

HB1553 in Support Of

Shouldnt the wealth of a country show how well it treats its most vulnerable? No matter the child, rich or poor, they should be given access to a free meal when at school. Studies have shown that children preform better in class when theyve been fed and arent worrying about where their next meal comes from, it also takes a potential stress away from the parents if they are struggling or work different hours that hamper their own time with their children.