

Leave it up to the business to decide something as basic as operating hours. Keep big government out of it.

When the blue laws still existed and I needed something from the store on a Sunday morning, I'd make the 5-minute drive to a Moorhead Hornbacher's, not wait until a Fargo location opened.