Explanation or reason for introduction of bill/resolution:

A Bill relating to allocation by landlords to renters of property tax relief benefits to the rental property; and to provide an effective date.

Minutes:

#1 "attached testimony."

Chairman Belter: Call the hearing for HB 1394.

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: Sponsored this bill. I would like to start out with that 30% of the North Dakota residence lives in properties owned by someone else. Granted of the 30%, some of these residences live in institutionalized facilities like jails, nursing homes and so forth. The others live in duplexes, triplexes or apartments. This bill that I have in front of you is for fourplexes or larger rental properties. What it basically does is a pass through of the property taxes relief obtained by the owner of the property to the tenants. Over the last several years the state has done a fine job in helping out many folks trying to reduce property taxes but the one segment that has not been helped is the tenants of larger rental units. I do not have census to back this up, if someone would do some kind of income analysis of people living in rental units, I am sure it is substantially lower or less than those living in single family dwellings. I have put this bill together to be simple as possible. Now I see that there are some holes in the bill as terms of accountability and enforcement. I would like to submit the bill with a purposed amendment attached. The State will not be involved. This is basically between the lease and leaser.

Representative Dwight Wrangham: Why did you go to form where separate units instead of a duplex?

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: Initially I had all rental properties including a single family home. My preference would be for all properties, even legislators during session would be eligible. I am unsure and probably Mr. Walstad could answer these questions.

Vice Chairman Craig Headland: What if the landlord has already reduced his rent and included his property tax in that direction? Does this bill say he has to increase the rent and get a check back?

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: This bill simply says he has to send the check back to the renter. The Landlords would have clear knowledge about this bill. I am not familiar with anyone that would decrease their rents. If they did I guess that would be the case because it would be the law of the state.

Representative Dave Weiler: So if I live in an eightplex I'm going to receive a check from my landlord on the amount on his tax break?

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: That is the way I understand it.

Representative Dave Weiler: Would I have to claim that as income?

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: This would be established as a business expense.

Representative Dave Weiler: Is there a danger in passing this bill and then the landlords jack the rent up $500? My concern is that we cannot guarantee that the property tax plan relief will be continued. The landlords have assumed a lot of risk in buying an apartment building and need to make their ends meet too.

Representative Glen Froseth: Would this also included hotels and motels? I think this would be a accounting nightmare. Would this include the representatives,.

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: It is my understanding that hotels and motels would not be included in this legislation.

Vice Chairman Craig Headland: If an owner of a fourplex rents only one apartment, would he get all of the property tax relief or part of it? I see nothing in the bill clarifying or stating how this would work.

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: I did try to keep this bill as simple as possible and unsure how it would work and would have to refer that question to Mr. Walstad.

Rocky Gordon, Lobbyist for ND Apartments Association: Opposition. Please refer to attached testimony #1.

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: I think you gave a good description of many of your expenses and costs. But you didn't talk about how many rent and how much is paid? Often times the people who rent from us are the poorest amongst us. I guess you were willing to give us the costs but if you were willing to give us the revenue to balance this off, it would be appreciated.

Rocky Gordon: I guess I thought I already did. The rent on the first apartment is $650 and the other is $450 a month.

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: What are your vacancy rates?

Rocky Gordon: Our overall vacancy rate is 2 to 3% in the Bismarck area market today.

Representative Lonny B. Winrich: You mentioned the roommate situation. I have been under the impression that one person is the leasee. They work out an arrangement themselves.

Rocky Gordon: That is not how our Company does it. We believe that each resident needs to be signed to the lease so that they are agreeing to the terms. Roommates do split the rent and we do accept checks from more than one person.

Representative Dave Weiler: Curious and alarmed at the cost of insurance from 2008 to 2010, it more than doubled. What was the cause of that?

Rocky Gordon: It was 2 things. We had a very favorable insurance company and then had a couple of claims and that company no longer would insure us.

Claus Lembke: Opposition. I represent the North Dakota of Realtors. We do believe the market sets the prices and it should not be artificially changed.

Representative Scot Kelsh: I have a question for Marcy Dickerson of the Tax Department. As I understand it, commercial property is appraised when it is sold based on its income generating capability as part of that formula. When it is evaluated for tax appraised purposes it based the simple formula of the value time 10%. Is that correct?

Marcy Dickerson, ND Tax Department: Commercial property can be valued in three different ways: Cost less depreciation and obsolescence.

You can look at the income approach base on the income the property the income the property is capable of producing.

Sales comparison approaches

The way we get to the 10% is the true and full value of any property is true and full value multiplied by 50% which is call assessed value, which is a statutory calculation. For Commercial property 10% of the assessed value is taxable value. But this is a mechanical calculation to get down to the number that the mill rate is applied to.

Representative Scot Kelsh: How is the majority of rental property valued?

Marcy Dickerson: Most rental property qualifies as commercial property. Any property unit that has 4 or more living units is considered commercial property. Any property that has 3 or less is considered residential property. The difference is that for the residential is 9% of the assessed value.

Representative Scot Kelsh: I would like to know what method of the 3 is most commonly used when it comes to rental property.

Marcy Dickerson: I can't say for sure. I think in the larger communities there are a lot of sales, the sales comparison approach is used because they have that information. In smaller communities where they have very few sales, that information is not probably available. Next to sales I am sure the income approach is looked at, but in most cases they do look at the sales.

Chairman Belter: Asked for further testimony. Seeing none closed the hearing on HB 1394

Chairman Wesley R. Belter: What are the wishes of the committee?

Representative Bette Grande: Made motion of DO NOT PASS as amended.

Vice Chairman Craig Headland: Seconded.

Representative Steven L. Zaiser: I really do feel that we have gotten tax relief for a couple of sessions now. This is strictly intended for tax relief for the renters the state. State wide it is 36%, in Fargo it is 55% in Grand Forks it may be more. Out west they are paying exurbanite rates. Contrary to some of the concerns laid out, as what if there is no more property relief. Well than there would be no reimbursement. Does it include houses that are rented out? Yes it does, it talks about residential property 1 dwelling up to 3 dwellings and on commercial property it talks about 4 and over. I feel it is clear and clean with no bureaucracy. It is from the landlord to the tenant for the property tax relief created by the tenant living there.

Calculation of rent rebate

Arikara Apartments 121 & 125 E Arikara

Average rent (615 per month) ÷ total rent collected x tax reduction

$$7380 \div 332,973 = 2.2 \%$$

$$5493 \times 2.2 \% = 120.85$$

Tax savings calculated

$$33,985 \text{ (2008 taxes)} - 28,942 \text{ (2010 taxes)} = 5493$$

Valleyview Apartments 2506 E Ave F & 825 N 26th Street

Average rent (450 per month) ÷ total rent collected x tax reduction

$$5400 \div 120,966 = 4.4 \%$$

$$2592 \times 4.6 \% = 119.23$$

Tax savings calculated

$$14,918 \text{ (2008 taxes)} - 12,336.62 \text{ (2010 taxes)} = 2592.08$$

Average unit rebate $10.00/month per unit.

While our tax costs have decreased our other expenses have increased.

Insurance costs at Arikara went up from 6253 in 2008 to 13,893 in 2010 or 13.21 per unit per month.

Snow removal costs at Valleyview went up from 1293 in 2008 to 2461 in 2010 or 4.16 per unit per month and will likely go up more in 2011.

Labor costs at both properties went up about 6 % over the last 2 years. Did rents go down during these 2 years? No they did not.

At Arikara our rents went up $30/unit per month in 2 years. At Valleyview our rents went up $25/unit over the 2 years. The increase would have been higher had we not received the credit. How much I estimate $10.00 to $15.00 per unit per month. Have residents received their share I believe they have.

HB 1394

We are opposed to this bill because:

1. We believe the residents have received benefit.
2. The administrative cost and burden of the rent rebates will add to rent costs.
3. Landlords will look at rebates as merely a state created additional expenses that will be passed on in higher rent costs.
4. It creates complications
 1. Who gets the rebates in roommate situations?
 2. Who gets the rebates when residents are on Housing Assistance the agency or the resident?

Please help us in defeating a bill that actually raises costs and ultimately rents, and is unnecessary because the free market works.
