

North Dakota 100

North Dakota's second century citizens deserve the same quality of life, including public safety and security, which we have enjoyed. To secure this protection for our citizens, we must continue an emphasis on innovative law enforcement practices.

Law Enforcement

In the summer of 1975, I had the opportunity to review Minnesota's Crime Watch Program at a Midwestern Governors' Conference meeting. I was very impressed with this crime prevention program, and upon my return I recommended its implementation to the North Dakota Law Enforcement Council. I am pleased to report that, since that time, the Crime Watch Program has been initiated in North Dakota. The Law Enforcement Council has worked closely with my office to establish this important program.

North Dakota Crime Watch provides for a public information program about how to prevent crime and deal with it, and an active prevention program of identifying homes and possessions to make it difficult for burglars to market stolen items. North Dakota Crime Watch is a constructive, innovative, preventive program which will reduce the dangers of crime for our citizens.

Since 1976, the North Dakota Law Enforcement Council has distributed Federal Crime Control funds so state agencies and local governments can reduce crime and improve the delivery of justice throughout the state. The Council has allocated these federal revenues for contract policing programs, local jail and law enforcement center construction, judicial studies and court improvement programs, juvenile services, the State High Band Radio System, training for criminal justice practitioners, delinquency and crime prevention, and special legislative studies.

A decrease in federal revenue through the Crime Control Act is expected, and with increasing costs of law enforcement and criminal justice on the state and local levels, we must all be concerned with continuing this important work. Although North Dakota has one of the lowest crime rates in the nation, it is increasing, and as we look toward our second century, we must give serious consideration to minimizing the state's reliance on federal funds and emphasize a criminal justice system maintenance and improvement with the revenues generated from state and local taxes.

The Highway Patrol has a vital role in the protection of our state's citizens. The Patrol reports that 180 people died as a result of traffic accidents this past year, and nearly 6,000 were injured as a result of traffic accidents. In economic terms, our state suffered a loss of some $83 million this past year as a result of traffic accidents. The Highway Patrol is an effective instrument in traffic accident prevention for the maintenance of the peace and tranquility of the state.

I support "per se" legislation to assist in controlling highway deaths due to alcohol. This type of legislation would assist law enforcement in making it an offense "per se" to have ten-hundredths of one per cent of alcohol in the blood while driving a motor vehicle. Alcohol was a factor in 63 per cent of the state's traffic fatalities in 1976. I urge you, as members of the Legislature, to pass this important legislation to help save lives in North Dakota.

The continued observance of the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit and enforcement of it by the Highway Patrol and other law enforcement personnel, will continue to be a safety and conservation factor for the people of North Dakota.

While it is important to have strong rehabilitation programs for law offenders, I believe it is also extremely important to assist crime victims. The North Dakota Crime Victims Reparations Act of 1975 established a $100,000 fund for crime victims. This fund has been utilized for 54 crime victims who were awarded claims. Because the fund is depleted, I support an emergency appropriation so this program can continue. I further support an appropriation for the North Dakota Crime Victims Reparations Act to continue in the next biennium.

The National Guard

The Armed Forces of the United States, and the North Dakota National Guard are operating in a no-draft environment for the first time since before World War II. Our Guard, as is true in other states, is experiencing real difficulty in maintaining its strength with the resources for enlistment and incentives for re-enlistment currently available. I believe the state and the Legislative Assembly should continue traditional interest in the National Guard and I urge that you give special attention to measures that will be presented by the National Guard to improve its resources for recruiting and incentives for reenlistment.

Vietnam Veterans Bonus

The period for applications from Vietnam Veterans for the North Dakota Vietnam Bonus will expire under current law on January 28, 1977. Records indicate several thousand veterans have not yet made application for the Bonus, and currently new applications are still being received at the rate of 25 to 30 per month. I urge a two-year extension of the eligibility period for the filing of Bonus applications. Adequate funds exist in the Vietnam Bonus Bond Proceeds Fund for the payment to veterans who have not yet received their bonus.

Election Reform

Protection of our citizens extends into many areas including the protection of their most fundamental rights. The right to vote is one of these important basic rights, and accordingly, it should be preserved with all necessary safeguards.

Elections in recent years have demonstrated that gross miscarriages of justice can result under our present elections laws. It is our absolute duty to prevent this from happening again, and I therefore recommend the following changes in the laws of North Dakota which govern elections and political parties:

- 1) Insuring the right to vote by absentee ballot to every person who will not have an opportunity to vote on election day so that no confusion exists as to the validity of such absentee ballots and votes;

- 2) Restructuring party columns on both voting machines and paper

- ballots and apportioning voting machines according to population;
- 3) Requiring qualified election officials who are given adequate compensation, proper instruction and easily understood election manuals, and who have specific duties in assisting voters at the polls; and
- 4) Creating an independent advisory commission on elections that would attempt to establish standards of uniformity for the election process.

Citizens deserve to vote without the fear that their constitutional right to cast a ballot for the candidates of their choice will be denied because of the incompetence of some election official or system. It is vital to the citizens of today, as well as for those for whom we are planning in North Dakota's second century, that we assure our citizens the kind of election laws which effectively protect the constitutional right to vote.

A Responsible Taxation Program

"North Dakotans desire input regarding the responsible expenditure of their tax dollars."

North Dakota 100

Looking to North Dakota's second century, we must, as public officials, provide a responsible taxation program which provides for current needs and looks to the years ahead. We must consider reforms, we must look for equity for all of our citizens, and we must be fiscally responsible.

North Dakota's tax system is a balanced, diversified system of sales taxes, income taxes, property taxes, special taxes and excise taxes that raise the revenues necessary to fund the programs authorized by the North Dakota Legislature. Our tax system needs changes, but the vote by the people of North Dakota on November 2 to reduce the North Dakota sales tax has restricted the amount of total tax relief and tax adjustment that we can make during the 1977 Legislative Session.

In this Message I will set out some suggested tax law changes in broad general terms.

Energy Taxation

I recommend that this legislature enact a 33-1/3 per cent severance tax on the price of coal. A severance tax should be levied on the market value of coal with deductions allowed for reclamation costs and the severance tax itself.

North Dakota's severance tax should be a percentage of the price of coal in order that the revenues North Dakota receives in future years will be adequate to meet the increasing socio-economic costs relating to large scale energy development. A percentage severance tax will also help establish an endowment fund for future generations to compensate them for the loss of a natural resource. We cannot be too careful in our search to protect future generations from adverse economic consequences resulting from coal development.

The distribution of the severance tax and the coal conversion privilege tax must be revised in order that local governments receive a larger share of these tax dollars during the period of plant construction when there is substantial economic impact for local governments, but less than full coal production to generate taxes.

Estate Tax

I recommend that the estate tax exemption be raised to $200,000. A family farm, a small business, and a wage earner's lifetime savings, should be allowed to pass to heirs without being strangled by an unreasonable estate tax. In addition to raising the basic exemption to $200,000, I recommend that we increase the rates on the upper end of the estate tax to recover some of the lost dollars that local governments would otherwise incur because of this exemption.

Property Tax Relief

I recommend that the North Dakota Legislature evaluate the "circuit breaker plan" of property tax relief for low and moderate income renters and homeowners whose rent payments or property taxes consume too great a percentage of their income.

If, however, you determine that a circuit breaker tax relief program is not possible during this session of the Legislature, then I urge that you include a larger segment of our senior citizens, and increase the amount of benefits available, in the existing homestead credit plan.

Increasing property taxes are driving senior citizens out of the homes they own because they cannot afford to pay the property taxes, while at the same time, government housing is built to assist them. The most sensible way we can help the older people is to give them the kind of assistance that allows them to stay in the homes they own, and maintain their independence. This means that we must increase the benefits in our present property tax relief program.

Income Tax

Our state income tax rates need to be adjusted, broadened and made more progressive over a larger span of income to compensate for the effect inflation has had on those rates. Presently our income tax rates reach a maximum of 10 per cent of taxable income at $8,000 and above. Too many middle income families are now paying the highest income tax rate of 10 per cent on each marginal dollar they earn. We need to alter this by changing the income tax rates to recognize the effect of inflation during the past half decade.

These recommendations represent some of the major tax changes I would like you to consider during this Legislative Session.

Because of the unique situation we find ourselves in following the approval of a sales tax decrease by the voters in the November 2 election, this Legislative Session has less opportunity to enact major tax reforms than many of us have hoped for and believe in. Nonetheless, the items that I have mentioned are goals that can be realistically attained in the 1977 Session of the Legislature while still protecting the fiscal base of our state government.

Planning For Our Second Century

"North Dakotans have a strong interest in helping to determine the state's future."

North Dakota 100

We have a strong responsibility to plan for North Dakota's second century, and we must begin during this Session. I cannot over-emphasize the importance of planning in a responsive, efficient, productive and service-oriented system of government.

Planning

Our present statutes charge the State Planning Division with the following purposes:

“ . . . to advise, consult, coordinate, assist and contract with or on behalf of the various planning agencies in developing and harmonizing the planning activities of this state.”

The Division's present staff is working hard to achieve these purposes. More specifically, they are working closely with local officials and the Natural Resources Council to develop and establish a statewide process and structure for planning and policy development. This process and structure begins with and depends heavily upon citizen participation at the local level and can rightly be called “participatory democracy.” The North Dakota 100 Program is a key part of this emphasis.

Just as planning is an important part of our personal and business management, so must planning be an integral part of the future orderly growth of our state.

State planning efforts include support of land use planning and decision-making at the local level, the development of strong regional planning staffs to assist local units of government, a State and Local Affairs Council to present local and citizen concerns to state government, and the formation of coordinating councils such as the Natural Resources Council and the Human Resources Coordinating Council to coordinate policy development and implementation.

The Regional Planning Councils are an important part of planning. They are presently organized under the state's joint power statute (54-40-08) and are funded by a combination of federal and county funds.

They have been organized by and draw membership from county boards of commissioners, city councils and soil conservation districts to provide professional planning services to local government on a continuous basis. They are the primary mechanisms available for providing these much needed services. They are not third levels of government, and they are not functional administrative agencies. It is time to recognize clearly the important role these Councils play in helping local units of government plan orderly growth and development. Both statutory authority clearly defining their role and state financial support are needed to assist them.

Counties do not currently have authority to levy a tax for comprehensive planning as cities do. Some have taken funds from the county general fund for this purpose and others have used earmarked funds. The counties need statutory authority to levy a tax for comprehensive planning purposes.

Program Budgeting

I commend the Legislative Assembly for the program budgeting procedures being implemented in state government. Program budgeting is an essential part of a modern, up-to-date planning system. To be fully effective, program budgeting must go beyond budgeting and accounting for programs and be concerned about coordinated, long-range goals, objectives and policies.

The next step in program budgeting can and should be a minimum, uniform required planning process for all state agencies. This process should emphasize citizen concerns and clearly define goals, objectives and policies to meet those concerns. Over a period of time, such a planning process will do away with unnecessary programs and eliminate gaps in service, making state government more efficient and effective.

Transportation

Transportation is necessary for the economic well-being of our state. Improvement of transportation and roads ranked high among citizens in the North Dakota 100 survey.

The changing needs for modern highways require planning and action to meet the rapid economic changes now in progress in our state. We have an excellent basic highway system from which we can develop the roadways to meet the expanding needs of our farms and rural communities. North Dakota is one of the first states to complete the Interstate highway system within its borders. This historic milestone was achieved last year. The economic advantage of low cost transportation must be extended to the small town and rural North Dakota.

Rural roads built fifteen or twenty years ago were designed to meet the needs of that time. No one realized the change that was to take place in the size and weight of truck, tractor and other farm machinery. Our Highway Department recognizes this change and the vital need to upgrade our road system in rural communities and small towns.

A great concern is over "off system" rural bridges built thirty or forty years ago — bridges which have lasted far beyond their life expectancy, under conditions for which they were not designed or built to meet. I am very concerned about the size and weight of school buses used today. Structures on many school bus routes are not adequate; they are too narrow or do not have the weight capacity for which they are being used and are far below a desired standard. In some cases, school buses are driven many extra miles to avoid deficient structures. This is a waste of time and money.

The state has matched all federal aid made available for roadways. We have a sound financial position related to our existing program, but the need for improvement in rural areas and less populated urban areas is an economic and social need our state must meet. To meet this need, sufficient funds should be provided to match all federal aid provided for transportation purposes and specific actions should be directed to our rural bridges. I urge action to facilitate rural and small urban area transportation programs.

The State Planning Division, as a part of an overall state plan for all transportation services, has applied for and will soon receive federal funds to study rail transportation in North Dakota. The Upper Great Plains Transportation Institute at North Dakota State University is the sub-grantee for the study which will provide state officials with important research for planning North Dakota's total future transportation services.

Government Organization

When our state was founded in 1889, its leaders and public officials proposed certain organizational units in order to best serve the people. It is appropriate as North Dakota approaches its Centennial, that we continue to provide the best organizational tools for effective government for all the people of the state. To be an effective tool for the people it represents, government must adapt itself to a continually changing world. I believe it is essential for this Legislative Assembly to act responsively in meeting people's needs today, just as the people who sat in your place did almost ninety years ago. This responsiveness means efficiency and economy in government. I am continuing to evaluate the structure of state government.

In the 1975 Session, I requested a Department of Natural Resources to more effectively coordinate the important natural resources area functions. When statutory approval was not received for such a Department, I requested that the Natural Resources Council receive statutory authority. This was done.

I believe that the actions of the Natural Resources Council have shown how such coordinative efforts can be effective. The Natural Resources Council has been involved in a number of efficient efforts on behalf of citizens. One example is the Devils Lake Basin Study which has been coordinated through the Council. Another example is the agreement signed through the Natural Resources Council for North Dakota and the Bureau of Land Management to cooperatively conduct an Environmental Impact Study (EIS) in a seven-county coal impact area in west-central North Dakota.

I have obtained funds from the federal government for staffing the Natural Resources Council. However, I believe the state should support with minimal staff this important coordinative and planning function.

An additional coordinative effort is the combining of the agency director positions of the State Outdoor Recreation Agency and the State Parks system.

In the area of human resources, I have obtained a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for a Human Resources Coordination Project within the Executive Office. This project will involve the formation of a Human Resources Coordinating Council which will operate similarly to the Natural Resources Council. In addition to needs assessment and other Communication and coordination activities, the Coordinating Council will certainly look at the options available for avoiding duplication and for combining efforts in a more efficient manner. Whether or not this would lead to a Department of Human Resources, I cannot say at this time. However, I believe it is important to look at the possibility of a Department of Human Resources as a viable alternative to the present structure.

I believe we must also look at our way of coordinating and planning research efforts in the state. This type of coordination is especially important with regard to energy development and the environment.

One other area of government reorganization we might look at is that of a Department of Transportation. Through the Executive Office, we have coordinated transportation efforts not designated to specific agencies. For example, I formed the Governor's Transportation Advisory Committee across agency lines which has assisted in obtaining better air transportation for North Dakota. The Highway Department has done a fine job in the area of ground transportation. However, a number of urban transportation needs exist which are not specifically addressed by any one agency. I believe we could look at a Department of Transportation as a way to better serve all the transportation needs of the people of North Dakota.

State Office Building

Efficiency of government depends greatly upon the housing of the agencies and their employees. The Capitol has been an excellent investment for the state. However, it is not large enough to contain all state agencies. Additional space must be provided.

The State Land Department has proposed the financing and construction of an office building as an investment for the schools of North Dakota. The concept is sound and has received the endorsement of the Capitol Grounds Planning Commission. This Legislative Session should approve the new building.

A State Housing Finance Agency

Early last year, I requested that the Committee on Political Subdivisions of the North Dakota Legislative Council study the possibility of a state housing finance agency for North Dakota. At that time I drew a distinction between the type of housing assistance which is an income transfer program, a type of assistance which is presently being carried on through the State Social Service Board, and the kind of financing and building housing program which is a separate function.

It is this latter function which lacks statewide direction. North Dakota is losing millions of dollars in housing funds for our people because we do not have a central housing finance agency.

A conservative estimate is that 30 per cent of North Dakota's present housing is substandard. The cost of purchasing and renting housing is increasing beyond the ability to pay of elderly, moderate, low-income and fixed-income people. The severe shortage of adequate housing exists in cities and rural communities alike.

With the need of North Dakotans for more and better housing it is incumbent upon us to assure that the state obtains the needed housing funds available. I urge you to look at a State Housing Finance Agency which could assist in financing housing throughout the state through the local housing authorities. Such a housing finance agency would be an independent authority under the management of the Industrial Commission within the Bank of North Dakota. It could issue tax-exempt bonds backed up by mortgages. The interest saving would be passed on to moderate and low-income home borrowers.

State/Local and State/Federal Relationships

As North Dakota begins its second century, we will find government becoming more complex at all levels. It will be more complex because there are more people, more industries, and more state, national and international interlocking issues which affect us all.

This complexity is something that can be dealt with if we have the proper planning tools. That is why I emphasize so strongly the importance of planning.

State/Local

I believe the State and Local Affairs Council will be a very effective tool in obtaining input from local government and citizens into the state planning process. The Council will strengthen the position of local government by channeling local concerns to state government.

One of the local problems the state must address is that of local zoning laws. At present, local zoning laws and varied legal opinions on these laws are confusing and are an obstacle to orderly local development. This is especially true in the extraterritorial areas created by the last Legislature in which cities and townships can both exercise zoning authority. Amendments are needed to provide for a transition to placing exclusive zoning authority with one unit of local government in the extraterritorial zone and in the areas outside zone. Until this is done, developers and individual builders will not be on firm legal ground.

Revenue sharing is a topic of great concern to local government. As I indicated to representatives of local units of government earlier, recent events have made it very difficult to include all the measures we might have wished within the budget.

Continued depressed farm prices, coupled with a continuing drought situation that could further seriously reduce future production, results in a combination almost certain to reduce the state's future tax collections. Add to this the approval by the voters of the initiated measure reducing sales tax collections and we have a financial picture that has changed substantially in the past six months.

I consistently spoke against approving the initiated tax reduction measure, contending that this is rightfully a Legislative responsibility. Approval of this measure by the voters seriously affects our ability to do all that we had planned to do or would like to do in areas of tax adjustment and reform.

I think we should be extremely candid and recognize that any program of state collected revenue sharing with local units of governments in all probability represents a commitment to continue that program in the future. If state government is to share state-collected funds with local government in order to avoid increased property taxes at the local level, then we must be willing to accept the future logical consequence of increasing state taxes should state funds become inadequate to continue a state revenue sharing program. To assume anything less than this would be an unwillingness to face reality and would be unfair and dishonest to ourselves and the citizens of North Dakota.

Although I did not include a provision for revenue sharing within the Executive Budget, I have indicated that I am willing to visit with Legislators as the Session proceeds to see if the fiscal picture or our ability to assist local governments has improved.

State/Federal

Not only must we be concerned about our relationship with subdivisions of government within our state, but we must also be concerned about our relationship with the federal government. This is important in many ways, ranging from demands for a national energy policy to a request for reorganization of the federal government to make it a more reasonable body of agencies with which to work.

I am optimistic now, with the Carter Administration's goal of government reorganization, that it will be possible to get the federal government bureaucracy of some 2,000 agencies down to a more manageable number. The National Governors' Conference will further assist the states' communication efforts.

Commencement

As I conclude my State of the State Message to each of you and to the citizens of North Dakota, I feel that the title of "Commencement" is more apropos than "Conclusion." I began my Message by saying that we will plan for North Dakota's second century. We must commence now to lay the foundation for the quality of life for the citizens of our state's second hundred years.

Challenges facing us in the "exciting eighties" include responsible management of the energy industry, maintenance of a strong agricultural economic base, and diversification of our economy. We must be responsible for providing the social, health, cultural and educational, transportation, protection and other myriad needs of our citizens of today and tomorrow.

The responsibility is great — but we have a significant count-down to 1989. Let us take this head start and begin now to plan for North Dakota's second century.

As we look forward to North Dakota's second hundred years, I ask each of you to join with me in making this Forty-fifth Legislative Assembly a fitting commencement for our state's second century.

Benediction was pronounced by Fr. Willibrord Bachmeier, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Williston, North Dakota.

Rep. Strinden moved that the Joint Session now be dissolved, which motion prevailed.

The Joint Session was dissolved.

The House re-convened with Speaker Solberg presiding.

Rep. Backes moved that the House be on the ninth order of business, and at the conclusion of the ninth order of business, the House stand adjourned until 2 p.m., Wednesday, January 5, 1977, which motion prevailed.

The State of the Judiciary
Message By

Ralph J. Erickstad

Chief Justice of the North Dakota Supreme Court

To

Joint Session of the Legislative Assembly
January 5, 1977

THE STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

I thank you Mr. Speaker Solberg, Governor Link, Lt. Governor Sanstead, leaders of the Republican and Democrat caucuses in the House and Senate, other members and staff of the Forty-fifth Legislative Assembly, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen — friends all.

This is the third time in the 87 year span of our state and its 45 sessions of the Legislature that the Chief Justice of our state has been invited to speak to a joint session of the Legislature on the state of the judiciary. I consider it a unique privilege to have been twice invited.

Since I last appeared before you, much involving the judiciary has transpired.

Supreme Court Current for Third Consecutive Year

In this period of increasing complexity and growth, I am very pleased to be able to report that for the third consecutive year our State Supreme Court has, at the end of August, been completely current. That means that we had no backlog of cases or, in other words, that we had heard all cases that were ready to be heard and had rendered decisions on all cases heard. The time utilized in deciding a case from the date of submission to the court, or oral argument, until the opinion was filed averaged only 30 days in 1975 and 34½ days in 1976.

Legislative Attention Called to Elected State Officials' Salaries

Almost all of the cases we hear are difficult, but some are more difficult than others. One of the more difficult cases in the last two years was one involving unvouchered expenses of elected state officials. Walker V. Omdahl, 242 N.W. 2d 649 (N.D. 1976). Hopefully, you will find a solution to that problem in this session of the Legislature, for laws are meaningless unless properly administered. Your elected state officials are the key to the administration of much of our law.

Other of our opinions will disclose other areas of law which might benefit from your deliberation and possible interim study.

The New Judicial Article

Reference to interim study reminds us that since we last visited together, our judiciary has been affected by the greatest judicial constitutional change since statehood. That change was initiated when the past, or Forty-fourth Legislative Assembly adopted House Concurrent Resolution 3056 which called for the establishment of a unified court system.

The Judicial Article came into existence as a proposal for a change in the Constitution affecting the judiciary of our state in House Concurrent Resolution No. 3056 which was introduced by Representatives Kretschmar and Knudson in the 1975 session of the State Legislature.

This resolution came into the Legislature without our knowledge, apparently as a result of efforts of those who had previously served in the Second Constitutional Convention of our state. It is patterned after the Judicial Article which was contained in the Constitution adopted by the Second Constitutional Convention in 1972.

When we learned of the existence of the resolution, it was in the House Judiciary Committee. I appeared before the House Judiciary Committee and suggested that consideration of the resolution should perhaps await the results of the study being conducted by the 50-member Criminal Justice Commission appointed by the Governor, the Attorney General, and myself, which was funded by a Law Enforcement Assistance Administration Discretionary Grant to study the various aspects of our law enforcement system in light of the five Task Force Reports of the National Advisory Commission on Standards and Goals.

Notwithstanding my suggestion, the resolution passed the House of Representatives by a final vote of 86 ayes, 5 nays, with 11 absent and not voting and passed the Senate with 39 ayes, 3 nays, with 9 absent and not voting.

When I appeared before the Bar Association in June of 1975, prior to approval in September of the Judicial Article, I said:

"House Concurrent Resolution No. 3056 locks into the Constitution only two tiers of the present court system — that of the Supreme and District Courts. The rest of the court system must be provided by the Legislature. In other words, it sets up a skeleton. The skin and muscle must be provided by the Legislature. We hope to secure input as to what that should be through the Advisory Committee on the Proposed Judicial Article, with the help of staff funded by the discretionary grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration . . .

"Unless some input is provided for that skin and muscle, the Legislature will receive little guidance and will be at a tremendous handicap should the people approve the Judicial Article. It is our hope that in publicizing the Proposed new Judicial Article throughout our state, its pros and cons can be discussed, thus enabling the people to decide for themselves whether its adoption will be beneficial."

That our people approved the new Judicial Article and thus the concept of a unified court system is now an historic fact. The question now is — Where do we go from here? or — How should we proceed to find the right answers?

Senate Concurrent Resolution for a Moratorium on Structural Changes

Senator Wenstrom, who served as chairman of the Second Constitutional Convention from which most of the new Judicial Article evolved, and who served on the Citizen's Advisory Committee, presided over by Mr. Richard McGee of Minot, has introduced a resolution calling for a moratorium on structural changes pending an interim study. It is my understanding that the resolution calls for a study of the structural needs of the judiciary by a joint committee of the Legislative Council and the Judicial Council.

Subcommittees of the Advisory Committee of the Judicial Council

To assist the judiciary in the study, Mr. McGee has appointed two subcommittees of the advisory committee. The one subcommittee which will consider rules for the appropriate administration of our judicial system is presided over by William Strutz, who is the son of the former Chief Justice of our state. The other subcommittee which will consider possible substantive structural changes in an advisory capacity is presided over by Mr. Harry Pearce, who is a son of the vice chairman of the Second Constitutional Convention.

We trust that some of the members of these two subcommittees of the Judicial Council Advisory Committee will be invited to become members of your study committee.

The adoption of such a resolution should put to rest all rumors that were circulating prior to the election to the effect that upon the approval of the new Judicial Article, or within 30 days thereafter, all courts other than the Supreme and District Courts would automatically terminate. No such thing occurred upon the approval of the new Judicial Article at the election last September, nor will it occur, if you approve Senator Wenstrom's resolution calling for a moratorium on judicial structural change pending an interim study in depth of our judicial system. I believe that Senator Wenstrom's resolution is appropriate. I hope you will support it.

And now let me change the subject. You will be happy to learn that with the assistance you gave us last session through appropriation of funds and the passage of enabling legislation that we have been able to make progress in our efforts to improve the judicial system.

Court Administration Efforts

Under Mr. William Bohn, our Court Administrator since September of 1975, and his staff, we have continued some programs, and initiated some new ones, designed to facilitate the administration of our trial courts.

Judicial Management Information System

During the last biennium, we saw the completion of a management information study by the National Center for State Courts. This study was made under the supervision of an 18 member Management Information System Committee presided over by Justice Vernon Pederson of our court. Utilizing that study, we moved forward in a case reporting system which tells us where every district court case is, what the status of the case is, which judge is responsible for it, and how long the case has been in the system. The statistics include both criminal and civil cases and the system identifies for us those cases which have been in the system longer than the criminal justice standards permit.

As a result of this new judicial management information system, our district courts have been aided in their efforts to dispose of the cases in proper order and to strike from their calendars cases which have been abandoned and thus should not be there. In spite of an increasing workload, we hope through a better assignment of cases and judges, that our district judges will be able to keep up with their work. With this thought in mind, we are not asking for funds for additional district judges this biennium.

The judicial management information system for the district courts became operational on January 1, 1976. At the supreme court level, we will be utilizing the output of this new system to provide us with statistics which should help us in the assignment of cases and possibly in changing the boundaries of the judicial districts in an attempt to better distribute the work load between districts.

The new judicial management information system is accomplished through the cooperation of the clerks of district court in each of our fifty-three counties. The clerks complete the case reporting documents and forward them to Bismarck where they are edited by our Court Administrator's staff. The documents are then processed by the Central Data Processing Division which generates monthly reports for county courts with increased jurisdiction, county justices, and district courts. Reports are disseminated to the appropriate courts, along with summary statistics to the supreme court.

In the area of the municipal courts, we derive our management information from the already functioning system of statistics that has been developed by the Driver's License Division of the State Highway Department. By utilizing that source of information, we are able to derive needed statistics on the workloads of our municipal judges without duplicating what already exists and without incurring additional expense.

In the coming biennium, we plan to further utilize the services of the Central Data Processing Division to develop a reporting system for our juvenile courts.

Education and Training for Judicial Personnel

When I last spoke to you, I asked you to approve legislation requiring all judges within our judicial system to receive annual training and education. In response, you passed legislation making it mandatory that all judges of the four lower tiers of our judicial system attend an annual educational session unless excused by our court. The compulsion was in the feature of the Continuing Judicial Education Act, Senate Bill No. 2473, which required judges to attend or secure an excuse lest their names be submitted to the new Judicial Qualifications Commission.

To assist us in the implementation of this legislation, we created a Special Committee on Judicial Education of the Judicial Council to oversee all training and education. Judge Eugene Burdick, our senior judge in point of service, was appointed chairman of the committee. Our Court Administrator's staff works with that committee in developing educational programs. We derived funds for these programs from the appropriation you made to us as well as from a block grant which we received from the Combined Law Enforcement Council.

Since the bill became law, judges from all levels of the judiciary have been involved in at least two programs. In addition, court reporters and juvenile court personnel have attended in-state programs. For example, in 1976 we held seven in-state seminars for judges and support personnel. I am told by our Court Administrator that, as a result of these sessions, we provided over 4,500 hours of training to more than 350 judges and other court personnel. We held special seminars for municipal judges with one of those seminars being held on a weekend so that more of our part-time municipal judges could attend. A fall judicial seminar was held for county judges with increased jurisdiction and county justices; at which seminar we had in attendance supreme court justices and district court judges. In June, a seminar was held for county judges and clerks of district court.

A seminar was also held for our district court juvenile supervisors and probation officers. This was the first such training session ever provided by the judiciary to our knowledge.

Toward the end of the year a training program for court reporters was held. Almost 100 per cent attendance was experienced and included court reporters from not only the district courts, but also from many of our county courts. (see appendix)

To help our lower court judges, we are now developing, in conjunction with the American Academy of Judicial Education and Minot State College, some videotape training material with workbooks that can be made available throughout the state so that judges can be updated on rules of procedure, new laws, or courtroom decorum. This video training effort should be a valuable supplement to our annual training sessions.

Planning for our Future

We began a new planning activity during the biennium through the use of a discretionary grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and with cooperation of the Combined Law Enforcement Council, which I have earlier referred to, which we hope to continue with your support and with continuing support from the council.

In 1975, we saw the need to plan for the future of the judiciary in a more formalized way and on a more long-range basis. We concluded that, whether the Judicial Article passed or failed, study and research would be necessary to facilitate the administration of the North Dakota judicial system.

Our views have been vindicated by the amendments passed, in October of last year, to The Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. The amendments contained in S. 2212, which funds the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, encourages each state judicial system to do its own planning. Under the amendments to the Act, the Judicial Branch of each state that complies will, through its own planning committee, prepare its plans and then submit its plans to the state planning agency, which in North Dakota is the Combined Law Enforcement Council, for inclusion in the state's comprehensive criminal justice plan. Each judicial branch that complies with this Federal Act will be entitled to receive $50,000 annually for planning staff.

As a result of the passage of the new Judicial Article, I anticipate that our planning staff will be of great assistance to us in developing administrative rules, and that it will be of assistance to you and your staff in the interim study that will consider structural changes in the judiciary. Our planning staff presently consists of the chief planner, an assistant planner, and a secretary. They are located with us on the second floor of the Capitol in the foyer outside the courtroom, which brings me to the next area for which I have considerable concern.

The Need for Space and the Proposed Supreme Court Building

You may recall that in my last visit with you, I touched upon the need for space for supreme court activities including the law library, the clerk's office, and the administrative function. You passed a resolution last session calling for a study of the need for space for the Supreme Court, and as a result of that resolution, an interim study was undertaken.

Through the use of the new preliminary planning revolving fund and upon the recommendation of your budget section, we obtained $45,000 for the purpose of examining the present need for space for the Supreme Court and projecting the space needs into the future. That study was completed and a comprehensive report was submitted to Budget Committee "C" for their consideration. The report recommended that we plan for the needs of the Court through the year 2000. By that date the needs were estimated at 32,720 square feet of usable space. At present we have only 11,798 square feet of usable space.

It is my view that Budget Committee "C" recognized the Supreme Court's need for additional space. Notwithstanding that it did not elect to submit a bill to the Legislature, the committee asked us to prepare alternate cost estimates on the construction of a supreme court building and cost estimates for remodeling and expanding the supreme court space in the Capitol. It suggested that we prepare appropriate legislation to implement each of the alternatives for introduction in the 1977 Legislative Session.

In our appropriation request to you, we have included the sum of $2,950,000 for the construction of a supreme court building containing 30,000 usable square feet. The original cost estimates from the architect were approximately $3.9 million, but upon recommendation of Budget Committee "C" we scaled the building down and removed some features, thereby allowing us to reduce the cost substantially. It should be noted that our relocation would release ideal space to both the Executive and Legislative Branches of government, as we presently occupy the second floor of the east wing of the Capitol building. A separate facility would recognize the co-equal significance of the judiciary. At the present time the west wing of the Capitol is recognized as the home of the Legislative Branch, the tower or the east wing is recognized as the home of the Executive Branch, but one has to search for the home of the Judicial Branch.

Administration of the District Courts

As I mentioned to you in my last address, our Supreme Court appointed six presiding district judges, one for each judicial district. The chairman of our presiding judges is Judge Roy A. Ilvedson of the Fifth Judicial District. The other members are: Judge A.C. Bakken, First Judicial District; Judge Douglas B. Heen, Second Judicial District; Judge Larry Hatch, Third Judicial District; Judge Benny Graff, Fourth Judicial District; Judge Norbert J. Muggli, Sixth Judicial District. It is my hope that these presiding judges will be given added responsibility as we attempt to improve the administration of our court system. Over the biennium, we have been holding meetings with the presiding judges for the purpose of informing them of what is expected of them in each of their districts and to acquaint them with new and better techniques of court administration to ensure that the district court cases are processed efficiently and with justice.

In one of the judicial districts, the Fourth, which consists of the counties of McLean, Sheridan, Wells, Eddy, Burleigh, Kidder, Foster, and Stutsman, the position of District Court Administrator was created on a trial basis through the use of Combined Law Enforcement Council funds and funds appropriated to the district courts.

In the Fourth Judicial District, we have seen an improved flow of cases from the use of the administrator at a time when case filings have increased. Our State Court Administrator tells us that better scheduling of court time and better utilization of jurors time has resulted from the use of this District Court Administrator.

Hopefully, we will be able to provide other districts with court administrators in the future. Some funds for this effort are included in our budget request.

Other Administrative Activities

There are some other items in the administrative area that have been undertaken over the past two years in which you might be interested.

Our Court Administrator, prior to his appointment to that office and while under a grant, inventoried all county courthouses and courtrooms in the State of North Dakota, documented the physical characteristics of each, and identified the strengths and weaknesses in each of the courtrooms.

With assistance from the Combined Law Enforcement Council, we have obtained and installed an electronic sound recording system in our supreme court courtroom. This unit replaces an old unit which we found to be inadequate. The recorded oral arguments are now more available to us as we prepare our opinions.

During the biennium, we undertook a study of the microfilm needs in our lower courts upon learning that the lower courts were overwhelmed with records and needed some advice on how to cope with their own space problems. This project was done under contract with the National Center for State Courts and has given us, as well as our district and county courts, some guidance on how they might improve their recordkeeping systems. It is our plan that in the coming biennium, we will undertake a complete records management study that will begin to bring about some standardization in forms and filing techniques in our lower courts.

In my last message to you, I talked about the problem of the cost of trial for indigent defendants. We see a continuing problem and believe that you will be receiving some proposed legislation for handling the defense of indigents at the district court level. See our opinion entitled Baer v. O'Keefe, 235 N.W. 2d 885 (N.D. 1975) for an indication of the problem.

To provide us with a basis upon which to move in the future, we had a study performed by the National Legal Aid and Defender Society on the need for an appellate defender system in North Dakota. That study indicated that the most urgent need for a public defender was at the trial level. If legislation is considered, I would hope that the defender program would also cover the appellate level. Such legislation could include both a public defender and the assigned counsel approach.

If a public defender system is considered, it perhaps should be considered in conjunction with a district attorney system so that both sides might be of equal expertise. See again, Baer v. O'Keefe.

Law Library

As you are aware, in writing opinions we must study the decisions of the federal courts and the state appellate courts, the federal statutes and the state statutes, federal and state rules, law reviews and textbooks. Presently, according to our librarian, Mr. Elmer DeWald, our law library consists of 82,714 volumes with 5,060 volumes having been added during the past biennium.

Over the past biennium, Mr. DeWald asserts that we were able to accomplish most of the new system of cataloging all the publications which are in the library and we should be completing that work shortly. Also, we are about to move into a new technological phase of modern law libraries and that is the addition of microfilm and microfiche materials so that additional reference items can be available with an efficient use of space. We find that many of the documents from the federal government will be coming to us on microfilm and we need to be prepared for this change.

You should be aware of one problem in our law library, however. We will very soon be out of space. Books in boxes impart no knowledge. The result will be the same if we are forced to place our books in inaccessible vaults or storage rooms outside of the library. At the present time, we are lacking some of the statutes of other states and some of the important law reviews.

The present law library consists of 5,542 square feet of usable space and our architectural consultant projected that our needs are for 13,520 square feet. The law library is not for the exclusive use of the Supreme Court. It provides a research resource to all agencies of state government and their attorneys, as well as other lawyers from the area and out over a great part of the state.

Clerk of Court

Again our Clerk of Court, Luella Dunn, and her staff have been of great assistance to us in performing the many complex and varied services of the Clerk's office. Lu is actually the director of the nerve center of our court.

Grievance Commission and Judicial Qualifications Commission

In addition to being our Clerk, Luella Dunn is also secretary of the Judicial Qualifications Commission and the Grievance Commission.

She informs us that complaints against attorneys increased from a low of 18 complaints per year to a record high this year of 65. During the last year four of the complaints resulted in formal proceedings in the Supreme Court against attorneys whom the Grievance Commission believed guilty of misconduct.

She also tells us that the Judicial Qualifications Commission, in its brief existence, has investigated 22 complaints against judges.

The Grievance Commission of the Supreme Court and the Grievance Committees of the State Bar Association have served a very valuable purpose in maintaining the high standards of the legal profession since we changed the grievance procedure in 1965. Recently a committee of the State Bar Association submitted to our court a proposal for changes in the procedure. In addition, a subcommittee of our court has also submitted a proposal for changes. We will, on the 1st day of March, 1977, be holding a hearing on those proposals. Hopefully, the hearing will be well attended, and, if it is, I am certain that we will receive much help in determining what is needed to improve our grievance procedure. The present chairman of the Grievance Commission is Frederick E. Whisenand, Jr. and the other members are Malcolm H. Brown, Jake C. Hodny, Lowell O. Tjon, Henry G. Ruemmele, and Maurice E. Cook. Please speak to them if you have any ideas for changes.

The Judicial Qualifications Commission which you established last session at our urging, came into being shortly after the start of the fiscal period in 1975. Its first Chairman is LeRoy A. Loder, and the other members are Dr. Glenn Smith, Jane Knecht, Harold B. Herseith, Everett Ballmann, Irene Dodge, and Judge William M. Beede.

I think that the Judicial Qualifications Commission has made a very conscientious effort with little funding and without the benefit of local precedent.

When you created the Judicial Qualifications Commission, you provided the commission with only $20,000 for the biennium. For the first year, the Commission relied upon the Attorney General's office for investigative staff. To make it possible to secure the assistance of a lawyer as an investigator and a stenographer to type the reports, others and I appeared before the Executive Committee of the State Bar Association to secure supplemental funds. We were able to secure $10,000 on a one-time basis from the Bar Association and $5,000 from the State Bar Board on a one-time basis to provide such staff to be used jointly by the Grievance Commission and the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

We now must ask you to fund one-half of the cost of the jointly shared staff and the other expenses of the Judicial Qualifications Commission for the next two years. We hope to secure the financing of the other one-half of the cost of staff and other expenses of the Grievance Commission from the State Bar Association. We must have full time staff for investigative purposes in conjunction with the Judicial Qualifications Commission as we couldn't expect a lawyer in private practice to investigate a judge one day and appear the next day before him as a lawyer in a case.

We believe that staff on a full time but shared basis would benefit the Grievance Commission, also in that it would help facilitate investigations of complaints against lawyers.

Law School Related Projects

With our encouragement, the League of Cities secured a grant for the purpose of preparing a model city ordinance code on criminal and traffic matters. Law Professors Thomas M. Lockney and Edward J. Ward prepared such a code and various meetings were held throughout the state to inform city officials of the availability of the code and of how the code might be enacted.

Subsequently, additional funding was secured to further facilitate enactment of the model code. Professor Thomas Lockney was commissioned to carry this project to fruition.

The 50 member Criminal Justice Commission also had its headquarters at the law school. Mr. Dwight F. Kalash, its present Executive Director, will be presenting the Commission's views to you during this Legislative Session.

As a result of our adoption of the Senior Practice Rule, which became effective September 15, 1971, seniors at the law school at the University of North Dakota, have been able to learn and serve under supervision at the same time, much like medical students have done for years. We will be considering changes in the rule soon.

As a result partially of our encouragement, the law school has been given a grant for $88,680 to fund a research assistance project to provide Centralized Legal Research to judges, prosecutors, and defense counsel. Robert Holte, former director of the Combined Law Enforcement Council and more recently Commissioner of Securities, has been appointed director of this program. This project will employ law students as researchers, again under supervision.

Other Activities of the Justices

For the last two years, Justice Paul Sand, of our court, has presided over the Joint Committee of the State Bar Association and the Judicial Council on Procedure. Recently that committee completed its work on the Proposed Rules of Evidence. Our Court very recently held a hearing on the Rules and adopted them almost in the form submitted to us. The Rules will become effective on or before February 15, 1977.

Justice Paulson has been our member of the Council of State Court Representatives for the National Center for State Courts. He is our Chairman of the Clerkship program, the Chairman of our committee on Judicial Administration, and the Chairman of arrangements for the Six State Judicial Conference which will be held in Bismarck this summer.

Justice Vogel is a member of the Joint Committee on Procedures, and the Committee on Judicial Education. He is Chairman of the Committee on appellate practice and is our delegate to the American Law Institute. He is the North Dakota member of Search Group, Inc. on technology for law enforcement, and national Chairman of Gavel project of Search Group, Inc. to find the best computer technology for trial courts.

Justice Pederson is the chairman of our newly created committee on Judicial Planning, which committee is required under the amendment to the Safe Streets Act which funds the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. He also represents us at regional conferences sponsored by the Standing Committee on Professional Discipline of the American Bar Association.

If you are wondering what I do in light of all this, I think it could be best summed up by saying I listen to complaints from our people, both within and without the judiciary, about the judiciary. If you have something you would like to tell me for the good of the judiciary, please stop by.

In Conclusion

If you, as the law-making body of this state, and the Governor, as the Chief Executive of this state, will continue to support us in our efforts to improve the judiciary, some day, others may look to us as an example of the great good that can come from a cooperative effort of the three branches of government to achieve justice. But, more importantly, this effort may be that which helps us preserve our democratic way of life for our children, their children, and their children's children, so that we are not as "Camelot" — the legendary land of King Arthur's Court, only a wistful figment of imagination or of what might have been.

I thank you very much.

Rep. Backes requested that the courtesy of the House be extended to Mr. Gorman King, Chairman of the Legislative Compensation Commission to the 45th Legislative Assembly, to discuss the report of the Commission, which request was granted, and thereupon Mr. King was introduced:

Rep. Backes moved that the following report of Mr. Gorman King be printed in the Journal, which motion prevailed.

REPORT of the
LEGISLATIVE COMPENSATION COMMISSION
submitted to the
Forty-fifth Legislative Assembly

The Legislative Compensation Commission created by the 1969 Legislative Assembly consists of five members appointed by the Governor to four-year terms. The Governor also appoints one of the members as chairman of the commission. The current commission membership is: Mr. Gorman King, Bismarck, Chairman; Mrs. Mavis Couchigian, Grand Forks; Dr. James Mahoney, Devils Lake; Mr. Edward Nesemeier, Casselton; and Mrs. Florence Olson, Enderlin.

The commission's principal responsibility, as outlined in Sections 54-03-20.2 and 54-03-20.3 of the Century Code, is to make recommendations concerning the appropriate rates of expense allowance and reimbursement for legislators during legislative session, and for interim legislative work.

The commission believes rates of compensation and reimbursement should be designed to permit citizens to hold legislative office without undue financial sacrifice or disadvantage, but should not be designed to work a detriment to the citizen-legislator concept.

The commission is required by law to report to each Legislative Assembly within 10 days after it convenes in regular session. The commission is also authorized to seek the assistance of the Legislative Council staff, which assistance has been provided during this biennium. The 1975 commission report contained three specific recommendations concerning legislative expense reimbursement, and a fourth recommendation that the Constitution be amended to create a Legislative Standards Commission. The three specific reimbursement recommendations were that the daily session unvouchered expense allowance be increased to $60 a day; that the interim mileage reimbursement be increased from 12 cents to 15 cents per mile and the lodging and meals allowance be increased to a total of $30; and that the monthly unvouchered expense allowance be increased from $50 to $150 per month. The latter recommendation was amended to increase the monthly allowance from $50 to $75 per month but the first two recommendations were adopted by the Legislative Assembly. The resolution amending Section 45 of the Constitution to provide an independent commission to set legislative pay and compensation was indefinitely postponed. A similar resolution was defeated at the general election on November 5, 1974.

The commission considered "typical" legislators compensation and expense reimbursement during the current biennium before it formulated its recommendations. It was assumed that the typical legislator served on one interim committee of the Legislative Council, that he lived 100 miles from Bismarck, that he was not the chairman of the standing or interim committee, and that his interim committee met four times during the interim.

Section 45 of the North Dakota Constitution sets the salary for legislators at $5 a day and allows 10 cents per mile of necessary travel to and from the place of meeting of the Legislative Assembly. The compensation for a 60-day legislative session, including the maximum of round trips to and from the Capitol, calculated at an average round trip of 200 miles, amounted to $440. Compensation for an 80-day session including travel would amount to $540.

In addition to the salary level set by the Constitution, the legislature has provided unvouchered expense allowance for its members. In 1975 the Legislative Compensation Commission recommended and the legislature passed a measure providing that the daily session unvouchered expense allowance be increased from $50 to $60 a day. This amount is to be paid for each calendar or natural day during an organizational, special, or regular session as well as for each day or portion of a day spent in traveling to or returning from those sessions.

The 45th Legislative Assembly convenes on January 4, 1977, and the 60th legislative day ends on Monday, March 28, 1977. Including two days travel to and from the session, the 1977 Session would cover 86 natural or calendar days. Under the current language, Section 54-03-20, the expense allowance for living, which includes meals, lodging, uncompensated travel, and other necessary expenses would amount to $5,160. If the legislature uses the 80-day session as authorized by the voters in November, natural or calendar days for the session would be 114 days and the expense allowance would amount to $6,840.

The 1975 Legislative Assembly raised the monthly unvouchered expense allowance to $75 per month. The total for the monthly expense allowance for the biennium amounts to $1,800.

With respect to reimbursement of specific current expenses, Sections 44-08-04 and 54-06-09 of the North Dakota Century Code provide interim mileage reimbursement of 15 cents per mile and lodging and meals allowance of $26 per day. During the interim a typical legislator attended eight days of meetings and made four round trips at 200 miles per trip. At $45 per day for 10 days (included four half days for travel), 15 cents per mile for 800 miles and eight days at $26 per day and two days claiming third and fourth quarter expenses, the average reimbursement for the interim was $820.

The typical legislator's total biennial compensation and expense reimbursement during 1975-76 would be $8,220. The average amount received per month would be $342.50. Of this amount the actual compensation received (i.e., daily constitutional salary during the session of $5 and interim per diem of $45) equals $890 per biennium, and the average compensation per month equals $37.08. The average compensation per day spent on legislative work, excluding work in the legislative district for constituents or while campaigning, was $11.86 per day.

North Dakota is ranked 42nd among the states with regard to legislative compensation, according to a publication prepared by the Citizens Conference on State Legislators, September 1975. In 1974-75 North Dakota ranked 45th, and ranked 47th in 1971, in estimated biennial compensation paid its legislators.

North Dakota's neighboring states are ranked as follows: Minnesota is ranked 13th with an average total biennial compensation of $23,895, and South Dakota ranks 45th with an average total biennial compensation of $6,825. The legislatures of Minnesota and South Dakota meet annually. Montana ranks 44th with an average total biennial compensation of $6,954. Its legislature meets biennially for 90 legislative days. These figures do not include salary or expenses for special sessions, per diem while on legislative business in the interim, nor vouchered expenses. North Dakota's average total minus these expenses is $7,400 for a 60-day session and $9,180 for an 80-day session.

The commission reasserts the belief that the prime responsibility of the Legislative Assembly is to respond to the needs of the people of North Dakota. The commission believes that if this response is not forthcoming from the legislature, governmental power will assuredly continue to flow to the federal government and away from state and local government. One method of assuring that the legislature is responsive to the needs of its constituency is to attempt to make sure that the legislative body is made up of highly motivated and competent men and women.

Although the commission hopes that its compensation recommendations, if adopted, would aid in motivating competent men and women to seek or remain in legislative office, the commission realizes that the compensation factor is only one of the combination of factors which motivate people toward public service. The commission in its 1975 report recommended that improvement in the total range of legislative compensation and expense reimbursement should be added to improvement of physical facilities available, to additional professional staff services, and to the length of time available for legislative business. The 1975 Legislative Assembly increased legislative compensation and expense reimbursement and approved an appropriation for the remodeling of the physical facilities in the Capitol. Additionally, the professional staff of the Legislative Council was increased, and the voters approved a constitutional amendment increasing the length of the legislative session to 80 days in the 1976 general election.

It is hoped that the improvements made in all four of these areas will motivate even greater numbers of highly qualified people to seek legislative office.

Specific Compensation Recommendations

The commission recommends that Section 54-03-20 of the North Dakota Century Code be amended to increase the monthly unvouchered expense allowance from $75 a month to $150 a month. Each legislator receives the monthly allowance during the term for which he was elected, for uncompensated expenses incurred in the execution of public duties during the biennium, payable every six months. The commission's recommendations will result in an increase of $1,800 per legislator during the biennium and a total monthly unvouchered expense allowance during the biennium of $3,600. The commission believes that the increase is justified by the corresponding increase in the cost of living and increased demands on legislators' time.

The commission makes no further recommendations regarding legislative compensation as it is believed that the economic conditions in the state do not warrant across the board raises in all the unvouchered and vouchered expense allowance items.

However, the commission recommends to the legislature that, in its consideration of constitutional amendments that may be proposed to the people, it consider submission of a constitutional amendment to create a Legislative Standards Commission, which would be a constitutional body authorized to establish legislative compensation and expense allowances, among other duties. The commission is having a concurrent resolution to accomplish this result prepared for introduction into the Senate.

General Recommendations

The commission believes it is proper to make general recommendations in other areas of the legislative field. This is so because it is impossible not to consider other means of challenging and encouraging citizens to serve in the legislature, while studying legislative compensation for those same purposes. Further, the commission believes that if a legislator's working conditions are deemed by that legislator to be atrocious, or if the possibility of accomplishing anything worthwhile is remote, then no amount of money will induce them to run for, or continue to serve in, the Legislative Assembly.

The commission discussed several general recommendations, and in the past has made many, to which the Legislative Assembly could refer. However, in this report, the committee is limiting its general recommendations to two.

The first recommendation is with respect to legislative space needs. The commission recommends that the Legislative Assembly as one of the three major branches of government should be given priority for space over the other departments of government. The commission believes the Legislative Assembly should give serious thought to providing different facilities for executive branch agencies, so that adequate space could be made available in the Capitol proper for the legislative use during any session, and during the interim. The commission's recommendation does not include specifics on whether this space should be provided by construction or rental.

The second recommendation concerns a consideration of retirement benefits for members of the legislature. Presently members of the legislature may join the retirement program for state employees; however, their low base pay and the structure of the program precludes legislators from benefiting under the program. Thus the commission recommends that an interim study of a retirement program for state legislators be conducted in the 1977-79 interim.

Finally, the commission recommends that Section 54-03-20.3 be amended to provide $35 per diem for days spent on commission business for commission members. This recommendation is in keeping with the commission's philosophy that compensation is one motivating factor to encourage qualified and competent citizens to serve as advisory members to the Legislative Assembly. Further, it is believed that volunteer citizen participation in government, while an idealistic concept, is not realistic in terms of today's economy.

"The North Dakota School for the Deaf, established in 1890 and located in Devils Lake, is under the direction, control, and management of the Director of Institutions. The school is an educational institution, supported by the state, for the education of children whose hearing is so impaired that they are unable to progress satisfactorily in the public schools of their communities. Pupils must be between the ages of 4 and 21, residents of North Dakota, and educable.

"Board, room, laundry, tuition, books and supplies, and a limited amount of medical attention are provided free. It is the responsibility of the parents to assume the cost of clothing, incidental expenses, dental care, transportation, and outside hospitalization of their children.

"The school plant is located on the northwest edge of the City of Devils Lake on a tract of land embracing approximately 57 acres. Its buildings, grounds, and equipment represent an investment of over two million dollars.

"The present staff includes 60 full-time employees supplemented by 11 positions under federal programs.

"The enrollment for the 1976-77 school year is 100. Since the opening of the school in 1890, 1,148 children have received instruction at the School for the Deaf.

"The North Dakota School for the Deaf has had a number of notable accomplishments. It is noted for its high number of graduates who have passed the Gallaudet entrance examinations and enrolled in college. Most of the graduates now have families of their own and are a credit to their communities. Some are successful teachers of the deaf, such as L. Dwight Rafferty who has taught at the North Dakota School for the Deaf for 34 years and last fall was chosen North Dakota's Employee of the Year by the North Dakota State Employees Association and Olga Anderson who devoted 53 years to teaching at the school after graduating and getting her degree from Gallaudet College. Some graduates became successful business men as noted by the achievements of Wendell Haley who was Vice President of the First National Bank of Devils Lake for many years. Margaret Kelsch Cordano who graduated from NDSD in 1945 and graduated from Gallaudet College was in 1965 probably the only chief medical technologist in the United States certified by the Registry of Medical Technologists of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

"In athletics, the School for the Deaf has had some very outstanding athletes. In the early 1920's Rolf Harmsen and Michael Mueller set records in state meets and won as high as three events each. Duane McDaniel was state mile champion in 1953 and 1954. John Nesvig in 1960 was state hurdles champion in both the high and low hurdles and was the first athlete to represent the school in the Deaf Olympics in Helsinki, Finland where he won two medals. Drexel Lawson was the most recent track star as he won four firsts in the state track meet in Minot in 1975 — one of only a few boys that has been able to achieve that feat. He was also selected and attended the Pan American Games for the Deaf in Caracas, Venezuela, where he won the 100 meters event. Drexel was chosen as the outstanding athlete in North Dakota in 1975. Basketball has been a successful sport at times at the School for the Deaf. The 1972-73 team won the district title and placed second in the regional tournament held at New Rockford. Steve Blehm was chosen on the state all star team and was also chosen in 1973 for the Special Achievement Award given by the North Dakota sportswriters and sports casters. Steve set a record of 85 points in one game and averaged over 41 points per game for his four years in high school.

"The deaf have become involved in drama and acting careers. One graduate from NDSU who was a star in a traveling deaf theatre troupe was Phyllis Frelich from Devils Lake.

"The School for the Deaf sent girls to Girls' State for several years, but it was not until Priscilla Frelich went in the summer of 1976 that things happened. She was elected State Treasurer at Flickertail Girls' State and represented North Dakota as a senator after winning the outstanding citizen award. She may have been the first deaf girl to attend Boys'-Girls' Nation in Washington, D.C. Priscilla was appointed Under Secretary of the Treasury and also sponsored a bill for Captioning News on TV.

"Deafness is the most severe educational handicap with only one exception, that being if the child is both deaf and blind. Since there is a push to put all handicapped children into the regular classrooms, an educational program will have to be started to make educators aware of the problems of deafness and the harm that can result from mainstreaming deaf children. These children need specialized educational programs with teachers who have special training so they can become full fledged citizens who can support themselves and raise their families.

"Because of the severity of the handicap of deafness, a Home Intervention Program has been started. Hearing impaired children from the time of birth and their parents are and will be involved in a formal educational program which will better prepare the child and his parents when it is needed most.

"The School for the Deaf is participating in a cooperative Vocational program with the Lake Area Voc-Tech Center. Deaf students attend classes at the Center and hearing students from Devils Lake and surrounding high schools attend Graphic Arts classes at the School for the Deaf. Several of the deaf students are attending a local elementary and junior high school for several classes each day in preparation for full time attendance in their local area schools if they are successful."

The roll was taken, and all members were present except Reps. Kretschmar, Mertens, Opedahl and Unhjem.

Rep. Strinden requested that the record show that Reps. Kretschmar and Mertens were absent because they were official representatives from the House to attend the Inaugural Ceremonies in Washington, D. C., which request was granted.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Backes: "Mr. Speaker, I rise on a point of personal privilege. "We have just had the pleasure of hearing Amin El Hassan address this group. I do not believe we understand the type of man he is, and I had the good fortune of knowing Mr. Hassan from last summer. At the convention of the Verendrye Electric Cooperative, of which I am a board member, he came to North Dakota last summer to speak to this cooperative, and for those days he was here he went through several plants, took farm tours, and toured the State Mill and Elevator.

"He is a very entertaining person. I had the opportunity of driving him when he was touring farms. After those tours, he seemed very interested in buying North Dakota wheat.

"The government of Iraq is a socialistic-type government, and they are not interested in buying wheat through the multi-national companies, but they would like to buy direct. When the Governor and I were with him that afternoon, we talked about the wheat pool. He is the type man who gets right to the nitty-gritty of it. He said, 'Mr. Governor, so long as it is so good, do you have wheat in it?' The Governor said, 'Yes.' Then he turned to me and said, 'Do you have wheat in it?' I said, 'Yes.' He smiled and said, 'Then it is a people's pool.'

"My background and knowledge of Iraq before I studied up on the literature available before his visit was that it was a paradise or Garden of Eden, the land of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves — many of these things Mr. Hassan had never heard of.

"The person who has just spoken to us is quite an individual, and it was a tremendous pleasure and honor that we had this man speak to us today."

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 3035

Introduced by Representative Strinden.

A concurrent resolution designating an official North Dakota State High School Hockey Flag.

WHEREAS, hockey is an exciting and satisfying sport which enjoys a long tradition in North Dakota dating back, at least as far as records are concerned, to the turn of the century when the Grand Forks "Flicker-tails" put a men's amateur hockey team on the ice for the 1900-1901 season; and

WHEREAS, high school hockey in North Dakota, which probably started in an organized way in 1928 when Grand Forks Central put what is thought to be the first prep six on the ice, is expanding rapidly across the state so that now at least 15 high schools have hockey teams, with an additional several hundred youngsters participating in termite, mite, squirt, pee wee, and bantam park board programs, as well as several assorted adult leagues for the "young" adults and the "not-too-creaky" adults; and

WHEREAS, the University of North Dakota has achieved national recognition for the caliber of its hockey, playing in a conference with some of the biggest schools in the country and having won national championships in the past, all of which give impetus to the hockey tradition in North Dakota; and

WHEREAS, the first official State High School Hockey Tournament was held in 1961, and has been held continuously since then, now usually drawing three days of capacity crowds at the University of North Dakota's 5,600 seat Winter Sports Building; and

WHEREAS, hockey is an official sport and activity of the North Dakota High School Activities Association; and

WHEREAS, it would add a great deal to the interest in high school hockey in North Dakota if there were an official North Dakota High School Hockey Flag to symbolize this fast-growing sport; and

WHEREAS, in conjunction with the 1976 Bicentennial State High School Hockey Tournament, an official flag was designed: the flag is rectangular with two broad vertical red lines and two broad vertical blue lines positioned to make the flag resemble a hockey rink; in the middle of the design is an outline of the state of North Dakota; crossed hockey sticks are in the middle of the state outline; the initials N D H S are displayed in a stylized manner within the state outline; intersecting the four corners of the state are four circles representing face-off circles and Olympic hockey competition; and the flag is attached to a mast resembling a hockey stick;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA, THE SENATE CONCURRING THEREIN:

That the Forty-fifth Legislative Assembly hereby designate the proposed flag as described above and displayed in color in the program of the 1976 State High School Hockey Tournament as the official North Dakota State High School Hockey Flag; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of State send copies of this resolution to the executive secretary of the North Dakota High School Activities Association in Valley City; to Mr. Ken Rio, Grand Forks Central High School; and to Mr. George J. Munyer, 3306 Belmont Road, Grand Forks.

"As I walked up to the podium I am sure you could see signs of my nervousness. What is not so visible is the excitement and great anticipation that I feel. The invitation to address this joint session is an historic event for me and a responsibility that I do not accept lightly. You, sir, and members present do me great honour.

"I am here because eight of my Conservative colleagues from Manitoba sent me.

"I am here because the Garrison is here, and I believe the Garrison is here to stay.

"True opinions can prevail only if the facts to which they refer are known; if they are not known, false ideas are just as effective as true ones; if not a little more so. Our discussions must reflect facts lest untruths kindle the emotions and reason becomes hopelessly lost in the flood of the passion of righteousness.

"To continue or resume debates that address themselves to the question of whether or not the Garrison should or should not be — is at best an academic exercise. Hence my statement of reality: the Garrison is here and we must deal with that fact.

"I am here because I and my colleagues want to apologize to the legislators of North Dakota. On January 26, 1977 we sent you a telegram that requested the sponsors of Resolution No. 4019 to withdraw that resolution. To oppose the purpose and intent of the resolution was not wrong, but to interfere with the legislative process and rights of members of this State's government was improper. We were wrong to ask you to withdraw the resolution and we are sorry.

"I am here because my colleagues and I have fears — fears that the Garrison debate has the potential to polarize and slide from reason into emotion. There are those on both sides of the border who seek to pit your country against mine, and there are those who would employ every means of deception, of misrepresentation and distortion to do so. They tell Canadians that pollution is certain, they tell Americans that benefits are minimal and they tell both of us that bitterness and hostility is inevitable. We can believe them if we wish. But if we do believe them we have lost not only our commitment to the I.J.C., but also our common sense. We must resist the emotion of rhetoric. These are days that summon reasonable men with sound judgement. As for me and my colleagues, we stand four square with the judgement of the International Joint Commission.

"I am here because tolerance is paramount to understanding. We as leaders and lawmakers must instill within our people a sense of calm; a sense of understanding. Tolerance is resilient. It bends without breaking. It sways to the left or to the right but it will return to the point of normal balance. A tolerant and understanding people can be led a greater distance and to greater heights than a bitter people can be driven. Tolerance and understanding yearns for leaders not activists.

"I am here because my colleagues and I believe in the International Joint Commission.

"One of my old political science profs. used to say that those who possessed the greatest potential for uselessness were political scientists. Well, I'm one of those creatures. And I didn't in any way live up to my potential. The point I'm making is that I'm not an expert in any area of environmental studies and neither are my colleagues. I'm a legislator, a law maker. You were elected to enact laws that you believe to be in the best interest of the people of North Dakota. I think it is safe to say that this body supports the Garrison. By supporting this project you seek to enhance the quality of life. We seek only to protect the quality of life. Because you are bound by the limitations of your understanding of the technical arguments as are we — and because in times past differences arising over such matters have been successfully resolved by the I.J.C., the governments of the United States and Canada referred the Garrison to that body. We not only agreed, but we encouraged this move several years ago.

"Let me reiterate, we do not categorically oppose the Garrison Diversion Project. But we do and will, as you would fully anticipate, categorically oppose any violation of the Boundary Waters Treaty of 1909. Our electorate demand no more and you would expect no less.

"Let there be no misunderstanding. We firmly believe that the I.J.C. can and will resolve this issue. We are convinced that the three Canadians on the Board which is co-chaired by Canadian Norton James, can and will protect the interest of Canada, and more important we believe that the three Americans on the board under the co-chairmanship of Lester Lloyd will also protect the interests of Canadians, and be our vanguards for justice.

"This faith is not blind or unfounded. The track record of the I.J.C. is impressive. On this issue they have amassed an impressive number of experts and if the final report and recommendations are as thorough as the preliminary report, then Canadians have little to fear from the Garrison. The I.J.C. is resolved that its recommendations will answer every possibility of violation of our Treaty. My colleagues wanted me to impress this one fact upon you — we have trust in the I.J.C. and their ability and determination to protect what the Treaty guarantees, and we will endorse its recommendations. To ask such a group of experts to give direction and then to reject their wisdom would at best be foolhardy and irresponsible. In passing, let me say that the Garrison may well be as advantageous to Canada on the positive side, as we had feared in the negative.

"I am here because I and my colleagues believe that we are friends. Even the best of friends have their differences. In this case you are determined to have the benefits of the Garrison. That's good and right. On the other hand we are determined to prevent environmental damage. And that's good and right. But let it be known in no uncertain terms that we are both to uphold the terms of the Treaty. It is now apparent that with modifications both the U.S. and Canadians can win.

"No one need lose:

We will not allow the Garrison to divide us.

We will not pit American against Canadian.

We will not destroy our trust.

We will not erode our friendship.

It shall be resolved by the I.J.C.

"I and those who sent me are determined to have the Garrison weld our friendship and fuse our trust that shall be forever etched upon the minds of all North Dakotans and Manitobans.

"We can.

"And we will."

Rep. Strinden moved that the Joint Session be dissolved, which motion prevailed.

The House re-convened, with Speaker Solberg presiding.

Rep. McCaffrey requested permission to withdraw House Bill No. 1319. There being no objection, it was so ordered by the Speaker.

Rep. McCaffrey requested that the following remarks be printed in the Journal, which request was granted.

Rep. McCaffrey:

"Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly:

"I am withdrawing House Bill 1319 from further consideration at this time primarily because the bill as you see it before you in your bill book in its unamended form does not convey the same intent that the amended form would have conveyed had it been amended as I originally wished it to be. When I appeared before the House Transportation Committee to testify for this bill, I testified in support of my proposed amendments, not in support of the unamended bill. Because the committee, after due and fair consideration, decided to give the bill a "Do not pass" designation, it was forced by the rules under which we operate to send it to the floor of the House in an unamended form. I do not blame the committee for this since it was only doing its job in following correct procedure. However, I cannot now support the bill in its present form, and I regret that I cannot bring before you for full House debate the legislation as I envisioned it.

"Very simply, House Bill 1319 could be designated not only as consumer legislation, but as priority consumer legislation for many people throughout the State of North Dakota. It was supported by the Attorney General's office and by reputable business establishments as well as by consumer advocates and many private citizens who provided me with a deluge of mail and phone calls as proof of their support. Reputable businesses supported the bill as it would have been amended because they knew that consumers wanted it, and they're well aware that what's good for the consumer is good for business. It's this concept that keeps the free enterprise system going. Unfortunately, some business establishments were unaware of the proposed amendments, and they therefore provided opposition based on their knowledge of the unamended bill. Then too, of course, there are always those who are opposed to change in any form for fear of being slightly inconvenienced. As we all know, it's safer and much more comfortable to support the status quo.

"Mr. Speaker and members of this assembly, it's because of this tendency we have to cling to the status quo that I feel a genuine concern for the fate of all consumer legislation that may come before us in this session — some good legislation and some poor legislation, nevertheless all legislation which the general public feels that it needs and wants in one form or another regardless of the protestations of special interest groups that they may be inconvenienced or forced to make changes.

"As legislators we have two clear choices. We may choose to act like the big ostrich that buries its head in the sand and then considers itself safe from all of the turmoil going on in the world above it. In other words, we may bury our heads in our legislative books and simply refuse to recognize widespread problems when they're brought to us. On the other hand, we can take the more difficult path — the one that requires us to recognize problems that we don't like to have to consider and requires us to deal with these problems in an honest and realistic way.

"Ladies and gentlemen, we know that there is much that's right and good in our State of North Dakota, but if everything were right and good, this Legislative Assembly would not be needed at all. Unfortunately, we need to be reminded from time to time that we're not here to congratulate ourselves on what's right. We're here to correct what's wrong even though it sometimes hurts to do it.

"I realize that I certainly do not have all of the answers — not even most of the answers. I also realize that as a freshman legislator I don't have the political expertise and the legislative knowledge that many of you have gained over a period of time — expertise and knowledge which I respect. Nevertheless, I sincerely hope we can all say that we share one thing in common — the ability and willingness to grow and act on principle instead of expediency in the consideration of new ideas and concepts. With this in mind I urge you as strongly as I know how to try to give consumer legislation greater consideration than records indicate that it has been given in the past. Thank you for your patience."

PRESENTATION OF COMMUNICATIONS

State of North Dakota

Executive Office

Bismarck

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE FORTY-FIFTH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

In my State of the State Message to the Forty-fifth Legislative Assembly I said:

I had hoped to recommend that kindergarten be funded on a statewide basis, but budget constraints have prevented me from doing so. I do believe it to be an important new program we should look at on a statewide basis if the financial picture during the legislative session appears to improve.

I have been advised by the Tax Department that the $29,400,000 in the Executive Budget for the Personal Property Replacement Program will exceed the need. Current replacement levels indicate that the appropriation should be $26,000,000. With the $3,400,000 change in this item, I am now recommending that $3,500,000 be appropriated for public kindergarten on a statewide basis.

Sincerely yours,
ARTHUR A. LINK,
Governor

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Education to whom was referred House Bill No. 1026, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended as follows:

On page 1, line 1, after the word "Act" insert the following: "to prohibit school boards from selling textbooks to pupils or otherwise charging unauthorized fees, to allow school boards to establish authorized fees, to withhold foundation payments if prohibited fees are required, to exempt postsecondary instructional programs, to require school boards to reduce textbook, and unauthorized activity, fees by not less than twenty percent the first year after the effective date of this Act and not less than an additional twenty percent each year thereafter, and to provide additional payments to school districts for such purposes;”

On page 1, line 5, after the semicolon delete the word “and” and insert in lieu thereof the words “to create and enact a new subsection to section 15-40.1-08 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to foundation aid payments for kindergarten;”

On page 1, line 8, after the word “payment” and before the period insert the following: “; to repeal sections 15-43-07, 15-43-08, 15-43-09, and 15-43-10 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to selling textbooks to pupils, purchase of textbooks from families moving from a school district, discretionary authority of school districts to provide free textbooks, and prescribing the duty of parents or guardians of pupils to furnish textbooks; and to provide an appropriation”

On page 1, after line 11, insert the following new sections:

“SECTION 1. PUBLIC POLICY — DEFINITION.)

1. It is the policy of this state that public education shall be free. No school board shall sell textbooks nor otherwise charge fees to pupils except as provided by law.

2. For the purposes of this Act, “textbooks” shall include textbooks, workbooks, and other supplies necessary for participation in any instructional course necessary for graduation. 2. Admission fees or charges for extracurricular or noncurricular activities where attendance is optional.

3. Fees or premiums for any authorized, voluntary student health and accident benefit plan.

4. Fees for personal physical education and athletic equipment and apparel. Any pupil may provide his own equipment or apparel if it meets reasonable health and safety standards established by the board.

5. Fees in any program where the resultant product becomes the personal property of the pupil.

6. Other fees and charges permitted by statute. This Act shall not preclude the operation of a school store where pupils may purchase school supplies and materials. A board may waive any fee if any pupil or his parent or guardian shall be unable to pay such fees. No pupil's rights or privileges, including the receipt of grades or diplomas, may be denied or abridged for nonpayment of fees.

SECTION 3. ADOPTION OF ADDITIONAL FEES — SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION MAY ADOPT REGULATIONS FOR ADDITIONAL FEES — PENALTY.) These reductions shall be upon a district's total amount of fees, and may vary as to actual percentage reductions for individual pupils and particular fees.

SECTION 6. TEXTBOOK REPLACEMENT REVENUES.) To carry out the purposes of this Act, the superintendent of public instruction shall pay each school district ten dollars for each student each year of the biennium to replace textbook and activity fee revenues. Such payment may be included within a foundation program payment authorized by section 15-40.1-05, except local school districts shall have discretion as to the application of these revenues. Such revenues shall not be restricted to textbook use only.

SECTION 7. A new subsection to section 15-40.1-08 of the 1975 Supplement to the North Dakota Century Code is hereby created and enacted to read as follows:

On page 2, line 10, delete the words "sixty-five" and insert in lieu thereof the words "seventy-five"

On page 2, line 13, delete the word "forty" and insert in lieu thereof the word "fifty"

On page 3, line 1, following the word "payments" insert beginning triple parentheses and following the word "however" and before the second comma insert ending triple parentheses; and after the second comma insert the word "except"

SECOND READING OF HOUSE BILLS

House Bill No. 1360. A Bill for an Act to provide for a severance tax for the privilege of severing coal from the earth; to provide procedures for the imposition, collection, and administration of such tax; to provide for the deposit of the proceeds of such tax in the state treasury and for the allocation thereof to the state and its political subdivisions; to provide for a coal development impact office in the office of the governor; and to provide for a coal development impact commission to approve or disapprove impact grants.

Which has been read.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Metzger: "Mr. Speaker: "I request that the following remarks be printed in the Journal.

"It is important that we relate the amount of moneys distributed to counties, cities and school districts in the coal development areas to costs of services and their needs. This should be done in such a way that it is equitable to all of the citizens of North Dakota — the farmers in Pembina County, Cass County, as well as to the farmers and ranchers in Mercer and Oliver County. We must be careful not to give a windfall or bonanza benefit to a select few.

"In 1975 Mercer County had a total general property, and special property tax collection of $1,065,000.98. In that same year they received $2,338,156.52 from coal revenue and production taxes. Over twice as much as from all property taxes.

"Oliver County had a total general property and special property tax for 1975 of $535,171.77. In 1975 Oliver County received $943,215.61 from coal and production revenue.

"In both instances House Bill 1360 will significantly increase these amounts.

"Let's take a look at how House Bill 1360 will work for a city in Mercer County.

"Beulah presently has a mill levy of 67.22 mills and a taxable valuation of $1,104,287.00. This raised $74,230.17 in 1976.

"Under House Bill 1360 Beulah will receive $104,464.00 in the fiscal year of July 1, 1977 to June 30, 1978 from its allocation of the severance tax. This does not include possible impact grants, nor the extra 10 percent provided for in House Bill 1360.

"Ralph Dewing has estimated a need for approximately six million dollars in impact funds for the next biennium. House Bill 1360 will provide about 10 million dollars for impacted areas for the biennium.

"In 1976 Center had a city mill levy of 40.47, which on a taxable valuation of $231,682.00 raises $9,376.17. Under House Bill 1360 they will get in one year an amount of $197,568 and this appears to be a conservative figure. According to population projections, Center should have a population increase of only about thirty people between 1977 and 1978. The $197,568 does not include possible moneys from the impact fund."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Strinden: "Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen: "I request that my remarks be printed in the Journal.

"Mr. Speaker and members of the Assembly. I stated yesterday that House Bill 1360 was being treated in a most unusual manner. As you will notice it is the only bill dealing with the severance tax, impact and distribution of revenue on the calendar today. Compare this with the number of bills on election laws which were reported out together and grouped on the calendar by the Judiciary Committee yesterday. There was a total of eight bills in the House Finance and Taxation Committee pertaining to severance, impact and revenue distribution.

"The Committee Chairman Bill Gackle did want to consider all of the bills together and in a normal procedure have them placed on the calendar the same day with Committee recommendations. No, I did not want House Bill 1360 delayed for political reasons. Yes, I did want House Bill 1360 considered in a normal procedural way by the Finance and Tax Committee.

"I asked the Chairman to have his Committee ---

1. Identify the needs in the coal impact area.
2. Identify the costs to state government for coal development.
3. Apply the formulas and figures in the various bills so that we in the House could base our decisions on logic and on the best facts and figures available.

"Unfortunately this bill will now be voted on without this information being presented to the members of this Assembly.

"This I consider to be making a mockery of the legislative committee process. We could just as well have moved House Bill 1360 immediately to the calendar upon its introduction. It is obvious the proponents did not want committee deliberation and facts and information applied to this bill. It is here before you now — stripped of amendments and without a committee report and after the most unusual parliamentary tactic of calling a bill from the committee. And the reason as given by the Democratic floor leader — So the members of the Democratic House Caucus will not be subjected to pressure over the weekend. In other words, a fear some of them may change their minds if they go home and talk to their constituents."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Maixner: "Mr. Speaker, Members of the House:

"I would request that my remarks be printed in the Journal.

"I have spent three years working on this proposal. I campaigned on this issue. I won on this issue. The people in my district and my entire area are in favor of this proposal.

"We realize that no tax will slow development — that no tax or repayment formula will ever repay us for what we will give up as coal becomes king in Western North Dakota.

"I returned to this state after serving in the military and working for industry so that I could farm. I took over my father's farm, becoming the third generation of my family to live in the United States, and the third to farm in Slope County. I see now that not only the way of life — that I returned for — will disappear, but that I as a property owner and taxpayer will subsidize the onslaught of industry. If the plants, pollution, draglines and shovels must come, at least they should pay their own way. The injustice of requiring the long-term residents of North Dakota to pay for development, schools, roads, and services that they do not need or even want, should be apparent. I would ask your support of House Bill No. 1360."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. C. Martin: "Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly:

"I request that the following remarks be printed in the Journal.

"I have been one of those legislators who feels strongly that a percentage coal severance tax is essential to guarantee a sound financial future for North Dakota in response to the large scale coal development that we are going to house.

"I have been disappointed in the campaign that has been waged by some energy companies to try and confuse North Dakota citizens about the issue and to try and stop the legislature from enacting a percentage severance tax.

"I want to state for the record that the major opposition for a fair coal severance tax to protect North Dakota citizens is coming from energy companies that have overwhelming out-of-state interest.

"For example, Minnkota Power Company, which has waged an aggressive campaign against the severance tax, has 13 persons serving on its Board of Directors and 4 of them are from North Dakota, while 9 come from out-of-state. Basin Electric Co-op has 10 directors with 3 of them coming from North Dakota and 7 from out-of-state. Cooperative Power Association has 19 directors with all 19 being out-of-staters, and United Power Association has 20 directors with all 20 of them being out-of-staters. These 4 co-ops have a total of 61 directors on their boards and 54 of them are from outside of North Dakota. A strong resistance to a severance tax by these energy interests then does not represent strong North Dakota interest in opposing a severance tax, rather, they represent a strong out-of-state influence in trying to persuade North Dakota lawmakers to adopt a low coal severance tax.

"By contrast, most of the locally owned energy companies in North Dakota are not engaging in that practice and are not opposing a fair coal severance tax for North Dakota's future.

"I wanted to issue this statement to share with you what I consider to be the real purpose of the strong opposition to the coal severance tax, and that is the vested interests of the overwhelming majority of persons on the Boards of Directors I've just mentioned who represent out-of-state interests. What we are seeing is an attempt by out-of-state interests to tell North Dakota what is best for North Dakota. That approach has never worked in the past, and even though their expensive lobbying may temporarily confuse some citizens about this issue, I don't think the North Dakota legislature will take orders from out-of-state energy lobbyists.

"I feel very strongly that a fair percentage coal severance tax is in the public interest and that is why I'm supporting it. It will not cause large increases in our citizen's electric bills, but it will require out-of-staters to share with our citizens the costs of coal development, and I believe that is in the best interests of North Dakota.

"The citizens and Legislature have been accused by Minnkota as using dirty pool, legalized robbery, gouging and even court tests.

"Since I have mentioned gouging, let us take a look at the other side of the coin.

"Another point to consider is the fact that these generating co-ops are using free water:

Appropriation

Basin Electric	1,000,000 A.F.
UPA	733,000 A.F.
Minnkota	6,500 A.F.
Minnkota	2,480 A.F.
Minnkota	7,500 A.F.
UPA-CPA	15,000 A.F.

"In a recent news release, a coal slurry pipeline was quoted as offering South Dakota $700-1000 an acre ft. for water.

"I was in contact with our manager and staff of West Plains Electric at Dickinson relative to the oil loads in our system, We have 135 that are using 50 and 75 horse motors for pumping.

"The electrical sale to these companies make up about 30 percent of our gross sales.

"The manager pointed out he has not had one unfavorable comment, or letter so far as the 33 1/3 percent severance tax is consumed."

MOTION

Rep. Kuchera moved that House Bill No. 1360 be re-referred to the Committee on Finance and Taxation, which motion failed on a verification vote.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Rep. Gackle: "Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Assembly:

"I request that my remarks be printed in the Journal.

"House Bill No. 1360 was considered by the Finance and Taxation Committee with extreme pressure. I want the record to show that had House Bill No. 1360 been allowed to take its normal course as any other bill introduced in this session, it would not be before this body at this time. As we have this bill before this body in its present form with no amendments attached. When the bill was taken to the Desk, it did indeed have the complete committee action attached, lacking only the required signatures on the divided reports.

"I might ask of the other committee chairman serving in this Legislative Body, would your committee clerk have been able to provide a committee report which entailed five separate amendments, two of which were divided, with a divided report for final action, along with additional committee reports which I had ordered distributed prior to this time, with a re-referral to the Appropriations Committee, keeping in mind that the Finance and Taxation Committee did not adjourn until after 7 p.m. the night before along with an abnormal amount of action in committee minutes two days prior. It was required that the bill be turned in before 2 p.m. the following day. Although I did inform my committee clerk to take the next morning off, she did act according to the majority of the committee to provide the report the following day.

"Mr. Speaker, and members of this Assembly, I commend my committee clerk for working under this pressure and providing this report just as soon as humanly possible. I personally feel guilty for the demands of my committee on my committee clerk. Miss Rose, I want to extend my appreciation to you, and I trust that I express my thanks to you on behalf of all of the members of my committee, the Finance and Taxation Committee.

"Fellow committee chairman, could you expect the same from your committee clerk? I am sure it would be questionable.

"The last bill on which the Finance and Taxation Committee took action was for a divided committee report, and it took two days before the proper committee report could be prepared, only to the extent to extend the courtesy to a fellow legislator to reconsider the previous action.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, you have been denied the results of five hours of hearings and the time it took to get the committee report to you with the amendments for your considered action at this time.

"Where is our legislative process, or are we to be denied the proper procedures necessary for taking proper action on bills placed before us?"

Rep. Strinden moved the previous question, which motion prevailed.

ADDRESS OF

HON. MILTON R. YOUNG
UNITED STATES SENATOR

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I have been coming around here for a long while, and never have I a nicer welcome or better escort. It is very much appreciated.

"My wife could not come with me today because she was not feeling too well, but she asked that I extend best wishes for a Happy Valentine's Day, to both the Republicans and Democrats.

"I deeply appreciate being with you again. This is where my legislative life began, back in the session of 1933 and I have been coming back to see you every session since I left. It has been an interesting and a busy life. The people of North Dakota have been very good to me for these many years.

"All the members of this body are new except one since I served here. I am pleased to see that wonderful lady, Representative Brynhild Haugland is still here. She has a truly great record as a legislator and a public minded citizen. She is one of the most wonderful personalities I have ever been associated with.

"There have been great changes in North Dakota since Representative Haugland and I came to the Legislature and most of it has been for the better. The big problem when I first came here was that we had all but run out of money. Being broke as we were was very difficult, but it had some advantages. Life was a bit more simple. The problems you deal with now are more difficult than ever before. You have been handling them well. Your big surplus in the treasury may present some problems, but it at least indicates that you have been prudent.

"I need not tell you that we are in deep trouble with the Garrison Diversion Project. Your strong support of this project, as well as that of all of our public officials and almost every organization in the whole state — and especially the press, has greatly strengthened our position. Keep it up.

"Most of the opposition is coming from a small minority of environmental extremists who are well financed and well organized. It is alarming to me that such a minority can be so powerful and have so much influence both here and in Canada. This is not to say that environmentalists haven't done some good — they have. It is the extremists that are so unreasonable and it is they who have been quite effective in arousing unjustified opposition.

"Garrison Diversion isn't the only major Federal project in trouble. At least 16 other major water and power projects throughout the United States have either been stopped entirely or have had construction held up by court injunctions sponsored by these same environmentalists.

"Only two weeks ago, on February 1, construction on a TVA Dam in Tennessee was halted by court action. This $116 million Tellico Dam near Knoxville was all but completed when all work on it was halted by court injunction. Just the power generation from this dam alone would be sufficient to heat a city of 20,000 homes.

"What happened was that environmentalists recently found a little three-inch Snail Darter Fish in this river. This little fish wasn't listed as an endangered species until recently when construction of the dam was almost completed. TVA even offered to relocate these little fish, but that wasn't enough. The court imposed injunction has been appealed to the Supreme Court. I cite this case, because it is so similar to the problems of Garrison Diversion and most water projects all over the United States.

"The list of endangered species of much similar fish, snails and shrimp has now grown to over 120. Thus a great many more water projects that people want so badly and on which a considerable amount of money has already been spent, will face the same court injunctions.

"Until recent years — and long after large amounts of money had been spent for investigations and construction, we encountered practically no opposition to Garrison Diversion. Only recently have some environmental extremists decided it didn't meet their own brand of standards, and as you know they are now seeking a court injunction to stop construction of the project. If they should succeed, we will have no alternative but to appeal to a higher court. This project has long been a hope and dream of our people and the most important in the history of our state. We will continue our fight no matter what it takes.

"The long delays and slowdown in construction have already added at least $150 million to the cost of this project. Our most serious problem of all is to reconcile our differences with Canada. Our own environmentalists have been presenting an inaccurate and distorted picture of Garrison Diversion to our friends in Canada for years. Far too many supporters of Garrison Diversion didn't realize the damage these environmentalists were doing to our project in Canada. We must do a better job from now on. I can't help but feel that once the Canadians have all the facts, most of our problems with them will be resolved.

"Nationally, we have many serious problems such as energy, inflation and unemployment. Some are of such magnitude that unless resolved could seriously affect even our national security.

"Our appropriations for defense, while sizable, are no longer our biggest expenditure. The budget for the next fiscal year beginning October 1, which we are now working on, contains $121 billion for Defense but $181 billion for Labor, Health, Education and Welfare. Thus, the big increases now are in the social and welfare programs.

"We are in dire need of reform of our whole welfare system. It is too easy for people, especially in the big cities, to live off the government. I was very proud to learn a short while ago that we have less waste and corruption and better handling of welfare programs, including food stamps, than any other state. If the Federal Government had as good a program for education and welfare as North Dakota, we wouldn't have this serious problem.

"It is hard to realize that when we have better than 8 percent unemployment, we have to spend over $700 million a year just to encourage enlistments in the Armed Forces — and all are under strength now except the Air Force. A Private now gets over $500 a month and a Sergeant Major almost $20,000 a year. I cannot help but feel that if it were not so easy to live off welfare and all kinds of other Federal assistance, many more in some of our big cities where unemployment is very high would be enlisting in the services. The Armed Services offer many opportunities such as good salaries, a good education and the opportunity to earn sizable retirement benefits in only 20 years.

"The all voluntary military force has been a wonderful thing but expensive. In the event of another war, we would have a serious problem of obtaining anywhere near adequate military strength without returning to Selective Service. I am not so sure whether Congress, with public opinion such as it is, would vote to reinstate the draft.

"Serious questions have been raised and by good authorities as to the comparative military strengths of the United States and Russia. Undoubtedly they are ahead of us in some categories. Most of our intelligence sources agree that we are still stronger than Russia in overall military strength.

"If the Russians continue their increasingly heavy expenditures to obtain military superiority and we relax our efforts, they could well become the super power of the world. The Russian Leadership can spend any amount of their resources on the military they want and can make their people sacrifice in every other category.

"The President of the United States and Congress can only go so far in its expenditures for military preparedness as its people will permit. I wonder sometimes if we as a people are willing to make all the sacrifices necessary to make sure that we don't become a second rate military power to Russia.

"Permit me to give you just a few examples of how the costs of important military hardware have increased. Our best fighter plane at the end of World War I cost less than $100,000. Now the F-14, which is our best Navy Fighter, costs $19.6 million each. The last big order of tanks in World War II only cost $77,000 each. Now the new tanks cost over $600,000 each. The costs of all other military items have increased in like proportions.

"There is waste in the military and, we must continue to do our utmost to eliminate it. We on Defense Appropriations welcome any ideas as to where further cuts should be made.

"Our overall expenditures and deficits in almost every department of government are far too high. Our national debt at the end of this fiscal year, will be over $716 billion. Just the interest on the debt for this year will be $47 billion.

"We need to make some real sacrifices if we want to maintain a strong and solvent government. Some of the sacrifices shouldn't be difficult to make. One proposal now pending to help solve unemployment is to borrow $11.5 billion to pay every man, woman and child in this nation $50 each. I don't see anybody around here that needs this $50 gift from the Federal Government too badly.

"Perhaps some who claimed I was getting a little too old for this job have a point. Somehow I don't seem to understand how we can spend ourselves into prosperity.

"It has been wonderful to be with you again today. Thank you very much for inviting me. RECOGNITION

Speaker Solberg announced that a former Representative was in the chambers, and requested that the House recognize former Rep. Earl Stoltenow and Rep. Stoltenow was thereupon introduced to the House.
