

Greetings,

PBS has been a cornerstone of educational local programming. I have learned about my community (Fargo), as well as farming communities, government, history, and native peoples. The quality of programming is second to none-and cannot be found anywhere else. I know I can watch with my kids, parents, and friends and it will always be a program that is appropriate, that is well made, entertaining, and/or really eye opening. Please, this is a foundation for North Dakota and the plains where we are proud of our region and need to continue to write, record, interview and collect local content. Masterpiece theater is also amazing.
