The Labor Commissioner filled the new FTE compliance investigator position on September 1, 2009. All 12 FTE positions within the agency are currently filled.

The Labor Commissioner made modifications to its retaliation intake form and website to begin accepting complaints of violations of whistleblower protection laws beginning July 2009. The agency has received one intake alleging retaliation under North Dakota Century Code Chapter 34-11.1 as well as some related telephone inquiries since making these modifications. The agency is in the process of gathering information to determine the best course of action to remedy the intake.
