1. Please estimate the fiscal impact (in dollar amounts) of the above measure for state general or special funds, counties, and cities.

Narrative:

Although it is difficult to predict the number of additional students returning to North Dakota colleges, it is expected that this bill will not reduce tuition income projections, but may increase tuition revenue if it attracts former North Dakota residents back to North Dakota to attend college. Any additional faculty needs which might result from additional students would be covered by the additional tuition revenue. However, the impact should not significantly affect the total University
