Senator Hyland:

Mr. President:

Since the adjournment of the last Legislative assembly this body has sustained, by the hand of death, the loss of two members of the twenty-first assembly and several gentlemen who have served in former sessions. Other members will extol the virtues of the Senators who served in sessions previous to the twenty-first but at this time and for the present I wish to speak of our relationship with and our admiration for Senator John Van Arnam of Cass County and Senator Alfred Steele of Stutsman County.

Senator Van Arnam served but one term of two sessions in this body, but during that time endeared himself to every member by a warmth of personal charm and by a personality brimming with happiness and a great desire to be pleasant, agreeable and efficient at all times. I bespeak for every member who knew Senator Van Arnam when I say that he will be missed among the members of this body.

In the loss of Senator Alfred Steele the entire state has suffered an irreparable loss. In ability measured by brains, in honesty, in matters of honor, in uprightness of character, as an orator, as a pleasant companion, as a sincere friend, as a legislator whose broad vision covered not one legislative district but the entire state of North Dakota he had no equal.

Mr. President, in my opinion this state has never had, has not now, and perhaps will never have the equal of that "grand old man of Stutsman County." His was a heart of pure and virgin gold, no base metal, no alloy went into the creation of his manly make-up. In him there was no sham, no hypocrisy, no little faults that distracted his mind from the finer and better things in life.

Mr. President, Senator Steele firmly believed in a Creator, a Redeemer who guided his footsteps not only in this life but in that grander life he is now enjoying and it is my wish and prayer that the same Redeemer who guided his footsteps always aright, will show his old colleagues that same path so that we may join him in that great assembly above.

Mr. President: As a mark of esteem and respect for our deceased colleagues, I move that the Senate do now adjourn for this legislative day.

A petition by A. L. Shellenberger and ninety-six other taxpayers of the State of North Dakota urging that the Legislature enact a suitable bill that will place a tax of at least ten cents per pound on all oleomargarine and other butter substitutes sold in the State of North Dakota.

A communication from the Board of Administration submitting a report of its actions subsequent to the destruction of the Capitol building together with the report of H. L. Reade, the State Fire Marshal.

Senator Watt moved that the report of the Board of Administration pertaining to the destruction of the Capitol building together with the report of the State Fire Marshal be printed in the Journal.

Which Motion prevailed and it was so ordered.

To the Honorable Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota:

The Board of Administration hereby submits a report of some of its actions subsequent to the destruction of the Capitol building which occurred on the morning of December 28, 1930.

To determine, if possible, the cause of the fire, the Board requested the State Fire Marshal, Mr. H. L. Reade, to make an investigation. His report through Chief Assistant Fire Marshal, Mr. Frank Barnes, is attached herewith.

Following the fire one of the first tasks of this Board was to secure adequate quarters for the various departments of State government, so that they might resume their work as promptly and efficiently as circumstances would permit. To facilitate this work, a committee of the Association of Commerce at Bismarck co-operated with the secretary of the Board of Administration in compiling a list of the places available in the city for such office rooms, the amount of space in each, and the rental for which each could be secured.

This committee exercised special care to help the Board avoid the payment of excessive rentals in this emergency. As speedily as the necessary office and storage rooms for each department could be properly provided, temporary arrangements were made, pending the meeting of the Legislature. Thus far no leases have been negotiated to cover the entire period when rented quarters will be required.

It has been necessary for some rooms to be vacated for our convenience and expenses incurred for necessary alterations. These things were done with the understanding that the owners should be properly compensated for any loss or expense incurred, should we vacate any of these places before permanent office quarters may be provided by the state. After considering all of the places available, and the office and storage space needed by each department, temporary arrangements were concluded for the following quarters with the indicated monthly rental, which we believe to be the best arrangement the Board could make, and which we therefore submit for your approval:

Second floor, Patterson Hotel (34 rooms), $1,000 per month. The Patterson Hotel houses the State Examiner; Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, with the Dairy Commission; the Superintendent of Public Instruction; the Board of Administration and Children's Bureau; the State Printer, and the State Mine Inspector.

Fleck's Garage, $655 per month. Fleck's Garage is occupied by the entire Highway Department and the State Engineer.

Stair's Garage, $200 per month. Stair's Garage houses the Hail Insurance Department.

Room in Annex Building, $150 per month. The east room in the Annex Building is occupied by the State Tax Commissioner.

Laskin Building, $125 per month. The Laskin Building houses the State Supply Department.

Bismarck Tire & Electric Service, $150 per month. The Bismarck Tire & Electric Service Building houses the Commissioner of Insurance, and State Insurance and Bonding Departments.

Lahr Building, $450 per month. The Lahr Building takes care of the Adjutant General and the Railroad Commission.

City National Bank Building, $125 per month. The City National Bank Building takes care of the State License Department.

Little Building, $125 per month. The Secretary of State is housed in the Little Block.

This makes a total rental per month of $2,980.

We request your consideration of the above temporary arrangements, the authority from you to make leases for these quarters until permanent offices may be provided by the state, and provision for paying such rentals.

Most of the valuable records that were stored in the Capitol Building have been salvaged; and most of those that were lost are such as may be replaced.

Some of the office equipment was salvaged and is being used in the temporary offices. The value of such salvage is less than 20 per cent of the total value.

The amount of insurance in force on building and contents is $728,000. In addition to this insurance the State Supply Store was insured for $8,000. Both suffered a total loss. The insurance from the latter policy should be applied on the State Supply Department.

Acknowledgments are hereby made to the City of Bismarck and the County of Burleigh for their co-operation with the members of the Legislature who were in the city just after the fire, to provide suitable places for the meeting of the Legislature. Credit is due to Senator Sperry, Representative Cox, and Colonel Frayne Baker, who served as a committee to prepare the Auditorium and Community Building for the use of the Legislative Assembly, while the Board was busily occupied with the necessary work of securing suitable quarters for the various state offices and departments.

The Federal Government freely extended aid by providing such offices as could be spared in the Federal Building. The Association of Commerce facilitated the work of the Board of Administration through the co-operation of its officers and committees and by extending to the Board the free use of office space until other rooms could be secured. The Quain-Ramstad Clinic furnished us the third floor of their building, fully equipped for offices, until other rooms and equipment could be secured.

Respectfully submitted,

NELSON SAUVAIN,
Chairman, State Board of Administration.

ERNEST G. WANNER,
Executive Secretary, State Board of Administration.

Note: Since preparing the above, the insurance adjuster has approved our loss as a total loss of $728,000.

(Copy of letter from Chief Assistant Fire Marshal to Board of Administration)

To the Honorable State Board of Administration
Bismarck, North Dakota

Gentlemen:

As per your request I am herewith submitting a report of the investigation made of the Capitol Building fire which occurred Sunday morning, December 28, 1930, somewhere in the neighborhood of 8 o'clock. The investigation, so far, was made by Chief Assistant Fire Marshal, Frank Barnes, who arrived at the scene of the fire about thirty minutes after the fire alarm was sounded. On his arrival at the premises of the fire it was impossible to ascertain just what caused this fire or the particular point the fire originated.

The fire was soon out of control and spread throughout the building very rapidly. The Bismarck Fire Department worked diligently in battling the flames, but it was a losing battle from the start as the water pressure was inadequate and the fire had too much of a start.

Mr. Joe Winkle, a janitor, who was alone in the building at the time the fire was first discovered and who turned in the alarm, states as follows: That he had been in the janitor room about an hour before he discovered the fire and was working in the Bank Examiner's offices on the ground floor, which is located in the extreme southeast corner of the building, and that about 8 o'clock he heard an unusual roaring noise in the building and left his work and went out of the office to ascertain what it was, but did not then discover the fire and returned to his work. In a few minutes he heard a loud noise resembling an explosion. He then went outside of the building and discovered smoke and flames coming through the southeast windows of the State Licensing Department offices attached to the Attorney General's offices on the third floor, which are located right above the janitor room on the second floor. It is our belief that the noise resembling an explosion was caused by a falling beam or some other heavy object that had burned loose by the fire.

Our opinion and conclusion as to the origin of the fire, at this time, with the meager information available and disclosed, are that the fire started in the janitor's room on the second floor of the building about one-half hour before it was discovered and alarm sounded, cause of fire being spontaneous combustion or some other unknown cause.

Respectfully submitted,

H. L. READE,
State Fire Marshal.

By FRANK BARNES,
Chief Assistant Fire Marshal.

Bismarck, North Dakota, this 31st day of December, 1930.

A Joint Resolution of commendation and approval of the American Legislators' Association and of the Interstate Legislative Reference Bureau.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Introduced by Senators Fowler, Bond, Hyland, Patterson, Ployhar:

Whereas, all experienced persons know that in each State, legislative problems continually increase, both in number and in complexity.

Whereas, it is obvious that in order to solve such problems most efficiently, each legislature must give systematic, scientific and business-like consideration to the actual facts which have a bearing upon each question—to the extent that such facts have been determined by reliable research.

Whereas, each legislature must give similar consideration to the methods and experience of other jurisdictions in dealing with problems similar to its own.

Whereas, no such problems can be dealt with adequately until facilities are established to assist every inquiring legislator to secure the most accurate information and the most expert advice which are available.

Whereas, experience indicates the necessity for an interstate legislative reference bureau to serve as a clearing house of information between all of the legislative reference services which are now being conducted by numerous states, and also to serve as a clearing house of information between the legislatures and all other agencies which are engaged in the study and analysis of legislative problems, such as governmental departments, political science departments of universities, competent reputable associations, and all other sources of information.

Whereas, experience also indicates that in certain States which do not maintain substantial legislative reference services, there is an imperative need for such an interstate legislative reference bureau, which will assist the legislators of those States to secure whatever information they desire in analyzing the legislative problems which they must determine, and to make more readily accessible for them, without costs, the valuable material which is at all times available from the legislative reference libraries and bureaus of various other states, and from many other reliable sources.

Whereas, every individual legislator in the United States shares the responsibility for improving the present inadequate and unsatisfactory condition of the legislative processes, but neither any individual legislator, nor any group of legislators from one State, can bring about such improvement without the cooperation of legislators of other states.

Whereas, such an interstate legislative reference bureau cannot be maintained by any one State alone, without the cooperation of the legislatures of other States.

Whereas, in order to set the machinery in motion to secure the necessary cooperation of the forty-eight legislatures, members of each legislature are working together in the development of the project of the American Legislators' Association.

Whereas, the said American Legislators' Association has now established in the vicinity of the University of Chicago, the Interstate Legislative Reference Bureau, which by explicit pledge is without color of politics, partisanship or propaganda, is conducted without profit, and is engaged upon three principal purposes:

FIRST: To procure promptly for all inquiring state legislators, and their agents, whatever information or advice they desire in connection with any legislative problem, primarily by assisting them to secure, without cost, the benefit of all researches conducted by governmental departments, universities, associations, legislative reference bureaus, and other agencies throughout the United States.

SECOND: To conduct a systematic study of the legislative processes of each of the States, in order to ascertain the practices which contribute most to efficient and economical organization and procedure; and to render all possible assistance to each legislature—and to each legislative reference bureau—which is endeavoring to improve its organization.

THIRD: To publish for the benefit of all state legislators the monthly magazine, State Government, as well as special Bulletins, and thus to disseminate information which will be helpful to all conscientious students of legislation.

Whereas, the American Legislators' Association is promoting acquaintance and mutual understanding among all individuals and organizations officially concerned with the impartial and scientific functioning of the legislatures of the various states, by the organization of Standing Committees and Advisory Boards, and otherwise.

Whereas, the character and project of the American Legislators' Association have the endorsement, and its organization has the active cooperation, not only of its membership, which consists entirely of members and ex-members of state legislatures, but also of numbers of other responsible citizens, many of whom, having specialized knowledge, are serving on the Association's Advisory Boards.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED: That the organization of the American Legislators' Association and of the Interstate Legislative Reference Bureau are hereby commended as legitimate and constructive efforts to assist the legislatures of the various States in the efficient performance of their work.

The President administered the oath of office to Leo. J. McDonald, clerk of the Committee on Appropriations.

Senator Ettestad moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

Which motion prevailed and the Senate adjourned.

State of North Dakota

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

Bismarck

January 23, 1931.

To the Senate and House of Representatives
of the State of North Dakota:

I have the honor to transmit for your information the report and findings of the voluntary Banking Code Commission heretofore appointed by me for the purpose of making a study of the state laws covering banks, building and loan associations, trust and investment companies, credit corporations and other companies receiving deposits or investments from the public, for the purpose of determining what changes are required to more adequately protect the depositing and investing public and to strengthen and improve the state banking system.

Such Voluntary Banking Code Commission has prepared bills designed to carry into effect all of these laws, which bills will be available for the use of the members of the legislature.

Very truly yours,
GEO. F. SHAFER,
Governor.

To His Excellency,
Geo. F. Shafer, Governor,
Bismarck, N. Dak.

Sir:

We herewith submit for your consideration, suggested Bills covering codes and laws relating to banking associations and similar concerns which have been prepared by the Banking Code Commission appointed by you in January, 1930.

In our study of the various matters considered we have endeavored at all times to keep in mind your direction "to make a thorough study of all the State Laws covering Banks, Building & Loan Associations, Trust and Investment Companies, Credit Corporations and other companies soliciting deposits or investments from the public, for the purpose of determining what changes are required to more adequately protect the depositing and investing public and to strengthen and improve the State Banking System."

Since the appointment of the Commission it has been engaged in digesting and studying not only our existing Statutes, but also resolutions prepared by the State Banking Board from time to time relating to banking and similar institutions, and the Statutes and Laws of numerous other States.

While the proposed Bills speak for themselves, it is our conclusion that your study of them, particularly with reference to changes made in the existing Statutes, might be expedited by a brief resume of the more important amendments and additions contained therein.

This report is not intended to be an exhaustive digest of the recommendations of the Commission, but is rather a resume of the more important changes, additions and amendments suggested by it.

We shall discuss them in the order following:

COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS BANKS

Since the Compilation of Laws in 1913 we have had no reclassifications of Laws relating to Banking Corporations. This has resulted in the parent acts being amplified, restricted, amended and re-amended, repeatedly, making it hazardous and difficult to answer a problem under the banking laws without reference to numerous Codes, Supplements and Session Laws, and it was our conclusion that although material changes have not been suggested in many of the present Banking Laws, yet in order to classify and condense all the existing and proposed Banking Laws it was advisable to repeal in toto all the present laws, and to re-arrange and renumber all old sections retained together with the new ones suggested, for the purpose of enabling anyone desiring to ascertain the provisions relating to this class of business to refer to one code and therein determine any question at issue.

The outstanding material changes and additions are as follows:

Section 6—A definition of Banking Associations. The present laws do not clearly define them. This Section brings all corporations doing this class of business within the provisions of this Act.

Section 7—Provides for compliance with banking laws and the use of the word "bank", etc., concerning which our present law was entirely inadequate. This Section is designed to protect the investing public from persons or concerns using misleading signs or advertising in the conduct of their business.

Section 13—Subdivision "f" provides for the filling of vacancies in the Board of Directors by appointment. This limits the power of the Board to designate more than one-third of its membership. No limit under present law. Subdivision "h" provides for the loaning of money on real estate, concerning which the present law is entirely inadequate, in that no preliminary inspection and valuation is necessary nor is any proper record of the proceedings required.

Section 17—Requires in addition to the Capital necessary a Surplus of at least 20% of the Capital. No Surplus is compulsory at time of organization under the present law, and this requirement will necessarily lend additional strength and stability to the institution.

Section 18—Clarifies and strengthens the manner of restoration of impaired Capital. The present law is uncertain and ambiguous, and the procedure for restoration inadequate. The proposed Section will require a prompt performance of this fundamental necessity.

Section 19—Relates to the same matter as Section 18. Requiring officers to immediately notify State Examiner.

Section 20—Subdivisions "c" and "d" provides for the manner of increasing or decreasing Capital Stock. The present laws do not provide for notice, which should be given in fairness to and for the protection of both the bank and its stockholders.

Section 21—Provides that Directors' qualifying shares shall be so marked and deposited with State Examiner. Prevents pledging, sale or transfer of shares during term of office. Present law silent on this.

Section 23—Simplifies and accelerates the disposition of delinquent stock. Present law slow, cumbersome, uncertain and requires useless publicity.

Section 25—Provides for an actual record of the postoffice address of the shareholders. No provision in present law keeping addresses up to date. This will facilitate the collection of assessments upon stock.

Section 33—Provides for the formation of Agricultural Credit Corporations within a Bank, as suggested to the Commission by you. This is an entirely new departure, providing for the organization of corporations to rediscount, without guaranty or endorsement of the bank its receivables, with the Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Paul, Minnesota, affording an outlet for this class of paper to the maximum sum of $100,000.00.

Section 34a—Present law inadequate in that it does not invalidate contracts for borrowing in excess of limit allowed by law. New Section makes all such excess contracts null and void.

Section 34i—Strengthens the provisions for the violations of provisions as to borrowing. Present law too lax and penalty too small.

Section 35—Provides limit of loans to members of one family. This practice in the past has been much abused and has been the indirect cause of many bank failures.

Section 36—Restricts and defines loans to Stockholders and employees. This is another type of loan which has been much abused as the present law is entirely too uncertain and open in its scope.

Section 37—Provides a penalty for unlawful loans. The present law too indefinite and the penalty inadequate.

Section 40—Provides that the State Banking Board may prescribe the rate of interest within any County. This is the identical authority held by the former Guaranty Fund Commission, and is a wise and necessary regulatory power.

Section 51—Several changes with reference to the administration of insolvent banks, particularly subdivisions "t" and "u". The present law is too slow and cumbersome, and the proposed provisions make the procedure flexible and prompt. The major portion of these amendments were made upon the suggestion of Mr. L. R. Baird, Receiver of closed banks, and Hon. Thos. H. Pugh, Special Judge.

Section 54—Exemption of state banks from income tax so as to place them on a parity with national banks, which are now exempt under the National Banking Acts, thus unfairly discriminating between State and National Banks. Every assistance should be extended to enable them to compete on an equal basis with National Banks. This suggestion is in accordance with the recommendation of Mr. I. A. Acker, State Tax Commissioner.

Section 57—Provides that notice to creditors in estates of deceased persons be given the State Examiner. This is to assist in the collection of Stockholders' liability where Stockholder is deceased. The present law silent on this and many assessments have been lost thereby.

Section 59—Clarifies liability of bank on forged checks. The present provision is too indefinite as to fixing time within which a claim should be made. For the protection of both the customer and the bank this should be certain and positive.

Section 60—Defines certified checks and provides for penalty for misuse thereof. Too much latitude given banks under the existing law, and this privilege has been frequently abused.

Section 61—Strengthens the provisions relating to false statements for the purpose of obtaining credit. Present Statutes are practically silent and do not prevent the giving of worthless and in many cases fraudulent financial statements.

Section 62—Similar to "61" but relating to values, and providing a penalty.

Section 63—Provides penalty for slander and libel of banks. No specific Statute covering this at present, and banking associations are entitled to every protection from this all too frequent menace.

Section 68—A general provision providing for punishment of felonies and misdemeanors. We have, wherever possible, simply designated the degree of a crime, and left the determination of punishment to this Section. This being done for brevity and convenience.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

In this particular field of research we concluded that our present laws relating to building and loan associations were entirely inadequate and in our judgment it would not be feasible to make amendments thereto, and we therefore compiled an entirely new code. In this connection, may we add, that before beginning the preparation of a code we made an extensive study of similar codes of numerous States. The enclosed code, however, is primarily based upon similar provisions of the states of California, Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas and Washington. The structural form largely following that of Montana, which recently revised its Building and Loan Association laws.

In the preparation of this code, we had primarily in mind the protection of the investing public from the dangers which have evidenced themselves in the experiences of other states where no proper regulatory powers were provided by Statute, viz, lack of necessary requisites before organization and stringent and far-reaching powers of supervision thereafter. The organization of associations by professional promoters made possible largely by permitting exorbitant stock subscription fees; the charging of unwarranted commission and membership fees; the investment of the shareholders' money in anything but First Mortgages (except in specific cases mentioned in the Act) on real estate, pledges of shares, or in reputable bonds and securities. At the same time we deemed it necessary and expedient to safeguard and protect not only existing associations, but also to permit legitimate associations to be hereafter formed. We have also included rigid rules and regulations to prevent individuals and corporations without the State from entering into or conducting business within the State, until they conform to the conditions provided.

In order to better acquaint ourselves with the requirements and needs of the investing public, and the necessities of existing building and loan associations, upon the completion of a tentative code we submitted the same for consideration to the North Dakota League of Building & Loan Associations, a statewide organization of all North Dakota Building & Loan Associations, requesting that they scrutinize it closely and thereafter give to us a frank expression of their conclusions, either favorable or otherwise. Thereafter they advised us that the code as submitted was considered by them and appointed a committee to confer with your Commission. After a conference with this committee, certain amendments and changes were mutually agreed upon and the code as submitted to you herewith was entirely approved as to form and content with the exception of subdivisions "5" and "7" of Section "7" thereof.

With reference to subdivision "5" which defines the kinds and classes of shares which may be issued by an association, the definitions of and limitations on the rate of dividends permitted on installment, fully paid, prepaid and optional payment shares, being subdivisions "a", "b", "c" and "d", respectively, represent the unanimous conclusion of the Commission, reached over the objection to the rates of permissible dividends on fully paid and optional payment shares, made by a minority of the Building and Loan League membership, particularly with respect to optional payment shares. Such difference of opinion is primarily based upon an interpretation of the fundamental purposes and objects of a building and loan association. It is the contention of the Commission that a building and loan association is purely a mutual association, mutual to the extent that all shareholders should participate in the earnings and profits of the association. The most serious conflict of opinion was caused by the fact that a few members of the League contended that building and loan associations should be permitted to accept deposits and to pay any desired rate of interest thereon without regard to the mutual feature of such organizations which contemplates dividends of an uncertain amount, dependent upon the earning capacity of the association. The Commission contended that as long as a building and loan association is operating, as is contemplated by the proposed code, without a fixed Capital Stock, without any double liability on the part of a shareholder, which would lend added security to a depositor, and without such shares or association being subjected to the taxing laws of the State, or subject to the same type of supervision and control that banks are, that they should not be permitted to operate upon a parity with banking associations.

The Commission were agreed however that because of the precedent already established within this State, an association should be permitted to pay, within certain prescribed limitations, dividends on optional shares issued, at a rate, to be fixed by the Banking Board, but not in any event to exceed by one-half of one per cent, the rate of interest paid by any Bank located in the same city or town, and with this object in view, subdivision "d" was drafted in its present form.

We are very pleased to state that all measures proposed for the elimination of promotional associations, and the restricting of excessive membership fees, fines and charges, the League was practically unanimous in concurring with us. However, there was some difference of opinion as to when, other than a nominal membership fee, should be discontinued, which is covered by subdivision "7" of Section "7". Some associations contended, and we believe rightly too, that a certain specified time should be afforded them within which to rearrange their business practice and to discontinue the collection of more than a nominal membership fee. It was the conclusion of the Commission that they be allowed a membership fee of 2% for a period of one year after the Act becomes effective, a fee of 1% during the second year and thereafter a fee not exceeding one-half of one per cent of the value of each share.

TRUST COMPANIES

It was our conclusion that the laws relating to Trust Companies required no substantial changes other than as covered in the following proposed amendments, viz:

ENLARGED FIELD OF INVESTMENT

Provision whereby more latitude is given for the investment of Trust funds in First Mortgages on North Dakota property, placing them on a parity with other institutions dealing in similar securities.

DIRECTORS' QUALIFYING SHARES

Providing for the filing of Directors' qualifying shares with the State Examiner. This is identical with the provision contained in the Banking Code.

USE OF NAME "TRUST"

Makes specific provision with reference to the use of the words "Trust" and "Trust Company." This is to prevent the use of these words by organizations which are in no sense trust companies.

SLANDER AND LIBEL

Provides for punishment of slander and libel of a trust company. The present law is entirely inadequate to cover this ever present menace to the safety of institutions of this character.

BANKING LAWS APPLICABLE

Provides that Trust Companies shall be subject to and must comply with certain restrictive provisions and regulations, as to management and operation provided for banks.

MISCELLANEOUS ACTSMERGER OF BANKS

Present law makes no provision for the merger of local banking associations with National Banks. The proposed Bill will permit merger with National Banks or vice versa.

INTEREST RATES

The laws relating to interest rates have been amended and re-amended so frequently, and apparently at times without reference to then existing Statutes, that we have found a few direct conflicts in the wording of the Statutes and considerable uncertainty. We have thought it best, therefore, to recast all of the laws referring to legal and contract rates of interest in one Bill. However, no change has been made insofar as the maximum or minimum rates are concerned, excepting that we have made provision for the charging of a fee not exceeding $1.00 in lieu of interest on small loans. This is to legalize a practice generally followed by banks over the State, and is in effect simply a fee to cover the expense of making such loans where the statutory interest allowed would be inadequate. We are informed that banks are thus rendering a much called for and required service for a nominal charge.

CHARGED OFF REAL ESTATE

There has been a diversity of opinion as to whether or not real estate formerly carried on the books of the bank and "charged off" should be a deductible item in the determination of the taxable value of its shares, and we have therefore prepared a Bill which will clarify the situation and definitely determine that unless the real estate is carried on the books of the bank it is not a deductible item.

INTEREST ON PUBLIC FUNDS

We have deemed it advisable to reduce the maximum rates of public deposits, and have therefore prepared a Bill for reducing the maximum rate on call deposits to 2 per cent and on time deposits to 4 per cent. We have thought it also advisable not to provide a minimum rate in either case, leaving that to be determined by the respective Boards depositing the funds, as the conditions differ widely in various localities and consequently what might be a fair minimum rate in one locality would not be applicable to another, and thus possibly working a hardship by forcing the funds from the community due to the fact that banks could not afford to pay the minimum rate as fixed by law.

RENEWED NOTES

Considerable confusion has been existent as to what constitutes the "renewed" note and which the "renewal" note. We have therefore recast the present law, clearly defining the "renewed" note and the manner of designating it by the endorsement thereon.

OVERDRAFTS

Our present law relating to the issuing of checks without funds on deposit is indefinite. We have therefore drafted a Bill which clearly defines the situation. The present law, because of its uncertainty has been at times embarrassing to both bank and customer.

SMALL LOAN LAW

At the present time there are a number of individuals and concerns who are engaged in the business of making small loans to wage earners and others and entirely without the scope of regulation by any official or department, and it is our opinion that the practices of some of these individuals and companies would not bear the scrutiny of an examination and that they have been exacting usurious and confiscatory rates of interest and charges, and generally speaking, their practices are not within the realm of fair business dealing. We have therefore deemed it advisable to draft a Bill providing for the licensing and regulation of persons engaged in such business, limiting their activities to loans not exceeding $1000.00.

For your convenience and assistance in making an examination of the code relating to Banking Associations, we have appended thereto an index of all proposed sections, with cross-references to comparative sections in the present laws, and also to the pages on which are found the present laws in the State Examiner's compilation of Banking Laws of July 1, 1929.

We have also underscored all material changes, amendments, or additions, which will doubtless enable you to make a more ready comparison of the proposed sections with existing law.

In closing, we desire to express appreciation of the cooperation of James Morris, Attorney General, in assigning his Special Representative, Mr. C. C. Wattam, to this work; and to Mr. Gilbert Semingson, State Examiner, who has acted as Secretary of the Commission, and to Messrs. E. F. Volkmann and G. S. Newberry, who have respectively acted as the Executive Secretaries to the Commission.

Respectfully submitted,

"Mr. President, as I understand it, after this bill becomes a law it will not affect anyone licensed or unlicensed practicing any of the healing arts in the state at the present time. However, it will, in some cases, require a higher standard of those coming into the state for this purpose. I believe that high standards should be required of those upon whom the health and lives of the people of the state are dependent. I therefore vote 'aye'."

Senator Patterson explained his vote as follows:

"Mr. President: I wish to have my vote recorded on this bill.

"On page 2, in lines 6 and 7, this bill provides for a two-year course in study in the University of North Dakota or for a two-year course in the Agricultural College of the State of North Dakota. Mr. President, in the Committee on Appropriations last night we had a very distinguished gentleman and statesman of North Dakota, Dr. Shepperd, before that Committee. Dr. Shepperd from the Agricultural College. Mr. President, I asked him this specific question: 'If there were any branches of education taught in the Agricultural College or the University of North Dakota that would materially enable a student to take up the practice of medicine or surgery?' And he said: 'Practically none.' And I said: 'Doctor, is there any branch of teaching in the University or in the Agricultural College, teaching a two-year course that would enable a student to advance his qualifications providing he wished to take up Naturopathy or Chiroprathy or those other minor studies.' And he said: 'Practically none,' and that it is just elementary. Mr. President, yesterday when this bill was being considered on that report I offered some amendments to the bill. I would ask you to turn to page 9 of yesterday's journal where I asked to have this bill amended and notice the amendments: 'Provided further that nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to interfere with or prohibit the teaching of the prevention or cure of disease. First, by exercise. Second, by diet. The things that we all practice, Mr. President, if you please, in order to live. Third, by manner of living, and fourth, or religious rites.' Mr. President, I was denied that amendment which I offered in good faith for the benefit of humanity. I vote 'no.'"

Senator Renwick moved that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 29 was passed be reconsidered and the motion to reconsider be laid on the table.

Which motion prevailed.

SENATE RESOLUTION No C
Introduced by Senators Hamilton and Atkins

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION FOR MEMORIAL TO CONGRESS

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of North Dakota, the House of Representatives Concurring; that

WHEREAS, during the World War and at the time that the price-fixing act of Congress became effective and was put in operation No. 1 Northern wheat was selling as high as $3.49 per bushel at Minneapolis, and other agricultural products were selling accordingly; and

WHEREAS, the minimum price of $2.17 per bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat at Minneapolis fixed by Congress, was in fact, made the maximum price; and

WHEREAS, during this time No. 1 Northern wheat was selling at an average price of $4.41 per bushel in the allied governments; and

WHEREAS, during the war the price on all other commodities used by the farmer in connection with agriculture, together with freight and transportation rates, were increased by leaps and bounds, and these prices were for a long time, and many of them still are maintained on such commodities, and especially is it true of freight and transportation rates; and

WHEREAS, a large part of the agricultural indebtedness was created during the time that the price of agricultural products was considerable higher than at present, and then during the period of inflation of our currency; and

WHEREAS, the farmer during the period of deflation was made the shock-absorber, so that now it takes approximately 6,220 bushels of wheat to pay an indebtedness that could have been paid with 1,000 bushels prior to the price fixing and the deflation periods; and

WHEREAS, as a result of these conditions thousands and hundreds of thousands of once prosperous farmers in this state and nation have lost their homes and their all by mortgage foreclosures; and

WHEREAS, the price of agricultural products during the present year have in fact been below the cost of production; and

WHEREAS, there is no adequate way of refinancing existing agricultural indebtedness and the farmers are at the mercy of their mortgagees and creditors throughout this state and nation; and

WHEREAS, unless immediately relief is given thousands and hundreds of thousands additional farmers will lose their farms and their homes and millions more will be forced into our cities and villages, and the army of unemployed will necessarily increase to alarming proportions;

NOW THEREFORE, the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States of America to pass Senate Bill 5109 known as the "Farmers Farm Relief Bill" in order that the agricultural indebtedness of this state and nation may be speedily liquidated and refinanced and agriculture saved from utter ruin and destruction.

The farmers ask for no charity—they simply ask "that American Agriculture be placed on a basis of equality with other industries." They ask that the Federal Reserve system be made to function for them, as it is functioning for other industries. Since the Federal Reserve Bank is now loaning Federal Reserve notes to New York banks at 2% interest—and since our government refinanced the foreign nations to the extent of fifteen billion dollars at less than 2% interest—we feel that this bill asks nothing but simply justice and a square deal for Agriculture. As a nation we have protected industries by tariff laws for generations, and we feel that the farmer is now entitled to first consideration at the hands of Congress.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that sufficient copies of this resolution be printed and the Secretary of State requested to mail a copy to the President of the United States and the President of the Senate of the United States, with the request that the resolution be read from the desk, and a copy to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, with the request that the resolution be read from the desk; and a copy to the Governor of all of the states in this Union, and a copy to the President of the Senate of all of the states in the Union, with the request that it be read from the desk, also a copy to be mailed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of all of the states, in this Union, with the request that it be read from the desk.

71st CONGRESS
3d Session

S. 5109

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

December 8, 1930

Mr. Frazier introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry

A BILL

To liquidate and refinance agricultural indebtedness, and to encourage and promote agriculture, commerce and industry by establishing an efficient credit system, through which the unjust and unequal burdens placed upon agriculture, during the period of price fixing and deflation, may be lightened, by providing for the liquidation and refinancing of farm mortgages and farm indebtedness at a reduced rate of interest through the Federal farm loan system, the Federal reserve banking system and the postal savings depository system, and creating a Board of Agriculture to supervise the same.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Government now perform its solemn promise and duty and place American agriculture on a basis of equality with other industries by providing an adequate system of credit, through which farm indebtedness and farm mortgages now existing may be liquidated and refinanced, through real estate mortgages on the amortization plan, at 2½ per centum interest and 1½ per centum principal per annum, and through mortgages on livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes at 4 per centum interest per annum through the use of the machinery of the Federal farm loan system, the Federal reserve banking system, and the postal savings depository system.

Sec. 2. This Act shall be known by the title "The Farmers' Farm Relief Act."

Sec. 3. The Federal Farm Loan Board is hereby authorized and directed to liquidate, refinance, and take up farm mortgages and other farm indebtedness, existing at the date this Act takes effect, by making real estate loans, secured by first mortgages on farms, to an amount equal to the fair market value of such farms and 50 per centum of the fair value of insurable buildings and improvements thereon, through the use of the machinery of the Federal farm land banks and national farm loan associations, and to make all necessary rules and regulations for the carrying out of the purposes of this Act with expedition. Such loans to be made at a rate of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per centum interest and $1\frac{1}{2}$ per centum principal per annum.

Sec. 4. The Federal Farm Loan Board is further authorized and directed to liquidate, refinance, and take up chattel mortgages and other farm indebtedness, existing at the date that this Act takes effect, by making loans at the rate of 4 per centum interest per annum, secured by first mortgages on livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes, to an amount equal to 65 per centum of the fair market value thereof, such loans to run for a period of one year, with right of renewal from year to year for a term of ten years: Provided, That any depreciation in the value of such livestock is replaced by additional livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes, and the amount of the loan is reduced 10 per centum each year.

Sec. 5. The funds with which to liquidate, refinance, and take up existing farm mortgages and other farm indebtedness shall be provided by the issuing of farm loan bonds by the Federal farm loan system, through the Federal Farm Loan Board and the Federal land banks, as now provided by law, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per centum per annum, if secured by mortgages on farms, and 4 per centum per annum if secured by chattel mortgages on livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes. These bonds, after delivery to the Federal Farm Loan Board, may, by it, be sold at par to any individual or corporation, or to any State, national or Federal reserve bank, domestic or foreign, to the trustees of the postal savings depository system or to the Treasurer of the United States. And it shall be the duty of the Federal reserve banks to invest their available surplus and net profits, after the dividends are paid to their stockholders, in such farm loan bonds. Such profits to include the franchise tax now paid to the United States.

Sec. 6. STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
BISMARCK

February 10, 1931.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of North Dakota:

Gentlemen:

I have the honor to transmit for your information the Governor's Annual Report of the Operations of the State Mill and Elevator Association for the year of 1930.

I also attach hereto a copy of the Governor's Annual Report for the year of 1929, printed copies of which were mailed to all members of the Twenty-first Legislative Assembly last year, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 163 of the Session Laws of North Dakota for 1925.

Very truly yours,
GEO. F. SHAFER,
Governor.

Governor's Annual Report of the
OPERATIONS OF THE NORTH DAKOTA MILL AND ELEVATOR ASSOCIATION

For the Year 1930.

To the Industrial Commission, State Board of Auditors, and Members of the Legislative Assembly:

Agreeable to the provisions of Chapter 163, of the Session Laws of North Dakota for 1925, I herewith submit my second annual report as ex-officio manager of the State Mill and Elevator Association covering the operations for the year 1930. The principal parts of the audit reports of Mr. O. B. Lund, Accountant for the State Board of Auditors, and of Mr. K. C. Nelson, Mill Auditor (which have just been completed) are attached hereto and contain a rather comprehensive review of the operations of the State Mill and Elevator for the year. Only a brief summary of the outstanding features of these reports is necessary to be set forth herein.

As stated heretofore, the results of the operations of this industry during the past year were not as good as those of 1929, although somewhat better than the average for previous years. The operating gain for the year, exclusive of bond interest and plant depreciation, is fixed at $142,232.91. The annual interest on the construction and capital bonds (in the sum of $4,000,000) is $229,500, and the annual depreciation reserve is $78,867.48, making a total annual fixed charge of $308,367.48. After deducting the above charges for bond interest and depreciation, there is a net loss to the state of $166,134.57 for the year.

The past season was undoubtedly the worst year in the history of the industry in which to do a profitable milling and flour merchandising business. Confronted with a rapidly falling grain and flour market most of the year, and faced with all of the handicaps of a general depression in business conditions in North Dakota and surrounding territory, the management came through the year with creditable results. In this unusual situation, two extraordinary conditions developed which materially affected the financial statement for the year.

FLUCTUATION OF PREMIUM VALUES

First, the premium values on wheat fluctuated violently during the last few months of the season. The premiums rose as high as 9c per bushel in November and declined to 3½c per bushel in December. This drop of 5½c per bushel caused a shrinkage in the market value of the 795,879 bushels of wheat owned by the Mill and of the flour and feed in storage, of over $65,000 on December 31st, as compared with the market value of the same inventory on November 30th. Inasmuch as premium values on wheat not covered by flour sales cannot be hedged in the future's market, there was no way of avoiding book losses through premium drops on wheat in stock, except to refrain from buying any wheat above current flour sale requirements.

This shrinkage in the inventory value of the wheat, flour and feed on hand on December 31st has been properly referred to by one of the Auditors as a "book loss" rather than an actual loss. By "book loss" is meant this: most of the wheat and flour on hand as of that date was covered by flour and feed sales for future delivery made on a higher premium basis than that reflected on December 31st. When these orders are filled by delivery, the loss suffered on the inventory value will be accordingly restored on that quantity of wheat included in such sales. In the accounting system of the business it is not the practice to credit the gain, or charge the loss made on any sale until the flour or feed is actually delivered. Until these deliveries are made, however, the Accountants must determine the value of the wheat and flour on hand according to the market value on the date the cut-off is made (which was December 31, 1930).

Then, too, should the premium values go up again before the balance of the wheat on hand has been sold through flour sales, the book loss will be reduced in proportion to the rise.

LOSSES FROM CANCELLATIONS OF FLOUR
AND FEED ORDERS

During the past year an entirely new condition appeared in the business experience of the State Mill, namely, the cancellation of a considerable number of flour and feed orders contracted by dealers for future delivery. It is the custom of many buyers to contract for the purchase of flour and feed on terms calling for delivery from thirty to ninety days in the future. Usually, these purchases work out to the mutual advantage of both the seller and buyer. Last year, however, many buyers, largely local merchants, who had ordered flour for future delivery early in the season when the wheat and flour prices were high, felt themselves confronted with the necessity of taking heavy losses on their purchases at the time delivery was due, on account of the sharp drop in the wheat and flour market. Thus many flour dealers stood to lose as much as $2.50 to $3.00 per barrel on such purchases if they carried out their contracts. Some of these dealers performed their contracts and took their heavy losses unflinchingly; others cancelled a portion of their orders and thus obliged the Mill to stand a part of the loss; while still others, feeling themselves unable to bear the losses involved, cancelled their orders outright. In this way, many flour and feed sales made on a profit basis originally, turned out, due to forced cancellations, to be sales at cost only, and in some cases, sales at a loss. Unfortunately, most of these cancellations took place in North Dakota and surrounding territory, which has always been our most profitable flour market, while in the Eastern market, where our sales have usually been made on a very narrow margin of profit, and sometimes at cost, there were practically no cancellations. In North Dakota our dealers are numerous, but most of them are small merchants and many of them are unable financially to stand the heavy losses caused by a 60c decline in wheat prices. The total losses resulting from this cause are yet undetermined, but the Accountants have set up a reserve of $20,000 out of 1930 earnings to cover them. Unless there are further sharp declines in grain and flour prices, this condition should not re-occur during the present year.

ELEVATOR DEPARTMENT

The one bright spot in the State Mill and Elevator business last season is to be found in the operation of the elevator department. While the Mill division returned a net loss, the elevator division produced a net profit of bond interest charges. The gross income of the elevator department was $116,178.39. The elevator space was largely filled throughout the year. On December 31, 1930, the Mill had 795,879 bushels of wheat in storage in the elevator tanks and various local elevators and co-operative associations had 910,621 bushels of grain in storage under Federal Warehouse receipts.

The principal handicap standing in the way of the success of this terminal elevator has been the transit charge of 1½c per bushel imposed by the railroads on all grain stopped and unloaded at Grand Forks. The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered the removal of this charge, effective on April 1, 1931. After this transit charge is eliminated, the elevator department should show a fair profit over and above operating costs, interest and depreciation charges, each year hereafter.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS

The volume of business transacted in 1930 by the State Mill and Elevator was approximately the same as that in 1929. The Mill ground 2,312,770 bushels of wheat and manufactured 516,074 barrels of flour. It operated throughout the year at about one-third capacity, except for seventy-five days in the fall when two units were in operation.

The flour sales for the season were 524,526 barrels, which is 28,402 barrels more than the previous year. Sales throughout the different territories in which the Mill does business were about the same except for an increase of about 21,000 barrels in North Dakota.

WHEAT PURCHASES

The total wheat purchases were 2,202,660 bushels. Of this quantity, 1,933,994 bushels, or 88%, were purchased from North Dakota points, and 268,666 bushels, representing 12%, came from outside of the state. This is a somewhat higher percentage of local purchases than the previous year. Of the total amount of wheat bought, about 59% was obtained from farmers elevators, individuals and co-operative associations affiliated with the Federal Farm Board, and about 41% from line elevators and country elevators selling through commission firms.

LIGNITE STOKER EQUIPMENT

The only change in the equipment of the plant made during the session was the installation of lignite stoker equipment in the power plant to enable the plant to use lignite coal exclusively. This improvement was effected in December. Heretofore, the plant has, for several years, used lignite and soft coal in about equal proportions. It is expected by this change in stoker equipment to slightly reduce the cost of producing heat and power at the plant and at the same time patronize the North Dakota lignite industry exclusively.

EXHIBITS ATTACHED

For purposes of verification and elaboration, I attach hereto portions of preliminary reports just completed and certified by Mr. O. B. Lund, Accountant for the State Board of Auditors, including his comments and consolidated statement of assets and liabilities; also portions of the annual report of Mr. K. C. Nelson, Mill Auditor, including introductory statement, consolidated operating statement for 1930, separate operating statement for the elevator department, inventories and statement of all wheat purchases for the year. Respectfully submitted,

GEO. F. SHAFER,
Governor

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT AND CONSOLIDATED
BALANCE SHEET FOR DEC. 31, 1930, PREPARED BY O. B. LUND, ACCOUNTANT FOR STATE BOARD OF AUDITORS.

James Morris, Attorney General,
John Steen, State Auditor,
Robert Byrne, Secretary of State,
Members State Board of Auditors,
Bismarck, North Dakota.

Gentlemen:

Agreeable with your instructions we have made an examination of the books and records and taken an account of the assets and liabilities of the State Mill and Elevator at Grand Forks, North Dakota for the calendar year 1930. A complete audit of the detailed operations of the institution for the first six months of the year was completed during July and August, but an audit of all the vouchers and records for the last six months of the year has not been completed at this time. I am confident, however, that the completed audit will not materially change our conclusions of the financial results of business of the plant for the year covered.

We present herewith consolidated balance sheet of the plant as a whole and balance sheets and statements of income and expense of the mill department and elevator department separately, with the income and expense divided between the departments as apportioned by the employees of the mill, which I hereby certify, that in my opinion, reflect the true financial condition of the institution as the same appeared at close of business December 31, 1930.

During the year the mill manufactured 516,074 barrels of flour.

Before deducting depreciations of plant and equipment and interest on bonded indebtedness, our statements reflect a profit of $142,232.91 for the year on the plant as a whole. After deducting interest and depreciation the statements show a net loss of $166,134.57.

The result of operations for the six years the mill has been under the management of the Governor, as computed by us at the close of each year's business and compiled on the same basis for all years, is as follows:

Year	Barrels of Flour Manufactured		Loss or Gain Exclusive of Depreciation and Bond Int.	Net Loss Including Int. & Dep.	Net Per Bbl. Loss
1925	510,364	Gain	$148,714.33	$188,403.05	.36 9-10c
1926	569,396	Loss	92,029.93	429,147.51	.75 3-10c
1927	456,713	Gain	166,477.32	170,640.16	.37 4-10c
1928	515,324	Gain	127,266.93	208,852.59	.40 5-10c
1929	510,874	Gain	269,427.87	39,937.57	.07 8-10c
1930	516,074	Gain	142,232.91	166,134.57	.32 2-10c

During the year 1930 the mill, like other commercial activities, came in for its share of losses due to the drop in market prices and the general business depression. In our audit of December 31, 1929, the market price of wheat on hand was $1.36 1-2 basis Minneapolis. At the close of 1930 the price was 76 1-2 cents basis Minneapolis, or a drop of 60 cents per bushel. At the close of 1929 mill feed was priced at $28.00 to $29.00 per ton compared to $14.00 to $15.00 at the close of 1930.

The mill protects itself against the drop in wheat price by entering into contracts for sale of flour for future delivery, and sale of wheat futures on the grain exchange on its wheat not covered by flour sales. Through the year flour prices have dropped correspondingly with wheat prices, with the result that it has been difficult for the mill to obtain shipping orders or to make delivery of many of the high priced flour contracts. As a last resort the mill management has made compromise settlement on many of these undelivered high priced flour sales, and is negotiating settlement on others. The losses to the mill on completed settlements of this kind are definitely determined, and taken into account on its books. The amount of loss that will arise from undeliverable flour sales that have not been settled is difficult to determine, but it is very apparent that there will be some loss, and we are charging $20,000.00 to the open trades account in our statements as a further estimate of losses that will be taken, which is considered very conservative. The final amount of loss will be largely dependent on the wheat markets of the near future, and if wheat prices remain at present levels, or go lower, there will be more losses taken than the amount set up in our statements.

The mill has had from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred and fifty thousand barrels of future sales contracts waiting shipping instructions at all times during the past few years. At the date the flour contracts are entered into the flour price is based on the price of wheat, plus containers and manufacturing costs, minus current market value of the mill feed extracted.

The only protection the mill has on the drop of mill feed to be extracted from the flour when ground is the feed sales for future delivery. With mill feed prices at December 31, 1930, the lowest on record for that time of year, the mill is taking considerable loss on the feed market drop, both on the feed inventory on hand and on the feed extracted from the flour contracts that were based on the high feed values. In other words, the feed figured in the flour sales on the basis of $20.00 to $30.00 per ton,, that is sold on present market of $15.00 per ton, nets a loss of from $5.00 to $15.00 per ton.

All mill products, packages, packing materials and supplies on hand were invoiced by actual count, and valued in our statements at the current market price, which was at the lowest levels in the history of the mill at date of audit.

The wheat on hand was not weighed at the close of the year. The inventory as carried on the book records was verified by measurement of the wheat in the bins, and used in our computations.

The mill had on hand 795,879 bushels of high grade milling wheat. This is priced at the prevailing market at date of audit.

The wheat market carried practically no protein premium at the beginning or the close of the year 1930, although there were protein premiums paid during the year. In our semi-annual statement of the mill, at June 30, 1930, the premium market value of the wheat on hand was found to be $66,953.71. That premium continued more or less until into December when the protein premium dropped off, reflecting a sudden added loss in the mill's operations. This drop, all being in one month, throws the mill statement for December considerably out of line with the previous months of the year.

The functions of the elevator department are storing, handling and processing of grain for the mill department and for outside parties. Doing no trading on its own account the elevator department was not affected by the market depressions. There has been good demand for grain storage space during the year and the elevator has practically all been in use, with the result that this department of the plant has come through the year with a net profit of $13,385.14, after deducting their portion of the depreciation and bond interest charges on the same basis as computed in previous statements.

The complete audit report with the usual supporting details will be submitted as soon as the audit of all activities of the institution are completed by us.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) O. B. LUND,
Auditor and Accountant.

ANNUAL AUDIT REPORT

Of K. C. Nelson, Auditor for State Mill and Elevator
For Year Ending Dec. 31, 1930

Gentlemen:

I beg leave to submit herewith audit report of the North Dakota Mill and Elevator Association, Grand Forks, plant, as of December 31, 1930. This report consists of operating statements and balance sheets for each department and a consolidated balance sheet covering all departments. There is also attached hereto supporting schedules covering all items in the balance sheets.

From the consolidated balance sheet you will note the operating gain for the year is $142,232.91. This gain is shown after taking into consideration all material used and the general overhead expense, selling and general office expense, but does not take into consideration charges for bond interest and depreciation on buildings and equipment. The charges for bond interest and depreciation for the year is $308,367.48, after taking these charges into consideration the plant shows a deficit of $166,134.57 for the year.

Following is the charges for bond interest for the year:

Construction Bond Interest	$172,000.00
Operating Bond Interest	57,500.00
Deperciation	78,867.48
	Total
	$308,367.48
Operating Gain Not Taken Into Above Consideration	142,232.91
	Deficit for Year
	$166,134.57

Comparing this with previous years or audit periods since the plant started to operate gives the following figures:

From October, 1922 to July 31, 1923	$309,236.03
From August 1, 1923 to December 31, 1924..	326,611.84
From January 1, 1925 to December 31, 1925.	188,043.52
From January 1, 1926 to December 31, 1926.	428,546.00
From January 1, 1927 to December 31, 1927.	172,234.80
From January 1, 1928 to December 31, 1928.	207,199.25
From January 1, 1929 to December 31, 1929.	39,937.47
From January 1, 1930 to December 31, 1930.	166,134.57

From the above you will note that 1930 is the best year since the plant started, with the exception of 1929, which showed a deficit of $39,937.47, after all bond interest and depreciation charges had been taken into consideration.

From the milling end of the business, 1930 was the worst year in the history of the institution for several reason. In the first place, there has been a steady decline in wheat prices of 63 1-2 cents per bushel since December 31, 1929 to December 31, 1930. This situation has made it extremely difficult to sell and deliver flour, and as a consequence it has slowed up sales and caused the mill to cancel many contracts which has resulted in losses heretofore unknown to the plant. These cancellations have been practically all in our North Dakota territory, which has heretofore been one of the profitable territories of the mill's output. The eastern territory, in which we usually take, or expect to take our losses, has been the best the past year, as there has been but one cancellation of contract in this territory. Referring to the eastern territory, I do not take in Chicago, where we have been trying to do some business, and which is in about the same condition as our home territory, many unfilled contracts, past shipping date, sold on a high wheat market, and has caused us losses in cancellations, and no doubt will cause more unless market conditions improve.

In the second place, the financial conditions which we have gone through, and which is still very acute, has caused us loss of business as many of our North Dakota customers, who have been car lot buyers in the fall, have not been able to finance themselves due to these conditions. Before these conditions existed it was customary for these customers to have their local bank finance them for a short time for a car of flour until they could make deliveries. Every year there are fewer banks and the last year, or two years, banks in the country have been unable to finance such accounts, with the result that profitable sales could not be shipped.

Even in spite of this the plant would have shown a deficit of well under \$100,000.00 had it not been for an unusual drop in premium values during the month of December, when premium dropped $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel. From my report under date of November 30, 1930, you will note the premium values on wheat was placed at 9 cents per bushel and which was one cent below the current values as of that date. The premiums used as of this date is $3\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel, or a book loss of $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel on all wheat, flour and feed on hand, which has caused a loss of approximately \$65,000.00, and which is made up of the following items:

Loss of $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel on 795,879.00 bu. wheat	\$43,773.00
Loss of $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents per bushel on 144,575.00 bu. wheat	7,952.00
Required to make 32,350 barrels of flour on hand Loss of $5.00 per ton on 1,170 tons feed.....	5,845.00
Loss on sales during the month sold at a price less than inventory value November 30, approxi- mately	7,500.00

By "book loss" referred to above, I do not mean that this is a loss which has definitely been established. It means that there is a difference in the values used at November 30th and December 31st which for statement purpose will reflect a book loss, but which will be taken care of when deliveries of unfilled contracts on the books are delivered, all of which has been sold at a considerably higher wheat premium than the December 31st premiums. We have 142,000 barrels of flour contracts on our books, sold for future delivery, from which we will use the wheat and flour on hand to make and fill these from and which will reflect a profit in excess of the loss shown above. It will require approximately 640,000 bushels to fill these unfilled bookings, the difference between this figure and the wheat and flour which we have on hand is fully hedged and there will be no loss except the fluctuations in premiums, which cannot be hedged, the only way we can protect ourselves against loss in declining premiums would be to sell flour based on a premium such as we pay when the wheat is purchased.

A number of flour contracts on our books are long past shipping dates and sold on wheat prices ranging as high as $1.45 per bushel and an average of around 10 cents per bushel premium, and on which there is bound to be losses as these are all small sales and the greater part sold in North Dakota or what we call the northeastern territories, comprising of North and South Dakota and Minnesota, and sold to small stores located in the country districts. The financial conditions of these small stores, almost without exception are such that they cannot finance anything upon which they are going to take further losses. With this situation in mind I have set up an additional reserve which is reflected in the open trade item of $10,000.00 over the previous reserve for this purpose, which was also $10,000.00, making a total reserve of $20,000.00. This additional $10,000.00 is in addition to the $65,000.00 loss on wheat, flour and feed referred to above for the month of December, and which accounts for $75,000.00 of the loss shown in the consolidated balance sheet which shows $98,185.11. If these items were not taken into consideration, the plant would show a loss for the month of a little over $7,000.00, and would have reduced the deficit for the year from $166,134.57 to $91,134.57, as follows:

Book loss on wheat inventory.....	$43,773.00
Book loss on flour inventory.....	7,952.00
Book loss on feed inventory.....	5,845.00
Book loss on sales for Dec. (approx.).....	7,500.00

Total	$65,070.00
-------------	-------------

Consolidated loss shown for December.....	98,185.11
---	-----------

Deficit for month leaving out the above....	$33,115.11

Taking into consideration the bond interest and depreciation charges for the month, which is $25,697.27 would have given a deficit for the month of $7,417.84, which is a normal loss for the month of December.

During the past year the plant has operated the greater portion of the time on about one third of its capacity or one unit, except during the fall months when two units were in operation for about 75 days. For the year the Mill ground 2,312,770 bushels of wheat and manufactured 514,075 barrels of flour. Comparing this with previous years' operation gives the following figures:

1925	517,291 Barrels
1926	569,396 Barrels
1927	456,813 Barrels
1928	514,163 Barrels
1929	511,484 Barrels
1930	514,075 Barrels

Flour sales for the year in all territories is 524,526. This is about 28,000 barrels more than 1929 and compares with previous years as follows:

Territory	1926	1927	1928	1929	1930
North Dakota	204,993	162,080	192,871	140,484	161,877

	678,838	365,776	570,345	496,124	524,526

From the wheat purchase record attached hereto you will note the Mill purchased 2,202,660 bushels of wheat during the past year, of this amount 1,933,994 bushels were purchased from North Dakota points, or 88 per cent of total purchases, and 268,666 bushels from points outside North Dakota, or 12 per cent of total purchases.

1,141,232 bushels were purchased direct from Farmers' elevators, individuals, and Co-operatives affiliated with the Farm Board, or .595 per cent of total purchased, and 1,061,428 bushels were purchased from old line companies and commission companies financing country elevators, or .405 per cent of total purchased.

You will note from schedule of "profit and loss" attached hereto show a per barrel loss on flour manufactured during the year of .323. Comparing this with the last five years of the operation of the plant gives the following figures:

1926.....	.744	1929.....	.078
1927.....	.375	1930.....	.323
1928.....	.402

INVENTORIES

WHEAT. The Mill owns and has on hand in the elevator 795,879 bushels of wheat. There was no physical inventory taken of this wheat, book figures were used, but measurements taken of the bins and tanks, which agreed substantially with the book records.

FLOUR AND FEED PACKAGES, ETC. All flour, feed, packages, etc., in Mill warehouse were counted and found to agree with book records and pricing thereof is based on current market of wheat plus premium on all flour and current market value of feed, packages, etc., as per schedule attached hereto.

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE. There is attached hereto schedule of accounts receivable in detail, also a consolidated schedule of accounts receivable which shows the amount outstanding in the different territories. You will note the total amount of outstanding accounts is $545,605.93, of this amount $315,321.64 is accounts which customers of the elevator owes for freight advances, storage and interest, all of this is secured as in each case there is grain in store to cover this charge which follows the grain as it is shipped out, at which time it will be paid. The Mill Department has outstanding in current accounts $204,311.78 covering territories as per attached schedule and $20,488.54 represents claims against closed banks and doubtful accounts for which there is a reserve set up of $22,950.00. This reserve, I believe, is adequate to take care of losses from bad accounts. These accounts are not a total loss, some of these will in time be paid in full and some, no doubt, we will not realize anything on, and some will be something realized on. Listed in the doubtful accounts you will note there is over $5,000.00 claims against closed banks, in time there will be something realized on these claims.

ELEVATOR DEPARTMENT

The past year has been the most profitable year for the elevator since it started to operate. The gross income from this unit for 1930 is $116,178.39, which is over $17,000 better than the best previous year, which was 1929 when the gross income was $99,535.89.

The elevator shows a net profit of $13,385.14 after taking into consideration portion of bond interest charges and depreciation, which for the year is $62,901.48. If these charges were not made the elevator would show an operating profit of $76,286.62 for the year.

Comparing this with previous years gives the following figures:

Year	GrossIncome
1925	$ 60,113.38
1926	89,000.69
1927	79,274.35
1928	83,625.23
1929	99,535.59
1930	116,178.39

The year 1923 is not shown hereon for the reason that at that time separate accounting for the elevator was used. For the year 1924 the elevator accounting was separated from the Mill and separate accounting started on April first, giving but nine months of the year and during the year 1924 the charges which the elevator paid the mill for handling charges was 62 cents per hundred bushels, while since that time the charges have been $1.25 per hundred bushels.

The year 1924 the elevator handled the largest amount of grain, due largely to the Mill using more wheat for its grind than in any other year. During this year the Mill manufactured over 900,000 barrels of flour.

Comparing the business handled by the elevator from a standpoint of cars unloaded, and total bushels beginning with 1924, gives the following figures:

Year	Cars Unloaded	Bushels
1924	3442	4,846,607
1925	1842	2,663,825
1926	2185	3,177,109
1927	1653	2,473,342
1928	2122	3,211,766
1929	2078	3,110,885
1930	1717	2,590,917

The Federal Grain Inspector has furnished me with the following records of inspections made by his department since it was established here at Frand Forks in 1923:

Year	Cars Inspected	Year	Cars Inspected
1923	3447	1927	6554
1924	4481	1928	13708
1925	3440	1929	13942
1926	5326	1930	20527

The elevator department has under Federal storage receipts as of this date 870,511 bushels of spring wheat and 39,950 bushels of durum, making a total of 910,621 bushels. Possibility of further increasing the income of the elevator is very good if the stop-over penalty of 1½ cents per hundred pounds is taken off. This charge has been a handicap to this plant as it means one cent per bushel charge more than is charged at other markets.

I hereby certify that I have audited the books and accounts of the above named association and do certify that the balances shown on the attached balance sheets agrees with the balances carried on the general ledgers.

Respectfully submitted,

K. C. NELSON,
Auditor.

MESSAGE TO THE HOUSE

Senate Chamber,
Bismarck, North Dakota,
February 11, 1931.

Mr. Speaker: I have the honor to transmit herewith the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 10. Chairman.

Senator Hyland moved the adoption of the report.

Which motion prevailed.

The following memorial tributes to departed members were submitted:

Senator Wog:

I wish to offer this resolution in tribute to the Hon. George F. Hunt, Beach, N. D.:

George F. Hunt of Beach, North Dakota, Thirty-ninth Legislative District, was born in Franklin Grove, Illinois, July 25, 1871.

He received his education in the high school of his native town, Bryan and Stratton Business College, and later completed his education at Mt. Morris College, Illinois.

He came to Beach May 1, 1907, and was engaged in farming there for a period of twelve years. He was elected Senator from Golden Valley County, and later was appointed Superintendent of Grounds and Caretaker at the Hatchery near St. John, and during the latter months of his life served in this position at Spiritwood Lake. He passed away during the summer of 1929.

He was a great lover of birds, and he knew many of the different species. As an evidence of his friendly interest, he made and set up many houses for their use, which will remain as a memorial for years to come.

Senator Plath offered the following resolution and moved the adoption:

I wish to present the following tribute to John Van Arnam a former member of the Senate:

John Van Arnam was born at Walnut, Ill., December 14, 1867, moving to North Dakota in the spring of 1885 with his parents and brothers. He took up a homestead in Richland County near Walcott, where he farmed a number of years and afterwards began teaching in rural schools.

In the fall of 1896 he was married to Miss Lydia Axtell of Barrie, North Dakota, and three daughters were born to that union, who have grown to womanhood.

John, as he was commonly called, spent the last fifteen years of his life in Kindred, where he edited a paper for some time and also had a law office there.

In 1926 he was elected State Senator, which office he held until the time of his death in September, 1930. In 1928 he was elected as one of the state delegates to the National Democratic Convention at Houston, Texas. John was a great worker for the state and for his home town, and had a genial disposition—a friend to all.

Senator Stucke:

Mr. President: I beg leave to submit the following as a memorial to the late Honorable Eugene S. Neal, former member of this body, who passed to the Great Beyond on the fifth day of December, 1930:

E. S. Neal was born December 22, 1856, at Weeks Mills, Maine. He received his education at Augusta, and it was there he married Nellie Francis Bigelow, who, together with two sons, survive him. Mr. Neal came west in 1880, arriving at Bismarck when it was but a small frontier village. His first employment on arriving here was driving ox teams from Bismarck to the Black Hills. His initial entry into political life was his term as deputy sheriff, under the late Alexander McKenzie. Soon after Mr. Neal became chairman of the Board of County Commissioners and later registrar of the Bismarck Land Office. In 1908 Mr. Neal was elected to the State Senate, representing McLean County.

Mr. Neal was a highly cultured man, of exemplary habits, generous almost to a fault, a smile was always upon his countenance, he was full of good humor, and kindness pervaded the atmosphere wherever and whenever he appeared.

Mr. Neal was a great lover of the outdoors; an ardent student of nature. In his passing McLean county and the State of North Dakota lost a noble character, a pioneer, and, to those who knew him personally, a devoted friend. May he receive his just reward in the Great Unknown.

Senator Brostuen:

Mr. President: Supplementary to the resolution just passed by the Joint Assembly, I beg leave to submit the following as a suitable tribute to the memory of the late Honorable Carl L. Bakken of Tioga, North Dakota, who passed to the Great Beyond on the eighteenth day of March, 1929:

Mr. Bakken was born in Norway March 4th, 1868, and came to this country when seventeen years of age. In 1899 he was married to Olea Braaten in Minneapolis, Minnesota, who, together with five children, survived him at the time of his death.

Mr. Bakken, with his family, came to Williams County in 1903 and settled on a homestead near the town of Tioga, where they experienced all the hardships common to the new settlers and pioneers on the frontiers of civilization. He took an active part in the establishment and organization of the new wilderness into an orderly, civilized community. He was an American by choice and treasured to the fullest extent the traditions of our liberties and the principles of our American system of government.

Mr. Bakken was elected a member of the State Senate in 1924 and served with honor and distinction in the nineteenth and twentieth sessions of our Legislature. Being a man of deep religious convictions and a student of religion and church history, he sponsored the bill, while a member of the Senate, which was enacted into law and became known as the Ten Commandments Law, which provides for the display of the Ten Commandments in all public school rooms in the state.

Mr. Bakken was a deep student of our economical and political problems which, coupled with his progressive ideals and sentiments, brought him into close contact with the political life of his state and nation. Being a man with limited educational opportunities in the terms as we understand them in connection with our higher institutions of learning, and facing the handicap of being transplanted from the soil of old Europe to this new and strange land in the west, he possessed a knowledge and understanding of our social, economic and political affairs far above the trend of the average man. His passing was a distinct loss to our state, and especially so to the county where he lived and the district which he represented so well in this body.

Senator Eddy presented the following tribute to the late Senator Alfred Steel:

Alfred Steel was born August 1, 1860, at Genesee, Wisconsin, and died June 5, 1929, at Jamestown, North Dakota.

Mr. Steel graduated from the Beloit College, Wisconsin, in 1880. Came to Jamestown, North Dakota, in the year of 1883 and opened an office for the practice of law.

He was elected to the Jamestown Board of Education in 1894, and served continuously for 28 years. Much of the credit for the high standards of the Jamestown Public Schools is due to his wise leadership.

He served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Public Library for many years, and had much to do with the securing of the present fine library building.

He was mayor of the City of Jamestown from 1893 to 1899. Served on the Board of County Commissioners for five years.

Mr. Steel was elected to the State Senate in 1908 and served until 1916, when he was not a candidate. He was again elected to the Senate in 1920 and held the office until the time of his death. He was frequently mentioned as a candidate for Congress and for Governor, but would never consent to make an aggressive campaign for office.

Distinctly a servitor of the people, Senator Steel maintained a consistent somewhat conservative, yet progressive attitude on public questions. If he had a hobby, it was adherence to the constitutional principles of American Government. He maintained that our Government must be a Government of delegated authority.

Senator Steel's business career was above reproach, his political career one of consistency and idealism, and his general standing, admirable. He was a great friend. His was that friendship, which giving all, asks nothing in return. His was not a bargaining friendship—it did not barter favors. It was the sort that says: "All that I have is yours, give me affection and loyalty—nothing more."

He was a good man, just and true. No one knows but they who benefited by it, how broad was his charity, how ready was his helping hand. Not even his closest friends knew the extent of his beneficence. "I cannot say, and I will not say that he is dead—he is just away! With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, he has wandered into an unknown land."

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Introduced by Senator Whitman

WHEREAS, the Honorable Michael F. Murphy of Grand Forks, North Dakota, departed this life on December 23, 1930; and

WHEREAS, for more than a generation he had been one of the outstanding figures in the business and political life of his city and State, having had intimate contact with men in every walk of life in all parts of the State, and having been prominently identified with every movement for the upbuilding of the community and the State; and

WHEREAS, his sound judgment and unquestioned integrity had won for him universal confidence and profound respect; and

WHEREAS, he had served with distinction as a member of the State Senate in the Sixth and Seventh Legislative Assemblies, had been Mayor of his city, and had long held other offices of trust, in all of which his services were marked by an unselfish public spirit and devotion to duty;

Murphy the people of the State of North Dakota have lost an outstanding man, a leader both in the field of government and business, and that we do hereby express our deep sense of sorrow and loss; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be enrolled and forwarded to the surviving daughter of the deceased at Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Senator Field offers the following tribute to the late Alexandria Franklin Bonzer:

Alexandria Franklin Bonzer was born in Minonah, Iowa, November 27th, 1863. His early manhood was spent in South Dakota at Hecla. It was there that he met and married Hannah Dinger, September, 1887. In 1893 he, and his family, came to Lidgerwood, North Dakota, where he began his business career. He was very active in local, county and state politics. He was a member of the School board of Education. Also served on the City Council for a number of years and served as County Commissioner. He was elected to the State Senate in 1913 and served the 1913 and 1915 sessions. In 1920 he made his home in Long Beach, California. In 1927 he was appointed by H. S. Callahan to the Council of the City of Long Beach to fill a vacancy, which position he held shortly before his death. Therefore be it resolved,

WHEREAS, the Honorable A. F. Bonzer, Sr., a former member of the Senate of this state was, on December 12, 1929, called from this life to the Great Beyond, and

WHEREAS, he was an able, fearless and conscientious legislator and was a public spirited citizen, always interested in the welfare of his city, county, state and nation,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate and the House of Representatives, assembled in joint session, that we have heard with profound sorrow of former Senator Bonzer's death and do hereby extend our sympathy to his relatives and record our appreciation of the fine services he rendered.

Senator Joseph Renaud offers the following tribute to the late C. I. F. Wagner:

C. I. F. Wagner, one of Rolla's best known pioneer business men, who passed away suddenly April 30, 1929, at the age of 67 years and four months.

The late Mr. Wagner was born in New Brunswick, New Jersey, in December, 1861, and grew up in Brooklyn. He came to North Dakota in 1882 and engaged in the newspaper business, establishing pioneer papers at Grand Harbor and Dunseith. He enlisted in 1889 in the North Dakota National Guard and rose to the rank of captain, and resigned from the position when elected to the office of register of deeds of Rolette county in 1896. He continued in this office for eight years and in 1904 was again called to office, being elected to represent his district in the state legislature.

In 1905 and 1907 he was the Representative of his district in the State Senate. His public career was ever characterized by loyalty to duty, capability in office and strict adherence to high ideals of citizenship.

Mr. Wagner dealt extensively in real estate and also engaged in farming and stock raising, and was also in the early days engaged in stage driving.

Mr. Wagner was always a Republican in his political views and aside from filling the offices already mentioned he served as the first coroner of Rolette county and was the public administrator at the time of his demise.

He belonged to the Masonic fraternity and his religious faith is indicated by his membership in the Presbyterian church. He was initiated into the Masonic Lodge June 3, 1902. He demitted from Rolla to the Dunseith Lodge in 1910 and became affiliated with the Rolla Lodge again in 1914. He was treasurer of the Rolla Lodge from 1918 until 1928 and was Past Master of the Dunseith Lodge.

In conclusion it is safe to state that few men showed forth by their lives better the pioneer spirit of the West. He gave of his life in the service of others and leaves behind him a sense of loss in the hearts of his many friends.

Senator Magnuson requested that the Senate be upon the Seventh Order of Business.

Which request was granted.

Senator Magnuson moved that all absent Senators be excused.

Senator Hamilton: I change my vote from "Aye" to "No" for the purpose of making a motion on the next legislative day to reconsider the vote by which this bill was lost.

Senator Bond: When this Senate Bill, No. 150, was before the committee, I had several communications from my people at home, taxpayers, and friends, to pass the bill, and I had no personal feeling in the matter. Today, however, I have received numerous telegrams repudiating the position taken by these men. They now ask me to vote against the bill and I am complying with their wishes. I vote "No."

Senator Field: I have been inclined to favor the passage of this bill, but this morning I received telegrams from railroad employees from my city and also the Wahpeton Commercial Club asking me to oppose the bill. I vote "No."

Senator Sperry: When we had the hearing, day before yesterday, and also when the committee had the hearing, the people in favor of this bill had about as good an argument as the other people, but it seems to me now that there has been evidence put in so that I believe the bill is perhaps not as good a bill as it was thought to be. But I voted to recommend the bill for passage, and I climbed on that hand-car. I am going to stay on it. I vote "Aye."

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION "N"

Introduced by Senator Fine

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, memorializing the Congress of the United States to pass the Shipstead-Mansfield bill for the adequate financing of the river and harbor projects heretofore adopted by Congress.

WHEREAS, the land-locked states of the midwest have appealed to the Congress of the United States for relief from the heavy transportation burdens inherent to their isolation, and for the restoration of their balanced trade relations destroyed by governmental action in the construction of the Panama Canal without provision for access thereto by the inland states.

AND WHEREAS, Congress, responding to this appeal has recognized the economic necessity of a trade outlet to tide-water for this inland empire and, by the Act of July 3, 1930, has adopted a project for improved and deeper channels on the Upper Mississippi and on the Missouri rivers, but has failed to make adequate provision for financing its construction so that its benefits may be enjoyed by the present generation,

AND WHEREAS, the Special Board of United States Engineers assigned to the survey of the Upper Mississippi river has found and reported that "industries have not located in this area because transportation costs, both on raw material and finished products, have been so high as to dictate their location elsewhere," and, "the grain producer has had little choice but to sell at one price to the one market,"

AND WHEREAS, these conditions, now aggravated by a nation-wide depression, suggest the immediate employment of labor and industry in the construction of public and re-productive works,

AND WHEREAS, the Shipstead-Mansfield bill, now pending in Congress, provides for an internal loan to supplement annual budget appropriations for the adequate financing of all river and harbor projects already adopted by Congress, thus effecting a material saving in the primary cost of these works, hastening the date of their completion and beneficial enjoyment, and providing immediate employment for idle labor, idle industry and idle capital,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Senate of the State of North Dakota, the House of Representatives concurring, that the Congress of the United States be memorialized and urgently requested to enact this bill into law, and that our representatives in Congress be urged to support it and use all honorable means to procure its passage.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this resolution, attested by the proper officers of both houses, be sent to the President of the United States, the Secretary of War, the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives, and to each United States Senator and member of Congress from the State of North Dakota.

Senator Burkhart: "Mr. President, I would like to explain my vote. A few days ago I had occasion to broadcast over Station KFYR, stating my attitude in regard to this Capitol Commission Bill. If my memory serves me now I said I was not in favor of constructing the capitol building as provided for in this bill, but that I was for a building which would be appropriate and saving to the State of North Dakota in that it would be a business building and an office building which would cost perhaps around seven or eight hundred thousand dollars and which could be built by our present Board of Administration within the next two years, perhaps, and would house all of the state offices and the legislature very economically until such time as we could by provision of law tax ourselves and build an appropriate capitol building, appropriate to the great State of North Dakota.

"I stated also that I was opposed to the creation of commissions and you have seen by my vote today, Mr. President, that I opposed that. But, nevertheless, realizing that the State of North Dakota is going to face an election on this proposition and I don't care how you look at it, as I see it we are facing that proposition, whether there is an emergency or whether there is not an emergency on this bill, and for that reason that we may settle this thing quickly and with the least expense I must vote 'aye' on this bill."

Senator Fine: "This bill provides for unnecessary expenditure of public funds for a commission of three men, for supervisors, for inspector, for superintendent, for attorney and for secretary. In view of economy in the use of public funds, I vote 'no'."

Senator Hamilton: "Mr. President, by reason of the fact that I have had no chance under the ruling of the Chair on the motion to separate the emergency clause from the bill, I am compelled at this time by reason of that fact to vote 'no' as I believe that Jintown and the people of Jintown have a right for a run for their money. I vote 'no'."

Senator Stucke: "Mr. President, I want to tell you and the audience and the spectators we have this afternoon that probably came here looking for a loud pyrotechnic display which wasn't forthcoming at all because only one or two of the "Big Berthas" let loose; I appreciate the crowd here this afternoon and to relieve a little of the tension I am going to vote 'aye,' too."

Senator Sperry moved that the vote by which House Bill No. 79 was passed be reconsidered and the motion to reconsider be laid on the table.

Which motion prevailed.

Senator Fowler requested that the Senate be upon the seventh order of business.

Which request was granted.

JOINT RESOLUTION "O".

Introduced by Senators Atkins, Eastgate, Hamilton, Marshall, Fowler, Patterson, Gronvold and Sathre.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the Twenty-second Legislative Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein:

WHEREAS, at the time of the adoption of our state Constitution on October 1st, 1889, the people of this state by their votes permanently located the state institutions as follows:

First: The seat of government at the City of Bismarck, in the County of Burleigh.

Second: The State University and the School of Mines at the City of Grand Forks, in the County of Grand Forks.

Third: The Agricultural College at the City of Fargo, in the County of Cass.

Fourth: A state Normal School at the City of Valley City, in the County of Barnes.

Fifth: The Deaf and Dumb Asylum at the City of Devils Lake, in the County of Ramsey.

Sixth: A State Reform School at the City of Mandan, in the County of Morton.

Seventh: A state Normal School at the City of Mayville, in the County of Traill.

Eighth: A State Hospital for the Insane at the City of Jamestown, in the County of Stutsman.

Ninth: A Soldiers' Home at Lisbon, in Ransom County.

Tenth: A Blind Asylum at Bathgate, in Pembina County.

Eleventh: An Industrial School at Ellendale, in Dickey County.

Twelfth: A School of Forrestry at Bottineau, in Bottineau County.

Thirteenth: A School of Science at Wahpeton, in Richland County, and

WHEREAS, by subsequent vote of the people, the constitution was amended to provide for the location of the following additional state institutions, viz:

First: A State Normal School at Minot, in Ward County.

Second: A State Normal School at Dickinson, in Stark County, and

WHEREAS, these institutions, during all these years, have been fostered, enlarged and built up by the expenditure of the tax payers' money so as to enable them to keep pace with the demands which have been made upon them by the people of the state and with the needs and growth of the state until they have each and all become permanently fixed and located and have become an integral part of the several communities in which they are located and such communities have likewise grown and developed around such institutions, and

WHEREAS, the main Capitol building at Bismarck was destroyed by fire in December, 1930, and it has become necessary to build a new Capitol building, and

WHEREAS, a movement is being fostered to amend our State Constitution so as to provide for the removal of the seat of government from Bismarck to Jamestown, and

WHEREAS, this legislative Assembly believes that such removal would not be fair, just or equitable for the following reasons:

1. Because all of the departments of state government are inter-related and could not function properly or efficiently unless they are located in the same city, and if the seat of government were moved it would necessitate the removal of all the state departments and this in turn would mean that the state would abandon and lose the value of its investment of approximately $1,000,000 in the Memorial Building, the Bank of North Dakota building and other property in Bismarck and would mean the building of a larger and more expensive building at the new seat of Government to house all state departments than if the new Capitol building were erected at Bismarck.

2. Because of the great additional expense incident to the moving of the records, files and other property of the various departments.

3. Because of the fact that hundreds of people who are employed in the various departments of state government, believing that the Capitol would remain where it now is, have built homes and have permanently established themselves and their families in Bismarck—such investment amounting to over $750,000.00.

4. Because hotels and other buildings have been erected in Bismarck solely because of the fact that the seat of Government was located there and solely to meet the demand which arises because of the fact of the Capitol being located there—such investments amount to thousands of dollars and would be valueless if the seat of Government were changed.

5. Because the precedent, which might thus be established by the removal of the seat of Government, would tend to encourage agitation of further amendments for the removal of other state institutions at great and unnecessary expense and without any appreciable or beneficial results to the state.

NOW, THEREFORE, Be It Resolved, by the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota that it is the sense and judgment of this Legislative Assembly that the seat of Government should remain at Bismarck where it was located and established by the voters of this state more than forty years ago, and that a new Capitol building should be erected on the site of the old building as speedily as possible.

So the bill passed and the title was agreed to.

Senator Fine: Mr. President, while this bill purports to define usury and provide a penalty therefor, it looks to me like the bill very specifically provides the means whereby the penalty could be avoided. The language defining usury says: "No person, firm, company, or corporation shall, except as otherwise by law specifically authorized, directly or indirectly take, receive or agree to take or receive any money, goods, or things in action, or in any other way, any greater sum or any greater value for the loan or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action, than the maximum rates in this Act provided for," and it also goes on to say in line-8, on page 2: "The charging and taking of interest at the rate of one-twelfth of nine per cent per annum for every thirty days shall not be construed to exceed nine per cent per annum." Now, at the top of page 3 the bill provides the penalty for usury and provides for a right of action in the case of an innocent person purchasing notes. But in order for a person to secure his rights he must sue the original holder and not the person to whom it was given and in whose possession it is at the time, and there may be a small sum involved in the suit and the cost of the action would be prohibitive and wouldn't provide him much protection and therefore, I vote "No" on this bill.

Senate Bill No. 209. A Bill for an Act Authorizing the Establishment and Maintenance in Certain High Schools of This State of a Department of Junior College Work and Providing for the Supervision Thereof.

These lines pertaining to the assessments on bank stock that can be made against shareholders and the amount and the number of times the assessments can be made by the directors.

Also in same bill, on page 25, 26, 27, Section 23, states:

Where a stockholder is unable to pay his assessment, that his shares may be sold and how the proceeds, if any, may be applied, and if no sale is made the corporation can proceed by law to collect through the courts, and even though subsequently the stockholder pays his assessment, his shares still stand in his name, and in case of a bank closing, he is subject to the double assessment as provided by the present and this new law.

I wish to give notice that when this bill comes up for third reading I will offer an amendment on page 21, line 23, after the word "per cent" as follows:

"The first year and not to exceed twenty-five per cent each succeeding year."

Mr. Chisholm has for the past twenty-nine years been an instructor in metals at the college, and has during that same time performed all necessary blacksmithing for the institution. Mr. Chisholm has been and is a faithful servant of North Dakota. He is a living example of the nobility of useful, honest labor. His vocation is also his hobby. I move you, Mr. President, that this Senate extend to Mr. Chisholm its hearty congratulations on the honor about to be conferred upon him; also, that we, as representatives of the people of this state, extend to him our sincere thanks for his faithful and efficient service to North Dakota.

Senator Jones: Mr. President, I would like to explain my vote if it is permissible. I have heard a lot of heated oratory and about politics in this bill and I have made no promises to any one, high or low official of any degree. I wish to cast my vote at this time with my own party and when I finish my remarks you will know which party I belong to. I have reason to believe that some fellows are afraid of letting the job be left to the people, and have reason to fear the decision of the voting people of the State of North Dakota, and I think the decision will rest safely in their hands. I believe that any congressman who has the caliber we would expect to represent us in Congress would have sufficient intelligence to know the needs of the western part as well as the eastern part of the state because most every high school boy who has finished his studies is quite conversant with most of North Dakota. I will cast my vote, "No."

I have the honor to transmit herewith the report of the Honorable G. Grimson, the official representative of the State

North Dakota was privileged to officially participate in the Millennial Celebration pursuant to an invitation extended by the Parliament of Iceland and the acceptance thereof by the Twenty-first Legislative Assembly through the adoption of Concurrent Resolution "B", which resolution authorized the Governor to appoint an official representative of this state to be present at such celebration and extend in person the greetings and good will of North Dakota.

Pursuant to said resolution, I tendered the appointment to the Honorable John K. Olafson, Member of the House of Representatives, who, however, was unable to accept it; and I thereupon appointed the Honorable G. Grimson of Rugby, North Dakota, who attended the celebration and represented North Dakota in a most creditable manner.

I recommend that his report be printed in the Senate Journal.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. F. SHAFER,
Governor.

Rugby, North Dakota,
September 27, 1930.

TO HONORABLE GEO. F. SHAFER, GOVERNOR OF NORTH DAKOTA, AND TO THE HONORABLE MEM-BERS OF THE NORTH DAKOTA LEGISLATURE:

Pursuant to Resolution B. (Laws of North Dakota 1929, page 374) passed by the North Dakota Legislature I was honored by Governor Geo. F. Shafer with the appointment therein provided. It became my duty to extend in person to the government and people of Iceland the greetings and goodwill of our State and our felicitations to them upon the millennial celebration of the Icelandic Parliament. I have performed that pleasant duty and respectfully submit the following report.

I sailed from Montreal June 14th on the Canadian Pacific steamer Montcalm. On that ship also were U. S. Senator Norbeck, chairman, and Congressman O. B. Burtness and F. H. Fljozdal, members of the U. S. delegation; G. B. Bjornson, Tax Commissioner of Minnesota, representing that state, two members of the Canadian delegation and representatives of the Legislature of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This ship had been selected by the Icelandic National League of America for an excursion under their auspices. Between three and four hundred people of Icelandic birth or descent were here returning to the land of their forefathers to participate in the Millennial celebration. Our voyage was direct from Montreal to Reykjavik, Iceland. It was very pleasant in spite of rough seas one or two days.

Reykjavik was reached on the evening of the 20th. We were met outside the harbor by an Icelandic coast guard vessel carrying members of the Icelandic cabinet, the celebration committee and the Mayor of Reykjavik, accompanied by a large male choir. A most hearty welcome was extended the visitors by these officials.

The next morning we were escorted into the city. The official representatives were entertained by the Icelandic government at a new, modern, up-to-date hotel, The Hotel Borg. A public welcome was extended that day to the Icelanders from America at one of the theaters in Reykjavik. Six addresses by prominent Icelanders were made. The Mayor presided and the male choir entertained. On Sunday, the 22nd, a religious service was held in the cathedral especially for the visitors.

On Monday and Tuesday the official delegates were taken by the government on excursions to points of interest and beauty.

On Wednesday morning, June 25th, all official delegates were invited to the pier to meet the King of Iceland and Denmark who then landed from his battleship and held a reception for these delegates and the public. He was greeted with cheers and shown respect and courtesy but American enthusiasm was notably absent. The Crown Prince of Sweden was also greeted at this time.

At one o'clock that day the University of Iceland held a special convocation to receive foreign University men and messages from other institutions of learning. At that convocation I delivered a letter of greeting from President Kane of our University. Professor A. G. Arvold brought a message from our Agricultural College. Greetings were also delivered from the University of Illinois, of Chicago, Harvard, John Hopkins, Cornell, William & Mary, Alabama and many other institutions of learning. Honorary degrees were conferred upon Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Sveinbjorn Johnson, G. Grimson, C. H. Thordarson of Chicago, Reverend R. Petursson, Dr. B. J. Brandon and Joseph Thorson of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Halldor Hermanson of Ithaca, New York. All of these men, except the last two, either now are or in the past have been residents of North Dakota. In conferring the degrees the president of the University, or Rector as he is there called, said it was done because of the work of these men and the recognition and distinction brought by them to the Icelandic nationality. That evening an elaborate banquet was provided by the government for the University men.

In the afternoon a reception of the delegates and invited guests was held by the premier at his official residence.

The celebration proper was held at Thingvellir, the seat of the ancient parliament, some thirty miles from the city. To this place the delegates were transported by the government and there well cared for and entertained.

Thingvellir is sometimes referred to as the "eighth wonder of the world." Perhaps this is extravagant, but it is a wonderful place. The view here is at once both picturesque and varied, with the distant fantastically shaped mountains forming a wide panorama and enclosing a large lake (Thingvallavatn). Great columns of vapor from hot springs may be seen. The mountains are old volcanoes from which thousands of years ago great streams of lava poured forming a very large and thick lava field. Later an earthquake is believed to have caused a portion of this lava field to subside, making a drop of more than a hundred feet, leaving on each side, some three miles apart, the sheer rock walls of the two rifts, running upward and almost parallel for a distance of several miles. The surface of the subsided land between these two great rifts is also rent with minor rifts and fissures, some of which are half filled with deep blue transparent water formed by subterranean streams. Parallel to one of these rock walls arises obtusely one side of the subsided land forming the other side of the great rift where the lava opened to let this land subside. This rift is known as the Almannagja. A little river tumbles over the edge of the cliff in a beautiful cascade, flows along the Almannagja till it found a break in the inner wall, then across the plain of the subsided land into the lake. Along this little river was the ancient site of the parliament. On both its sides are the ruins of the booths of stone and turf that were occupied by the people during the sessions. On the inner or eastern side of the rift and facing the perpendicular rock wall of Almannagja is the Rock of Laws from which the laws were proclaimed and all important declarations made. Here was the central site of the celebration.

The celebration was opened by a religious service conducted by the Bishop of Iceland who spoke from a natural rock pulpit in Almannagja. Then the Premier, Tryggvi Thorhallson, officially declared the celebration opened from the Law Rock and the King of Iceland summoned parliament into session. The president of the Althingi, Asgeir Asgeirson, delivered his message. Briefly he showed how the settlers of Iceland, although they had fled the tyranny and restraint of the Norwegian Kings in the ninth century, soon decided that their very existence depended on law and order. Therefore in 930 they established this parliament with legislative and judicial functions. It met annually and became the great social and educational, as well as the legal and judicial, center of the country. Its influence was great upon the Icelandic nation. After his address a brief session of parliament was held.

After luncheon greetings were delivered from the Law Rock by representatives of Germany, Great Britain, United States, France, Canada, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Holland, Czecho-Slovakia, Faroe Islands, Isle of Man, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, North Dakota and Minnesota. All these nations had sent prominent men to deliver greetings and seven sent battleships. Great Britain was represented by two members of the House of Lords and two of the Commons, and by The Rodney, the Empire's second largest battleship. The United States sent a delegation of five headed by U. S. Senator Norbeck of South Dakota and having among its membership Congressman Burtness and Sveinbjorn Johnson, former Justice of our Supreme Court. All the greetings extended were full of sincere friendship and admiration. That the Icelandic parliament was the grandmother, if not the mother, of parliaments was recognized. Here long before the Magna Charta was a government of the people making its own laws and submitting disputes to a jury, features carried down into our modern governmental systems. Senator Norbeck spoke for the United States and I delivered the message appended hereto on behalf of North Dakota.

At the conclusion of the speaking the most wonderful and delightful daylight fireworks took place. With the sound of many thunders, from glowing meteors and vari-colored clouds of smoke, emerged the flags of all the nations and floated softly overhead.

The feature of the second day was the adoption by Althing, and the signing by the premiers of a treaty between Iceland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland providing for the arbitration of all disputes without exception that might arise between them. Evidently the Icelanders were more impressed by that than the seven battleships in the Reykjavik harbor. Iceland has no army or navy. It has only two coast guard and two hywro-planes for police duty in the fishing banks. Iceland has never had a war, nor has it ever been molested. During the World War its trade was largely with the United States.

In the afternoon of the second day a special address of welcome to the American Icelanders was delivered from the Law Rock. An eloquent response was made in prose and verse by Rev. Jonas A. Sigurdson of Selkirk, Manitoba, president of the Icelandic National League of America.

Following that a historical pageant was given portraying the first session of the Althing a thousand years ago. The picturesque, colorful flowing robes, long hair and whiskers of that time were faithfully reproduced. So also the speeches and actions of the pioneers of freedom who founded the parliament.

The last day of the celebration at Thingvellir was devoted to greetings from unofficial delegates, organizations and societies, a final session of the parliament and the official closing of the celebration.

Interspersed throughout the celebration was music and especially singing. Prizes had been offered for the best odes written for the occasion. Choirs from the different localities vied with each other. The chanting of rhymes, an old national custom, was revived.

In the evenings sports and dancing were indulged in on a large open platform before a natural ampitheater. Here a national wrestling match was held. A championship belt presented to the winner by the King. The Icelandic wrestling differs much from the American style. It is far more active, quick and scientific. On this platform, too, some wonderful gymnastics were exhibited, both by young men and women. Perhaps most interesting of all, however, were the folk dances and the singing of folk songs and children's rhymes by probably a hundred young boys and girls, apparently eight to twelve years of age. That was a very delightful performance.

Horse racing was had the last day. The Icelandic horses are only a little larger than Shetland ponies. They are, however, most wonderfully strong and tenacious. They will carry a two hundred pound man. Until recently they have been the sole system of transportation. Now the automobile and truck are taking their place.

Every night at Thingvellir real banquets were served the delegates and invited guests. A beautiful spacious dining hall, rooming hundreds, had been specially built. These banquets were addressed by King Christian X, King of Iceland and Denmark, who spoke in Icelandic, by Crown Prince Gustave of Sweden, a very business like and pleasant man of probably fifty years, and by the premiers and statesmen of different countries. Many languages were used. At one of these banquets Mr. Asgeirson, the president of the Althingi, welcomes the guests in seven languages and spoke fluently in all.

At Thingvellir the only permanent buildings are a church, a manse and farm home and a small government hotel. Yet over thirty thousand people attended this celebration and probably more than half were entertained on the grounds. A veritable city of tents existed there during that time. Each city and locality had its central tent for social purposes and small tents for cooking, eating and sleeping, surrounding it. In the central tents were neighborhood gatherings every night (at this time there was no night in Iceland) where singing, speaking, chanting, story telling and visiting were indulged in till the wee small hours. This was a very fitting part of a national celebration.

Excellent order prevailed throughout. Thousands of people were transported night and morning to and from Reykjavik by bus and auto. The only accident during the whole time was the upsetting of one bus and no one was hurt. The roads are narrow and not yet especially good but the chauffeurs were the most careful drivers I have even seen. They are licensed only after a rigid examination and trial. Even an owner cannot drive without that. Then, too, guards were stationed along the highway at short intervals to enforce speed regulations and help in case of accident.

The chief of police in Reykjavik is a former North Dakotan raised at Upham and trained on the Chicago police force, a splendid example of physical manhood over six feet tall.

Iceland early adopted prohibition. A modification was forced by Spain who said if its wines were not admitted to Iceland Spain would prohibit the importation of Icelandic fish, and Spain is Iceland's best market. So prohibition had to be abandoned for light wines. The week before the celebration the government, without warning, issued an edict closing all liquor stores. No liquor could therefore be bought during the celebration. Certainly no drinking was noticeable.

The last official session of the celebration was held in the Parliament House in Reykjavik on the afternoon of June 30th. Here presentations of memorials and gifts were made. Germany presented Iceland on this occasion with a complete up-to-date laboratory equipment for research work in animal diseases. Other governments presented scholarships, beautiful vases, paintings and books. The president of the Althingi was decorated with the medal of the French Legion of Honor as well as the highest Danish decoration. The most significant of these presents, however, was that of a statue of Leif Ericson by the United States. Congressman Burtness made the presentation, briefly tracing the resolution introduced by him in Congress authorizing its presentation and appropriating fifty thousand dollars therefor, which resolution was unanimously passed by both House and Senate and signed by President Hoover. Our own Sveinbjorn Johnson then gave a very interesting speech on the early Norse discoveries and showed how Leif Ericson, born and raised in Iceland, discovered America, which he called Vinland, in the year 1000 or 492 years before Columbus. Records of that discovery were preserved in Iceland.

A farewell banquet was held that evening in the spacious dining room of the Hotel Borg. Here the congratulations, felicitations and expressions of good-will to the Icelanders were expressed by the different nations assembled and in many languages. The premiers of Denmark, Norway and Sweden spoke, Lord Newton for Great Britain, Dr. Brandson for Canada and Mr. Fljodzal for the United States. The best of good feeling prevailed and the celebration closed.

During the celebration the King and Icelandic government issued about one hundred special medals in honor of the occasion. These were presented to the official delegates and special honored guests. I gratefully acknowledge the receipt of one. After the celebration Congressman Burtness was awarded the decoration of a Knight of the Falcon together with the Star of that order in recognition of his splendid attitude towards Iceland in securing the passage of the Leif Ericson resolution. This is an Icelandic honorary order.

Your personal representatives Dr. G. J. Gislason and Mr. P. O. Bugge were at the celebration and graciously received. Dr. Gislason unfortunately was ill during much of the festivities. Mr. Bugge was there at all times and had the opportunity to give your greetings to the audience the last day of the celebration at Thingvellir. Both were a credit to you.

When one considers that this celebration was put on by a country smaller than North Dakota and with only one-sixth of our population and consider further its international aspects and magnitude and its unqualified success, one must greatly admire the organizing ability and wonderful foresight of its promoters, as well as the faith and greatness of its people, who as a unit burying all factional differences, supported it and uncomplainingly bore the expense it entailed. It all bore witness to a great national character.

To state briefly in this report my impressions of Iceland is impossible. I was struck first by the midnight sun and the wonderful coloring nature provided. There was no night. I flew by aeroplane across the western part of the island, out over the Arctic Ocean and beyond the Arctic Circle. Here the midnight sun is visible at that time although I did not see it. I have not words sufficient to describe the beauty of the scenery observed on that flight. We flew over bays rich in fish, over islands literally covered with eider duck, over fertile valleys, where the green of the grass was darker and more verdant than the green of any grass I have seen, over snow-capped mountains and ice covered glaciers. We saw the condensation of the atmosphere into clouds around the mountain peaks. We saw the streams begin like silver ribbons along the sides of the glaciers grow and finally fall in dazzling cascades down to the sea. It was a marvelous journey which I shall never forget.

There are no trees to speak of in Iceland. The sun shines on the bare rock and crystal formations on the mountain sides. The result is the most variegated colors, deep purple, azure, blue and golden, depending on the slant of the rays of the sun on the rock formations. I watched a mountain side at sunset in Reykjavik and assert it changed colors every second. I have never seen any scenery like it.

The country itself is somewhat smaller than North Dakota. It is of volcanic origin, very rough, three-fourths of it perhaps covered with glaciers, volcanoes and lava beds. Such parts are non-habitable. Along the coast, however, are deep fiords and fertile valleys. Here lives the population, now about 106,000. The principal occupations are sheep raising, dairying and fishing. Along the shores are the richest fishing banks of the world. Up to the three mile limit come trawlers and fishing schooners from all countries of northern and western Europe. The coast guard vessels and hydroplanes are busy in keeping these vessels outside the three mile limit. Whenever they catch them inside, the cargo is forfeited and a fine assessed according to treaties and international law. Icelandic fishing is carried on in a modern and efficient manner. Some fish are dried, some salted and some frozen and sold mostly to Great Britain, Spain, France and Italy. The sheep seem a merino type. In the spring they are driven to the uplands and mountain plateaus which form an unusual and common pasturage. All are marked and in the fall rounded up and separated to each owner. Dairying is just beginning to be developed. Co-operative creameries are now getting common. There appears a great future for this occupation.

There are no railroads in the island. Transportation is now by means of trucks, autos and horses. American makes of autos and trucks prevail. I saw mostly Buicks, Hudsons, Hupmobiles, Studebakers and Ford trucks. Most of these, however, are imported from Hamburg to which point they seem to be shipped from the United States on large freighters. Telephones, telegraph and wireless systems cover the island. Those systems prevail more generally there than any country in Europe.

Altogether the country appeared more prosperous than any I visited. At a census taken this spring only five people were reported unemployed. There is no peasantry as found in other countries. There were no aborigines when settlement was made. No Eskimos have ever reached there. All the people are literate well read and students of progress and world affairs. There are no millionaires or very wealthy people. Neither is there any very poor or discontented element. The modes of living foster more leisure, more thought and meditation than here. It seemed the people as a whole were well satisfied and happy.

The climate, contrary to the name, is moderate. A little lake in the center of the city of Reykjavik is not frozen over sufficiently in winter to provide continuous skating. It never gets as cold as here and probably never as warm. The Gulf stream flowing between Norway and Iceland tempers the weather. Occasionally the Arctic stream to the west brings icebergs to the north and west. The only icebergs I saw, however, were at the mouth of the St. Lawrence River. Being an island the weather is more damp than here. A shower of rain may come at any time, and the proper drying of fish or hay is sometimes a problem. However, only the first night of the celebration was the weather a little damp and cold. That night snow appeared on the mountains and in the daylight of the night made a beautiful sight. But the next morning, and every day thereafter, the sun shone and the weather was comfortable.

Waterfalls in Iceland are numerous and the possibilities of electrical development are tremendous. Many farm homes now derive their light and power from turbulent little streams available almost everywhere.

Then there are the hot springs found so many places. Some of these are now harnessed and used for heating and cooking purposes. Many farm homes utilize them. Experiments on a large scale are being conducted in Reykjavik. A large new public school is being built and heated entirely from those sources. We saw a hot spring near the place where I was born which has been surveyed and tested. The engineer's report shows it has volume and power enough to entirely heat a city of 25,000 inhabitants. These resources of nature make up for the lack of coal or wood. They are only lately being utilized but from now on the development will be rapid.

At the present Icelandic trade and intercourse is almost entirely with Europe. Consequently the customs, habits and styles are quite thoroughly European, and entirely modern and abreast the times. However, between 1870 and 1890 when times in Iceland were hard there was a large emigration from Iceland to North America. It is estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 people of Icelandic descent now live on this continent. This is perhaps one-third as many as now inhabit Iceland. Blood is thicker than water. While Iceland is bound to Europe by commercial and political ties it is bound to America by ties of blood and relationship. This celebration brought Iceland and its wonderful history and accomplishments along the lines of government and literature before the world. It renewed ties of friendship with all nations. But most of all it renewed this with its kinsman in America. From them came the most sincere good wishes and congratulations. To them was extended the most heartfelt greeting. I predict that in the future Iceland will look more and more to America for inspiration and protection and that America, with the influence of their kinsman on this continent, will look with more respect, admiration and friendly assistance to that wonderful little island in the North Atlantic Iceland. The United States, Canada and Iceland will all be benefited thereby.

North Dakota as one of the earliest and most successful havens of refuge for struggling Icelandic emigrants stands high in the opinion of modern Iceland. To its borders some fifty years ago came these immigrants without any experience in its occupations, without knowledge of its language or customs, with nothing but courage, brave hearts and a hope for the future. The common sense of both the immigrant and the people of North Dakota prevailed. The immigrant made a success and the State took him to its heart and gave him fully of its resources and advantages. By both he has benefited and in return has whole-heartedly entered into the spirit of the State and of its institutions. At the same time he has retained his love and admiration for the old land while thoroughly loyal to the country of his adoption. All this makes for the wonderfully fine feeling I found to exist between Iceland and North Dakota. The government of Iceland seemed to appreciate the response of the North Dakota Legislature to its invitation to participate in the celebration.

In conclusion I want to sincerely thank you for this appointment and the wonderful opportunity it afforded me to pay my respects to the country of my nativity and to see a little of the old world. After the celebration I traveled hurriedly through Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, France and Great Britain. I return thoroughly satisfied that our conditions here, though we may think some of them unsatisfactory, are far better than conditions generally prevailing in Europe.

Respectfully submitted,

G. GRIMSON.

GREETINGS FROM NORTH DAKOTA DELIVERED BY
G. GRIMSON AT THINGVELLIR, ICELAND,
JUNE 26th, 1930

Mr. President:

"When the invitation to participate in this celebration was received by the government of North Dakota, the Legislature passed unanimously the following Resolution, to-wit:

"WHEREAS, in June, 1930, the people of Iceland are celebrating the Millennial of the Icelandic Parliament or Althing, and

"WHEREAS, this is an unique occasion, this being the oldest Parliament or Legislative Body in existence, being established by the Republic of Iceland in 930 A. D., and

"WHEREAS, the Icelandic nation is historically the preserver in its literature of the common ethnic lore and cultural background of the Nordic races, and is culturally and ethnically most intimately interrelated with the races from which the bulk of the population of this State has sprung, and

"WHEREAS, this State has the largest number of people of Icelandic birth and descent of any State in the Union, and these sons and daughters of the North have proved loyal and model citizens, contributing an honorable share towards the building up of this State and Nation, thus reflecting honor on the land of their adoption as well as the land of their origin,

"BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA:

"That the State of North Dakota hereby, through its Legislative Assembly, extend to the government and people of Iceland its felicitation on this historic occasion, and that the government of the State be authorized to appoint an official representative of this State to be present at the Millennial Celebration of the Icelandic 'Mother of Parliaments' in June, 1930, and to extend in person the greetings and good will of our State, and that an appropriately engrossed copy of these resolutions be prepared by the Secretary of State of North Dakota and delivered to said official representative for transmittal to the Government of Iceland.

"Approved March 9, 1929."

Then the speaker continued:

"From every man, woman and child in the State of North Dakota, many of whom are sons and daughters of Iceland, nearly all of whom are of related Nordic blood, I bear greetings upon this occasion. The whole population of the state extends best wishes to Althing and to the Icelandic people. May it continue to legislate wisely for the benefit of the people during the coming ages.

"I wish also to congratulate this country upon the evidence of progress and advancement that is being made along all lines. While we honor the Icelandic pioneer who settled this country and founded the Althing, it seems to me that all their descendants and especially this present generation is worthy of sharing in that honor. They have kept the liberty, for which the pioneers struggled, alive. They have extended and made available to the world the learning which our ancestors preserved. They have made progress to develop the resources of the island perhaps more than all generations before them. My prediction is that the future of Iceland will be more glorious than the past has ever been.

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by appointment from the Governor in accordance with the tenor of this resolution, I extend the greetings, the good will, and best wishes of the State of North Dakota to the Althing, to Iceland, its government and people."

Then the speaker continued in the Icelandic language of which the following is a rough translation:

"The North Dakota Legislature passed this special resolution in honor of this occasion.

"This resolution conveys the greetings and well wishes from all the inhabitants of that State to the Althing and to the Icelanders. The greetings are most sincere because all inhabitants of North Dakota, no matter of what descent, are friends of Iceland and Icelanders. The best wishes of them all I bring the Icelandic nation today.

"I also bring a special greeting from the Icelanders living in North Dakota. They are thinking of Iceland today. Their thoughts dwell on the incidents of their youth. They refresh their memories regarding the narratives of the Icelandic heroes. Such histories encourage their desire to progress, awaken new feelings, new power, new determination to be an honor to Iceland, even if citizens of an adopted country. They rejoice with all Icelanders on this celebration. They are glad because of the great progress here evident. They wish today not only to honor the pioneers who settled this land and founded the parliament now celebrating its thousandth anniversary, but also the present generation who has done and is doing so much for Iceland.

"It is my great pleasure in this hallowed place to bring hearty greetings from North Dakota. May God bless Iceland and Icelanders."

At the conclusion of his address the speaker delivered a beautifully engrossed copy of the Legislative resolution to Hon. Asgeir Asgeirson, President of the Althingi.

Senator Jones:

Mr. President: I rise to a question of personal privilege, and desire to have my remarks recorded in the Journal.

My attention has been called to the following statement in The Bismarck Tribune of Monday, March 2nd, 1931, in which I am quoted as saying, "Jones was later quoted as telling a fellow Senator that the Governor told me that all of his hopes of election to the Senate hung on my vote on the bill."

This statement in the paper was made by it in connection with the vote which was taken in the Senate on the Congressional re-districting bill.

I want to state unqualifiedly that this is a falsehood, and that no such statement was made to me by the Governor, or by any one else, and that I did not make such a statement to a fellow Senator, or to any one else."

Senator Hyland moved that the address of Ex-Governor Devine at the joint session on Lincoln's birthday, be printed in the Journal and that the permanent record show it as having been delivered on February 12, 1931.

Address on Abraham Lincoln by Ex-Governor J. M. Devine, delivered before the Joint Legislative Assembly at Bismarck, North Dakota, February 12, 1931.

Those who live on a mountain cannot see the mountain. It requires the perspective of distance to bring out the true proportions of the mountain monarch that towers above all his fellows. So, too, it requires the perspective of time to bring out the outstanding characteristics and achievements of a great figure of history.

The man to whom we do honor today was one of broad sympathies, intense feeling, constant as the stars, gentle and tender as a woman, broad as the Republic in his patriotism and as wide as the universe in his humanity. The more we know of him and the nearer we get to him the bigger he grows. In eloquence he surpassed all orators; all diplomats in wisdom and the most ambitious in fame. In Lincoln you have the pulse of twenty million people throbbing in one heart; the thought of their minds articulated by his tongue. In many respects no one in the life of our nation fills our ideal as does this simple minded, self-made, self-reliant man who came to us as a gift of the people from the hearts, homes and forests of Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois. Born and reared in absolute poverty; surrounded on every hand by insurmountable difficulties but for the intervening and guiding hand of Providence, Lincoln grew every day and every year into greater intellectual power and vigor.

The first twelve years of his life were spent in a half-faced camp or cabin, yet even amid these miserable surroundings the boy learned to read, write and cipher, spell, speak and declaim in a manner beyond his years and time. All his days in a school house added together would not make a single year yet every day of his life was a constant drill in the great school of nature and experience. He did not read many books but he obtained from the few he did read more than any other reader. Those that he read and re-read every year of his life were the Bible, Shakespeare, Pilgrim's Progress, Burns, Esop's Fables and Weem's Life of Washington. These are not many but in the hands of a boy like Lincoln they constitute a great literary and, I might add, liberal education. But it was strength of body as well as strength of mind that made Lincoln's great career possible. Nothing could daunt him. He might have but a single tow linen shirt or a pair of jean pantaloons; often he didn't know where his next dollar was to come from, yet before he was twenty-three years of age he had mastered English grammar and composition, arithmetic, geometry, logic and law.

Lincoln was always responsive to the thought of the masses and they, in turn, trusted him as they have no great man since. As a little child on a dark night passing over a rugged road would reach out and grasped the hand of its father for comfort and guidance, so Lincoln reached out and grasped the hands of the people and then marched calmly and courageously through the gloom. His first public utterance is marked by this confidence. On March 9th, 1832, when announcing himself as candidate for the Illinois Legislature to a small gathering of local people he said: "Every man has his own particular ambition; I must confess that for one I have no higher ambition than to win the confidence and esteem of my fellow men; as to how well I shall succeed the future only can show. I have no rich relatives, no affluent friends. I have always been accustomed to walk in the lowly every day, common places of life. My case, therefore, rests entirely in the hands of the independent voters of this district. Should you see fit to keep me in the background I have been too long accustomed to hardships and disappointments to be very much chagrined." In this remarkable speech, so earnest and so honest, made when he was but twenty-six years of age, the main feature of Lincoln's character and the elements that made his great career possible are revealed with startling distinctness.

Today Lincoln stands resplendent among the three great figures of history—William of Orange, John Hamden, George Washington. That small but transcendent group of moral heroes who shed their luster on the four great decisive epochs in the onward march of human liberty.

Lincoln was providentially designed and carefully trained, as was Moses, for the supreme task which came to him. His harsh and early hapless life; his many trials and disappointments were a stern crucible and, as a result, he had that rugged, inborn nature necessary to high achievement, and to this natural endowment he added that of preparation and conflict which made him invincible when the crucial trial came.

Whence came this man's greatness? All the world has asked and still is asking. Picture, if you please, this melancholy, introspective boy, never young, always old, as he wanders through the hills of Kentucky and the deep, far-reaching woods of Indiana and Illinois. How his mind must have expanded as, when splitting rails or surveying he saw as well as felt the mystery of the mighty things about him. See him as the stars come out one by one—he is looking at God's magnificent handiwork, the architecture of an evening sky. He is listening to God's music, the music of the spheres. See him when, as a boy, standing on the banks of the mighty Mississippi listening to the musical lapping of the Father of Waters as it moves in majesty to its destiny—the sea. There the deep spoke to the deep; there the sublime called to the sublime. "What a mighty man does this day and age demand," spoke the shining rivers and the deep, dark woods. He unconsciously saw and felt what man was, in the big things about him. There was the mystery in which the mind, heart and soul of Lincoln grew and could only grow, for the Universe was his Alma Mater and God was his teacher.

At the age of eighteen Lincoln, with others, was hired to float a log raft down the Mississippi to New Orleans. It was a momentous journey and destined to produce a momentous result. He saw for the first time a large city and eagerly visiting its places of interest notes a large gathering in one of the city's open squares; he hastens to see what is taking place. It is a slave mart and he sees for the first time human beings placed upon the auction block to be sold. One by one they are brought forward and sold to the highest bidder until but two are left, a mother and her grown daughter. They are clasped in each other's arms and weeping bitterly. The auctioneer, long inured to such scenes, tears them apart. The mother is bid in by a planter living far up the river and the daughter by one living in the far South, thus they are separated never to see or hear of each other again. He told and retold that story to his friends when he returned to the North and the cruelty and anguish of the scene never left him until that great day, when, as President, he issued his Emancipation Proclamation that broke the shackles that bound five million human beings and lifted them from the night of slavery into the broad, open sunlight of freedom.

Lincoln, some believed, was a political accident. He was no more an accident than was Oliver Cromwell who, while Elliot, Pym and Hamden were leading in the earlier stages was developing in the background for his crown effort against Charles the First. He came near being associated, as Vice-President, with Fremont the Pathfinder in 1856. It was, however, not until his famous debates with Stephen A. Douglas that he loomed large on the political horizon. Those debates constitute the greatest political spectacle of modern times. Thousands gathered to hear these two great gladiators in the arena of joint debate. How did they await the contest? In a manner wholly characteristic of each, Douglas was serene, bold, confident, and at times arrogant. Lincoln was quiet, thoughtful, sad. Everywhere the friends of "The Little Giant" boasted and bragged about what they were going to do when they got Lincoln on the platform. As a result of these widespread statements the friends of Lincoln began to distrust his ability to meet a man whom, as the Democrats declared—and had a right to believe—had never had his equal on the stump as an eloquent, ready and resourceful debater. A hasty meeting was called at Springfield. Lincoln was there looking careworn and weary. He had become conscious that his friends doubted his ability to successfully carry on the debates with Douglas. Meeting an old friend in the crowd and shaking hands he inquired the news, the friend replied "All looks well. Our friends are active and wide awake but, he added, we have some considerable anxiety regarding these approaching discussions with Douglas." In a manner characteristic of him Lincoln replied, half jocular, "Jim, I want to walk with you and that means I want to talk with you." The two men walked out and sat down on the front porch of the hotel. Lincoln then continued, "You and I, when traveling the circuit together attending court have often seen two men about to fight, the big or the little giant, as the case may be, is noisy, boastful, jumps high in the air, cracks his heels together, smites his fists and brags about what he is going to do; the other fellow says not a word, his arms are at his side, his head thrown back and well settled on his shoulders, he is saving his breath and strength for the struggle." Reaching over with his long arm and tapping his friend on the shoulder, he said: "Jim, that man will win just as sure as the fight comes off. Goodbye and remember what I have said."

In the very opening of those debates Lincoln attested how profoundly he had reflected upon the great problem of government and how deeply rooted were his convictions, when he said, "I do not believe the Union will be dissolved. I do not believe the house will fall, but I do expect we will cease to be divided. We must become all one thing or all another." Little did he dream that he was to be made the instrument of that great destiny. Later, in pressing home the dilemma of his political antagonist, he forced Douglas to choose between the Dred Scott Decision and Squatter Sovereignty. His friends urged him not to force Douglas to choose between these issues because, they said, if you press him to the wall he will elect Squatter Sovereignty and that will defeat you for the United States Senate. "That may be," replied Lincoln, with his keen penetration and far-sighted sagacity, "but if Douglas takes that shute he can never be President and that means far more to me than the senatorship." He may have been unconscious of his own political possibilities but he was not unconscious of the tremendous battle he was waging. He knew it was not a battle for Illinois or a United States senatorship, but a battle for humanity and he fought it for victory on the broadest field. Notwithstanding this momentary failure but with the fadeless laurels of that memorable contest he was called in 1860 to deliver an address at the National Forum, Cooper Institute, New York. The great auditorium was packed by many who had come only to see this new prophet from the forests of the west.

All the leaders of his party were there, including the editors of the great daily papers. On the platform were Horace Greeley, Seward, Chase, Charles Sumner, Carl Schurz and others of national distinction. Can you imagine Lincoln at this time? Six feet four and one-half inches tall, lank, lean, rather awkward, with a lively sense of these seeming defects; a voice high pitched, far reaching. For more than an hour he held that great audience spell-bound and when he closed he had delivered one of the greatest examples of sustained logic of all times, which, to this day, is used in higher institutions of learning in many lands. He often said that address made him president. And so he became President, but with many trials and tribulations never afflicting any of his predecessors. How well he filled the position all the world knows; to what heights of courage he rose; what gentleness and goodness suffused his sturdy efforts the epics of the ages will sing. Others played great and noble parts but Lincoln ever will remain one of the greatest figures in national and world history.

It is passing strange, as we look back to that storm tossed time, to note that during the first three years of his administration he was under constant vicious personal attack by Republican members of Congress, both of House and Senate, and some of the daily Republican papers, notable among which was the New York Tribune edited by Horace Greeley. In his Life of Abraham Lincoln, Henry Waterson, a militant Democrat, touching upon this particular time wrote as follows: "Yet not one unkind word sprang to his lips; not one assault rankled in his heart to sour the milk of human kindness which, like some perennial spring from the gnarled roots of some gigantic tree flowed within him."

When Washington became President he called to his side the greatest men of that day; but Jefferson with his political mastery; Adams with his haughty spirit; Hamilton with his creative genius, all acknowledged the overshadowing supremacy of their chief. So, too, when Lincoln became President, he called to his cabinet the most able men of his time; yet Seward with his statescraft; Chase with his robust personality, Stanton with his impetuous ardour; Sumner with his ripe scholarship, all acknowledged that in greatness of mind and greatness of character Lincoln was greater than the greatest among them. His conception of life was big enough and broad enough to take in the widest human possibilities and to measure accurately the practical and spiritual forces which sway a nation. At the time of his inauguration the South was already ablaze with the hot, fiery flames of secession and shortly after it was delivered Ft. Sumter was fired upon, which act precipitated the greatest and most bloody civil war the world has ever known.

Lincoln and all his people were Southerners. True he was born in Kentucky and at the age of six moved with his parents, Thomas and Nancy Hanks Lincoln, to Indiana where his mother died when he was but ten years old. He grew to manhood in Illinois. His parents and the pioneer settlers of all three of these states were largely Virginians, thus he grew up in a southern environment.

So it was as a good, wise, kindly father would plead with his erring children to stay within the safe, strong fold of the Union, so Lincoln pleaded with the Southland in his first inaugural address. As he reached the end he said: "I am loath to close," then gave expression to that moving appeal, "We are not enemies but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory stretching from every battle field and patriotic grave to every living heart and heartstone all over this broad land will yet swell the chorus of the Union when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature." He never lived to see that prophecy fulfilled. He never lived to see the South bigger, better, greater in population, industry, wealth and culture. He never lived to see the mothers of the South decorating with flowers the graves of both the Blue and the Gray, which act eventually gave us our Memorial Day. He did not see or read that beautiful poem, written by Francis Miles Finch, of New York, of which the last stanza reads:

"No more shall the war cry sever
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish our anger forever
When they laurel the graves of our dead.
Under the sod and the dew
Waiting the judgment day;
Love and tears for the blue,
Tears and love for the gray."

He never lived to see the sons of the South volunteering in the Spanish-American War, and largely and promptly answering the call of the Government in the World War. On the other hand it was well for him that he did not live to see in drastic operation moving like a Juggernaut, the so-called "Reconstruction Period."

When the conquered Southern armies broke ranks and scattered to their destroyed homes and devastated fields, bowed with the humiliation of defeat, yet, the spirit of that great people still lived. The proud descendants of Washington, Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Lee and Jackson denied the right of suffrage. United States marshals and their deputies from the north hammering without cause at the doors of their homes demanding admittance; hoards of so-called "Carpet-Baggars" flowing like a tidal wave across her borders, unscrupulous, greedy, mercenary; slaves freed, unsubdued, running riot, many of them sitting as legislators in the Capitols of their several states passing hurtful legislation through the pernicious efforts of that sordid, greedy influx from the north; from which those states did not recover for half a century. That alone could and did break the hearts and crush the proud spirit of the South. The enactment of the law that permitted those grievous offenses, and the method employed to enforce it was the one blot on the political record of the Republican Party.

In Lincoln's second inaugural address he rose to heights of moral grandeur never equalled outside Sacred Writ, and his lofty enunciation of the supreme law of retribution flashes with the thunders of Sinai. His remarkable letter to Horace Greeley on the relations of the fight against slavery, and his courteous but crushing reply to the apologists of the seditious Valandingham are almost matchless in lucidity of reasoning and in their appeal to a free people in danger of being misled by artful sophistry. His short five-minute address at Gettysburg will live as long as our language. He did not ransack libraries or delve into books to get that talk; he looked only into his troubled heart and the simple majesty of its beauty was the inmost expression of his soul. Lincoln, in uttering the words that fell from his lips that day, linked his name forever with the glory of the Gettysburg dead.

Gettysburg was the culmination of seventy-two years of struggle for the preservation of the Union. You can vision the possibility of a Bull Run, Antietam, Lookout Mountain and a Gettysburg when South Carolina threatened to secede from the Union, which caused General Andrew Jackson, the President, to declare, "By the Eternal the Union MUST and SHALL be preserved." Fortunate it has been for this nation that in times of great danger there has always risen a man fully capable of meeting the emergency, therefore, when Robert Hayne of the same state, a member of the United States Senate, delivered what was then considered an irrefutable argument as to the right of any state to secede from the Union, Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, the great expounder of the Constitution, rose from his seat, and inclosing his unanswerable reply, said: "This is a Union, one and inseparable, now and forever." Later there was enacted the law termed "Mason and Dixon Line" north of which slavery was not permitted to exist. This act was a compromise solely to satisfy and quiet the rumblings of the South. Such legislation may delay but it could not cure the existing evil. History clearly shows that a great moral wrong cannot be settled by the easy, half-way method of a compromise.

June, 1863, the ebb and flow of the war showed no decided advantage as to either side other than that the Union forces grew greater in number and the Confederate army less. Generals Lee and Longstreet in consultation have decided to make one great desperate attempt to reach and take the city of Washington and the Army of Virginia marches toward that destination. They are winding up and around the hills and valleys along those hot, dusty, limestone roads. The bands are playing to strengthen their hearts, quicken their step, the tune "Away Down South in Dixie," while floating over them was the beautiful flag of the Confederacy which they lovingly called "Thy Bonnie Blue Flag," officially The Stars and Bars. Marching out from the near vicinity of Washington is another army also moving rapidly along like roads and rugged country, their bands playing "John Brown's Body Lies Mouldering in the Grave," and over them sways in the breeze, the Betsy Ross Flag, the most beautiful one in the world, The Stars and Stripes. Eventually they are facing each other at Gettysburg, some forty-five miles from Washington. Just a pause on both sides to wash away the dust of travel from their faces, a drink of water, a brief period of rest, short letters to loved ones at home, and the overwhelming storm of battle burst. The ground trembled, air quivered, sky obscured. For three long, bitter days the tide of battle swayed between the contending forces and both Blue and Gray are falling by the thousands. Then through sheer exhaustion, as if by common consent, there is a pause on both sides in that awful conflict. Three hours pass when, from out a sweep of woods there comes the clear, ringing notes of a bugle call, and, as if on dress parade, out march ten thousand of the flower of the youth of the South. It is Pickett's brigade that has marched out so bravely. "Their's not to reason why, Their's but to do and die." The Union forces are holding the heights of Big and Little Round Top while back of them lie regiment after regiment fully equipped, ready and waiting. The artillery on both sides roaring. That brigade, as they marched forward, are swept by shot and shell yet they press on and on. Finally those that are left scale the heights and are fighting hand to hand on the ridges. Just for a moment in that last desperate struggle the Constitution of the United States trembles in the balance, then out of that smoke and carnage of death the Gray is forced back and down to the level below and the Constitution is, for the first time, immutably and forever interpreted—"This is a Union, one and inseparable, now and forever."

1865, the Army of Virginia bled white, ragged and starving is hemmed in by the Army of the Potomac under General Grant. Sheridan with his cavalry, circling around like a brand of fire; Sherman and his victorious army on its return march from Atlanta to the Sea. Grant has requested Lee to surrender. Lee's officers beg him to let them make a last desperate attempt to break through or retreat to the Allegheny Mountains. Lee reluctantly refuses their request. Grant makes a hurried trip to Washington to consult with Lincoln and his cabinet as to the terms of surrender, then hurries back to the front. Lincoln, on that same day, though greatly elated at the good news is worn and weary. Those close to him note that the long, heart-breaking, nerve-racking years have bowed him down and they urge that he see the play "Our American Cousin" then showing at Ford's Theater. He and Mrs. Lincoln, with invited guests, enter the President's box. The curtain is up and the play is on. A young man, Wilkes Booth—handsome as a picture, is passing down the left side aisle which leads to the stage door; swinging it open he steps in quickly and quietly, with his left hand he pushes aside the drapery of the box. A sharp report—a puff of smoke. The President's head drops slightly to one side and his body slowly slumps in his chair. They carry him to a building directly across the street, now historical, where he is placed upon a bed. He never regains consciousness and in the early morning passes away. His work done, his great task fully completed. Stanton, Secretary of War, who sat by the bedside during the long hours of that night, murmurs, "He now belongs to the ages." The following day his body is placed in the great rotunda of the Nation's Capitol. Thousands pass to look for the last time on that care-lined face. To the Union he had given the last full measure of his devotion. The flag of his country wrapped around him and a world in mourning.

Senator Lynch moved that the Senate do now recess until 7:30 p. m., this evening.

Which motion prevailed and the Senate recessed.

The Senate re-convened, pursuant to recess at 7:30 p. m., the President presiding.
