

I am writing in support of keeping the horses in the Theodore Roosevelt National Park. This herd has been a part of my visits to the park my whole life! Every time I go to the park I watch for a glimpse of these beautiful animals and it is such a wonderful sight to see! I would hate for future generations to lose out on this experience. I also follow the herd on social media and doing so makes the herd happenings much more personal. It would be a huge loss to our state and the people who love watching these horses to have the herd removed from the park.

Janet Gregory