

I strongly oppose the removal of any of the wild horses located in Theodore Roosevelt National Park.

The wild horses are a unique genetics rarely found. In addition, removal will harm the local economy as tourists are drawn to visit the horses.

Do the right thing.

Sincerely, Cynthia Hever