- c. An insurance holding company system that has a non-United States groupwide supervisor located within a reciprocal jurisdiction as set forth in subsection 7 of section 26.1-31.2-01 which recognizes the United States state regulatory approach to group supervision and group capital.
- d. An insurance holding company system that:
 - (1) Provides information to the lead state that meets the requirements for accreditation under the national association of insurance commissioners financial standards and accreditation program, either directly or indirectly through the groupwide supervisor, who has determined the information is satisfactory to allow the lead state to comply with the national association of insurance commissioners group supervision approach, as detailed in the national association of insurance commissioners financial analysis handbook; and
 - (2) Has a non-United States groupwide supervisor that is not in a reciprocal jurisdiction which recognizes and accepts, as specified by the commissioner by rule, the group capital calculation as the worldwide group capital assessment for United States insurance groups that operate in that jurisdiction.
- e. Notwithstanding subdivisions c and d, a lead state commissioner shall require the group capital calculation for United States operations of any non-United States based insurance holding company system where, after any necessary consultation with other supervisors or officials, it is deemed appropriate by the lead state commissioner for prudential oversight and solvency monitoring purposes or for ensuring the competitiveness of the insurance marketplace.
- f. Notwithstanding subdivisions a through d, the lead state commissioner may exempt the ultimate controlling person from filing the annual group capital calculation or accept a limited group capital filing or report in accordance with criteria as specified by the commissioner by rule.
- g. If the lead state commissioner determines an insurance holding company system no longer meets one or more of the requirements for an exemption from filing the group capital calculation under this section, the insurance holding company system shall file the group capital calculation at the next annual filing date, unless an extension is provided by the lead state commissioner based on reasonable grounds shown.

15. The ultimate controlling person of every insurer subject to registration and scoped into the national association of insurance commissioners liquidity stress test framework shall file the results of a specific year's liquidity stress test. The results must be filed with the lead state insurance commissioner of the insurance holding company system as determined by the financial analysis handbook procedures adopted by the national association of insurance commissioners.

a. The national association of insurance commissioners liquidity stress test framework includes scope criteria applicable to a specific data year. The scope criteria are reviewed at least annually by the financial stability task force or its successor. A change to the national association of insurance commissioners liquidity stress test framework or to the data year for which the scope criteria are to be measured is effective on January first of the year following the calendar year when the change is adopted. An insurer that meets at least one threshold of the scope criteria is considered scoped into the national association of insurance commissioners liquidity stress test framework for the specified data year unless the lead state insurance commissioner, in consultation with the national association of insurance commissioners financial stability task force or its successor, determines the insurer should not be scoped into the framework for that data year. An insurer that does not trigger at least one threshold of the scope criteria is considered scoped out of the liquidity stress test framework for the specified data year, unless the lead state insurance commissioner, in consultation with the national association of insurance commissioners financial stability task force or its successor, determines the insurer should be scoped into the framework for that data year.

b. To avoid having insurers scoped in and out of the national association of insurance commissioners liquidity stress test framework on a frequent basis, the lead state insurance commissioner, in consultation with the financial stability task force or its successor, shall assess this concern as part of the determination for an insurer.

c. The performance of, and filing of the results from, a specific year's liquidity stress test must comply with the national association of insurance commissioners liquidity stress test framework's instructions and reporting templates for that year and any lead state insurance commissioner determinations, in consultation with the financial stability task force or its successor, provided within the framework.

13-16. The failure to file a registration statement or any summary of the registration statement or enterprise risk filing required by this section within the time specified for the filing is a violation of this section.

SECTION 3. AMENDMENT. Section 26.1-10-05 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

26.1-10-05. Standards and management of an insurer with an insurance holding company system.

1. Transactions within an insurance holding company system to which an insurer subject to registration is a party are subject to the following standards:

a. The terms must be fair and reasonable.

- b. Agreements for cost-sharing services and management must include provisions as required by rules adopted by the commissioner.
- c. The books, accounts, and records of each party must clearly and accurately disclose the precise nature and details of the transactions, including that accounting information that is necessary to support the reasonableness of the charges or fees to the respective parties.
- d. The insurer's surplus as regards to policyholders following any dividends or distributions to shareholder affiliates must be reasonable in relation to the insurer's outstanding liabilities and adequate to its financial needs.
- e. Charges or fees for services performed must be reasonable.
- f. Expenses incurred and payment received must be allocated to the insurer in conformity with statutory accounting practices consistently applied.
- g. If an insurer subject to this chapter is deemed by the commissioner to be in a hazardous financial condition as defined by North Dakota Administrative Code chapter 45-03-13 or a condition that would be grounds for supervision, conservation, or a delinquency proceeding, the commissioner may require the insurer to secure and maintain a deposit, held by the commissioner, or a bond, as determined by the insurer at the insurer's discretion, for the protection of the insurer for the duration of the contracts or agreements, or the existence of the condition for which the commissioner is required to secure and maintain the deposit or the bond. In determining whether a deposit or a bond is required, the commissioner must consider whether concerns exist with respect to the affiliated person's ability to fulfill the contracts or agreements if the insurer were to be put into liquidation. Once the insurer is deemed to be in a hazardous financial condition or a condition that would be grounds for supervision, conservation or a delinquency proceeding, and a deposit or bond is necessary, the commissioner may determine the amount of the deposit or bond, not to exceed the value of the contracts or agreements in any one year, and whether such deposit or bond should be required for a single contract, multiple contracts, or a contract only with specific persons.
- h. All records and data of the insurer held by an affiliate are and remain the property of the insurer, are subject to the control of the insurer, are identifiable, and are segregated or readily capable of segregation, at no additional cost to the insurer, from all other persons' records and data. This includes all records and data that are otherwise the property of the insurer, in whatever form maintained, including claims and claim files, policyholder lists, application files, litigation files, premium records, rate books, underwriting manuals, personnel records, financial records, or similar records within the possession, custody or control of the affiliate. At the request of the insurer, the affiliate shall permit the receiver to obtain a complete set of all records of any type that pertain to the insurer's business, obtain access to the operating systems on which the data is maintained, obtain the software that runs those systems either through assumption of licensing agreements or otherwise, and restrict the use of the data by the affiliate if it is not operating the insurer's business. The affiliate shall provide a waiver of any landlord lien or other encumbrance to give the insurer access to all records and data in the event of the affiliate's default under a lease or other agreement.

- i. Premiums or other funds belonging to the insurer which are collected by or held by an affiliate are the exclusive property of the insurer and are subject to the control of the insurer. Any right of offset in the event an insurer is placed into receivership shall be subject to chapter 26.1-06.1.
- 2. The following transactions involving a domestic insurer and any person in its insurance holding company system, including an amendment or modification of an affiliate agreement previously filed pursuant to this section, which is subject to any materiality standards contained in subdivisions a through g, may not be entered unless the insurer has notified the commissioner in writing of its intention to enter into the transaction at least thirty days prior thereto, or a shorter period as the commissioner may permit, and the commissioner has not disapproved it within that period. The notice for an amendment or modification must include the reason for the change and the financial impact on the domestic insurer. Within thirty days after a termination of a previously filed agreement, informal notice must be reported to the commissioner for determination of the type of filing required, if any.
 - a. Sales, purchases, exchanges, loans, or extensions of credit, or investments provided the transactions are equal to or exceed:
 - (1) With respect to nonlife insurers, the lesser of three percent of the insurer's admitted assets or twenty-five percent of surplus as regards policyholders as of December thirty-first next preceding.
 - (2) With respect to life insurers, three percent of the insurer's admitted assets as of December thirty-first next preceding.
 - b. Loans or extensions of credit to any person that is not an affiliate, if the insurer makes loans or extensions of credit with the agreement or understanding that the proceeds of the transactions, in whole or in substantial part, are to be used to make loans or extensions of credit to, to purchase assets of, or to make investments in any affiliate of the insurer making the loans or extensions of credit provided the transactions are equal to or exceed:
 - (1) With respect to nonlife insurers, the lesser of three percent of the insurer's admitted assets or twenty-five percent of surplus as regards policyholders as of December thirty-first next preceding.
 - (2) With respect to life insurers, three percent of the insurer's admitted assets as of December thirty-first next preceding.
 - c. Reinsurance agreements or modifications thereto, including:
 - (1) All reinsurance pooling agreements.
 - (2) Agreements in which the reinsurance premium or a change in the insurer's liabilities, or the projected reinsurance premium or a change in the insurer's liabilities in any of the next three years, equals or exceeds five percent of the insurer's surplus as regards policyholders, as of December thirty-first next preceding, including those agreements which may require as consideration the transfer of assets from an insurer to a nonaffiliate, if an agreement or understanding exists between the insurer and nonaffiliate that any portion of such assets will be transferred to one or more affiliates of the insurer.

- d. All management agreements, service contracts, tax allocation agreements, guarantees, and cost-sharing arrangements.
- e. Any guarantee made by a domestic insurer; however, a guarantee that is quantifiable as to amount is not subject to the notice requirements of this subsection unless the guarantee exceeds the lesser of one-half of one percent of the insurer's admitted assets or ten percent of surplus as regards policyholders as of December thirty-first next preceding. Additionally, all guarantees that are not quantifiable as to amount are subject to the notice requirements of this subsection.
- f. Any direct or indirect acquisition or investment in a person that controls the insurer or in an affiliate of the insurer in an amount that, together with its present holdings in such investments, exceeds two and one-half percent of the insurer's surplus to policyholders. A direct or indirect acquisition or investment in a subsidiary acquired pursuant to section 26.1-10-02, or authorized under any other section of this chapter, or in a nonsubsidiary insurance affiliate that is subject to this chapter, is exempt from this requirement.
- g. Any material transactions, specified by rule, which the commissioner determines may adversely affect the interests of the insurer's policyholders.

Nothing in this subsection may be deemed to authorize or permit any transactions which, in the case of an insurer which is not a member of the same insurance holding company system, would be otherwise contrary to law.

- 3. A domestic insurer may not enter transactions that are part of a plan or series of like transactions with persons within the insurance holding company system if the purpose of those separate transactions is to avoid the statutory threshold amount and thus avoid the review that would occur otherwise. If the commissioner determines that the separate transactions were entered over any twelve-month period for that purpose, the commissioner may exercise the commissioner's authority under the penalty sections of this chapter.
- 4. The commissioner, in reviewing transactions pursuant to subsection 2, shall consider whether the transactions comply with the standards set forth in subsection 1 and whether they may adversely affect the interests of the policyholders.
- 5. The commissioner must be notified within thirty days of any investment of the domestic insurer in any one corporation if the total investment in that corporation by the insurance holding company system exceeds ten percent of the corporation's voting securities.
- 6. For purposes of this chapter, in determining whether an insurer's surplus as regards policyholders is reasonable in relation to the insurer's outstanding liabilities and adequate to meet its financial needs, the following factors, among others, must be considered:
 - a. The size of the insurer as measured by its assets, capital and surplus, reserves, premium writings, insurance in force, and other appropriate criteria.

- b. The extent to which the insurer's business is diversified among the several lines of insurance.
 - c. The number and size of risks insured in each line of business.
 - d. The extent of the geographical dispersion of the insurer's insured risks.
 - e. The nature and extent of the insurer's reinsurance program.
 - f. The quality, diversification, and liquidity of the insurer's investment portfolio.
 - g. The recent past and projected future trend in the size of the insurer's investment portfolio.
 - h. The surplus as regards policyholders maintained by other comparable insurers.
 - i. The adequacy of the insurer's reserves.
 - j. The quality and liquidity of investments in affiliates. The commissioner may treat the investment as a disallowed asset for purposes of determining the adequacy of surplus as regards policyholders whenever in the commissioner's judgment the investment so warrants.
7. A domestic insurer may not pay any extraordinary dividend or make any other extraordinary distribution to its shareholders until thirty days after the commissioner has received notice of the declaration thereof and has not within that period disapproved the payment, or until the commissioner has approved the payment within the thirty-day period.
8. For purposes of this section, an extraordinary dividend or distribution includes any dividend or distribution of cash or other property, when the fair market value together with that of other dividends or distributions made within the preceding twelve months exceeds the lesser of:
- a. Ten percent of the insurer's surplus as regards policyholders as of December thirty-first next preceding; or
 - b. The net gain from operations of the insurer, if the insurer is a life insurer, or the net income, if the company is not a life insurer, not including realized capital gains, for the twelve-month period ending December thirty-first next preceding, but shall not include pro rata distributions of any class of the insurer's own securities.
9. In determining whether a dividend or distribution is extraordinary under subsection 8, an insurer other than a life insurer may carry forward net income from the previous two calendar years which has not already been paid out as dividends. This carry-forward must be computed by taking the net income from the second and third preceding calendar years, not including realized capital gains, less dividends paid in the second and immediate preceding calendar years.
10. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an insurer may declare an extraordinary dividend or distribution which is conditional upon the commissioner's approval, and the declaration confers no rights upon shareholders until:

- a. The commissioner has approved the payment of the dividend or distribution; or
 - b. The commissioner has not disapproved the payment within the thirty-day period referred to in subsection 7.
11. An affiliate that is a party to an agreement or contract with a domestic insurer that is subject to subdivision d of subsection 2 shall be subject to the jurisdiction of any supervision, seizure, conservatorship, or receivership proceedings against the insurer and to the authority of any supervisor, conservator, rehabilitator, or liquidator for the insurer appointed under chapters 26.1-06.1 and 26.1-06.2 for the purpose of interpreting, enforcing, and overseeing the affiliate's obligations under the agreement or contract to perform services for the insurer that are:
- a. An integral part of the insurer's operations, such as management, administrative, accounting, data processing, marketing, underwriting, claims handling, investment, or any other similar functions; or
 - b. Essential to the insurer's ability to fulfill its obligations under insurance policies.
12. The commissioner may require that an agreement or contract under subdivision d of subsection 2 for the provision of services in subdivision a and b specify the affiliate consents to the jurisdiction as set forth in subsection 11.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1481

(Representatives Kasper, Dockter, Koppelman, Louser, Ostlie, D. Ruby)
(Senators Bekkedahl, Cleary, Clemens, Hogan, Lee, Paulson)

AN ACT to create and enact two new sections to chapter 26.1-36.9 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to dental insurer rate requirements and reporting; and to provide an effective date.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. A new section to chapter 26.1-36.9 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Dental insurer rates - Approval.

1. The commissioner may deem a proposed plan rate of a dental insurer to be excessive and disapprove the proposed plan rate if the dental insurer files a rate change and the:
 - a. Administrative expense component, not including taxes and assessments, increases from the previous year's rate filing by more than four percent;
 - b. Reported contribution to surplus exceeds two percent of total revenue; or
 - c. Dental loss ratio for the plan is less than seventy-five percent.
 - a. If the annual dental loss ratio for a dental benefit plan is less than seventy-five percent, the dental insurer offering the plan shall refund the excess premium to covered individuals and groups. As used in this section, "dental loss ratio" means the ratio used to determine the minimum percentage of all premium funds collected by a dental insurer each year which must be spent on actual patient care rather than overhead costs. This minimum required percentage that dental benefit plans must meet for the portion of patient premiums must be dedicated to patient care rather than administrative and overhead costs or the difference must be refunded as provided in this section.
 - b. A dental insurer shall provide notice to all individuals and groups that were covered under the plan during the applicable twelve-month period that such individuals and groups are entitled to a refund on the premium, or if the individual or group remains covered by the dental insurer, that the individual or group is eligible for a credit on the premium for the following twelve-month period.
 - c. The total of all refunds issued under this subsection must equal the amount of the dental insurer's earned premium which exceeds the amount necessary to achieve a dental loss ratio of seventy-five percent, calculated using data reported by the dental insurer.

- d. The dental loss ratio is calculated by dividing the numerator by the denominator as follows:

- (1) The numerator is the amount spent on care, which must include:

(a) The amount expended for clinical dental services that are services within the code on dental procedures and nomenclature, provided to enrollees which includes payments under capitation contracts with dental providers, whose services are covered by the contract for dental clinical services or supplies covered by the contract;

(b) Unpaid claim reserves; and

(c) Any claim payment recovered by insurers from providers or enrollees using utilization management efforts, which are deducted from incurred claims amounts.

- (2) Any overpayment received from a provider may not be reported as a paid claim. Overpayment recoveries received from a provider must be deducted from incurred claims amounts.

- (3) The calculation of the numerator does not include:

(a) All administrative costs, including infrastructure, personnel costs, or broker payments;

(b) Amounts paid to third-party vendors for secondary network savings;

(c) Amounts paid to third-party vendors for network development, administrative fees, claims processing, and utilization management; or

(d) Amounts paid to providers for professional or administrative services that do not represent compensation or reimbursement for covered services provided to an enrollee, including dental record copying costs, attorney fees, subrogation vendor fees, and compensation to paraprofessionals, janitors, quality assurance analysts, administrative supervisors, secretaries to dental personnel, and dental record clerks.

- (4) (a) The denominator is calculated using insurer revenue.

(b) The earned premium is all monies paid by a policyholder or subscriber as a condition of receiving coverage from the issuer, including any fees or other contributions associated with the dental benefit plan.

(c) The denominator is the total amount of the earned premium revenues, excluding federal and state taxes and licensing and regulatory fees paid after accounting for any payments pursuant to federal law.

3. The commissioner may:

- a. Authorize a waiver or adjustment of the refund requirements in this section only if it is determined by the commissioner that issuing refunds would result in financial impairment for the dental insurer.
 - b. Adopt rules to implement and administer this section.
4. This section does not apply to a dental insurer with one thousand enrollees or less cumulative of all plans based on a three-year average.

SECTION 2. A new section to chapter 26.1-36.9 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Dental loss ratio transparency - Annual report to the commissioner.

1. A dental insurer that issues, sells, renews, or offers a specialized dental health care service plan contract shall file a dental loss ratio report with the commissioner by April thirtieth of each year, in a manner prescribed by the commissioner.
2. The dental loss ratio report must include dental loss ratio information for the last calendar year for a dental benefit plan provided by a dental insurer and be organized by market and product type.
3. The commissioner may request the dental insurer provide data verification of any information provided by the dental insurer in the dental loss ratio report. The dental insurer shall provide data verification to the commissioner within thirty days of the request.
4. The commissioner shall make the information provided in the dental loss ratio annual reports filed under this section available on the department's website, including the aggregate dental loss ratio, in a manner that allows the public to compare dental loss ratios among dental insurers by market type.
5. For purposes of this section, "dental loss ratio" has the same meaning as in section 1 of this Act.

SECTION 3. EFFECTIVE DATE. Section 1 of this Act becomes effective on July 1, 2027.

The term includes a review conducted after the admission of the enrollee and in situations in which the enrollee is unconscious or otherwise unable to provide advance notification. (Representatives Davis, Beltz, Brown, Finley-DeVile, Holle)

AN ACT to amend and reenact sections 27-19.1-01 and 27-19.1-02, subsection 1 of section 27-19.1-03, subsection 1 of section 27-19.1-04, and sections 27-19.1-05 and 27-19.1-06 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to Indian child welfare.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENT. Section 27-19.1-01 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

27-19.1-01. Active efforts and procedures - Definitions.

1. As used in this chapter, ~~unless context requires otherwise:~~

- a. "Active efforts" means affirmative, active, thorough, and timely efforts intended primarily to maintain or reunite an Indian child with the Indian child's family. If an agency is involved in the child custody proceeding, active efforts must involve assisting the parent or a parent or Indian custodian with the steps of a case plan and including accessing or developing the resources necessary to satisfy the case plan. To the maximum extent possible, active efforts should be provided in a manner consistent with the prevailing social and cultural conditions and way of life of the Indian child's tribe and should be conducted in partnership with the Indian child and the Indian child's parents, extended family members, Indian custodians, and tribe. Active efforts are to be tailored to the facts and circumstances of the case. The term includes:
 - (1) Conducting a comprehensive assessment of the circumstances of the Indian child's family, with a focus on safe reunification as the most desirable goal, with ongoing timely assessment to determine when the threat is resolved and placement of the Indian child can be returned to the custodian.
 - (2) Identifying appropriate services and helping a parent or Indian custodian to overcome barriers, including actively assisting a parent or Indian custodian in obtaining such services.
 - (3) Identifying, notifying, and inviting representatives of the Indian child's tribe to participate in providing support and services to the Indian child's family and in family team meetings, permanency planning, and resolution of placement issues.
 - (4) Conducting or causing to be conducted a diligent search for the Indian child's extended family members, and contacting and consulting with extended family members to provide family structure and support for the Indian child and the Indian child's parent or Indian custodian.

- (5) Offering and employing available and culturally appropriate family preservation strategies and facilitating the use of remedial and rehabilitative services provided by the Indian child's tribe.
 - (6) Taking steps to keep siblings together, if possible.
 - (7) Supporting regular visits with a parent or Indian custodian in the most natural setting possible as well as trial home visits of the Indian child during any period of removal, consistent with the need to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the Indian child.
 - (8) Identifying community resources, including housing, financial, transportation, mental health, substance abuse, and peer support services and actively assisting the Indian child's parent or Indian custodian or, as appropriate, the Indian child's family, in utilizing and accessing those resources.
 - (9) Monitoring progress and participation in services.
 - (10) Considering alternative ways to address the needs of the Indian child's parent or Indian custodian and where appropriate, the family, if the optimum services do not exist or are not available.
 - (11) Providing post-reunification services and monitoring.
- b. "Adoptive placement" means the permanent placement of an Indian child for adoption.
 - c. "Extended family member" means a relationship defined by the law or custom of the Indian child's tribe or, in the absence of such law or custom, means an individual who has reached the age of eighteen and who is the Indian child's grandparent, aunt or uncle, brother or sister, brother-in-law or sister-in-law, niece or nephew, first or second cousin, or stepparent.
 - d. "Foster care or ~~non-foster care~~ placement" means the removal of an Indian child from the home of his or her parent or Indian custodian for temporary placement in a foster home, qualified residential treatment program, residential care center for Indian children and youth, or certified shelter care facility, in the home of a relative other than a parent or Indian custodian, or in the home of a guardian, from which placement the parent or Indian custodian cannot have the Indian child returned upon demand. The term does not include an adoptive placement, a preadoptive placement, ~~and an~~ emergency change in placement under section 27-20.3-06, or holding an Indian child in custody a placement pursuant to a criminal or delinquency proceeding.
 - e. "Indian" means an individual who is a member of an Indian tribe, or who is a native and a member of a regional corporation as defined under 43 U.S.C. 1606.
 - f. "Indian child" means any unmarried individual who is under the age of eighteen and is either a member of an Indian tribe or is eligible for membership in an Indian tribe and is the biological child of a member of an Indian tribe.

- g. "Indian child custody proceeding" means a proceeding brought by the state involving:
 - (1) Foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement;
 - (2) A preadoptive placement;
 - (3) An adoptive placement; or
 - (4) A termination of parental rights under section 27-20.3-20 for an Indian child.
 - h. "Indian child's tribe" means the Indian tribe in which an Indian child is a member or eligible for membership or, in the case of an Indian child who is a member of or eligible for membership in more than one tribe, the Indian tribe with which the Indian child has the more significant contacts.
 - i. "Indian custodian" means any Indian individual who has legal custody of an Indian child under tribal law or custom or under state law or to whom temporary physical care, custody, and control has been transferred by the parent of the Indian child.
 - j. "Indian tribe" means an Indian tribe, band, nation, or other organized Indian group or community of Indians recognized as eligible for services provided to Indians by the United States secretary of the interior because of their status as Indians, including any Alaska native village as defined in 43 U.S.C. 1602(c).
 - k. "Parent" means a biological parent or parents of an Indian child or an Indian individual who has lawfully adopted an Indian child, including adoptions under tribal law or custom. The term does not include the unwed father if paternity has not been acknowledged or established.
 - l. "Preadoptive placement" means the temporary placement of an Indian child in a foster home, home of a relative other than a parent or Indian custodian, or home of a guardian after a termination of parental rights but before or in lieu of an adoptive placement, but does not include an emergency change in placement under section 27-20.3-06.
 - m. "Termination of parental rights" means any action resulting in the termination of the parent-child relationship. It does not include a placement based upon an act by an Indian child which, if committed by an adult, would be deemed a crime or a placement upon award of custody to one of the Indian child's parents in a divorce proceeding.
2. Before removal of an Indian child from the custody of a parent or Indian custodian for purposes of involuntary foster care placement or the termination of parental rights over an Indian child, the court shall find that active efforts have been made to provide remedial services and rehabilitative services designed to prevent the breakup of the Indian family and that these efforts have proved unsuccessful. The court may not order the removal unless evidence of active efforts shows there has been a vigorous and concerted level of casework beyond the level that would constitute reasonable efforts under section 27-20.3-26. Reasonable efforts may not be construed to be active efforts. Active efforts must be made in a manner that takes into account the prevailing social and cultural values, conditions, and way of life of the Indian child's tribe. Active efforts must utilize the available resources of the Indian child's extended family, tribe, tribal and other relevant social service agencies, and individual Indian caregivers.

3. The court may order the removal of the Indian child for involuntary foster care placement only if the court determines, by clear and convincing evidence, that continued custody of the Indian child by the parent or Indian custodian is likely to result in serious emotional or physical damage to the Indian child. Evidence must show a causal relationship between the particular conditions in the home and the likelihood that continued custody of the Indian child will result in serious emotional or physical damage to the particular Indian child who is the subject of the proceeding. Poverty, isolation, custodian age, crowded or inadequate housing, substance use, or nonconforming social behavior does not by itself constitute clear and convincing evidence of imminent serious emotional or physical damage to the Indian child. ~~As soon as the threat has been removed and the Indian child is no longer at risk, the state should terminate the removal, by returning the Indian child to the parent or Indian custodian while offering a solution to mitigate the situation that gave rise to the need for emergency removal and placement.~~
4. The court may order the termination of parental rights over the Indian child only if the court determines, by evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that continued custody of the Indian child by the parent or Indian custodian is likely to result in serious emotional or physical damage to the Indian child.
5. In considering whether to involuntarily place an Indian child in foster care or to terminate the parental rights of the parent of an Indian child, the court shall require that a qualified expert witness must be qualified to testify regarding whether the Indian child's continued custody by the parent or Indian custodian is likely to result in serious emotional or physical damage to the Indian child and should be qualified to testify as to the prevailing social and cultural standards of the Indian child's tribe. An individual may be designated by the Indian child's tribe as being qualified to testify to the prevailing social and cultural standards of the Indian child's tribe. If the parties stipulate in writing and the court is satisfied the stipulation is made knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily, the court may accept a declaration or affidavit from a qualified expert witness in lieu of testimony. If one or more parties have been found to be in default under the North Dakota Rules of Juvenile Procedure, the court may accept a declaration or affidavit from a qualified expert witness without a stipulation in writing from the defaulted parties. The court or any party may request the assistance of the Indian child's tribe or the bureau of Indian affairs office serving the Indian child's tribe in locating individuals qualified to serve as expert witnesses. The social worker regularly assigned to the Indian child may not serve as a qualified expert witness in child custody proceedings concerning the Indian child. The qualified expert witness should be someone familiar with the particular Indian child and have contact with the parent or Indian custodian to observe interaction between the parent or Indian custodian, Indian child, and extended family members. The child welfare agency and courts should facilitate access to the family and records to facilitate accurate testimony.
6. If a court order authorizes the emergency removal of the Indian child from the parent or Indian custodian of the child under state law, the order must be accompanied by a declaration from the child welfare agency that includes:

- a. The name, tribal affiliation, and address of the Indian child, each parent of the Indian child, and the Indian custodian of the child, as applicable; and
 - b. A detailed account of the circumstances that led the agency responsible for emergency removal of the child to take action.
7. An emergency removal or placement of an Indian child under state law must terminate immediately when the removal or placement is no longer necessary to prevent imminent physical damage or harm to the Indian child. If removal or placement is determined to be no longer necessary, the child welfare agency shall terminate the removal by returning the Indian child to the parent or Indian custodian and offer a solution to mitigate the situation that gave rise to the need for emergency removal and placement.
- 7-8. If an Indian child is the subject of a shelter care hearing, the party initiating the hearing shall provide the court with a declaration that includes the specific actions that have been taken to assist the parent or Indian custodian since the emergency removal so the child may be safely returned to the custody of the parent or Indian custodian, and the specific actions the initiating party intends to take so the Indian child may be returned safely without initiating an Indian child custody proceeding.
9. To facilitate the intent of this chapter, the agency, in cooperation with the Indian child's tribe of affiliation, unless a parent objects, shall take steps to enroll the Indian child in the tribe with the goal of finalizing enrollment before termination.

SECTION 2. AMENDMENT. Section 27-19.1-02 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

27-19.1-02. Jurisdiction over custody proceedings.

1. This chapter includes requirements that apply if an Indian child is the subject of:
 - a. A child custody proceeding, including:
 - (1) An involuntary proceeding; ~~and~~
 - (2) A voluntary proceeding that could prohibit the parent or Indian custodian from regaining custody of the Indian child upon demand; and
 - (3) A proceeding involving status offenses if any part of the proceeding results in the need for out-of-home placement of the child, including a foster care, preadoptive or adoptive placement, or termination of parental rights.
 - b. An emergency proceeding ~~other than:~~
 - (1) ~~A tribal~~
2. This chapter does not apply to:
 - a. A tribal court proceeding; or
 - (2)~~b.~~ A proceeding regarding a delinquent act;

- c. An award of custody of the Indian child to one of the parents, including an award in a divorce proceeding; or
- d. A voluntary placement that either parent, both parents, or the Indian custodian has, of his or her or their free will, without a threat of removal by a state agency, chosen for the Indian child and that does not operate to prohibit the Indian child's parent or Indian custodian from regaining custody of the Indian child upon demand.

2-3. If a proceeding under subsection 1 concerns an Indian child, this chapter applies to that proceeding. In determining whether this chapter applies to a proceeding, the state court may not consider factors such as the participation of a parent or the Indian child in tribal cultural, social, religious, or political activities; the relationship between the Indian child and the Indian child's parent; whether the parent ever had custody of the Indian child; or the Indian child's blood quantum.

3-4. If this chapter applies at the commencement of a proceeding, this chapter does not cease to apply solely because the Indian child reaches age eighteen during the pendency of the proceeding.

~~4-5. In an Indian child custody proceeding under this chapter involving an Indian child who is not residing or domiciled within the reservation of the Indian child's tribe, the court assigned to exercise jurisdiction under this chapter, upon the petition of the Indian child's parent, Indian custodian, or tribe, shall transfer the proceeding to the jurisdiction of the tribe unless either of the following applies:~~

~~a. A parent of the Indian child objects to the transfer.~~

~~b. An Indian tribe has exclusive jurisdiction over an Indian child custody proceeding involving an Indian child who resides or is domiciled within the reservation of the tribe, except if that jurisdiction is otherwise vested in the state by federal law. If an Indian child is a ward of a tribal court, the Indian tribe retains exclusive jurisdiction regardless of the residence or domicile of the Indian child.~~

5-6. In an Indian child custody proceeding under this chapter involving an Indian child who is not residing or domiciled within the reservation of the Indian child's tribe, the court assigned to exercise jurisdiction under this chapter, upon the petition of the Indian child's parent, Indian custodian, or tribe, shall transfer the proceeding to the jurisdiction of the tribe unless any of the following apply:

a. A parent of the Indian child objects to the transfer.

b. The Indian child's tribe does not have a tribal court, or the tribal court of the Indian child's tribe declines jurisdiction.

c. The court determines good cause exists to deny the transfer. In determining whether good cause exists to deny the transfer, the court may not consider any perceived inadequacy of the tribal social services department or the tribal court of the Indian child's tribe. The court may determine good cause exists to deny the transfer only if the person opposing the transfer shows by clear and convincing evidence the evidence or testimony necessary to decide the case cannot be presented in tribal court without undue hardship to the parties or the witnesses and that the tribal court is unable to mitigate the hardship by making arrangements to receive the evidence or testimony by use of telephone or live audiovisual means, by hearing the evidence or testimony at a location that is convenient to the parties and witnesses, or by use of other means permissible under the tribal court's rules of evidence.

~~6-7.~~ An Indian child's tribe may intervene at any point in an Indian child custody proceeding.

~~7-8.~~ The state shall give full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of an Indian tribe which are applicable to an Indian child custody proceeding to the same extent that the state gives full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of any other governmental entity.

SECTION 3. AMENDMENT. Subsection 1 of section 27-19.1-03 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

1. In a proceeding involving the foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement of or termination of parental rights to an Indian child whom the court knows or has reason to know may be an Indian child, the party seeking the foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement or termination of parental rights, for the first hearing of the proceeding, shall notify the Indian child's parent, Indian custodian, and tribe, by registered mail, return receipt requested, of the pending proceeding and of the parties' right to intervene in the proceeding and shall file the return receipt with the court. Notice of subsequent hearings in a proceeding must be in writing and may be given by mail, personal delivery, facsimile transmission, or electronic mail. If the identity or location of the Indian child's parent, Indian custodian, or tribe cannot be determined, that notice shall be given to the United States secretary of the interior in like manner. The first hearing in the proceeding may not be held until at least ten days after receipt of the notice by the parent, Indian custodian, and tribe or until at least fifteen days after receipt of the notice by the United States secretary of the interior. On request of the parent, Indian custodian, or tribe, the court shall grant a continuance of up to twenty additional days to enable the requester to prepare for that hearing.

SECTION 4. AMENDMENT. Subsection 1 of section 27-19.1-04 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

1. A voluntary consent by a parent or Indian custodian to a foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement of an Indian child is not valid unless the consent or delegation is executed in writing, recorded before a judge, and accompanied by a written certification by the judge that the terms and consequences of the consent or delegation were fully explained in detail to and were fully understood by the parent or Indian custodian. The judge also shall certify the parent or Indian custodian fully understood the explanation in English or that the explanation was interpreted into a language the parent or Indian custodian understood. Any consent or delegation of powers given under this subsection before or within ten days after the birth of the Indian child is not valid. A parent or Indian custodian who has executed a consent or delegation of powers under this subsection may withdraw the consent or delegation for any reason at any time, and the Indian child must be returned to the parent or Indian custodian. A parent or Indian custodian who has executed a consent or delegation of powers under this subsection also may move to invalidate the out-of-home care placement.

SECTION 5. AMENDMENT. Section 27-19.1-05 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

27-19.1-05. ~~Placements~~Placement preferences.

1. Subject to subsections 3 and 4, in placing an Indian child for adoption or in delegating powers, as described in a lawful executed power of attorney regarding an Indian child, preference must be given, in the absence of good cause, as described in subsection 6, to the contrary, to a placement with or delegation to one of the following, in the order of preference listed:
 - a. The tribe's statutory adopted placement preference, if applicable;
 - b. An extended family member of the Indian child;
 - ~~b-c.~~ Another member of the Indian child's tribe;
 - ~~c-d.~~ Another Indian family with whom the Indian child has a relationship or an Indian family from a tribe that is culturally similar to or linguistically connected to the Indian child's tribe; or
 - ~~d-e.~~ The tribe's statutory adopted placement preferencesAnother Indian family.
2. An Indian child who is accepted for a foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement or a preadoptive placement must be placed in the least restrictive setting that most approximates a family that meets the Indian child's special needs, if any, and which is within reasonable proximity to the Indian child's home, taking into account those special needs. Subject to subsections 4 and 6, in placing an Indian child in a foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement or a preadoptive placement, preference must be given, in the absence of good cause, as described in subsection 6, to the contrary, to a placement in one of the following, in the order of preference listed:
 - a. The tribe's statutory adopted placement preference, if applicable;
 - b. The home of an extended family member of the Indian child;
 - ~~b-c.~~ A foster home licensed, approved, or specified by the Indian child's tribe;
 - ~~c-d.~~ An Indian foster home licensed or approved by the department; or
 - ~~d-e.~~ A qualified residential treatment facility or residential care center for children and youth approved by an Indian tribe or operated by an Indian organization that has a program suitable to meet the needs of the Indian child.
3. An Indian child who is the subject of an emergency removal or placement under a child custody determination under section 27-20.3-06 must be placed in compliance with foster care ~~or nonfoster care~~ placement or preadoptive placement preferences, unless the person responsible for determining the placement finds good cause, as described in subsection 6, for departing from the order of placement preference under subsection 2 or finds that emergency conditions necessitate departing from that order. When the reason for departing from that order is resolved, the Indian child must be placed in compliance with the order of placement preference under subsection 2.

4. In placing an Indian child under subsections 1 and 2 regarding an Indian child under subsection 1, if the Indian child's tribe has established, by resolution, an order of preference that is different from the order specified in subsection 1 or 2, the order of preference established by that tribe must be followed, in the absence of good cause, as described in subsection 6, to the contrary, so long as the placement under subsection 1 is appropriate for the Indian child's special needs, if any, and the placement under subsection 2 is the least restrictive setting appropriate for the Indian child's needs as specified in subsection 2.
5. The standards to be applied in meeting the placement preference requirements of this subsection must be the prevailing social and cultural standards of the Indian community in which the Indian child's parent, Indian custodian, or extended family members reside or with which the Indian child's parent, Indian custodian, or extended family members maintain social and cultural ties.
 - a. If a party asserts that good cause not to follow the placement preferences exists, the reasons for that belief or assertion must be stated orally on the record or provided in writing to the parties to the child custody proceeding and the court.
 - b. The party seeking departure from the placement preferences bears the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that there is good cause to depart from the placement preferences.
 - c. A court's determination of good cause to depart from the placement preferences must be made on the record or in writing and must be based on one or more of the following considerations:
 - (1) The request of the Indian child's parent, if they attest that they have reviewed the placement options, if any, that comply with the order of preference.
 - (2) The request of the Indian child, if the Indian child is of sufficient age and capacity to understand the decision being made.
 - (3) The presence of a sibling attachment that can be maintained only through a particular placement.
 - (4) The extraordinary physical, mental, or emotional needs of the Indian child, such as specialized treatment services that may be unavailable in the community where families who meet the placement preferences live.
 - (5) The unavailability of a suitable placement after a determination by the court that a diligent search was conducted to find suitable placements meeting the preference criteria, but none has been located. 27-20.5-09. Disposition.

1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, upon receipt of a report by the tier 1a mental health professional that the minor lacks fitness to proceed and there is a substantial likelihood the minor is unable to be remediated within the period of the remediation order, the court may:

(Juvenile Justice Committee)

AN ACT to create and enact a new chapter to title 27 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to the re-establishment of parental rights and responsibilities.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. A new chapter to title 27 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Definitions.

As used in this chapter:

1. "Child" means an individual under the age of eighteen.

3. "Department" means the department of health and human services.
4. "Division of juvenile services" means the division within the department of corrections and rehabilitation established in chapter 27-21.
5. "Genetic parent" means the biological mother or adjudicated mother of the child, or the presumed father or adjudicated father of the child under chapter 14-20.

Jurisdiction.

The juvenile court has exclusive original jurisdiction over all proceedings for re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship which are governed by this chapter.

Venue - Inconvenient forum.

1. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a proceeding under this chapter must be commenced in the county in which the child resides.
2. A proceeding for re-establishment of parental rights and responsibilities must be brought in the court in the county in which the child subject of the petition resides or in which the agency having the care, custody, or control of the child is located, at the time of filing or granting the petition.
3. If the court finds in the interest of substantial justice the matter should be heard in another forum, the court may transfer, stay, or dismiss the proceeding in whole or in part on any condition that is just.

Petition - Who may prepare and file.

A petition for re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship may be filed by any interested party from the original termination of parental rights proceeding if:

1. The state's attorney receives a copy of the petition and the responsible custodian and the state's attorney agree re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship is in the child's best interests;
2. The genetic parent is willing and has the capability to provide day-to-day care and maintain the health, safety, and welfare of the child;
3. At least twelve months have elapsed following a final order terminating parental rights and the child remains in foster care;
4. There is no pending litigation or appeal pertaining to the original termination of parental rights proceeding;
5. The child has not been adopted; and
6. The child is not the subject of a written adoption placement agreement between the responsible custodian and the prospective adoptive parent.

Contents of petition.

A petitioner for re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship shall sign the petition under oath and the petition must include:

1. The full name, date of birth, address, and all other legal names and aliases by which the genetic parents have been known at any time;
2. The full name and date of birth of each child for whom reunification is sought;
3. The petitioner's relationship to each child for whom reunification is sought;
4. To which genetic parent or parents the rights are sought to be re-established;
5. The reasons for seeking reunification and why reunification is in the child's best interest;

6. The details of the termination of parental rights for which reunification is sought, including the date and jurisdiction of the order, and the court file number and date of any previous order terminating parental rights;
7. The details of any other active juvenile court case in which the genetic parent is a named party, including the case's court file number;
8. The steps the genetic parent has taken toward personal rehabilitation since the order terminating parental rights, including treatment, work, or other personal history demonstrating rehabilitation;
9. How the genetic parent whose rights are sought to be re-established has corrected the condition leading to the order terminating parental rights for which reunification is sought;
10. The reason the genetic parent is willing and capable to provide day-to-day care and maintain the health, safety, and welfare of the child; and
11. Any previous request by any party, whether for the present order terminating parental rights or for any other order terminating parental rights, whether granted or not.

Petition may not be brought in certain circumstances.

A petition for the re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship may not be brought if the genetic parent whose rights are the subject of the petition for re-establishment previously has had parental rights terminated based on a:

1. Finding of sexual abuse; or
2. Conviction for intentional conduct that resulted in the substantial bodily injury or death of a minor.

Right to appointed counsel.

1. A child within the jurisdiction of the court in an action arising under this chapter has the right to be represented by counsel in all proceedings in which a petition has been filed. The court shall appoint counsel to represent the child, regardless of income, unless counsel is retained for the child, in any proceeding in which the child is of sufficient age and competency to assist counsel.
2. A child who is fourteen years of age or older may waive the right to counsel. The waiver must be made on the record and the court shall determine if the waiver is knowing, voluntary, and intelligent. If a child waives counsel for a hearing, the court shall inform the child of the right to revoke the waiver and request counsel at all subsequent hearings.
3. A genetic parent is entitled to counsel upon the filing of an application for counsel and a determination of indigency. If a party appears without counsel, the court shall determine whether the party knows the party may be represented by counsel and the party is entitled to counsel at public expense if indigent. The court may continue the proceeding to enable a party to obtain counsel.

Appointment of guardian ad litem for child - Immunity.

In a proceeding under this chapter, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for a child who is a party to the proceeding upon motion of the court or by motion or agreement of the parties. The guardian ad litem shall serve as an advocate of the child's best interests. A guardian ad litem appointed under this section is immune from civil liability for damages for any act or omission arising out of the guardian ad litem's duties and responsibilities, unless the act or omission constitutes gross or willful negligence or gross or willful misconduct.

Prima facie review of petition.

1. Upon filing of a petition for the re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship, the court shall consider the petition without oral argument or evidentiary hearing and shall deny the petition unless the court finds the petitioner has established a prima facie case justifying that re-establishment of parental rights is in the child's best interest. If a prima facie case is not established, the court shall dismiss the petition.
2. If a prima facie case is established, the court shall set a date for an evidentiary hearing. The clerk of district court or juvenile court shall provide a copy of the petition and summons to any interested party.

Trial home placement.

1. After the petition is filed, the court may order the necessary parties to create a transition plan. The plan must provide for the health and safety of the child and outline the transition services to the genetic parent, as well as the conditions and supervisions required by the human service zone for transitioning the child into the home on a trial basis, with the ultimate goal being full reunification before the hearing on the petition.
2. The human service zone shall monitor the genetic parent during the implementation of the plan and shall identify and assist the genetic parent in using appropriate family preservation strategies and accessing community resources to provide for the health and safety of the child.
3. During the time of transition, the human service zone shall remove the child from the genetic parent's home upon any abuse or neglect allegation. If the child is removed, the human service zone shall notify the court of the removal and the court shall deny the petition as provided for in this chapter.

Hearing.

1. The petitioner has the burden of proof at the hearing.
2. At the hearing, the court may grant the petition ordering the re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship only if the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that:
 - a. Re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship is in the child's best interests;
 - b. There is no pending litigation or appeal pertaining to the original termination of parental rights proceeding;

- c. The genetic parent whose rights are sought to be re-established is not named in any other active juvenile court case;
 - d. The child has not been adopted;
 - e. The child is not the subject of a written adoption placement agreement between the responsible social services agency and the prospective adoptive parent;
 - f. At least twelve months have elapsed following a final order terminating parental rights and the child remains in foster care;
 - g. The genetic parent has corrected the condition that led to the order terminating parental rights; and
 - h. The genetic parent is willing and has the capability to provide day-to-day care and maintain the health, safety, and welfare of the child.
3. In determining whether to grant a petition under this chapter, the court shall consider the child's age, maturity, and ability to express a preference and may consider the child's preference regarding the re-establishment as one factor, along with any other relevant factor.

Order re-establishing parental rights - Effect.

1. In granting a petition for re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship, the court shall enter its finding in a written order providing that from the date of the order of re-establishment of parental rights, the child is the child of the genetic parent whose rights were terminated and must be accorded all the same rights as existed before the order terminating parental rights, including inheritance rights. The order must include that all legal rights, powers, privileges, immunities, duties, and obligations to each other as genetic parent and child are re-established.
2. As of the effective date of a court order providing for the re-establishment of the legal parent and child relationship:
- a. The child is the legal child of the genetic parent;
 - b. The genetic parent whose rights were terminated under a previous order of the court is restored to the status of legal parent of the child and all rights, powers, privileges, immunities, duties, and obligations that were severed and terminated by the court under section 27-20.3-20 are restored;
 - c. The order placing the child under the care, custody, and control of the human service zone or division of juvenile services is terminated; and
 - d. Permanent legal and physical custody of the child is awarded to the genetic parent.
3. An order re-establishing the legal parent and child relationship as to one genetic parent of the child has no effect on:
- a. The legal rights of any other genetic parent whose rights to the child have been terminated by the court; or

- b. The legal sibling relationship between the child and any other children of the genetic parent.

Denial - Subsequent petitions.

If the court denies a petition under this chapter after a hearing, the court may issue a written order barring the filing of a subsequent petition by the genetic parent. The court shall provide the length of time the genetic parent is barred from filing a subsequent petition, make written findings in support of the order, and evaluate the best interests of the child.

Immediately upon receipt of the petition for an emergency conservator, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to advocate for the best interests of the estate of the person to be protected in the proceeding and any subsequent proceeding. CHAPTER 323

SENATE BILL NO. 2290

(Senators Dwyer, Sickler, Cleary)
(Representatives Klemin, Heinert, Schneider)

AN ACT to amend and reenact sections 32-03.2-01 and 32-03.2-11 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to when a court or jury may give exemplary damages.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENT. Section 32-03.2-01 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

32-03.2-01. Definition.

As used in this chapter, "fault":

1. "Fault" includes acts or omissions that are in any measure negligent or reckless toward the person or property of the actor or others, or that subject a person to tort liability or dram shop liability. The term also includes strict liability for product defect, breach of warranty, negligence or assumption of risk, misuse of a product for which the defendant otherwise would be liable, and failure to exercise reasonable care to avoid an injury or to mitigate damages. Legal requirements of causal relation apply both to fault as the basis for liability and to contributory fault.
2. "Malice" means:
 - a. A direct intention to injure another; or
 - b. A reckless disregard of the rights of another and any consequences.

SECTION 2. AMENDMENT. Section 32-03.2-11 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

32-03.2-11. When court or jury may give exemplary damages.

1. In any action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, when the defendant has been guilty by clear and convincing evidence of oppression, fraud, or ~~actual~~ malice, the court or jury, in addition to the actual damages, may give damages for the sake of example and by way of punishing the defendant. Upon commencement of the action, the complaint may not seek exemplary damages. After filing the suit, a party may make a motion to amend the pleadings to claim exemplary damages. The motion must allege an applicable legal basis for awarding exemplary damages and must be accompanied by one or more affidavits or deposition testimony showing the factual basis for the claim. The party opposing the motion may respond with affidavit or deposition testimony. If the court finds, after considering all submitted evidence, that there is sufficient evidence to support a finding by the trier of fact that a preponderance of the evidence proves oppression, fraud, or ~~actual~~ malice, the court shall grant the moving party permission to amend the pleadings to claim exemplary damages. For purposes of tolling the statute of limitations, pleadings amended under this section relate back to the time the action was commenced.

2. If either party so elects, the trier of fact shall first determine whether compensatory damages are to be awarded before addressing any issues related to exemplary damages. Evidence relevant only to the claim for exemplary damages is not admissible in the proceeding on liability for compensatory damages. If an award of compensatory damages has been made, the trier of fact shall determine whether exemplary damages are to be awarded.
3. Evidence of a defendant's financial condition or net worth is not admissible in the proceeding on exemplary damages.
4. If the trier of fact determines that exemplary damages are to be awarded, the amount of exemplary damages may not exceed two times the amount of compensatory damages or two hundred fifty thousand dollars, whichever is greater; provided, however, that no award of exemplary damages may be made if the claimant is not entitled to compensatory damages. In a jury trial, the jury may not be informed of the limit on damages contained in this subsection. Any jury award in excess of this limit must be reduced by the court.
5. In order for a party to recover exemplary damages, the finder of fact shall find by clear and convincing evidence that the amount of exemplary damages awarded is consistent with the following principles and factors:
 - a. Whether there is a reasonable relationship between the exemplary damage award claimed and the harm likely to result from the defendant's conduct as well as the harm that actually has occurred;
 - b. The degree of reprehensibility of the defendant's conduct and the duration of that conduct; and
 - c. Any of the following factors as to which evidence is presented:
 - (1) The defendant's awareness of and any concealment of the conduct;
 - (2) The profitability to the defendant of the wrongful conduct and the desirability of removing that profit and of having the defendant also sustain a loss; and
 - (3) Criminal sanctions imposed on the defendant for the same conduct that is the basis for the exemplary damage claim, these to be taken into account if offered in mitigation of the exemplary damage award.
6. Exemplary damages may not be awarded against a manufacturer or seller if the product's manufacture, design, formulation, inspection, testing, packaging, labeling, and warning complied with:
 - a. Federal statutes existing at the time the product was produced;

- b. Administrative regulations existing at the time the product was produced that were adopted by an agency of the federal government which had responsibility to regulate the safety of the product or to establish safety standards for the product pursuant to a federal statute; or
 - c. Premarket approval or certification by an agency of the federal government.
7. The defense in subsection 6 does not apply if the plaintiff proves by clear and convincing evidence that the product manufacturer or product seller:
- a. Knowingly and in violation of applicable agency regulations withheld or misrepresented information required to be submitted to the agency, which information was material and relevant to the harm in question; or
 - b. Made an illegal payment to an official of the federal agency for the purpose of securing approval of the product.
8. Exemplary damages may be awarded against a principal because of an act by an agent only if at least one of the following is proved by clear and convincing evidence to be true:
- a. The principal or a managerial agent authorized the doing and manner of the act;
 - b. The agent was unfit and the principal or a managerial agent was reckless in employing or retaining the agent;
 - c. The agent was employed in a managerial capacity and was acting in the scope of employment; or
 - d. The principal or managerial agent ratified or approved the doing and manner of the act.
9. In a civil action involving a motor vehicle accident resulting in bodily injury, it is sufficient for the trier of fact to consider an award of exemplary damages against the driver under the motion procedures provided in subsection 1 if clear and convincing evidence indicates that the accident was caused by a driver who, within the five years immediately preceding the accident has been convicted for violation of section 39-08-01 and who was operating or in physical control of a motor vehicle:
- a. With an alcohol concentration of at least eight one-hundredths of one percent by weight;
 - b. Under the influence of a controlled substance unless a drug that predominantly caused impairment was used only as directed or cautioned by a practitioner who legally prescribed or dispensed the drug to the driver;
 - c. Under the influence of alcohol and refused to take a test required under chapter 39-20; or
 - d. Under the influence of a volatile chemical as listed in section 19-03.1-22.1.

At the trial in an action in which the trier of fact will consider an award of exemplary damages, evidence that the driver has been convicted of violating section 39-08-01 or an equivalent statute or ordinance is admissible into evidence.

5. Unless displaced by a particular provision of this chapter, the principles of law and equity supplement this chapter.

32-10.1-04. Power of court.

The court that appoints a receiver under this chapter has exclusive jurisdiction to direct the receiver and determine any controversy related to the receivership or receivership property.

32-10.1-05. Appointment of receiver.1. The court may appoint a receiver:

a. Before judgment, to protect a party that demonstrates an apparent right, title, or interest in real property that is the subject of the action, if the property or its revenue-producing potential:

(1) Is being subjected to or is in danger of waste, loss, dissipation, or impairment; or

(2) Has been or is about to be the subject of a voidable transaction;

b. After judgment:

(1) To carry the judgment into effect; or

(2) To preserve nonexempt real property pending appeal or when an execution has been returned unsatisfied and the owner refuses to apply the property in satisfaction of the judgment;

c. In an action in which a receiver for real property may be appointed on equitable grounds; or

d. During the time allowed for redemption, to preserve real property sold in an execution or foreclosure sale and secure its rents to the person entitled to the rents.

2. In connection with the foreclosure or other enforcement of a mortgage, the court may appoint a receiver for the mortgaged property if:

a. Appointment is necessary to protect the property from waste, loss, transfer, dissipation, or impairment;

b. The mortgagor agreed in a signed record to appointment of a receiver on default;

c. The owner agreed, after default and in a signed record, to appointment of a receiver;

d. The property and any other collateral held by the mortgagee are not sufficient to satisfy the secured obligation;

e. The owner fails to turn over to the mortgagee proceeds or rents the mortgagee was entitled to collect; or

f. The holder of a subordinate lien obtains appointment of a receiver for the property.

3. The court may condition appointment of a receiver without prior notice under subdivision a of subsection 2 of section 32-10.1-02 or without a prior hearing under subdivision b of subsection 2 of section 32-10.1-02 on the giving of security by the person seeking the appointment for the payment of damages, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs incurred or suffered by any person if the court later concludes the appointment was not justified. If the court later concludes the appointment was justified, the court shall release the security.

32-10.1-06. Disqualification from appointment as receiver - Disclosure of interest.

1. The court may not appoint a person as receiver unless the person submits a statement to the court under penalty of perjury that the person is not disqualified.

 - a. Is an affiliate of a party;
 - b. Has an interest materially adverse to an interest of a party;
 - c. Has a material financial interest in the outcome of the action, other than compensation the court may allow the receiver;
 - d. Has a debtor-creditor relationship with a party; or
 - e. Holds an equity interest in a party, other than a noncontrolling interest in a publicly traded company.
3. A person is not disqualified from appointment as receiver because the person:
 - a. Was appointed receiver or is owed compensation in an unrelated matter involving a party or was engaged by a party in a matter unrelated to the receivership;
 - b. Is an individual obligated to a party on a debt that is not in default and was incurred primarily for personal, family, or household purposes; or
 - c. Maintains with a party a deposit account as defined under section 41-09-02.
4. A person seeking appointment of a receiver may nominate a person to serve as receiver, but the court is not bound by the nomination.

32-10.1-07. Receiver's bond - Alternative security.

1. Except as provided under subsection 2, a receiver shall post a bond with the court which:
 - a. Is conditioned on the faithful discharge of the receiver's duties;
 - b. Has one or more sureties approved by the court;
 - c. Is in an amount the court specifies; and

- d. Is effective as of the date of the receiver's appointment.
2. The court may approve the posting by a receiver with the court of alternative security, including a letter of credit or deposit of funds. The receiver may not use receivership property as alternative security. Interest that accrues on deposited funds must be paid to the receiver on the receiver's discharge.
3. The court may authorize a receiver to act before the receiver posts the bond or alternative security required by this section.
4. A claim against a receiver's bond or alternative security must be made not later than twelve months after the date the receiver is discharged.

32-10.1-08. Status of receiver as lien creditor.

On appointment of a receiver, the receiver has the status of a lien creditor under:

1. Chapter 41-09 as to receivership property that is personal property or fixtures; and
2. Chapter 47-19 as to receivership property that is real property.

32-10.1-09. Security agreement covering after-acquired property.

32-10.1-10. Collection and turnover of receivership property.

1. Unless the court orders otherwise, on demand by a receiver:
 - a. A person that owes a debt that is receivership property and is matured or payable on demand or on order shall pay the debt to or on the order of the receiver, except to the extent the debt is subject to setoff or recoupment; and
 - b. Subject to subsection 3, a person that has possession, custody, or control of receivership property shall turn the property over to the receiver.
2. A person that has notice of the appointment of a receiver and owes a debt that is receivership property may not satisfy the debt by payment to the owner.
3. If a creditor has possession, custody, or control of receivership property and the validity, perfection, or priority of the creditor's lien on the property depends on the creditor's possession, custody, or control, the creditor may retain possession, custody, or control until the court orders adequate protection of the creditor's lien.
4. Unless a bona fide dispute exists about a receiver's right to possession, custody, or control of receivership property, the court may sanction a person's failure to turn the property over when required by this section as civil contempt.

32-10.1-11. Powers and duties of receiver.

1. Except as limited by court order or any other provision of law, a receiver may:
 - a. Collect, control, manage, conserve, and protect receivership property;
 - b. Operate a business constituting receivership property, including preservation, use, sale, lease, license, exchange, collection, or disposition of the property in the ordinary course of business;

 - g. Engage a professional under section 32-10.1-14;
 - h. Apply to a court of another state for appointment as ancillary receiver with respect to receivership property located in that state; and
 - i. Exercise any power conferred by court order, this chapter, or any other provision of law.
2. With court approval, a receiver may:
 - a. Incur debt for the use or benefit of receivership property other than in the ordinary course of business;
 - b. Make improvements to receivership property;
 - c. Use or transfer receivership property other than in the ordinary course of business under section 32-10.1-15;
 - d. Adopt or reject an executory contract of the owner under section 32-10.1-16;

 - f. Recommend allowance or disallowance of a claim of a creditor under section 32-10.1-19; and
 - g. Make a distribution of receivership property under section 32-10.1-19.
3. A receiver shall:

- a. Prepare and retain appropriate business records, including a record of each receipt, disbursement, and disposition of receivership property;
 - b. Account for receivership property, including the proceeds of a sale, lease, license, exchange, collection, or other disposition of the property;
 - c. File with the county recorder wherein the property is located a copy of the order appointing the receiver and, if a legal description of the real property is not included in the order, the legal description;
 - d. Disclose to the court any fact arising during the receivership which would disqualify the receiver under section 32-10.1-06; and
 - e. Perform any duty imposed by court order, this chapter, or any other provision of law.
4. The powers and duties of a receiver may be expanded, modified, or limited by court order.

32-10.1-12. Duties of owner.

1. An owner shall:
 - a. Assist and cooperate with the receiver in the administration of the receivership and the discharge of the receiver's duties;
 - b. Preserve and turn over to the receiver all receivership property in the owner's possession, custody, or control;
 - c. Identify all records and other information relating to the receivership property, including a password, authorization, or other information needed to obtain or maintain access to or control of the receivership property, and make available to the receiver the records and information in the owner's possession, custody, or control;
 - d. On subpoena, submit to examination under oath by the receiver concerning the acts, conduct, property, liabilities, and financial condition of the owner or any matter relating to the receivership property or the receivership; and
 - e. Perform any duty imposed by court order, this chapter, or any other provision of law.
2. If an owner is a person other than an individual, this section applies to each officer, director, manager, member, partner, trustee, or other person exercising or having the power to exercise control over the affairs of the owner.
3. If a person knowingly fails to perform a duty imposed by this section, the court may:
 - a. Award the receiver actual damages caused by the person's failure, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs; and
 - b. Sanction the failure as civil contempt.

32-10.1-13. Stay - Injunction.

1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 4 or ordered by the court, an order appointing a receiver operates as a stay, applicable to all persons, of an act, action, or proceeding:
 - a. To obtain possession of, exercise control over, or enforce a judgment against receivership property; and
 - b. To enforce a lien against receivership property to the extent the lien secures a claim against the owner which arose before entry of the order.
2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 4, the court may enjoin an act, action, or proceeding against or relating to receivership property if the injunction is necessary to protect the property or facilitate administration of the receivership.
3. A person whose act, action, or proceeding is stayed or enjoined under this section may apply to the court for relief from the stay or injunction for cause.
4. An order under subsection 1 or 2 does not operate as a stay or injunction of:
 - a. An act, action, or proceeding to foreclose or otherwise enforce a mortgage by the person seeking appointment of the receiver;
 - b. An act, action, or proceeding to perfect, or maintain or continue the perfection of, an interest in receivership property;
 - c. Commencement or continuation of a criminal proceeding;
 - d. Commencement or continuation of an action or proceeding, or enforcement of a judgment other than a money judgment in an action or proceeding, by a governmental unit to enforce its police or regulatory power; or
 - e. Establishment by a governmental unit of a tax liability against the owner or receivership property or an appeal of the liability.
5. The court may void an act that violates a stay or injunction under this section.
6. If a person knowingly violates a stay or injunction under this section, the court may:
 - a. Award actual damages caused by the violation, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs; and
 - b. Sanction the violation as civil contempt.

32-10.1-14. Engagement and compensation of professional.

1. With court approval, a receiver may engage an attorney, accountant, appraiser, auctioneer, broker, or other professional to assist the receiver in performing a duty or exercising a power of the receiver. The receiver shall disclose to the court:
 - a. The identity and qualifications of the professional;

- b. The scope and nature of the proposed engagement;
 - c. Any potential conflict of interest; and
 - d. The proposed compensation.
2. A person is not disqualified from engagement under this section because of the person's engagement by, representation of, or other relationship with the receiver, a creditor, or a party. This chapter does not prevent the receiver from serving in the receivership as an attorney, accountant, auctioneer, or broker when authorized by law.
3. A receiver or professional engaged under subsection 1 shall file with the court an itemized statement of the time spent, work performed, and billing rate of each person that performed the work and an itemized list of expenses. The receiver shall pay the amount approved by the court.

32-10.1-15. Use or transfer of receivership property not in ordinary course of business.

- 1. As used in this section, "good faith" means honesty in fact and the observance of reasonable commercial standards of fair dealing.
- 2. With court approval, a receiver may use receivership property other than in the ordinary course of business.
- 3. With court approval, a receiver may transfer receivership property other than in the ordinary course of business by sale, lease, license, exchange, or other disposition. Unless the agreement of sale provides otherwise, a sale under this section is free of a lien of the person that obtained appointment of the receiver, any subordinate lien, and any right of redemption but is subject to a senior lien.
- 4. A lien on receivership property which is extinguished by a transfer under subsection 3 attaches to the proceeds of the transfer with the same validity, perfection, and priority the lien had on the property immediately before the transfer, even if the proceeds are not sufficient to satisfy all obligations secured by the lien.
- 5. A transfer under subsection 3 may occur by means other than a public auction sale. A creditor holding a valid lien on the property to be transferred may purchase the property and offset against the purchase price part or all of the allowed amount secured by the lien, if the creditor tenders funds sufficient to satisfy in full the reasonable expenses of transfer and the obligation secured by any senior lien extinguished by the transfer.
- 6. A reversal or modification of an order approving a transfer under subsection 3 does not affect the validity of the transfer to a person that acquired the property in good faith or revive against the person any lien extinguished by the transfer, whether the person knew before the transfer of the request for reversal or modification, unless the court stayed the order before the transfer.

32-10.1-16. Executory contract.

- 1. As used in this section, "timeshare interest" means an interest having a duration of more than three years which grants its holder the right to use and occupy an accommodation, facility, or recreational site, whether improved or not, for a specific period less than a full year during any given year.

2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 8, with court approval, a receiver may adopt or reject an executory contract of the owner relating to receivership property. The court may condition the receiver's adoption and continued performance of the contract on terms appropriate under the circumstances. If the receiver does not request court approval to adopt or reject the contract within a reasonable time after the receiver's appointment, the receiver is deemed to have rejected the contract.
3. A receiver's performance of an executory contract before court approval under subsection 2 of its adoption or rejection is not an adoption of the contract and does not preclude the receiver from seeking approval to reject the contract.
4. A provision in an executory contract which requires or permits a forfeiture, modification, or termination of the contract because of the appointment of a receiver or the financial condition of the owner does not affect a receiver's power under subsection 2 to adopt the contract.
5. A receiver's right to possess or use receivership property pursuant to an executory contract terminates on rejection of the contract under subsection 2. Rejection is a breach of the contract effective immediately before appointment of the receiver. A claim for damages for rejection of the contract must be submitted by the later of:
 - a. The time set for submitting a claim in the receivership; or
 - b. Thirty days after the court approves the rejection.
6. If at the time a receiver is appointed, the owner has the right to assign an executory contract relating to receivership property under any other provision of law, the receiver may assign the contract with court approval.
7. If a receiver rejects under subsection 2 an executory contract for the sale of receivership property that is real property in possession of the purchaser or a real-property timeshare interest, the purchaser may:
 - a. Treat the rejection as a termination of the contract, and in that case the purchaser has a lien on the property for the recovery of any part of the purchase price the purchaser paid; or
 - b. Retain the purchaser's right to possession under the contract, and in that case the purchaser shall continue to perform all obligations arising under the contract and may offset any damages caused by nonperformance of an obligation of the owner after the date of the rejection, but the purchaser has no right or claim against other receivership property or the receiver on account of the damages.
8. A receiver may not reject an unexpired lease of real property under which the owner is the landlord if:
 - a. The tenant occupies the leased premises as the tenant's primary residence;
 - b. The receiver was appointed at the request of a person other than a mortgagee; or

c. The receiver was appointed at the request of a mortgagee and:

- (1) The lease is superior to the lien of the mortgage;
- (2) The tenant has an enforceable agreement with the mortgagee or the holder of a senior lien under which the tenant's occupancy will not be disturbed as long as the tenant performs its obligations under the lease;
- (3) The mortgagee has consented to the lease, either in a signed record or by its failure timely to object that the lease violated the mortgage; or
- (4) The terms of the lease were commercially reasonable at the time the lease was agreed to and the tenant did not know or have reason to know the lease violated the mortgage.

32-10.1-17. Defenses and immunities of receiver.

1. A receiver is entitled to all defenses and immunities provided by any other provision of law for an act or omission within the scope of the receiver's appointment.
2. A receiver may be sued personally for an act or omission in administering receivership property only with approval of the court that appointed the receiver.

32-10.1-18. Interim report of receiver.

A receiver may file or, if ordered by the court, shall file an interim report that includes:

1. The activities of the receiver since appointment or a previous report;
2. Receipts and disbursements, including a payment made or proposed to be made to a professional engaged by the receiver;
3. Receipts and dispositions of receivership property;
4. Fees and expenses of the receiver and, if not filed separately, a request for approval of payment of the fees and expenses; and
5. Any other information required by the court.

32-10.1-19. Notice of appointment - Claim against receivership - Distribution to creditors.

1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 6, a receiver shall give notice of appointment of the receiver to creditors of the owner by:
 - a. Deposit for delivery through first-class mail or other commercially reasonable delivery method to the last-known address of each creditor; and
 - b. Publication as directed by the court.

2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 6, the notice required under subsection 1 must specify the date by which each creditor holding a claim against the owner which arose before appointment of the receiver must submit the claim to the receiver. The date specified must be at least ninety days after the later of notice under subdivision a of subsection 1 or last publication under subdivision b of subsection 1. The court may extend the period for submitting the claim. Unless the court orders otherwise, a claim that is not submitted timely is not entitled to a distribution from the receivership.
3. A claim submitted by a creditor under this section must:
 - a. State the name and address of the creditor;
 - b. State the amount and basis of the claim;
 - c. Identify any property securing the claim;
 - d. Be signed by the creditor under penalty of perjury; and
 - e. Include a copy of any record on which the claim is based.
4. An assignment by a creditor of a claim against the owner is effective against the receiver only if the assignee gives timely notice of the assignment to the receiver in a signed record.
5. At any time before entry of an order approving a receiver's final report, the receiver may file with the court an objection to a claim of a creditor, stating the basis for the objection. The court shall allow or disallow the claim according to any other provision of law.
6. If the court concludes receivership property is likely to be insufficient to satisfy claims of each creditor holding a perfected lien on the property, the court may order that:
 - a. The receiver need not give notice under subsection 1 of the appointment to all creditors of the owner, but only such creditors as the court directs; and
 - b. Unsecured creditors need not submit claims under this section.
7. Subject to section 32-10.1-20:
 - a. A distribution of receivership property to a creditor holding a perfected lien on the property must be made in accordance with the creditor's priority under any other provision of law; and
 - b. A distribution of receivership property to a creditor with an allowed unsecured claim must be made as the court directs according to any other provision of law.

32-10.1-20. Fees and expenses.

1. The court may award a receiver from receivership property the reasonable and necessary fees and expenses of performing the duties of the receiver and exercising the powers of the receiver.

2. The court may order one or more of the following to pay the reasonable and necessary fees and expenses of the receivership, including reasonable attorney's fees and costs:
 - a. A person that requested the appointment of the receiver, if the receivership does not produce sufficient funds to pay the fees and expenses.
 - b. A person whose conduct justified or would have justified the appointment of the receiver under subdivision a of subsection 1 of section 32-10.1-05.

32-10.1-21. Removal of receiver - Replacement - Termination of receivership.

1. The court may remove a receiver for cause.
2. The court shall replace a receiver that dies, resigns, or is removed.
3. If the court finds that a receiver that resigns or is removed, or the representative of a receiver who is deceased, has accounted fully for and turned over to the successor receiver all receivership property and has filed a report of all receipts and disbursements during the service of the replaced receiver, the replaced receiver is discharged.
4. The court may discharge a receiver and terminate the court's administration of the receivership property if the court finds appointment of the receiver was improvident or the circumstances no longer warrant continuation of the receivership. If the court finds the appointment was sought wrongfully or in bad faith, the court may assess against the person that sought the appointment:
 - a. The fees and expenses of the receivership, including reasonable attorney's fees and costs; and
 - b. Actual damages caused by the appointment, including reasonable attorney's fees and costs.

32-10.1-22. Final report of receiver - Discharge.

1. On completion of a receiver's duties, the receiver shall file a final report that includes:
 - a. A description of the activities of the receiver in the conduct of the receivership;
 - b. A list of receivership property at the commencement of the receivership and any receivership property received during the receivership;
 - c. A list of disbursements, including payments to professionals engaged by the receiver;
 - d. A list of dispositions of receivership property;
 - e. A list of distributions made or proposed to be made from the receivership for creditor claims;
 - f. If not filed separately, a request for approval of the payment of fees and expenses of the receiver; and

- g. Any other information required by the court.
- 2. If the court approves a final report filed under subsection 1 and the receiver distributes all receivership property, the receiver is discharged.

32-10.1-23. Receivership in another state - Ancillary proceeding.

- 1. The court may appoint a receiver appointed in another state, or that person's nominee, as an ancillary receiver with respect to property located in this state or subject to the jurisdiction of the court for which a receiver could be appointed under this chapter, if:
 - a. The person or nominee would be eligible to serve as receiver under section 32-10.1-06; and
 - b. The appointment furthers the person's possession, custody, control, or disposition of property subject to the receivership in the other state.
- 2. The court may issue an order that gives effect to an order entered in another state appointing or directing a receiver.
- 3. Unless the court orders otherwise, an ancillary receiver appointed under subsection 1 has the rights, powers, and duties of a receiver appointed under this chapter.

32-10.1-24. Effect of enforcement by mortgagee.

- 1. A request by a mortgagee for appointment of a receiver, the appointment of a receiver, or application by a mortgagee of receivership property or proceeds to the secured obligation does not:
 - a. Make the mortgagee a mortgagee in possession of the real property;
 - b. Make the mortgagee an agent of the owner;
 - c. Constitute an election of remedies that precludes a later action to enforce the secured obligation;
 - d. Make the secured obligation unenforceable;
 - e. Limit any right available to the mortgagee with respect to the secured obligation; or
 - f. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, bar a deficiency judgment in accordance with any other provision of law governing or relating to a deficiency judgment.
- 2. If a receiver sells receivership property that under subsection 3 of section 32-10.1-15 is free of a lien, the ability of a creditor to enforce an obligation that had been secured by the lien is subject to the law of this state other than this chapter relating to a deficiency judgment.

32-10.1-25. Uniformity of application and construction.

In applying and construing this chapter, a court shall consider the promotion of uniformity of the law among states that enact it.

32-10.1-26. Relation to Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act.

This chapter modifies, limits, or supersedes the Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act [15 U.S.C. Section 7001 et seq.], but does not modify, limit, or supersede section 101(c) of that act, [15 U.S.C. Section 7001(c)], or authorize electronic delivery of any of the notices described in section 103(b) of that act, [15 U.S.C. Section 7003(b)].

SECTION 2. A new section to chapter 32-19.2 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Applicability.

This chapter does not apply to a commercial real estate receivership under chapter 32-10.1.

SECTION 3. LEGISLATIVE MANAGEMENT STUDY - RECEIVER. AN ACT to amend and reenact sections 32-12.1-03 and 32-12.2-02 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to the statutory caps for liability of political subdivisions and the state; and to provide an effective date.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENT. Section 32-12.1-03 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

32-12.1-03. Liability of political subdivisions - Limitations. (Effective through July 31, 2027June 30, 2026)

1. Each political subdivision is liable for money damages for injuries when the injuries are proximately caused by the negligence or wrongful act or omission of any employee acting within the scope of the employee's employment or office under circumstances in which the employee would be personally liable to a claimant in accordance with the laws of this state, or injury caused from some condition or use of tangible property, real or personal, under circumstances in which the political subdivision, if a private person, would be liable to the claimant. The enactment of a law, rule, regulation, or ordinance to protect any person's health, safety, property, or welfare does not create a duty of care on the part of the political subdivision, its employees, or its agents, if that duty would not otherwise exist.
2. The liability of political subdivisions under this chapter is limited to a total of ~~three hundred seventy-five thousand~~four hundred sixty-eight thousand seven hundred fifty dollars per person and one million ~~eight hundred seventy-five thousand~~ dollars for any number of claims arising from any single occurrence regardless of the number of political subdivisions, or employees of such political subdivisions, which are involved in that occurrence. A political subdivision may not be held liable, or be ordered to indemnify an employee held liable, for punitive or exemplary damages. ~~The liability limits under this subsection must be adjusted annually as follows:~~
 - a. ~~On July 1, 2023, a total of four hundred six thousand two hundred and fifty dollars per person and one million six hundred twenty-five thousand dollars for any single occurrence.~~
 - b. ~~On July 1, 2024, a total of four hundred thirty seven thousand five hundred dollars per person and one million seven hundred fifty thousand dollars for any single occurrence.~~
 - c. ~~On July 1, 2025, a total of four hundred sixty eight thousand seven hundred fifty dollars per person and one million eight hundred seventy-five thousand dollars per occurrence.~~

- d. ~~On July 1, 2026, a total of five hundred thousand dollars per person and two million dollars per occurrence.~~
- 3. A political subdivision or a political subdivision employee may not be held liable under this chapter for any of the following claims:
 - a. A claim based upon an act or omission of a political subdivision employee exercising due care in the execution of a valid or invalid statute or regulation.
 - b. The decision to undertake or the refusal to undertake any legislative or quasi-legislative act, including the decision to adopt or the refusal to adopt any statute, charter, ordinance, order, regulation, resolution, or resolve.
 - c. The decision to undertake or the refusal to undertake any judicial or quasi-judicial act, including the decision to grant, to grant with conditions, to refuse to grant, or to revoke any license, permit, order, or other administrative approval or denial.
 - d. The decision to perform or the refusal to exercise or perform a discretionary function or duty, whether or not such discretion is abused and whether or not the statute, charter, ordinance, order, resolution, regulation, or resolve under which the discretionary function or duty is performed is valid or invalid.
 - e. Injury directly or indirectly caused by a person who is not employed by the political subdivision.
 - f. A claim relating to injury directly or indirectly caused by the performance or nonperformance of a public duty, including:
 - (1) Inspecting, licensing, approving, mitigating, warning, abating, or failing to so act regarding compliance with or the violation of any law, rule, regulation, or any condition affecting health or safety.
 - (2) Enforcing, monitoring, or failing to enforce or monitor conditions of sentencing, parole, probation, or juvenile supervision.
 - (3) Providing or failing to provide law enforcement services in the ordinary course of a political subdivision's law enforcement operations.
 - (4) Providing or failing to provide fire protection services in the ordinary course of a political subdivision's fire protection operations.
 - g. "Public duty" does not include action of the political subdivision or a political subdivision employee under circumstances in which a special relationship can be established between the political subdivision and the injured party. A special relationship is demonstrated if all of the following elements exist:
 - (1) Direct contact between the political subdivision and the injured party.
 - (2) An assumption by the political subdivision, by means of promises or actions, of an affirmative duty to act on behalf of the party who allegedly was injured.

- (3) Knowledge on the part of the political subdivision that inaction of the political subdivision could lead to harm.
 - (4) The injured party's justifiable reliance on the political subdivision's affirmative undertaking, occurrence of the injury while the injured party was under the direct control of the political subdivision, or the political subdivision action increases the risk of harm.
4. This chapter does not obligate political subdivisions for an amount that is more than the limitations upon liability imposed by this chapter. Subject to this chapter, any payments to persons constitute payment in full of any compromised claim or judgment or any final judgment under this chapter.
 5. Notwithstanding this chapter, a political subdivision or its insurance carrier is not liable for any claim arising out of the conduct of a ridesharing arrangement, as defined in section 8-02-07.
 6. A political subdivision is not liable for any claim based on an act or omission in the designation, repair, operation, or maintenance of a minimum maintenance road if that designation has been made in accordance with sections 24-07-35 through 24-07-37 and if the road has been maintained at a level to serve occasional and intermittent traffic.
 7. Any party to an action against a political subdivision or a political subdivision employee acting within the scope of employment as defined in this chapter shall comply with applicable rules of civil procedure when requesting documents or other information in the possession or control of the political subdivision.

32-12.2-02. Liability of the state - Limitations - Statute of limitations.

No claim may be brought against the state or a state employee acting within the employee's scope of employment except a claim authorized under this chapter or otherwise authorized by the legislative assembly. The enactment of a law, rule, or regulation to protect any person's health, safety, property, or welfare does not create a duty of care on the part of the state, its employees, or its agents, if that duty would not otherwise exist.

- g. "Public duty" does not include action of the state or a state employee under circumstances in which a special relationship can be established between the state and the injured party. A special relationship is demonstrated if all of the following elements exist:
- (1) Direct contact between the state and the injured party.

SENATE BILL NO. 2335

(Senators Magrum, Dwyer, Paulson)

AN ACT to create and enact a new section to chapter 38-11.1 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to pretrial appraisals; and to amend and reenact section 38-11.1-09 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to the recovery of attorney's fees in an action relating to oil and gas production.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. A new section to chapter 38-11.1 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Pretrial appraisal required before commencement of action to recover compensation.

1. As used in this section, "certified appraiser" has the same meaning as in section 43-23.3-01.
2. Before commencing a legal action to recover compensation, a person entitled to compensation shall obtain a written appraisal valuing all parcels affected or foreseeably affected by drilling operations under this chapter. A certified appraiser, an individual possessing a temporary permit under section 43-23.3-11, or an individual possessing a permit under section 43-23.3-04.1 shall conduct the required appraisal.
3. Before a court may take jurisdiction over an action commenced under this chapter, a person seeking compensation under this chapter must have provided to a mineral developer a copy of an appraisal issued under subsection 2. The mineral developer may make a new offer for settlement to the surface owner within thirty days of receiving the appraisal. If a new offer is made under this subsection, the amount of the new offer serves as the offer contemplated under section 38-11.1-09.
4. The mineral developer shall reimburse the reasonable actual costs of the required appraisal incurred by the surface owner for obtaining a required appraisal under this section or, at the election of the surface owner, the mineral developer shall pay the reasonable actual costs directly to the appraiser.
5. The required appraisal or opinion of value expressed in the required appraisal is inadmissible at a proceeding commenced under this chapter, unless the information is offered by the surface owner. Whether an appraisal is issued under this section does not require or prohibit the introduction of specific evidence offered at a proceeding commenced under this chapter.

CHAPTER 347

HOUSE BILL NO. 1459

(Representatives D. Anderson, Berg, Bosch, Mitskog, Novak, O'Brien, J. Olson, Porter, Lefor)
(Senators Hogue, Marcellais, Patten)

AN ACT to create and enact a new section to chapter 38-12 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to critical minerals and rare earth minerals and royalties; to amend and reenact sections 38-12-01 and 47-10-24 of the North Dakota Century Code, relating to the definitions of critical minerals and rare earth minerals and descriptions and definitions of minerals in leases and conveyances; and to provide for retroactive application.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENT. Section 38-12-01 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

38-12-01. Definitions.

As used in this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

1. "Commission" means the industrial commission of the state of North Dakota.
2. "Critical mineral" means a nonfuel mineral or material essential to the economic or national security of the United States and which has a supply chain vulnerable to disruption. The term includes aluminum, antimony, arsenic, astatine, barite, bauxite, beryllium, bismuth, cerium, cesium, chromium, cobalt, erbium, fluorspar, friezium, gallium, germanium, graphite, hafnium, helium, indium, lithium, magnesium, manganese, neodymium, niobium, platinum group metals, potash, the rare earth elements group, rhenium, rubidium, samarium, scandium, stralium, strontium, tantalum, tellurium, thulium, tin, titanium, tungsten, uranium, vanadium, and zirconium which are chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within a coal seam or coal deposit.
3. "Extraction facility" means any well or mine or other extractive process operated for the purpose of recovering subsurface minerals.
- ~~3-4.~~ "Operator" means any person who, duly authorized, is in charge of the development of a lease or the operation of a producing property.
- ~~4-5.~~ "Owner" means the person who has the right to explore for, develop, and produce subsurface minerals and to appropriate the subsurface minerals the owner produces either for the owner or for the owner and others.
- ~~5-6.~~ "Person" means and includes any natural person, corporation, limited liability company, association, partnership, receiver, trustee, executor, administrator, guardian, fiduciary, or other representative of any kind, and includes any department, agency, or instrumentality of the state or of any governmental subdivision thereof; the masculine gender, in referring to a person, includes the feminine and the neuter genders.

- 6-7. "Producer" means the owner of an extraction facility which is or has been capable of producing subsurface minerals.
- 7-8. "Rare earth minerals" means any of a series of metallic elements of which the oxides are classed as rare earths and which include the elements of the lanthanide series, yttrium, and scandium which are chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within a coal seam or coal deposit.
9. "Subsurface minerals" means all naturally occurring elements and their compounds, volcanic ash, precious metals, carbonates, and natural mineral salts of boron, bromine, calcium, fluorine, iodine, lithium, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, sodium, thorium, uranium, and sulfur, and their compounds, but does not include sand and gravel and rocks crushed for sand and gravel.

SECTION 2. A new section to chapter 38-12 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Declaration of policy for critical minerals and rare earth minerals.

1. It is in the public interest of the state of North Dakota, its citizens, and the United States to encourage, accelerate, and promote the development, production, and utilization of critical minerals and rare earth minerals in a manner that prevents waste, allows a greater ultimate recovery of these natural resources, and protects the rights of owners so the greatest possible economic recovery of these resources may be obtained in this state and landowners, producers, and the general public may enjoy the greatest possible good from these resources.
2. The legislative assembly acknowledges the public interest to foster, encourage, and promote the development, production, and utilization of all natural resources of coal, and the public interest is served by the preservation of existing coal conversion facilities, which significantly contribute to the state economy and general public.
3. Development of critical minerals and rare earth minerals also may lead to significant economic benefits for owners, new jobs in mining, processing, and related industries, and contributions to the state economy. Many critical minerals and rare earth minerals are broadly and irregularly disseminated and chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within coal. Certain owners are unable to develop critical minerals and rare earth minerals because the minerals are contained within the coal seam or coal deposit, are covered by an existing mining permit, and are subject to the prior legal rights of the coal producer.
4. As reflected in federal policy, the legislative assembly recognizes critical minerals and rare earth minerals are fundamental to the economy, competitiveness, and security of the United States. The United States relies on foreign nations to supply these critical minerals and rare earth minerals to develop and manufacture medical devices, information technology, and equipment and technology for national defense, energy infrastructure, and other critical items. Domestic development and production of critical minerals and rare earth minerals is inadequate to meet the nation's needs. The United States must have a reliable, diversified, and affordable supply to drive medical manufacturing, transportation, agriculture, and defense industries and to sustain military preparedness, national security, and economic security.

5. This chapter provides potential for coal owners and critical mineral and rare earth mineral owners to obtain added value from the development of critical minerals and rare earth minerals extracted from coal. These critical minerals and rare earth minerals are chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within a coal seam or coal deposit and cannot otherwise be produced on their own without infringing on the working interests of the coal estate, without first mining the host mineral coal, or in an economic manner.
6. To the maximum extent practicable, the critical mineral and rare earth mineral needs of the United States should be satisfied by the vital natural resources responsibly produced in the United States. The legislative assembly finds it necessary to declare that the mining of coal in this state and a lease of coal in this state, whenever granted, must include the right to all critical minerals and rare earth minerals chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within the coal unless specifically excluded by the lease. A party is not obligated to mine, remove, or sell critical minerals or rare earth minerals from coal. The legislative assembly finds that because critical minerals and rare earth minerals are chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within a coal seam or coal deposit, and are not uniformly disseminated, production must be commingled and a royalty rate must be applied only if the minerals are extracted and sold. It is necessary to fulfill the public policy of this state by clarifying law related to this policy and the development of critical minerals and rare earth minerals.
7. Critical minerals and rare earth minerals occurring within or associated with coal-bearing formations, coal seams, or coal combustion residuals are part of the coal estate for purposes of ownership, leasing, taxation, and development unless expressly severed by recorded conveyance. To help facilitate the extraction and processing of critical minerals and rare earth minerals, the parties may amend an existing lease or agree to new terms for any lease if agreed to by both parties.
8. Coal ash and any coal gasification product, including all minerals, substances, compounds, byproducts, or elements contained therein which result from the combustion or gasification of coal in a coal conversion facility are the property of the owner or operator of the coal conversion facility. The owner or operator of a coal conversion facility may not be held liable for waste, conversion, destruction, or damages to any extent arising from the purchase, combustion, gasification, or sale of any minerals, substances, compounds, byproducts, or elements contained within the coal, coal ash, or products of coal.
9. For purposes of this section, "coal ash" includes fly ash, bottom ash, and boiler slag.
10. An operator shall pay any applicable mineral owner, according to each mineral owner's respective undivided ownership of coal mined within the applicable permit area during a calendar year, a royalty of no less than two and one-half percent of the gross proceeds from all critical minerals and rare earth minerals mined, removed, and sold during the extraction process. The royalty must be paid at least annually by March thirty-first of the following year. For purposes of this section, "gross proceeds" means the gross receipts received by an operator from any sale of critical minerals or rare earth minerals which constitutes an arms-length transaction.

SECTION 3. AMENDMENT. Section 47-10-24 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

47-10-24. Description and definition of minerals in leases and conveyances.

1. All conveyances of mineral rights or royalties in real property in this state, excluding leases, ~~shall must~~ be construed to grant or convey to the grantee ~~thereof~~ all minerals of any nature whatsoever except those minerals specifically excluded by name in the deed, grant, or conveyance, and their compounds and byproducts, but ~~shall may~~ not be construed to grant or convey to the grantee any interest in any gravel, clay, or scoria unless specifically included by name in the deed, grant, or conveyance.

~~No~~

2. Except as provided in subsection 3, a lease of mineral rights in this state ~~shall may not~~ be construed as passing any interest to any minerals except those minerals specifically included and set forth by name in the lease. For the purposes of this ~~paragraph~~section, the naming of either a specific metalliferous element, or nonmetalliferous element, and if so stated in lease, ~~shall be~~ is deemed to include all of its compounds and byproducts, and in the case of oil and gas, all associated hydrocarbons produced in a liquid or gaseous form so named ~~shall must~~ be deemed to be included in the mineral named. ~~The~~Except as provided in subsection 3, the use of the words "all other minerals" or similar words of an all-inclusive nature in any lease ~~shall may~~ not be construed as leasing any minerals except those minerals specifically named in the lease and their compounds and byproducts.
3. As provided under section 2 of this Act, a lease of coal in this state whenever granted is deemed to include all critical minerals and rare earth minerals chemically bound, embedded, commingled, included, or contained within a coal seam or coal deposit unless specifically excluded from the lease of coal.

SECTION 4. RETROACTIVE APPLICATION. This Act is retroactive in application.

A temporary registration permit obtained from the department of transportation or a licensed motor vehicle dealer must be displayed on the rear window, the rearmost driver's side window, or in the location of the rear license plate. The temporary registration permit must be clearly visible and free of any obstructions. All vehicle license plates issued by the department are the property of the department for the period for which the plates are valid. An annual registration tab or sticker for the current registration year must be displayed on each number plate, in the area designated by the department for the tab or sticker, in those years for which tabs or stickers are issued in lieu of number plates.

To reduce highway accidents at night all number plates and temporary registration permits must be legible for a minimum distance of one hundred feet [30.48 meters] to an approaching motorist by day or night with lawful headlight beams and without other illumination. Each plate must be treated with a reflectorized material according to the specifications prescribed by the department. If the number plate has become lost, stolen, or mutilated, the transferor may apply for duplicate plates. The department may establish procedures that permit the transferor to assign the credit to the transferee if the transferor is the spouse, a sibling, or a lineal ancestor or descendant of the transferee. Any remaining credit on a vehicle owned by a leasing company must be credited to the lessee. One-twelfth of the annual fee must be credited for each month of the registration period remaining after the month in which the transfer is made. The credit may not extend beyond the original expiration of the registration. Except as provided in section 39-04-44, the credit must be applied to the registration fees for a replacement vehicle. The transferor shall apply for the transfer of registration within thirty days of the purchase of the replacement vehicle.

3. Except as otherwise permitted in this chapter, before the transferee of a registered vehicle may operate the vehicle on a highway, the transferee must apply for and obtain a new registration of the vehicle, as on an original registration. To provide the transferee adequate time to obtain a new registration, the director may provide for the issuance of a temporary registration certificate to permit the transferee to operate the vehicle for thirtyseventy-five days after the date of acquisition. ~~The certificate must be printed on the reverse side of each vehicle registration card and must be available to the transferee from licensed vehicle dealers, law enforcement agencies, and motor vehicle branch offices.~~ The vehicle may be operated for five days from date of purchase without a plate or certificate of ownership if dated evidence of ownership is carried in the vehicle. - b. The commission shall defend any member, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission in any civil action seeking to impose liability arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, or that the individual against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities. This subdivision may not be construed to prohibit that individual from retaining counsel or that the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from that individual's intentional, willful, or wanton misconduct.
- c. The commission shall indemnify and hold harmless any member, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission for the amount of any settlement or judgment obtained against that individual arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, or that the individual had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, provided the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from the intentional, willful, or wanton misconduct of that individual.

5. Member states contributing information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the contributing state.
6. Any information submitted to the data system that is subsequently required to be expunged by the laws of the member state contributing the information must be removed from the data system.

43-40.1-10. Rulemaking.

1. The commission shall exercise its rulemaking powers pursuant to the criteria set forth in this section and the rules adopted thereunder. Rules and amendments become binding as of the date specified in each rule or amendment.
2. The commission shall adopt rules in order to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the commission exercises its rulemaking authority in a manner beyond the scope of the purposes of the compact, or the powers granted under the compact, then the action by the commission is invalid and has no force and effect.
3. If a majority of the legislatures of the member states rejects a rule, by enactment of a statute or resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within four years of the date of adoption of the rule, the rule has no further force and effect in any member state.
4. Rules or amendments to the rules must be adopted at a regular or special meeting of the commission.

5. Before adoption of a final rule by the commission, and at least thirty days in advance of the meeting at which the rule will be considered and voted upon, the commission shall file a notice of proposed rulemaking:
 - a. On the website of the commission or other publicly accessible platform; and
 - b. On the website of each member state occupational therapy licensing board or other publicly accessible platform or the publication in which each state would otherwise publish proposed rules.
6. The notice of proposed rulemaking must include:
 - a. The proposed time, date, and location of the meeting in which the rule will be considered and voted on;
 - b. The text of the proposed rule or amendment and the reason for the proposed rule;
 - c. A request for comments on the proposed rule from any interested person; and
 - d. The manner in which interested persons may submit notice to the commission of their intention to attend the public hearing and any written comments.
7. Before adoption of a proposed rule, the commission shall allow an individual to submit written data, facts, opinions, and arguments, which must be made available to the public.
8. The commission shall grant an opportunity for a public hearing before the commission adopts a rule or amendment if a hearing is requested by:
 - a. At least twenty-five individuals;
 - b. A state or federal governmental subdivision or agency; or
 - c. An association or organization having at least twenty-five members.
9. If a hearing is held on the proposed rule or amendment, the commission shall publish the place, time, and date of the scheduled public hearing. If the hearing is held through electronic means, the commission shall publish the mechanism for access to the electronic hearing.
 - a. Any individual wishing to be heard at the hearing shall notify the executive director of the commission or other designated member in writing of their desire to appear and testify at the hearing not less than five business days before the scheduled date of the hearing.
 - b. Hearings must be conducted in a manner providing an individual who wishes to comment a fair and reasonable opportunity to comment orally or in writing.
 - c. All hearings must be recorded. A copy of the recording must be made available on request.

- d. This section may not be construed to require a separate hearing on each rule. Rules may be grouped for the convenience of the commission at hearings required by this section.
- 10. Following the scheduled hearing date, or by the close of business on the scheduled hearing date if the hearing was not held, the commission shall consider all written and oral comments received.
- 11. If written notice of intent to attend the public hearing by interested parties is not received, the commission may proceed with adoption of the proposed rule without a public hearing.
- 12. The commission shall, by majority vote of all members, take final action on the proposed rule and determine the effective date of the rule, if any, based on the rulemaking record and the full text of the rule.
- 13. Upon determination that an emergency exists, the commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule without prior notice, opportunity for comment, or hearing, provided the usual rulemaking procedures provided in the compact and in this section must be retroactively applied to the rule as soon as reasonably possible, in no event later than ninety days after the effective date of the rule. For purposes of this provision, an emergency rule is one that must be adopted immediately in order to:
 - a. Meet an imminent threat to public health, safety, or welfare;
 - b. Prevent a loss of commission or member state funds;
 - c. Meet a deadline for the promulgation of an administrative rule that is established by federal law or rule; or
 - d. Protect public health and safety.
- 14. The commission or an authorized committee of the commission may direct revisions to a previously adopted rule or amendment for purposes of correcting typographical errors, errors in format, errors in consistency, or grammatical errors. Public notice of any revisions must be posted on the website of the commission. The revision is subject to challenge by any individual for a period of thirty days after posting. The revision may be challenged only on grounds that the revision results in a material change to a rule. A challenge must be made in writing and delivered to the chair of the commission before the end of the notice period. If a challenge is not made, the revision will take effect without further action. If the revision is challenged, the revision may not take effect without the approval of the commission.

43-40.1-11. Oversight, dispute resolution, and enforcement.

1. Oversight.

- a. The executive, legislative, and judicial branches of state government in each member state shall enforce this compact and take all actions necessary and appropriate to effectuate the compact's purposes and intent. The provisions of this compact and the rules adopted hereunder have standing as statutory law.

- b. All courts shall take judicial notice of the compact and the rules in any judicial or administrative proceeding in a member state pertaining to the subject matter of this compact which may affect the powers, responsibilities, or actions of the commission.
 - c. The commission is entitled to receive service of process in any such proceeding, and has standing to intervene in such a proceeding for all purposes. Failure to provide service of process to the commission renders a judgment or order void as to the commission, this compact, or adopted rules.
2. Default, technical assistance, and termination.
- a. If the commission determines a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under this compact or the adopted rules, the commission shall:
 - (1) Provide written notice to the defaulting state and other member states of the nature of the default, the proposed means of curing the default, and any other action to be taken by the commission; and
 - (2) Provide remedial training and specific technical assistance regarding the default.
 - b. If a state in default fails to cure the default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the member states, and all rights, privileges, and benefits conferred by this compact may be terminated on the effective date of termination. A cure of the default does not relieve the offending state of obligations or liabilities incurred during the period of default.
 - c. Termination of membership in the compact must be imposed only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. Notice of intent to suspend or terminate must be given by the commission to the governor, the majority and minority leaders of the defaulting state's legislature, and each of the member states.
 - d. A state that has been terminated is responsible for all assessments, obligations, and liabilities incurred through the effective date of termination, including obligations that extend beyond the effective date of termination.
 - e. The commission may not incur any costs related to a state that is found to be in default or has been terminated from the compact, unless agreed on in writing between the commission and the defaulting state.
 - f. The defaulting state may appeal the action of the commission by petitioning the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission has its principal offices. The prevailing member must be awarded all costs of litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees.
3. Dispute resolution.

- a. Upon request by a member state, the commission shall attempt to resolve disputes related to the compact that arise among member states and between member and nonmember states.
 - b. The commission shall adopt a rule providing for both mediation and binding dispute resolution for disputes as appropriate.
4. Enforcement.
- a. The commission, in the reasonable exercise of its discretion, shall enforce the provisions and rules of this compact.
 - b. By majority vote, the commission may initiate legal action in the United States district court for the District of Columbia, or the federal district where the commission has its principal offices, against a member state in default to enforce compliance with the provisions of the compact and its rules and bylaws. The relief sought may include injunctive relief and damages. If judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing member must be awarded all costs of litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees.
 - c. The remedies herein are not the exclusive remedies of the commission. The commission may pursue any other remedies available under federal or state law.

43-40.1-12. Date of implementation of the interstate compact for occupational therapy practice and associated rules, withdrawal, and amendment.

1. The compact becomes effective on the date the compact statute is enacted into law in the tenth member state. The provisions, which become effective at that time, are limited to the powers granted to the commission relating to assembly and the adoption of rules. Thereafter, the commission shall meet and exercise rulemaking powers necessary to the implementation and administration of the compact.
2. Any state that joins the compact subsequent to the commission's initial adoption of the rules is subject to the rules as they exist on the date the compact becomes law in that state. Any rule that has been previously adopted by the commission has the full force and effect of law on the day the compact becomes law in that state.
3. Any member state may withdraw from this compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact.
 - a. A member state's withdrawal may not take effect until six months after enactment of the repealing statute.
 - b. Withdrawal may not affect the continuing requirement of the withdrawing state's occupational therapy licensing board to comply with the investigative and adverse action reporting requirements of this compact before the effective date of withdrawal.
4. The compact may not be construed to invalidate or prevent any occupational therapy licensure agreement or other cooperative arrangement between a member state and a nonmember state which does not conflict with the provisions of this compact.

5. This compact may be amended by the member states. An amendment to this compact may not become effective and binding on any member state until the amendment is enacted into the laws of all member states.

43-40.1-13. Construction and severability.

This compact must be liberally construed to effectuate the purposes of the compact. The provisions of this compact are severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence, or provision of this compact is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any member state or of the United States or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, individual, or circumstance is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this compact and the applicability of this compact to any government, agency, individual, or circumstance are not affected thereby. If this compact is held contrary to the constitution of any member state, the compact remains in full force and effect as to the remaining member states and in full force and effect as to the member state affected as to all severable matters.

43-40.1-14. Binding effect of compact and other laws.

1. A licensee providing occupational therapy in a remote state under the compact privilege shall function within the laws and regulations of the remote state.
2. This compact does not prevent the enforcement of any other law of a member state which is not inconsistent with the compact.
3. A law in a member state in conflict with the compact is superseded to the extent of the conflict.
4. Any lawful actions of the commission, including all rules and bylaws adopted by the commission, are binding on the member states.
5. All agreements between the commission and the member states are binding in accordance with the terms of the agreement.
6. If a provision of the compact exceeds the constitutional limits imposed on the legislature of any member state, the provision is ineffective to the extent of the conflict with the constitutional provision in question in that member state.

6. The regulated social worker's services in a remote state are subject to the member state's regulatory authority. A remote state may, in accordance with due process and the member state's laws, remove a regulated social worker's multistate authorization to practice in the remote state for a specific period of time, impose fines, and take any other necessary actions to protect the health and safety of the state's citizens.
7. If a multistate license is encumbered, the regulated social worker's multistate authorization to practice must be deactivated in all remote states until the multistate license is no longer encumbered.
8. If a multistate authorization to practice is encumbered in a remote state, the regulated social worker's multistate authorization to practice may be deactivated in that state until the multistate authorization to practice is no longer encumbered.

3. Upon issuance of a multistate license, the home state licensing authority shall designate whether the regulated social worker holds a multistate license in the bachelor's, master's, or clinical category of social work.
4. A multistate license issued by a home state to a resident in that state must be recognized by all compact member states as authorizing social work practice under a multistate authorization to practice corresponding to each category of licensure regulated in each member state.

ARTICLE VI - AUTHORITY OF INTERSTATE COMPACT COMMISSION AND MEMBER STATE LICENSING AUTHORITIES

1. This compact or any rule of the commission may not be construed to limit, restrict, or reduce the ability of a member state to enact and enforce laws, regulations, or other rules related to the practice of social work in that state, where those laws, regulations, or other rules are not inconsistent with the provisions of this compact.
2. This compact may not affect the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.
3. This compact or any rule of the commission may not be construed to limit, restrict, or reduce the ability of a member state to take adverse action against a licensee's single state license to practice social work in that state.
4. This compact or any rule of the commission may not be construed to limit, restrict, or reduce the ability of a remote state to take adverse action against a licensee's multistate authorization to practice in that state.
5. This compact or any rule of the commission may not be construed to limit, restrict, or reduce the ability of a licensee's home state to take adverse action against a licensee's multistate license based on information provided by a remote state.

ARTICLE VII - REISSUANCE OF A MULTISTATE LICENSE BY A NEW HOME STATE

1. A licensee can hold a multistate license, issued by the licensee's home state, in only one member state at any given time.
2. If a licensee changes the licensee's home state by moving between two member states:
 - a. The licensee immediately shall apply for the reissuance of the licensee's multistate license in the licensee's new home state. The licensee shall pay all applicable fees and notify the previous home state in accordance with the rules of the commission.
 - b. Upon receipt of an application to reissue a multistate license, the new home state shall verify the multistate license is active, unencumbered, and eligible for reissuance under the terms of the compact and the rules of the commission. The multistate license issued by the previous home state will be deactivated and all member states notified in accordance with the rules adopted by the commission.

- c. Before the reissuance of the multistate license, the new home state shall conduct a criminal history records check of the licensee. The criminal history record check procedure must include the submission of fingerprints or other biometric-based information by an applicant for the purpose of obtaining an applicant's criminal history record information from the federal bureau of investigation and the agency responsible for retaining that state's criminal records.
 - d. If required for initial licensure, the new home state may require completion of jurisprudence requirements in the new home state.
 - e. Notwithstanding any other provision of this compact, if a licensee does not meet the requirements of this compact for the reissuance of a multistate license by the new home state, the licensee is subject to the new home state's requirements for the issuance of a single state license in that state.
3. If a licensee changes the licensee's primary state of residence by moving from a member state to a nonmember state, or from a nonmember state to a member state, the licensee is subject to the state requirements for the issuance of a single state license in the new home state.
4. This compact may not interfere with a licensee's ability to hold a single state license in multiple states. For the purposes of this compact, a licensee may have only one home state, and only one multistate license.
5. This compact may not interfere with the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.

ARTICLE VIII - MILITARY FAMILIES

ARTICLE IX - ADVERSE ACTIONS

1. In addition to the other powers conferred by state law, a remote state may:
 - a. Take adverse action against a regulated social worker's multistate authorization to practice only within that member state, and issue subpoenas for both hearings and investigations that require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of evidence. A subpoena issued by a licensing authority in a member state for the attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence from another member state must be enforced in the latter state by a court of competent jurisdiction, according to the practice and procedure of that court applicable to a subpoena issued in proceedings pending before the court. The issuing licensing authority shall pay any witness fees, travel expenses, mileage, and other fees required by the service statutes of the state where the witnesses or evidence are located.

- b. Only the home state has the power to take adverse action against a regulated social worker's multistate license.
- 2. For purposes of taking adverse action, the home state shall give the same priority and effect to reported conduct received from a member state as the home state would if the conduct had occurred within the home state. In so doing, the home state shall apply its own state law to determine appropriate action.
- 3. The home state shall complete any pending investigation of a regulated social worker who changes their home state during the course of the investigation. The home state also has the authority to take appropriate action and promptly shall report the conclusion of the investigation to the administrator of the data system. The administrator of the data system promptly shall notify the new home state of any adverse actions.
- 4. A member state may recover the costs of an investigation and disposition of a case resulting from an adverse action taken against a regulated social worker from the regulated social worker against which the action was taken, if otherwise allowed by state law.
- 5. A member state may take adverse action based on the factual findings of another member state, if the member state follows its own procedures for taking the adverse action.
- 6. Joint investigations.
 - a. In addition to the authority granted to a member state by its respective social work practice act or other applicable state law, any member state may participate with another member state in joint investigations of licensees.
 - b. Member states shall share any investigative, litigation, or compliance materials in furtherance of any joint or individual investigation initiated under the compact.
- 7. If adverse action is taken by the home state against the multistate license of a regulated social worker, the regulated social worker's multistate authorization to practice in all other member states must be deactivated until all encumbrances have been removed from the multistate license. All home state disciplinary orders that impose adverse action against the license of a regulated social worker must include a statement that the regulated social worker's multistate authorization to practice is deactivated in all member states until all conditions of the decision, order, or agreement are satisfied.
- 8. If a member state takes adverse action, the member state promptly shall notify the administrator of the data system. The administrator of the data system promptly shall notify the home state and all other member states of any adverse actions by remote states.
- 9. This compact does not override a member state's decision that participation in an alternative program may be used in lieu of adverse action.
- 10. This compact does not authorize a member state to demand the issuance of a subpoena for attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence from another member state for lawful actions within that member state.

11. This compact does not authorize a member state to impose discipline against a regulated social worker who holds a multistate authorization to practice for lawful actions within another member state.

 - (1) This subdivision may not be construed to protect any person from suit or liability for any damage, loss, injury, or liability caused by the intentional or willful or wanton misconduct by that person.
 - (2) The procurement of insurance of any type by the commission may not compromise or limit the immunity granted under this subsection.
- b. The commission shall defend any member, officer, executive director, employee, and representative of the commission in any civil action seeking to impose liability arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, or as determined by the commission that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities. - c. The commission shall indemnify and hold harmless any member, officer, executive director, employee, and representative of the commission for the amount of any settlement or judgment obtained against that person arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, or that the person had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, provided the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from the intentional or willful or wanton misconduct by that person.

ARTICLE XI - DATA SYSTEM

- 1. The commission shall provide for the development, maintenance, operation, and utilization of a coordinated data system.

2. The commission shall assign each applicant for a multistate license a unique identifier, as determined by the rules of the commission.

 - a. Identifying information;
 - b. Licensure data;
 - c. Adverse actions against a license and information related thereto;
 - d. Nonconfidential information related to alternative program participation, the beginning and ending dates of the participation, and other information related to the participation not made confidential under member state law;

5. Current significant investigative information pertaining to a licensee in any member state only will be available to other member states. It is the responsibility of the member states to report any adverse action against a licensee and to monitor the database to determine whether adverse action has been taken against a licensee. Adverse action information pertaining to a licensee in any member state will be available to any other member state.
6. Member states contributing information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the contributing state.
7. Any information submitted to the data system that is subsequently expunged under federal law or the laws of the member state contributing the information must be removed from the data system.

ARTICLE XII - RULEMAKING

1. The commission shall adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently implement and administer the purpose and provisions of the compact. A rule is invalid if a court of competent jurisdiction holds the rule is invalid because the commission exercised its rulemaking authority in a manner beyond the scope and purpose of the compact, or the powers granted hereunder, or based upon another applicable standard of review.

2. The rules of the commission have the force of law in each member state. If the rules of the commission conflict with the laws of the member state that establish the member state's laws, regulations, and applicable standards that govern the practice of social work as held by a court of competent jurisdiction, the rules of the commission are ineffective in that state to the extent of the conflict.
3. The commission shall exercise its rulemaking powers under the criteria provided in this section and the rules adopted thereunder. Rules are binding on the day following adoption or the date specified in the rule or amendment, whichever is later.
4. If a majority of the legislatures of the member states reject a rule or portion of a rule, by enactment of a statute or resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within four years of the date of adoption of the rule, then the rule has no further force and effect in any member state.
5. Rules must be adopted at a regular or special meeting of the commission.
6. Before the adoption of a proposed rule, the commission shall hold a public hearing and allow individuals to provide oral and written comments.
7. Before the adoption of a proposed rule by the commission, and at least thirty days before the meeting at which the commission will hold a public hearing on the proposed rule, the commission shall provide a notice of proposed rulemaking:
 - a. On the website of the commission or other publicly accessible platform;
 - b. To persons who have requested notice of the commission's notices of proposed rulemaking; and
 - c. In other ways as the commission may by rule specify.
8. The notice of proposed rulemaking must include:
 - a. The time, date, and location of the public hearing at which the commission will hear public comments on the proposed rule and, if different, the time, date, and location of the meeting where the commission will consider and vote on the proposed rule;

 - c. The text of the proposed rule and the reason for the rule;
 - d. A request for comments on the proposed rule from any interested person; and
 - e. The manner in which interested persons may submit written comments.
9. All hearings will be recorded. A copy of the recording and all written comments and documents received by the commission in response to the proposed rule must be available to the public.

10. This article may not be construed to require a separate hearing on each rule. Rules may be grouped for the convenience of the commission at hearings required by this article.
11. The commission shall, by majority vote of all members, take final action on the proposed rule based on the rulemaking record and the full text of the rule.
 - a. The commission may adopt changes to the proposed rule provided the changes do not enlarge the original purpose of the proposed rule.
 - b. The commission shall provide an explanation of the reasons for substantive changes made to the proposed rule and reasons for substantive changes not made that were recommended by commenters.
 - c. The commission shall determine a reasonable effective date for the rule. Except for an emergency as provided in subsection 12, the effective date of the rule may not be sooner than thirty days after issuing the notice that the commission adopted or amended the rule.
12. Upon determination that an emergency exists, the commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule with forty-eight hours' notice, with opportunity to comment, provided the usual rulemaking procedures provided in the compact and in this section is to be applied retroactively to the rule as soon as reasonably possible, no later than ninety days after the effective date of the rule. For the purposes of this subsection, an emergency rule is one that must be adopted immediately in order to:
 - a. Meet an imminent threat to public health, safety, or welfare;
 - b. Prevent a loss of commission or member state funds;
 - c. Meet a deadline for the adoption of a rule that is established by federal law or rule; or
 - d. Protect public health and safety.
13. The commission or an authorized committee of the commission may direct revisions to a previously adopted rule for purposes of correcting typographical errors, errors in format, errors in consistency, or grammatical errors. Public notice of any revisions must be posted on the commission's website. The revision is subject to challenge by any person for a period of thirty days after posting. The revision may be challenged if the revision results in a material change to a rule. A challenge must be made in writing and delivered to the commission before the end of the notice period. If no challenge is made, the revision will take effect without further action. If the revision is challenged, the revision may not take effect without the approval of the commission.
14. A member state's rulemaking requirements do not apply under this compact.

ARTICLE XIII - OVERSIGHT, DISPUTE RESOLUTION, AND ENFORCEMENT

1. Oversight.

- a. The executive and judicial branches of state government in each member state shall effectuate this compact and take all actions necessary and appropriate to implement the compact.
 - b. Except as otherwise provided in this compact, venue is proper and judicial proceedings by or against the commission must be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction where the principal office of the commission is located. The commission may waive venue and jurisdictional defenses to the extent the commission adopts or consents to participate in alternative dispute resolution proceedings. This article may not affect or limit the selection or propriety of venue in any action against a licensee for professional malpractice, misconduct, or any similar matter.
 - c. The commission is entitled to receive service of process in any proceeding regarding the enforcement or interpretation of the compact and has standing to intervene in the proceeding for all purposes. Failure to provide the commission service of process renders a judgment or order void as to the commission, this compact, or adopted rules.
2. Default, technical assistance, and termination.
 - a. If the commission determines a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under this compact or the adopted rules, the commission shall provide written notice to the defaulting state. The notice of default must describe the default, the proposed means of curing the default, and any other action the commission may take, and must offer training and specific technical assistance regarding the default.
 - b. The commission shall provide a copy of the notice of default to the other member states.
3. If a state in default fails to cure the default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the delegates of the member states, and all rights, privileges, and benefits conferred on that state by this compact may be terminated on the effective date of termination. A cure of the default does not relieve the offending state of obligations or liabilities incurred during the period of default.
4. Termination of membership in the compact must be imposed only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. Notice of intent to suspend or terminate must be given by the commission to the governor, the majority and minority leaders of the defaulting state's legislature, the defaulting state's state licensing authority, and each of the member states' state licensing authority.
5. A state that has its membership terminated is responsible for all assessments, obligations, and liabilities incurred through the effective date of termination, including obligations extending beyond the effective date of termination.
6. Upon the termination of a state's membership from this compact, that state immediately shall provide notice to all licensees within that state of the termination. The terminated state shall continue to recognize all licenses granted under this compact for a minimum of six months after the date of the notice of termination.

7. The commission may not incur any costs related to a state that is found to be in default or that has been terminated from the compact, unless agreed upon in writing between the commission and the defaulting state.
8. The defaulting state may appeal the action of the commission by petitioning the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission's principal office is located. The prevailing party must be awarded all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees.
9. Dispute resolution.
 - a. Upon request by a member state, the commission shall attempt to resolve disputes related to the compact which arise among member states and between member and nonmember states.
 - b. The commission shall adopt a rule providing for both mediation and binding dispute resolution for disputes as appropriate.
10. Enforcement.
 - a. By majority vote as provided by rule, the commission may initiate legal action against a member state in default in the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission's principal office is located to enforce compliance with the provisions of the compact and its adopted rules. The relief sought may include both injunctive relief and damages. If judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing party must be awarded all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees. The remedies herein may not be the exclusive remedies of the commission. The commission may pursue any other remedies available under federal law or the defaulting member state's law.
 - b. A member state may initiate legal action against the commission in the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission's principal office is located to enforce compliance with the provisions of the compact and its adopted rules. The relief sought may include both injunctive relief and damages. If judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing party must be awarded all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees.
 - c. Only a member state may enforce this compact against the commission.

ARTICLE XIV - EFFECTIVE DATE, WITHDRAWAL, AND AMENDMENT

1. The compact is effective on the date on which the compact statute is enacted into law in the seventh member state.
 - a. On or after the effective date of the compact, the commission shall convene and review the enactment of each of the first seven member states, known as the charter member states, to determine if the statute enacted by each charter member state is materially different than the model compact statute.

- (1) A charter member state whose enactment is found to be materially different from the model compact statute is entitled to the default process in accordance with article XIII.
- (2) If any member state is later found to be in default, or is terminated or withdraws from the compact, the commission shall remain in existence and the compact shall remain in effect even if the number of member states is fewer than seven.
- b. Member states enacting the compact subsequent to the seven initial charter member states are subject to the process provided in subdivision u of subsection 3 of article X to determine if their enactments are materially different from the model compact statute and whether they qualify for participation in the compact.
- c. All actions taken for the benefit of the commission or in furtherance of the purposes of the administration of the compact before the effective date of the compact or the commission coming into existence must be considered to be actions of the commission unless specifically repudiated by the commission.
- d. Any state that joins the compact after the commission's initial adoption of the rules and bylaws is subject to the rules and bylaws as they exist on the date the compact becomes law in that state. Any rule that has been adopted previously by the commission has the full force and effect of law on the day the compact becomes law in that state.
2. Any member state may withdraw from this compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact.

 - a. A member state's withdrawal may not take effect until one hundred eighty days after enactment of the repealing statute.
 - b. Withdrawal may not affect the continuing requirement of the withdrawing state's licensing authority to comply with the investigative and adverse action reporting requirements of this compact before the effective date of withdrawal.
 - c. Upon the enactment of a statute withdrawing from this compact, a state immediately shall provide notice of the withdrawal to all licensees within that state. Notwithstanding any subsequent statutory enactment to the contrary, the withdrawing state shall continue to recognize all licenses granted under this compact for a minimum of one hundred eighty days after the date of the notice of withdrawal.
3. This compact may not be construed to invalidate or prevent any licensure agreement or other cooperative arrangement between a member state and a nonmember state that does not conflict with the provisions of this compact.
4. This compact may be amended by the member states. An amendment to this compact may not become effective and binding upon any member state until the amendment is enacted into the laws of all member states.

ARTICLE XV - CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY

1. This compact and the commission's rulemaking authority must be liberally construed so as to effectuate the purpose, and the implementation and administration of the compact. Provisions of the compact expressly authorizing or requiring the adoption of rules may not be construed to limit the commission's rulemaking authority solely for those purposes.
2. The provisions of this compact are severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence, or provision of this compact is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be contrary to the constitution of any member state, a state seeking participation in the compact, or of the United States, or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is held to be unconstitutional by a court of competent jurisdiction, the validity of the remainder of this compact and the applicability of the compact to any other government, agency, person, or circumstance may not be affected thereby.
3. Notwithstanding subsection 2, the commission may deny a state's participation in the compact or, in accordance with the requirements of subsection 2 of article XIII, terminate a member state's participation in the compact, if the commission determines a constitutional requirement of a member state is a material departure from the compact. If this compact is held to be contrary to the constitution of any member state, the compact must remain in full force and effect as to the remaining member states and in full force and effect as to the member state affected as to all severable matters.

ARTICLE XVI - CONSISTENT EFFECT AND CONFLICT WITH OTHER STATE LAWS

1. A licensee providing services in a remote state under a multistate authorization to practice shall adhere to the laws and regulations, including laws, regulations, and applicable standards, of the remote state where the client is located at the time care is rendered.
2. This compact may not prevent the enforcement of any other law of a member state that is not inconsistent with the compact.
3. Any law, statute, regulation, or other legal requirement in a member state in conflict with the compact is superseded to the extent of the conflict.
4. All permissible agreements between the commission and the member states are binding in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

These procedures must include the submission of fingerprints or other biometric-based information by applicants for the purpose of obtaining an applicant's criminal history record information from the federal bureau of investigation and the agency responsible for retaining that state's criminal records;
 - (1) A member state shall fully implement a criminal history record information requirement, within a time frame established by rule, which includes receiving the results of the federal bureau of investigation record search, and shall use those results in determining compact privilege eligibility.
 - (2) Communication between a member state and the compact commission or among member states regarding the verification of eligibility for a compact privilege may not include any information received from the federal bureau of investigation relating to a federal criminal history record information check performed by a member state.
 - d. Comply with and enforce the rules of the compact commission;

 - f. Recognize a compact privilege granted to a licensee who meets all of the requirements outlined in article IV under the terms of the compact and rules.
- 3. Member states may set and collect a fee for granting a compact privilege.
 - 4. Individuals not residing in a member state shall continue to be able to apply for a member state's single state license as provided under the laws of each member state. However, the single state license granted to these individuals may not be recognized as granting a compact privilege to engage in the practice of dietetics in any other member state.
 - 5. Nothing in this compact may affect the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.
 - 6. The compact commission may not define the requirements for the issuance of a single state license to practice dietetics. The member states shall retain sole jurisdiction over the provision of these requirements.

ARTICLE IV - COMPACT PRIVILEGE

- 1. To exercise the compact privilege under the terms and provisions of the compact, the licensee shall:
 - a. Satisfy one of the following:
 - (1) Hold a valid current registration that gives the applicant the right to use the term registered dietitian; or
 - (2) Complete all of the following:
 - (a) An education program which is either:
 - [1] A master's degree or doctoral degree that is programmatically accredited by ACEND or a dietetics accrediting agency recognized by the United States department of education, which the compact commission may by rule determine, and from a college or university accredited at the time of graduation by the appropriate regional accrediting agency recognized by the council on higher education accreditation and the United States department of education; or
 - [2] An academic degree from a college or university in a foreign country equivalent to the degree described in subparagraph (a) that is programmatically accredited by ACEND or a dietetics accrediting agency recognized by the United States department of education, which the compact commission may by rule determine.
 - (b) A planned, documented, supervised practice experience in dietetics that is programmatically accredited by ACEND or a dietetics accrediting agency recognized by the United States department of education, which the compact commission may by rule determine and which involves at least one thousand hours of practice experience under the supervision of a registered dietitian or a licensed dietitian.

- (c) Successful completion of either the registration examination for dietitians administered by CDR or a national credentialing examination for dietitians approved by the compact commission by rule, with completion occurring no more than five years before the date of the licensee's application for initial licensure and accompanied by a period of continuous licensure thereafter, all of which may be further governed by the rules of the compact commission.

2. The compact privilege is valid until the expiration date of the home state license. To maintain a compact privilege, renewal of the compact privilege must be congruent with the renewal of the home state license as the compact commission may define by rule. The licensee shall comply with the requirements of subsection 1 of article IV to maintain the compact privilege in the remote state.
3. A licensee exercising a compact privilege shall adhere to the laws and regulations of the remote state. Licensees must be responsible for educating themselves on, and complying with, all state laws relating to the practice of dietetics in the remote state.
4. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary provided in this compact or state law, a licensee exercising a compact privilege may not be required to complete continuing education requirements required by a remote state. A licensee exercising a compact privilege only is required to meet any continuing education requirements as required by the home state.

ARTICLE V - OBTAINING A NEW HOME STATE LICENSE BASED ON A COMPACT PRIVILEGE

1. A licensee may hold a home state license, which allows for a compact privilege in other member states, in only one member state at a time.
2. If a licensee changes home state by moving between two member states:

- a. The licensee shall file an application for obtaining a new home state license based on a compact privilege, pay all applicable fees, and notify the current and new home state in accordance with the rules of the compact commission.
 - b. Upon receipt of an application for obtaining a new home state license by virtue of a compact privilege, the new home state shall verify that the licensee meets the criteria in article IV via the data system, and require that the licensee complete:
 - (1) A federal bureau of investigation fingerprint-based criminal history record information check;
 - (2) Any other criminal history record information required by the new home state; and
 - (3) Any jurisprudence requirements of the new home state.
 - c. The former home state shall convert the former home state license into a compact privilege once the new home state has activated the new home state license in accordance with applicable rules adopted by the compact commission.
 - d. Notwithstanding any other provision of this compact, if the licensee cannot meet the criteria in article IV, the new home state may apply its requirements for issuing a new single state license.
 - e. The licensee shall pay all applicable fees to the new home state to be issued a new home state license.
3. If a licensee changes the licensee's state of residence by moving from a member state to a nonmember state, or from a nonmember state to a member state, the state criteria shall apply for issuance of a single state license in the new state.
 4. Nothing in this compact may interfere with a licensee's ability to hold a single state license in multiple states; however, for the purposes of this compact, a licensee may have only one home state license.
 5. Nothing in this compact may affect the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.

ARTICLE VI - ACTIVE MILITARY MEMBERS OR THE MEMBER'S SPOUSE

An active military member, or the member's spouse, shall designate a home state where the individual has a current license in good standing. The individual may retain the home state designation during the period the service member is on active duty.

ARTICLE VII - ADVERSE ACTIONS

1. In addition to the other powers conferred by state law, a remote state must have the authority, under state due process law, to:
 - a. Take adverse action against a licensee's compact privilege within that member state; and

- b. Issue subpoenas for both hearings and investigations that require the attendance and testimony of witnesses as well as the production of evidence. Subpoenas issued by a licensing authority in a member state for the attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence from another member state must be enforced in the latter state by any court of competent jurisdiction, according to the practice and procedure applicable to subpoenas issued in proceedings pending before that court. The issuing authority shall pay any witness fees, travel expenses, mileage, and other fees required by the service statutes of the state in which the witnesses or evidence are located.
- 2. Only the home state may have the power to take adverse action against a licensee's home state license.
- 3. For purposes of taking adverse action, the home state shall give the same priority and effect to reported conduct received from a member state as it would if the conduct had occurred within the home state. In so doing, the home state shall apply its own state laws to determine appropriate action.
- 4. The home state shall complete any pending investigations of a licensee who changes home states during the course of the investigations. The home state must have authority to take appropriate action and shall promptly report the conclusions of the investigations to the administrator of the data system. The administrator of the data system shall promptly notify the new home state of any adverse actions.
- 5. A member state, if otherwise permitted by state law, may recover from the affected licensee the costs of investigations and dispositions of cases resulting from any adverse action taken against that licensee.
- 6. A member state may take adverse action based on the factual findings of another remote state, provided that the member state follows its own procedures for taking the adverse action.
- 7. Joint investigations:
 - a. In addition to the authority granted to a member state by its respective state law, any member state may participate with other member states in joint investigations of licensees.
 - b. Member states shall share any investigative, litigation, or compliance materials in furtherance of any joint investigations initiated under the compact.
- 8. If adverse action is taken by the home state against a licensee's home state license resulting in an encumbrance on the home state license, the licensee's compact privilege in all other member states must be revoked until all encumbrances have been removed from the home state license. All home state disciplinary orders that impose adverse action against a licensee must include a statement that the licensee's compact privileges are revoked in all member states during the pendency of the order.
- 9. Once an encumbered license in the home state is restored to an unencumbered license, as certified by the home state's licensing authority, the licensee shall meet the requirements of subsection 1 of article IV and follow the administrative requirements to reapply to obtain a compact privilege in any remote state.

10. If a member state takes adverse action, the member state promptly shall notify the administrator of the data system. The administrator of the data system promptly shall notify the other member states of any adverse actions.
11. Nothing in this compact may override a member state's decision that participation in an alternative program may be used in lieu of adverse action.

1. The compact member states hereby create and establish a joint government agency whose membership consists of all member states that have enacted the compact known as the dietitian licensure compact commission.  - g. Other information that may facilitate the administration of this compact or the protection of the public, as determined by the rules of the compact commission.
- 4. The records and information provided to a member state pursuant to this compact or through the data system, when certified by the compact commission or an agent of the commission, shall constitute the authenticated business records of the compact commission, and must be entitled to any associated hearsay exception in a relevant judicial, quasi-judicial, or administrative proceeding in a member state.
- 5. Current significant investigative information pertaining to a licensee in any member state will be available only to other member states.
- 6. It is the responsibility of the member states to report any adverse action against a licensee and to monitor the data system to determine whether any adverse action has been taken against a licensee. Adverse action information pertaining to a licensee in any member state will be available to any other member state.

7. Member states contributing information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the contributing state.
8. Any information submitted to the data system which is subsequently expunged pursuant to federal law or the laws of the member state contributing the information must be removed from the data system.

ARTICLE X - RULEMAKING

1. The compact commission shall promulgate reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently implement and administer the purposes and provisions of the compact. A rule has no force or effect if a court of competent jurisdiction holds the rule is invalid because the compact commission exercised its rulemaking authority in a manner that is beyond the scope and purposes of the compact, or the powers granted under the compact, or based upon another applicable standard of review.
2. The rules of the compact commission must have the force of law in each member state, provided that if the rules conflict with the laws or regulations of a member state that relate to the procedures, actions, and processes a licensed dietitian is permitted to undertake in that state and the circumstances under which the licensed dietitian may do so, as held by a court of competent jurisdiction, the rules of the compact commission are ineffective in that state to the extent of the conflict.
3. The compact commission shall exercise its rulemaking powers pursuant to the criteria and rules set forth and adopted under this section. Rules become binding on the day following adoption or as of the date specified in the rule or amendment, whichever is later.
4. If a majority of the legislatures of the member states rejects a rule or portion of a rule, by enactment of a statute or resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within four years of the date of adoption of the rule, then the rule has no further force and effect in any member state.
5. Rules must be adopted at a regular or special meeting of the compact commission.
6. Before adoption of a proposed rule, the compact commission shall hold a public hearing and allow individuals to provide oral and written comments, data, facts, opinions, and arguments.
7. Before adoption of a proposed rule by the compact commission, and at least thirty days in advance of the meeting at which the compact commission will hold a public hearing on the proposed rule, the compact commission shall provide a notice of proposed rulemaking:
 - a. On the website of the compact commission or other publicly accessible platform;

- b. To persons who have requested notice of the compact commission's notices of proposed rulemaking; and
 - c. In such other way as the compact commission may by rule specify.
- 8. The notice of proposed rulemaking must include:
 - a. The time, date, and location of the public hearing at which the compact commission will hear public comments on the proposed rule and, if different, the time, date, and location of the meeting at which the compact commission will consider and vote on the proposed rule;
 - b. If the hearing is held via telecommunication, video conference, or other means of communication, the compact commission shall include the mechanism for access to the hearing in the notice of proposed rulemaking;
 - c. The text of the proposed rule and the reason for the rule;
 - d. A request for comments on the proposed rule from any interested person; and
 - e. The manner in which interested persons may submit written comments.
- 9. All hearings will be recorded. A copy of the recording and all written comments and documents received by the compact commission in response to the proposed rule must be available to the public.
- 10. Nothing in this section may be construed as requiring a separate hearing on each rule. Rules may be grouped for the convenience of the compact commission at hearings required by this section.
- 11. The compact commission shall, by majority vote of all members, take final action on the proposed rule based on the rulemaking record and the full text of the rule.
 - a. The compact commission may adopt changes to the proposed rule provided the changes do not enlarge the original purpose of the proposed rule.
 - b. The compact commission shall provide an explanation of the reasons for substantive changes made to the proposed rule as well as reasons for substantive changes not made that were recommended by commenters.
 - c. The compact commission shall determine a reasonable effective date for the rule. Except for an emergency as provided in subsection 12 of article X, the effective date of the rule must be no sooner than thirty days after issuing the notice that the commission adopted or amended the rule.
- 12. Upon determination that an emergency exists, the compact commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule with twenty-four hours notice and with opportunity to comment, provided that the usual rulemaking procedures provided in the compact and in this section must be retroactively applied to the rule as soon as reasonably possible, in no event later than ninety days after the effective date of the rule. For the purposes of this provision, an emergency rule is one that must be adopted immediately in order to:

- a. Meet an imminent threat to public health, safety, or welfare;
 - b. Prevent a loss of compact commission or member state funds;
 - c. Meet a deadline for the promulgation of a rule that is established by federal law or rule; or
 - d. Protect public health and safety.
13. The compact commission or an authorized committee of the compact commission may direct revision to a previously adopted rule for purposes of correcting typographical errors, errors in format, errors in consistency, or grammatical errors. Public notice of any revision must be posted on the website of the compact commission. The revision must be subject to challenge by any person for a period of thirty days after posting. The revision may be challenged only on grounds that the revision results in a material change to a rule. A challenge must be made in writing and delivered to the compact commission before the end of the notice period. If no challenge is made, the revision will take effect without further action. If the revision is challenged, the revision may not take effect without the approval of the compact commission.
14. A member state's rulemaking requirements may not apply under this compact.

ARTICLE XI - OVERSIGHT, DISPUTE RESOLUTION, AND ENFORCEMENT

1. Oversight.

- a. The executive and judicial branches of state government in each member state shall enforce this compact and take all actions necessary and appropriate to implement this compact.
- b. Except as otherwise provided in this compact, venue is proper and judicial proceedings by or against the compact commission must be brought solely and exclusively in a court of competent jurisdiction where the principal office of the compact commission is located. The compact commission may waive venue and jurisdictional defenses to the extent it adopts or consents to participate in alternative dispute resolution proceedings. Nothing herein shall affect or limit the selection or propriety of venue in any action against a licensee for professional malpractice, misconduct, or any such similar matter.
- c. The compact commission must be entitled to receive service of process in any proceeding regarding the enforcement or interpretation of the compact and shall have standing to intervene in that proceeding for all purposes. Failure to provide the compact commission service of process shall render a judgment or order void as to the compact commission, this compact, or promulgated rules.

2. Default, technical assistance, and termination.

- a. If the compact commission determines a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under this compact or the promulgated rules, the compact commission shall provide written notice to the defaulting state. The notice of default shall describe the default, the proposed means of curing the default, and any other action that the compact commission may take and shall offer training and specific technical assistance regarding the default.

- b. The compact commission shall provide a copy of the notice of default to the other member states.
- 3. If a state in default fails to cure the default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the delegates of the member states, and all rights, privileges, and benefits conferred on that state by this compact may be terminated on the effective date of termination. A cure of the default does not relieve the offending state of obligations or liabilities incurred during the period of default.
- 4. Termination of membership in the compact must be imposed only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. Notice of intent to suspend or terminate must be given by the compact commission to the governor, the majority and minority leaders of the defaulting state's legislature, the defaulting state's licensing authority, and each of the member states licensing authority.
- 5. A state that has been terminated is responsible for all assessments, obligations, and liabilities incurred through the effective date of termination, including obligations that extend beyond the effective date of termination.
- 6. Upon the termination of a state's membership from this compact, that state shall immediately provide notice to all licensees within that state of the termination. The terminated state shall continue to recognize all compact privileges granted pursuant to this compact for a minimum of six months after the date of the notice of termination.
- 7. The compact commission may not bear any costs related to a state that is found to be in default or that has been terminated from the compact, unless agreed upon in writing between the compact commission and the defaulting state.
- 8. The defaulting state may appeal the action of the compact commission by petitioning the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the compact commission has its principal offices. The prevailing party must be awarded all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees.
- 9. Dispute resolution.
 - a. Upon request by a member state, the compact commission shall attempt to resolve disputes related to the compact that arise among member states and between member and nonmember states.
 - b. The compact commission shall promulgate a rule providing for both mediation and binding dispute resolution for disputes as appropriate.
- 10. Enforcement.
 - a. By supermajority vote, the compact commission may initiate legal action against a member state in default in the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the compact commission has its principal offices to enforce compliance with the provisions of the compact and its promulgated rules. The relief sought may include both injunctive relief and damages. In the event judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing party must be awarded all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees. The remedies herein may not be the exclusive remedies of the compact commission. The compact commission may pursue any other remedies available under federal or the defaulting member state's law.

- b. A member state may initiate legal action against the compact commission in the United States district court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the compact commission has its principal offices to enforce compliance with the provisions of the compact and its promulgated rules. The relief sought may include both injunctive relief and damages. In the event judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing party must be awarded all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorney's fees.
- c. No party other than a member state may enforce this compact against the compact commission.

ARTICLE XII - EFFECTIVE DATE, WITHDRAWAL, AND AMENDMENT

- 1. The compact shall come into effect on the date on which the compact statute is enacted into law in the seventh member state.

 - a. On or after the effective date of the compact, the compact commission shall convene and review the enactment of each of the first seven member states, "charter member states", to determine if the statute enacted by each charter member state is materially different than the model compact statute.

 - (1) A charter member state whose enactment is found to be materially different from the model compact statute must be entitled to the default process set forth in article XI.
 - (2) If any member state is later found to be in default, is terminated, or withdraws from the compact, the compact commission shall remain in existence and the compact shall remain in effect even if the number of member states is less than seven.
 - b. Member states enacting the compact subsequent to the seven initial charter member states must be subject to the process set forth in subdivision u of subsection 3 of article VIII to determine if the member state's enactments are materially different from the model compact statute and whether the member states qualify for participation in the compact.
 - c. All actions taken for the benefit of the compact commission or in furtherance of the purposes of the administration of the compact before the effective date of the compact or the compact commission coming into existence must be considered to be actions of the compact commission unless specifically repudiated by the compact commission.
 - d. Any state that joins the compact subsequent to the compact commission's initial adoption of the rules and bylaws is subject to the rules and bylaws as the rules and bylaws exist on the date on which the compact becomes law in that state. Any rule that has been adopted previously by the compact commission must have the full force and effect of law on the day the compact becomes law in that state.

2. Any member state may withdraw from this compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact.
 - a. A member state's withdrawal may not take effect until one hundred eighty days after enactment of the repealing statute.
 - b. Withdrawal may not affect the continuing requirement of the withdrawing state's licensing authority to comply with the investigative and adverse action reporting requirements of this compact before the effective date of withdrawal.
 - c. Upon the enactment of a statute withdrawing from this compact, a state immediately shall provide notice of the withdrawal to all licensees within that state. Notwithstanding any subsequent statutory enactment to the contrary, the withdrawing state shall continue to recognize all compact privileges granted pursuant to this compact for a minimum of one hundred eighty days after the date of the notice of withdrawal.
3. Nothing contained in this compact may be construed to invalidate or prevent any licensure agreement or other cooperative arrangement between a member state and a nonmember state that does not conflict with the provisions of this compact.
4. This compact may be amended by the member states. No amendment to this compact may become effective and binding upon any member state until it is enacted into the laws of all member states.

ARTICLE XIII - CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY

1. This compact and the compact commission's rulemaking authority must be liberally construed so as to effectuate the purposes and the implementation and administration of the compact. Provisions of the compact expressly authorizing or requiring the promulgation of rules may not be construed to limit the compact commission's rulemaking authority solely for those purposes.
2. The provisions of this compact must be severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence, or provision of this compact is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be contrary to the constitution of any member state, a state seeking participation in the compact, or of the United States, or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is held to be unconstitutional by a court of competent jurisdiction, the validity of the remainder of this compact and the applicability thereof to any other government, agency, person, or circumstance shall not be affected thereby.
3. Notwithstanding subsection 2, the compact commission may deny a state's participation in the compact or, in accordance with the requirements of subsection 2 of article XI, terminate a member state's participation in the compact, if it determines that a constitutional requirement of a member state is a material departure from the compact. Otherwise, if this compact must be held to be contrary to the constitution of any member state, the compact shall remain in full force and effect as to the remaining member states and in full force and effect as to the member state affected as to all severable matters.

ARTICLE XIV - CONSISTENT EFFECT AND CONFLICT WITH OTHER STATE LAWS

1. Nothing herein may prevent or inhibit the enforcement of any other law of a member state that is not inconsistent with the compact.
2. Any laws, statutes, regulations, or other legal requirements in a member state in conflict with the compact are superseded to the extent of the conflict.
3. All permissible agreements between the compact commission and the member states are binding in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

9. "Routine application" means an application that meets all the requirements for licensure with no derogatory or adverse information in the application.

Universal licensure.

1. Unless the board is part of an effective interstate compact, an executed license transfer, existing interstate mobility, or reciprocity agreement with another state, a board shall issue a license to an out-of-state licensee applicant to practice in this state if, upon application to the board, the applicant:
 - a. Actively has used the license for two of the three years immediately preceding submitting an application under this section;
 - b. Provides or demonstrates competency and education in the profession or occupation through methods determined by the board;
 - c. Has not committed any act that constitutes grounds for refusal, suspension, or revocation of a license to practice that profession or occupation in this state unless the board determines, in its discretion, the act is not an impediment to the granting of a license to practice in this state;

Boards subject to an effective interstate compact shall issue a license in a timely manner.
2. A board may grant authority to staff or selected board members to issue a provisional or temporary license between board meetings to an applicant seeking permanent state licensure if the application is routine, complete, and meets all the requirements for licensure. To the extent this provision conflicts with any existing limitations on such delegated authority, this provision supersedes those limitations.
3. The licensing application form must be made available electronically.

4. As part of a complete application, a board may require an individual seeking licensure in this state to pass a jurisprudence examination on North Dakota law applicable to the licensed profession. The review must be noted clearly in the board's agenda and meeting minutes and the board must provide the labor commissioner with a copy of the considered compact and the board's reason for determining that entering the interstate compact was not in the best interests of the profession.
7. A board may contract with an entity, another board, or an individual to obtain administrative and support services to assist in the operation of the board.

9. A board may assist in providing education or resources for a licensee or an individual interested in pursuing the regulated occupation or profession.
10. Unless otherwise provided by law, the governor shall appoint members of a board and may remove members for cause, misconduct, incapacity, or neglect of duty. After expiration of a term, a board member may continue to serve until the governor makes an appointment to fill the position.
11. An applicant aggrieved by a licensure delay first shall try to resolve the matter with the board. If the matter cannot be resolved, the applicant may bring the matter to the office of the governor. Each board shall provide information on its website or initial licensure application regarding how to contact the office of the governor if a matter between the applicant and the board cannot be resolved.

Each petition sponsor shall provide on the petition the sponsor's name and address. Each petition sponsor must be a qualified elector of the city, park district, or the school district in which the member subject to the recall is serving.

The secretary of state shall complete the review of the form of a recall petition in not less than five, nor more than seven, business days, excluding Saturdays. To be effective, a recall petition must be submitted to the filing officer within ninety days after the date the recall petition is approved for circulation by the secretary of state.

The filing officer shall pass on the sufficiency of a petition by reviewing every signature affixed to the petition. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the filing officer shall call a special election to be held not sooner than ninety-five days nor later than one hundred five days following the date the filing officer certifies the petition valid and sufficient. A special election may not be called if that date would be within ninety-five days of the next scheduled election. An elector's name may not be removed from a recall petition that has been submitted to and received by the filing officer.
4. The name of the member to be recalled must be placed on the ballot unless the member resigns within ten days after the filing officer certifies the petition is valid and sufficient. Other candidates for the office may be nominated in a manner provided by law and shall file nominating papers with the appropriate filing officer by the sixty-fourth day before the scheduled recall election. A special recall election may not be held if candidate filings are not received by the filing officer before the candidate filing deadline. The filing officer shall declare the recall petition ineffective, and the member may continue to serve the remainder of the member's term. A notice of cancellation of the recall election due to no candidate filing received must be posted in the official newspaper within fifteen days following the candidate filing deadline.
5. If the member resigns, the filing officer may call a special election or appoint an individual to complete the unexpired term of the office. When the election results have been officially declared, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes is elected for the remainder of the term.

6. A member is not subject to recall twice during the term for which the member was elected. A member whose office is on the ballot at a regularly scheduled election occurring within one year is not subject to recall if the recall special election would occur within one year of the next regularly scheduled election in which the member could be re-elected.

The plane coordinate values for a point on the earth's surface, used in expressing the geographic position or location of such point in the appropriate zone of this system, shall consist of two distances, expressed in United States survey feet [meters] and decimals of a foot [meter] when using the North Dakota coordinate system of 1927. One of these distances, to be known as the X-coordinate, shall give the position in an east-west direction; the other, to be known as the Y-coordinate, shall give the position in a north-south direction. These coordinates shall be made to depend upon and conform to plane rectangular coordinate values for the monumented points of the North American horizontal geodetic control network as published by the national ocean survey/national geodetic survey, or its successors, and the plane coordinates which have been computed on the systems defined in this chapter. Any such station may be used for establishing a survey connection to either North Dakota coordinate system. For the purposes of converting coordinates of the North Dakota coordinate systems of 1983 and 2022 from meters to feet, the international survey foot must be used. The conversion factor is: one foot equals 0.3048 meter exactly.

SECTION 4. AMENDMENT. Section 47-20.2-05 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

47-20.2-05. North Dakota coordinate system origins defined.

1. For the purposes of more precisely defining the North Dakota coordinate system of 1927, the following definitions by the United States coast and geodetic survey are adopted:
 - a. The North Dakota coordinate system of 1927, north zone, is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the Clarke spheroid of 1866, having standard parallels at north latitudes forty-seven degrees twenty-six minutes and forty-eight degrees forty-four minutes along which parallels the scale shall be exact. The origin of coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian one hundred degrees thirty minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel forty-seven degrees zero minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: $x = 2,000,000$ feet [609.6 kilometers], and $y = 0$ feet [0 kilometers].
 - b. The North Dakota coordinate system of 1927, south zone, is a Lambert conformal conic projection of the Clarke spheroid of 1866, having standard parallels at north latitudes forty-six degrees eleven minutes and forty-seven degrees twenty-nine minutes along which parallels the scale shall be exact. The origin of coordinates is at the intersection of the meridian one hundred degrees thirty minutes west of Greenwich and the parallel forty-five degrees forty minutes north latitude. This origin is given the coordinates: $x = 2,000,000$ feet [609.6 kilometers], and $y = 0$ feet [0 kilometers].

2. For the purposes of more precisely defining the North Dakota coordinate system of 1983, the following definition by the national ocean survey/national geodetic survey is adopted:
 - a. 2. If property in a report under section 47-30.2-21 is an automatically renewable deposit and a penalty or forfeiture in the payment of interest would result from paying the deposit to the administrator at the time of the report, the date for payment of the property to the administrator is extended until a penalty or forfeiture no longer would result from payment, if the holder informs the administrator of the extended date.
3. If property reported to the administrator under section 47-30.2-21 is a security, the administrator may:

 - j. The human service zone as respondent if the minor to be adopted is in the custody of the human service zone.

- ~~k. That the petitioner's expenses were reasonable as verified by the court. Reasonable fees may be charged for professional services and living expenses if reflected in a report of agreements and disbursements filed under this chapter and approved by the court. The fees may not be contingent upon placement of the child for adoption, consent to adoption, or cooperation in the completion of adoption. Reasonable fees may include:~~
- ~~(1) Preplacement counseling, adoption assessment, placement of the child, foster care, or other preadoption services, which must be paid directly to the provider of the services;~~

 - ~~(b) Living expenses do not include expenses for lost wages, gifts, educational expenses, vacations, or other similar expenses of a birth mother.~~
2. A certified copy of the birth certificate or verification of birth record of the individual to be adopted, if available, and the required consents and relinquishments must be filed with the clerk.

14-15-11. Notice of petition - Investigation and hearing.

1. a. After the filing of a petition to adopt a minor, the court shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition. At least twenty days before the date of hearing, notice of the filing of the petition and of the time and place of hearing must be given by the petitioner to the department and if the minor to be adopted is in the custody of the human service zone to the human service zone; any agency or individual whose consent to the adoption is required by this chapter but who has not consented; an individual whose consent is dispensed with upon any ground mentioned in subdivisions a, b, f, h, i, and j of subsection 1 of section 14-15-06 but who has not consented; any appropriate Indian tribe; and any individual identified by the court as a biological parent or a possible biological parent of the minor, upon making inquiry to the extent necessary and appropriate, as in proceedings under section 27-20.3-22, unless the individual has relinquished parental rights or the individual's parental rights have been previously terminated by a court. The notice to the department and if the minor to be adopted is in the custody of the human service zone to the human service zone must be accompanied by a copy of the petition.

- b. Notice of the filing of a petition to adopt an adult must be given by the petitioner at least twenty days before the date of the hearing to each living parent of the adult to be adopted.
2. An investigation must be made by a licensed child-placing agency or by the department when a child-placing agency has a conflict of interest to inquire into the conditions and antecedents of a minor sought to be adopted and of the petitioner for the purpose of ascertaining whether:
 - a. The proposed adoption is in the best interest of the minor; and
 - b. The adoptive home is suitable for the minor. The licensed child-placing agency shall obtain and consider the foster care assessment of an applicant who is also a licensed, ~~certified~~, or approved family foster home for children in the manner prescribed by the department. An adoptive home is presumed suitable if, in the manner prescribed by the department, the petitioner is continuously licensed, ~~certified~~, or approved as a family foster home for children under chapter 50-11 to furnish foster care for children ~~for more than one year~~ without a correction order, fiscal sanction, or license revocation proceeding, unless the custodial agency reasonably believes the use of the foster care assessment or the licensed, ~~certified~~, or approved family foster home for children is not in the best interest of the minor.
3. A written report of the investigation must be filed with the court by the investigator before the petition is heard.
4. The report of the investigation must contain:
 - a. A review of the child's history;

5. An investigation and report is not required in cases in which a stepparent is the petitioner or the individual to be adopted is an adult. The department and human service zone, when required to consent to the adoption, may give consent without making the investigation. If the petitioner is a court-appointed legal guardian or a relative other than a stepparent of the minor, the minor has lived with the petitioner for at least nine months, no allegations of abuse or neglect have been filed against the petitioner or any member of the petitioner's household, and the court is satisfied that the proposed adoptive home is appropriate for the minor, the court may waive the investigation and report required under this section.
6. The department and human service zone, when required to consent to the adoption, may request the licensed child-placing agency to conduct further investigation and to make a written report thereof as a supplemental report to the court.
7. After the filing of a petition to adopt an adult, the court by order shall direct that a copy of the petition and a notice of the time and place of the hearing be given to any individual whose consent to the adoption is required but who has not consented and to each living parent of the adult to be adopted. The court may order an appropriate investigation to assist it in determining whether the adoption is in the best interest of the individuals involved.
8. Notice must be given in the manner appropriate under the North Dakota Rules of Civil Procedure for the service of process in a civil action in this state or in any manner the court by order directs. Proof of the giving of the notice must be filed with the court before the petition is heard.

3. The fees may not be contingent upon placement of the child for adoption, consent to adoption, or cooperation in the completion of adoption.
4. Reasonable fees may include:
 - a. Facilitation fees charged and completed by the child-placing agency including the cost of preplacement birth parent counseling, adoption home study assessment, placement costs for children not in public custody, utilizing a foster care placement prior to finalization, placement supervision, or other preadoption services offered by the child-placing agency;

Failure to fully compensate includes a reduction in the amount due under this section to the dealer or imposing a separate charge, surcharge, or other imposition by which the motor vehicle manufacturer, factory branch, or distributor, or distributor branch seeks to recover the costs of complying with this section from the dealer.~~
4. The retail rate customarily charged by the dealer for parts is established by the dealer submitting to the manufacturer or distributor one hundred sequential nonwarranty customer-paid service repair orders that contain warranty-like parts or ninety consecutive days of nonwarranty customer-paid service repair orders that contain warranty-like parts, whichever is less, covering repairs made no more than one hundred eighty days before the submission and declaring the average percentage markup.
5. The retail rate customarily charged by the dealer for labor must be established using the same process as provided under subsection 4 and declaring the average labor rate. The average labor rate must be determined by dividing the amount of the dealer's total labor sales by the number of total hours that generated those sales. If a labor rate and parts markup rate are simultaneously declared by the dealer, the dealer may use the same repair orders to complete each calculation as provided under subsection 4.

6. In calculating the retail rate customarily charged by the dealer for parts and labor as provided in subsections 4 and 5, the following work may not be included in the calculation:
 - a. Repairs for manufacturer or distributor special events, specials, or promotional discounts for retail customer repairs;
 - b. Parts sold at wholesale;
 - c. Parts or labor used in manufacturer or distributor sponsored programs that restrict the pricing for repairs;
 - d. Routine maintenance not covered under any retail customer warranty, including fluids, filters, and belts not provided in the course of repairs;
 - ~~d-e.~~ Nuts, bolts, fasteners, and similar items that do not have an individual part number;
 - e. ~~Tires~~
 - f. Replacement or work on tires, including wheel or tire rotations or balancing, or replacements of brakes, including brake drums, rotors, shoes, or pads; and
 - ~~f-g.~~ Vehicle reconditioning;
 - h. Alignments, unless necessary as part of a mechanical repair;
 - i. Batteries, other than electric vehicle or hybrid vehicle propulsion batteries;
 - j. Repairs of a motor vehicle owned by the dealer or an employee of the dealer;
 - k. Installation of accessories;
 - l. Repairs to or with aftermarket parts; and
 - m. Repairs performed on motor vehicles of a line make other than that for which the dealer is franchised by the motor vehicle manufacturer.
7. a. The average of the parts markup rates and labor rate calculated under subsections 4 through 6 is presumed to be fair and reasonable and must go into effect thirty days following the manufacturer's ~~approval~~ receipt of the submission subject to the manufacturer or distributor's ability to contest the rate as provided in this subsection. The motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor may not issue more than one notice to the dealer contesting any declared labor rate or parts markup, and may not add to, expand, supplement, or otherwise modify any reason for contesting the declared rate or parts markup. A manufacturer or distributor may rebut the presumption by reasonably substantiating that a rate is unreasonable in light of the practices of all other franchised motor vehicle dealers in an economically similar area of the state offering the dealer's declaration of the same line make vehicles, not later than thirty days after submission. If the average parts markup rate or average labor rate is rebutted, or both, the manufacturer or distributor shall propose an adjustment of the average percentage markup based on that rebuttal not later than thirty days after submission. contest the material accuracy of the rate calculated under this section by providing a written objection to the dealer within thirty days after receiving the dealer's submission, and shall:

- (1) Provide the dealer with a copy of all calculations used by the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor to make the determination of the dealer's labor rate or parts markup, a written explanation of the basis for any inaccuracy alleged by the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor, and evidence substantiating any written explanation.
 - (2) Provide a proposed adjustment of the dealer's labor rate or parts markup based solely upon the information provided by paragraph 1.
 - (3) Commence paying the dealer at the proposed adjusted labor rate or parts markup determined by the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor as provided in this section. This section applies to all proposed adjusted labor rates or parts markups, even if the motor vehicle manufacturer's or distributor's determination of the labor rate or parts markup is different from the labor rate or parts markup provided in the dealer's submission.
- b. If a motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor fails to comply with the requirements of subdivision a within thirty days of receipt of submission, the submission is approved.
- c. If a dealer agrees with the conclusions of the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor and any corresponding adjustment to the labor rate or parts markup contained within the written objection, no further action is required. The new adjusted rate is effective thirty days after the dealer's submission is received by the manufacturer or distributor.
- d. If a motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor provides a written objection that complies with the requirements under subdivision a, and the dealer does not agree with the proposed adjusted labor rate or parts markup contained within the written objection, or if the dealer disputes the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor complied with the provisions of subdivision a, the dealer may bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction. In such proceeding:
- (1) The motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, and must show:
 - (a) The manufacturer or distributor complied with subdivision a;
 - (b) The dealer's submitted labor rate or parts markup was materially inaccurate; and

- (c) The manufacturer's or distributor's proposed adjustment to the dealer's submitted labor rate or parts markup was materially accurate.
- (2) If the dealer prevails in the action, the dealer's labor rate or parts markup is retroactive to the date thirty days following the motor vehicle manufacturer's or distributor's receipt of the submission, and the dealer shall recover all expenses in bringing and maintaining the action, including reasonable attorney fees. If a court finds the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor willfully violated this section, the dealer is entitled to recover three times the amount of the retroactive labor rate or parts markup.
8. ~~Each manufacturer, in establishing a schedule of compensation for warranty work, shall rely on the vehicle dealer's written schedule of hourly labor rates and parts and may not obligate any vehicle dealer to engage in unduly burdensome or time-consuming documentation of rates or parts, including obligating vehicle dealers to engage in transaction-by-transaction or part-by-part calculations.~~In establishing a rate under this section, the dealer's labor rate or parts markup must be calculated using the method prescribed in subsections 4 through 6.
9. A dealer ~~or~~ manufacturer or distributor may demand that the average parts markup or average labor rate be calculated using the process provided under subsections 4 and 5; however, the demand for the average parts markup may not be made within twelve months of the last parts markup declaration and the demand for the average labor rate may not be made within twelve months of the last labor rate declaration. If a parts markup or labor rate is demanded by the dealer or manufacturer or distributor, the dealer shall determine the repair orders to be included in the calculation under subsections 4 and 5.
10. a. If a motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor furnishes, or causes to be furnished, a part to a dealer at no cost or at a reduced cost for use in performing the services identified in subdivision a of subsection 1, the motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor shall compensate the dealer in the same manner as parts compensation under this section by paying the dealer for the dealer's cost of the part, if any, plus an amount equal to the dealer's parts markup, multiplied by the wholesale value of the part. The wholesale value of the part must be the greater of:
- (1) The amount the dealer paid for the part or a substantially identical part if already owned by the dealer;
- (2) The cost of the part shown in a current, or prior, motor vehicle manufacturer's, distributor's, or furnishing party's established price schedule; and
- (3) The cost of a substantially identical part shown in a current, or prior, motor vehicle manufacturer's, distributor's, or furnishing party's established price schedule.
- b. A motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor may not establish or implement a special part number for any part used in the services identified in subdivision a of subsection 1 if it results in lower compensation to the dealer than as calculated under this section.

11. A motor vehicle manufacturer or distributor may not:

- a. Require or influence or attempt to influence a dealer to implement or change the prices for which it sells parts or labor in retail repairs.
- b. Implement or continue a policy, procedure, or program to any of its dealers in this state for compensation under this section which is inconsistent with this section unless otherwise agreed by the dealer and the manufacturer or distributor.
- c. Take, or threaten to take, adverse action against a dealer that seeks to obtain compensation under this section, including:
 - (1) Creating or implementing an obstacle or process that is inconsistent with the motor vehicle manufacturer's obligations to the dealer under this chapter;
 - (2) Acting in bad faith; or
 - (3) Hindering, delaying, or rejecting the proper and timely payment of compensation due to a dealer under this section, provided nothing in this paragraph may restrict or impair audits or chargebacks conducted in accordance with section 51-07-02.4.

12. This section applies to all manufacturers and distributors as defined by section 51-07-00.1, and any other person that supplies a component or part installed on a new motor vehicle for which the warranty of the component or part is warranted by another person that is not the manufacturer.
