faith-based retreats for bereaved parents

Finding hope and life after the loss of a child can be incredibly challenging.

The loss of a child, no matter that child's age, is profoundly life-altering. It's as if the foundations of everything we once held dear have been shaken and cracked.

The While We're Waiting ministry offers free Biblically based retreats where bereaved parents form bonds and make connections with other moms and dads who truly understand the experience of child loss.
