

My name is Michael Fasano, and I am a long-time kratom consumer, responsibly using it for over 15 years to manage chronic insomnia, joint pain, and, at times, symptoms of ADHD. Kratom has greatly improved my quality of life, allowing me to remain a healthy, productive, and law-abiding member of my community.

I support the regulation of natural leaf kratom with clear guidelines for labeling, testing, and retail sales so that consumers can use it safely while protecting the public from unregulated or adulterated products. Thank you.
