CLOSER LOOK: NY-bred made the first nine starts of her career on turf, posting three wins and hitting the board four other times; showed that she can handle dirt when parlaying a perfect trip into a dominant win vs. entry-level allowance rivals in February, and she was then wheeled back a week later to take the sloppy Broadway easily after another perfect trip; stepped up into a Grade 3 last time and earned a new top figure while only second-best; probably needs to improve again vs. this field.

CLOSER LOOK: Lone loss in her first four dirt starts came when stretched to a mile and settling for second in the Busher last March behind Search Results - though she was on a rated pace that day; cut back in the Jersey Girl for her next start, where she broke through the gate before the start, and then came out last after being re-loaded; didn't fire in the Victory Ride in July before going to the sidelines, concluding an unsatisfying 3yo campaign; returned from the layoff last month at Aqueduct, where she had the best speed vs. only four others and did what she had to do to prevail with a 90 Beyer; can build off that return and is dangerous if she does.

CLOSER LOOK: Earned a big 94 Beyer for her blowout debut win last May, then stepped right up to face Miss Brazil in the Jersey Girl, where she dueled with that rival in the stretch before they were both run down late; bounced out of that game performance to bury older allowance rivals, then broke through to the big time when cruising in the Grade 1 Test at Saratoga with a 101 Beyer; defeated older rivals again without breaking a sweat in the Gallant Bloom while prepping for the Breeders' Cup and earning another triple-digit Beyer; tired at Del Mar after contesting the pace and then got a well-deserved break; appears to be training strongly on the way back and id going to be tough in here if she is close to ready.

CLOSER LOOK: Finished behind some of today's rivals in his two prior graded stakes attempts this winter; though it should be noted that he completely botched the start on both of those occasions; gate issues have been a real vulnerability for him over the past year or so; however, he produced one of his better starts last time when going out for new trainer Greg DiPrima; that allowed him to stalk and pounce, drawing away impressively while earning a career-best 99 Beyer; he's pretty tough to beat when he can attain that forward position without having to rush up early; though he's coming back just 16 days after a career top effort, so a regression is possible; one to consider.

CLOSER LOOK: He's been plagued by consistency issues for much of his career; looked like a good claim for $40k in December, as he ran a big race that day, making a strong move into a quick pace before holding off the hard-knocking Zoomer; earned a nice speed figure in his first start for Falcone in February, but he hung a bit in the late stages that day; most horses have also exited that race to regress, including him; didn't get an ideal trip over a wet track last time, but still had little to offer; he's a rebound candidate, and is capable of getting a piece of this at his best; somewhat interesting with Prat aboard, but demand a price.

CLOSER LOOK: Everything worked out for him in the Tom Fool, as he was able to attain better forward position than usual; was sitting in the perfect spot to pounce when Chateau threw in the towel, as that rival tends to do; the 95 Beyer he earned for that victory sticks out in his PPs, as his surrounding form isn't quite as convincing; was fairly dull when wheeled back just 22 days later at Tampa, failing to launch a rally against weaker competition; Saffie Joseph has been dangerous with his NY runners over the past several months, so maybe it's as simple as shipping back up north; mixed signals.

CLOSER LOOK: Comes into his first stakes attempt seeking a 3rd consecutive victory since being claimed by Rob Atras; notably he's the uncoupled stablemate of Chateau, and is the main pace rival for that foe, though he's just not as naturally fast as that other Atras trainee; got a perfect trip last time setting the pace while hugging the rail on a day when the inside path was an advantage; has to improve on that form to beat this field; also it's somewhat curious that Atras named a rider that isn't based at this circuit, prompting one to wonder if this horse is a serious participant in this race or just helping it fill for Chateau.

CLOSER LOOK: Gelding was a minor winner in France but the shortside bow was solid; the place horse in the Chantilly finale has won twice since and is 3 for 9 in his career; the way this runner rallied last time suggests he will take to this added distance and Prat seldom makes a poor move going short or long; far too sharp not to take serious.

CLOSER LOOK: Clement won this race in back-to-back years starting in 2009; this multiple Grade 1 winner ran too good to lose in this race last year; he has shown a true affinity for the local grass and he has a devastating late kick; runner has repeatedly shown he can put wins together; clearly the one to beat.

CLOSER LOOK: Any horse that can win in England at Belmont and at Del Mar in consecutive races is a flat-out star; Buick is behind the wheel once again and he knows this monster like the proverbial book; runner has already shown he can make the Euro to New York ship successful; should be right there when the smoke clears.

CLOSER LOOK: Curlin colt out of a Grade 1-winning sprinter recently broke his maiden over this distance while making the fifth start of his career; earned a new Beyer top of 77 or that initial victory and did so while closing down the favorite on the lead with a game finish; is versatile enough to stay within range of the pace is moderate and is eligible to improve again here for top connections, which he is going to have to do.

CLOSER LOOK: Winning debut in a two-turn mile at Oaklawn was impressive while powering clear readily despite still looking a bit green; came right back to dominate entry-level allowance rivals a month later under strong handling with an 89 Beyer that makes him co-fastest on the way into this race; tried the Grade 1 Arkansas Derby last time and was never a factor after backing off the early pace; rebound chance with Prat sticking.

CLOSER LOOK: Looked good winning his first two starts from off the pace; stepped up looking for Derby points at Tampa in his next two starts but could not make a serious impact in either the Davis or the Tampa Bay Derby, though he didn't run poorly either time; did his best in the Blue Grass last time but simply didn't have enough to seriously contend in the late stages at a big price; things aren't getting that much easier for him here, but he does have some things to recommend him and does appear to be getting better with each run.

 CLOSER LOOK: Full-brother to Arkansas Derby and Belmont Stakes winner Creator has come back an improved horse in his first two starts as a 3yo; he did have strong paces in front of him in both Oaklawn starts since returning and, after coming up short off the layoff, he rallied strongly into a great setup to break his maiden early last month; earned a solid figure for that maiden victory and will likely look to follow in his older brother's foot steps if he runs well here.

 CLOSER LOOK: Came with a strong finish to break his maiden first time out over a short sprint distance, then came right back to win a stake over a two-turn mile in his next start - he won that race more impressively than it may appear after a wide trip; placed in two NY stakes over the winter, then landed in that fast-paced Withers in February and tired after trying to keep in in range; will add blinkers for his return and is eligible to improve for an underrated trainer; interesting to try to use somewhere at a price.

 CLOSER LOOK: NY-bred has steadily improved from race to race and will take on his toughest test to date following back-to-back wins, the most recent of those when just getting there with an 81 Beyer; obviously in need of further improvement as he stretches out in distance vs. a much tougher field of horses; likely to be the longest shot on the board if he runs here.

CLOSER LOOK: 4YO French import is among the most intriguing participants on this card; won the G1 Prix de l'Opera last fall, prompting her connections to take a shot at the BC Filly & Mare Turf; the trip just didn't work out for her, as her jockey was unreasonably aggressive in the opening furlong, leading to early trouble; was subsequently purchased for about $3.3 million at the Arqana December sale, at the same time that Brant also picked stablemate Speak of the Devil, who just walloped a field in Churchill's Distaff Turf Mile last week; had been working in company with that mare at Payson this winter, and now makes her own much anticipated debut for Chad Brown; the one to beat.

CLOSER LOOK: Brown's other entrant is no slouch, having just missed in this race last year when arguably putting in the best effort; got no pace to close into in last year's Beaugay, yet still unleashed a strong finishing kick to fall just short; at that time Harvey's Lil Goli looked like one of the top turf fillies in the country, though the form of that race didn't pan out in the long term; this mare took money in the G1 Diana, but was inexplicably dull, never launching a rally while fading to last; fared better in the Beverly D. but was still no threat to the top two; now returns following an illness and has reportedly trained well; the main threat.

CLOSER LOOK: Well-bred mare always had talent, but she's really started to come around recently for Shug; wasn't facing much at Tampa two back, but she couldn't have been more impressive in that gate-to-wire score, winning under wraps; not sure that she would have won the Sand Springs with a clear trip, but she did get bottled up in traffic at a critical juncture in upper stretch; should be more forwardly ridden here as the likely controlling speed; won't be surprised if she produces a career-best here, but she could do so and still finish 3rd to the two-headed beast from the Chad Brown stable; exotics player.

CLOSER LOOK: Has taken a step forward since her connections have started to make more use of her tactical speed; led from gate to wire in the Winter Memories last year and picked up right where she left off when notching another Aqueduct stakes win last month; was only beating 3 rivals that day, and favorite Technical Analysis didn't show up with her best; this gal figures to sit a good trip again, but she's a little light on speed figures compared to the favorites; a minor award seems like the ceiling.

CLOSER LOOK: NY-bred won the first 3 starts of her career and hasn't visited the winner's circle since; though she's been placed in some pretty tough spots during that time, trying multiple graded stakes; ran her best race over this course last October in the Sands Point; however she failed to back up that effort in the Winter Memories; returned from the layoff at Tampa and was surprisingly dull, never launching a rally despite getting pace ahead of her; must rebound in her return to NY, and even if she does she's no guarantee to make an impact against this salty field; prefer others.

CLOSER LOOK: Wouldn't put too much stock in the result of her last race since that was purely an old-school prep; she's not a 6F horse and Dutrow was just getting some air in her lungs for this stretch-out in distance; was firing some nice efforts when she reached her peak last season, just missing in the G2 Ballston Spa, albeit with a nice ground-saving trip; 8.5F is her best distance, and she's not as pace dependent as some others in here; that said, she's landed in a pretty tough spot, so even 3rd-place behind the two Chad Brown favorites would be considered a success.

CLOSER LOOK: Was twice beaten by today's rival Runaway Rumour here last fall; returned from the layoff at Tampa this spring and was no match for winner Shifty She, who had everything her own way on the front end; would have liked to see a little more improvement in that spot, but she does have a right to move forward second off the layoff; also possesses some tactical speed, which is an asset in a race lacking pace; that said, this is an awfully ambitious spot; others are a little more convincing.

BEST BET: Seven Lilies (7th race)First Race

OUR SON JAKE has a new trainer subbing for the suspended Miceli as he makes his 3yo debut off the layoff; wasn't a real threat in either of his starts late last year while racing on both times in races that were dominated toward the front; starts back with Lasix on and is going to get overlooked. SAFALOW'S MISSION did a lot of work on the pace in his career debut before getting nailed by a closer, then landed in a tougher race second time out while improving; rallied gamely from far back in his return from the layoff in March, but doesn't have to be that far away this time as he switches from turf to dirt. CONQUIST debuted going seven last November and took some money before chasing a solid pace in a race that went to closers; Lasix on for his 3yo debut after breezing a pair of bullets last month. DEVIL BOY looked like he needed his career debut when breaking slowly and then racing on late with too much to do; paired up his debut figure second time out after once again getting away from the gate last; threat off the long layoff.

Second Race

RING OF FIRE went two for three upon switching to turf last summer for Atras, and he also ran well between the two victories when chasing a sharp winning going seven and finishing a clear second-best; back into the claiming ranks off the layoff after landing in a very tough allowance when last seen. STANDUP a closing sprinter in need of some pace as he makes his second start back from an extended layoff following a pure prep on dirt two months ago; was in good form prior to that long break, including a win at Saratoga with a strong finish. STANHOPE returned to turf last month at Aqueduct and showed his usual speed to lead that field into deep stretch, only to get overtaken once again; speed makes him dangerous every time, but he rarely lasts.

Third Race

BELLA SOFIA burst onto the scene with a fast blowout won over this track on debut, an effort she backed up well when dueling and prevailing for second in the Jersey Girl; dominated the Grade 1 Test two starts later with a triple-digit Beyer and then easily handled older rivals in her Breeders' Cup prep while making it 3 for 4 at Belmont; starts back facing a short field with tactical speed from the outside. FRANK'S ROCKETTE has attained a level but she is a multiple graded stakes winner and shows up every time; Prat might have made a tactical error off the layoff when conceding to the eventual winner early and then failing to catch in the stretch. MISS BRAZIL won her first three starts sprinting on dirt, then had an excuse when breaking through the gate before the Jersey Girl, and then coming out last after being re-loaded; wound up dueling with BELLA SOFIA in the stretch of that race before they were both closed down by the rallying winner, who was undefeated at that time; steps back up after an easy win off the layoff.

Fourth Race

STELLA MARS ran well while settling for second-best in each of her first three starts upon returning to turf last summer; came with strong finishes to erase several lengths in the late stages of her back-to-back wins over this course and distance before the layoff; lacked a bit of room in the stretch off the layoff before switching out and racing on gamely too late. THISMIGHTBETHEONE cut back for her second start off the layoff last month and finished gamely to close down odds-on Cadencia once getting out into the clear in the stretch; tactical from the rail and still has some upside. HAPPY HILL LIL went back-to-back in a 20-day span last year over courses with some 'give' to them, including a game score over two-life claimers with an 80 Beyer; has been effective with different running styles and is back at the right level off the layoff.

Fifth Race

DRAFTED finally broke through when making a sharp run around the turn to overpower the leaders en route to a dominant Toboggan win two back with a 97 Beyer; tried a similar run in the Grade 1 Carter vs. a much better field last time but it wasn't that kind of race and he couldn't make an impact; back in a better spot here and can factor again if retaining his form. OFFICIATING cut back to make it two in a row on dirt when defeating a weak field in the Mr. Prospector at Gulfstream in December, then shipped up here while cutting back again and defeated an even weaker group in the Tom Fool; best sprinting and tactical enough to keep the speedy CHATEAU in range, as he did in the Tom Fool. CHATEAU the speed once again and the horse to catch and beat; he isn't really that good and he does not finish strong in his races, especially when forced to go early, but Atras has done an excellent job with him since taking over.

Sixth Race

BELACQUA only competed on the all-weather as a 2yo in England but he ran well in all three starts over there, including the lone loss when just getting nailed on the wire after taking over in the stretch; bred for turf and showed tactical speed over there, which could serve him well stateside. ANGEL PALM made her stateside debut sprinting at Keeneland in a very tough allowance field going 5.5 furlongs; got held up a bit behind horses on the turn of that race, before getting clear in the stretch with too much to do and failing to finish strongly; stretches out to a better distance with the pedigree to handle it. LAY THE GROUNDWORK had her route debut rained off the grass when last seen and improved anyway to break her maiden over synthetic; overcame some trouble to win that race easily over two next-out winners and this is the surface she is bred for.

Seventh Race

SEVEN LILIES is just 1 for 7 since being claimed by these connections last June, but he has run well in all of those races while not always getting lucky; might have made it two in a row in December if not for having to alter course late, and he came right back with another good effort in January when left with too much to do after rating the break; one more try cutting back again. JEMOGRAPHY had no chance in either the Hudson or Thunder Rumble at the end of last year, then got wired in each of his first two starts off the layoff at Aqueduct; back in with NY-breds off the claim for Rudy. FOOLISH GHOST makes his seasonal debut after getting a much-needed break following a poor effort in a fast race last December; dangerous speed when he is right and he can get the seven.

Eighth Race

YIBIR went 2 for 2 stateside as a 3yo, including a strong effort at the Breeders' Cup when closing stoutly into a fast pace; was defeated in each of his first two starts this year but ran well both times with excuses; the horse to beat though he could be compromised by pace once again as he drops back a furlong. HIGHLAND CHIEF managed only one start last year as a 4yo, that after a solid 2020 campaign vs. some top-class 3yo competition; Aqueduct run off the bench going shorter looked like a pure prep and he ran better than it may appear in that spot with plenty of trouble. GUFU could not take advantage in that strongly run Breeders' Cup Turf and was no factor behind the top one; bounced back with a strong effort off the bench when running over ABAAN in the stretch after a good setup; multiple Grade 1 winner could be set for a big 4yo campaign.

Ninth Race

COMPLETE AGENDA is slowest on the way into the Peter Pan with a 77 Beyer top showing, but he is likely better than he looks on paper and is not going to struggle with the distance - which might be a question for some of the others; improved to run down a clear leader over this trip in his maiden win last month, and he did not get a great trip in his prior start at Gulfstream; improving through racing for Pletcher and steps right up with tactical speed. SET SAIL debuted in a strong race going seven in February and chased a sharp winner to no avail before tiring late; stretched out for his second start, where he turned away a challenge from the favorite before going on to a clear-cut win with a solid figure; speed from the rail and bred to handle the added ground. ELECTABILITY stayed gamely to close down favored Long Term (settling for second for the fourth straight start) while making his dirt debut off the layoff; didn't face a particularly strong field of allowance rivals last time, but he did all the hard work in that spot while turning away several challenges en route to prevailing; might be better than he looks and could get lost in here despite starting for top connections.

Tenth Race

HIGH OPINION surprised when breaking her maiden at a huge price as a 3yo but quickly proved that effort was no fluke while just missing in her next start vs. stakes company; kept improving last year after being cut back in the summer and just missed getting up in the Ballston Spa over this distance with a 94 Beyer; looked like she was prepping off the layoff when rated to last right away and then finishing gamely too late going six. PLUM ALI was often unlucky during a frustrating 3yo campaign last year and finally took matters into her own hands when wiring the Winter Memories in her 2020 finale with a new Beyer top; strong effort off the layoff last time to gun down a talented rival who had the jump; might be set for a big 4yo campaign. ROUGIR kept coming up just short vs. top competition in France as a 3yo, then finally broke through with a coming out on the right side of a photo in a Group 1 on Arc Day; was never winning the BC Filly & Mare Turf but she did have some traffic issues in that race; makes her 4yo debut with a change to Chad Brown and the shorter distance is not an issue for her.

Eleventh Race

FINEST WORK overcame a trip to easily break her maiden first-time turf at Parx, then improved in her next two starts on this circuit despite settling for minor awards; was headstrong in those longer races and might have a chance to settle a bit going a one-turn seven off the layoff while switching to Weaver. RIGBY stalked the pace before gamely dueling down the leader in the stretch to win her turf debut going shorter last September at a price; made her final two starts as a 2yo vs. much tougher competition and didn't run poorly either time; back to turf after failing to factor behind a sharp winner on synthetic when last seen. AUTUMN GLORY debuted at the very end of last year going a route of ground and looked good winning that race easily after a good trip from off the pace; starts back at seven with forward to go and Lasix on.
