This member's local legislative drafting and codification style requires the principal paragraphs of each Article of this compact to be designated solely by a numeral and internally cross-referenced as a subsection, designates certain subparagraphs alphabetically, references subclauses of subparagraphs either without designation or as numerical items, does not permit the use of initial capitalization to designate defined terms in the body of legislation, and requires the plural form of the terms "petitioners," "recipients," and "state officials," which is intended to include the possibility of a singular application, as well as the singular form of "governor," which is intended to include the possibility of plural application. This member understands that other members in privity may nevertheless refer to the same principal paragraphs with a heading that includes the word "section" prefacing the same numeral and also internally cross-reference the same as a "section," refer to the same subparagraphs with different headings, refer to the same defined terms with initial capitalization or full capitalization, and prefer to use "governor(s)," "petitioner(s)," "recipient(s)," and "state official(s)" to reference the plural and singular form of such terms. As with any other difference in legislative drafting or codification style, these internal references are intended to be and should be construed as substantively equivalent."
