Minutes: 12 members present, 1 member absent (Rep. Wrangham)

Chairman DeKrey: We will open the hearing on SB 2063.

Cory Fong, Secretary of State's office: Introduced the bill. Support (see attached testimony).

This bill will fix areas that were in litigation last year.

Rep. Kretschmar: What, under this statute, under subsection b, lines 9-11, what would constitute someone publicly declared your candidacy. What if someone is thinking about it.

Mr. Fong: I believe it is going to be prompted when someone publicly declares that they are indeed a candidate. Someone who says they are thinking about it, we are weighing our options, you hear that a lot, I don't know that that's going to necessarily prompt them to be a candidate.

It's when they actually might have press conferences and go out and say, I am going to run.

That's the time they become candidates, and then they have to adhere to campaign finance, and disclosure requirements contained in the chapter.

Rep. Kretschmar: Would someone's public announcement require them then to file a statement of assets.

Mr. Fong: The statement of interest, is perhaps what you are referring to, is required to be filed with the Secretary of State when they file for office, and that includes either by filing a nominating petition, or the certificate of endorsement, statement of interest and their active plan. That, to our office, indicates a statewide candidate, or a county auditor, when they file for office. That is what, I am assuming you are talking about, statement of interest that says these are my interests and these are my conflicts might be.

Rep. Kretschmar: When someone announces, what are they required to do under current statute, or under this bill.

Mr. Fong: They aren't going to be required to file anything with our office, if they're candidates for statewide office, they would have to file a political committee registration with our office, so that they can start making money. The Legislative committee still does not have that requirement.

Rep. Klemin: Anything of value, for a good or service, is the candidate then to suppose to get some kind of statement from the party making this non-monetary contribution as to what the value is. How do you know what the value is.

Mr. Fong: I believe that we are going to expanding it to definitely to include anything of value. It's going to have to be based on what the fair market value of that particular item might be. For example, if an individual decides they are going to hold a party or have a reception of some kind, the receipts from that reception, are going to have to be equated at fair market value to determine whether or not there is a reporting requirement. It's still a contribution now, because it's of anything of value. If it exceeds $200, then it is going to have to be reported as such.

House Judiciary Committee

Rep. Klemin: Is there going to be a requirement to submit some kind of proof of what the value is, or just on the report you set down the total.

Mr. Fong: There won't be a requirement to say, we have ascertained through these receipts that this was going to, that this contribution is going to exceed this amount, it will simply be based on what the individual filer says is the value of that contribution. But it's going to have to be based on fair market value.

Rep. Klemin: When we're talking services, other than volunteer service, which is not included, are you talking about personal service?

Mr. Fong: I guess you'd have to define what you mean by personal service. We're not talking about volunteer time, volunteer time is already exempt as a contribution. The time that those volunteers spend does not have to be equated as a contribution.

Rep. Delmore: When we're looking at nominal value, are we still speaking under $200.

Mr. Fong: No, I think what we're talking about with nominal value, nominal value is defined as that which does not have to be considered of value. Nominal value means the cost, price or worth of good or services, trivial token, or of no appreciable value. So there is no dollar figure on that, it means that there is very little value, cost, price, etc.

Rep. Delmore: Let's say I host a fundraising dinner for a statewide candidate, if I charge tickets, if my charge for tickets is $200 or above, do I have to have names for everyone of those people and make sure that they are in my report.

Mr. Fong: Just so I understand the situation, you're going to hold a party or reception of some kind, statewide candidate, you plan to sell tickets to that event, or ask for contributions. If those individuals are going to make a contribution or buy that ticket, and it exceeds $200, it's going to have to be reported.

Rep. Delmore: If it is $200, it's not reportable.

Mr. Fong: That is correct. Our campaign finance laws, in their current state, without this legislation would only require contributions in excess of $200 to be reported. Anything of $200 or less, do not have to be reported.

Rep. Delmore: If someone contributes to that reception, someone contributes fine wine or steaks or whatever else, how will I determine if that has to be reported.

Mr. Fong: If someone were to donate those kinds of products, etc. and the fair market value of that exceeds $200, then that becomes a reportable contribution to the individual who was benefiting from it or the candidate. Let's say you are holding a fundraising party for a statewide candidate, then that needs to show up as a contribution of equal value to the statewide candidate, so that they would show $450.63 in contributions from the individual who purchased that fine wine, or steaks, or whatever.

Chairman DeKrey: Thank you. Further testimony in support, testimony in opposition. We will close the hearing. What are the committee's wishes in regard to SB 2063.

Rep. Grande: I move a Do Pass.

Rep. Kingsbury: Seconded.

RE: SB 2063 – Candidates and Contributions

The adoption of this bill will result in the law containing a clear definition of when an individual become a candidates and when that individual, as a candidate, has a campaign contribution reporting requirement under Chapter 16.1-08.1 of the North Dakota Century Code.

The standards as to when an individual becomes a candidate are listed in lines 8 through 18 on the first page of the bill.

In addition, the bill clarifies the definition of a contribution by making it clear that it includes "anything of value" (page 1, line 20) and to provide a definition as to what "anything of value" means (page 2, lines 4 through 7).

Finally, the bill (page 2, lines 18 through 21) makes a distinction between monies received in a candidate's personal or employment capacity and monies received for political purposes.
