Minutes:

CHAIRMAN COOK called the committee to order. All senators (6) present.

CHAIRMAN COOK opened the hearing on HB 1107 relating to the effect on property tax levy limitations of property exempt from property taxes by local discretion or charitable status.

Marcy Dickerson, employed by the State Tax Commisioner as State Supervisor of Assessments, testified in support of HB 1107. (See attached testimony)

SENATOR COOK asked when a county is going to determine its mill levy are they able to go back to the base year, which is defined as the year in which, in dollars, they had their highest income.

Marcy Dickerson said the base year is the highest amount of dollars that they are levied in the last three years.

No further testimony.

Discussion:

CHAIRMAN COOK asked the committee what their intent was on HB 1107. He ask if they understand the bill.

SENATOR POLOVITZ answered no.

SENATOR COOK asked the intern Telisa Nemec to call Legislative Council and see if John Walstad could come down and explain it. Chapter 57-15 of the century code is being amended here. The way counties are able to determine what their mill levy is, they go to their last three years and take the highest amount of dollars that are raised during those three years and then they are guaranteed to be able to levy enough mills to raise that same amount of money in dollars. In other wards if something happened to cause all property tax valuations to go down in the county then that county would have the legal authority to raise the mill levy enough to generate the same amount of income that they were able to generate in their highest base year. The question is now, how does an exemption fit into that. When they give away an exemption in property tax can they recover the amount of money that they give away. The intent of this is to bring in property exempted by renaissance zoned protection under 40-6?-05, so what it would do is it would allow the evaluation of the total amount of the land to go down and therefore allow them to raise a higher mill levy to recover the amount of taxes that they lost.

SENATOR GARY LEE so that property in the renaissance zone could be included in the total of the value of that particular political subdivision. Is that what this is adding, in terms of calculating its total value?

SENATOR COOK explained -- we have the total evaluation of the taxing district times the mill levy equals the total dollars raised and they are guaranteed that these total dollars that they could raise is going to equal what they raised in the base year which is the highest amount of dollars in the last three years. So if for example this total valuation went down then the mill levy would go up to raise this same amount of dollars. In the renaissance zones they create some property tax exemptions which causes this to go down which would cause the mill levy to go up. This is what they are trying to accomplish with the bill, to allow this total evaluation to go down rather than for that evaluation to be counted in here, they are exempting it. Then the mill levy will go up to recover the cost that they are going to lose from the exemption that is no longer going to be taxed.

John Walstad said another way of saying that is without subtracting the value of the renaissance zone exemption from the total value they are going to collect the same amount of taxes they did last year

Minutes:

CHAIRMAN COOK called the committee to order.

CHAIRMAN COOK reminded the committee this bill is with property tax. John Walstad came down to explain it at the hearing but after this bill was passed it did the exact opposite of what he thought it did. There was a meeting with Mr Walstad and Marjorie Dickerson from the tax department. Chairman cook said that the committee needs to reconsider their action.

SENATOR COOK asked John Walstad to explain this bill over again from the beginning.

SENATOR JOHN WALSTAD said the information he gave the last time we met was almost one hundred percent wrong. Chairman Cook, Senator Wardner and I sat down with Marjorie Dickerson and ran through how the worksheets are calculated. The only time charitable property value is deducted from levy authority is if that charitable property has ceased to exist. It doesn't happen very often, so it is very seldom going to be subtracted out of taxing authority and what Marcy said the reason for the treatment of these properties as they are actually treated is that at the time this adjustment was made in the law, the committee's concern was that when an exemption is granted by local government, local government is still going to need enhanced tax authority to provide services for that property. So how it works is when local government grants an exemption under current law 40-57.1 for a new business, a brand new building is going to be built, the governing body says they will give them a five year exemption on that building and what happens to the levy authority for that subdivision is there is an amount added to how much they can levy based on the mill rate times what would be the value of that property. Since that property is not taxable that extra tax gets spread through all the other tax payers in the district.

SENATOR COOK if we pass this bill.

John Walstad if this bill doesn't pass its still going to work that way. It is current law for the 40-57.1 properties, the ones that are there on page 2, line 5, that is the new business exemption, that is in current law and what is being added here is renaissance zone. The reason the tax department suggested the bill is the tax department thought now renaissance zone property and new business exemption should be treated the same way but the underlying policy in this whole thing is when an exemption is granted, tax increase authority has also provided by the operation of existing law and taxes for that new property gets picked up by other taxpayers.

SENATOR COOK 40-57.1 is the new business exemption.

John Walstad the exemption there is five years and ten years if it is ag processing,

John Walstad just any kind of building improvements. If you build on to your home the governing body can grant an exemption for that addition to your home and if that is granted, the value of that property could be something your neighbor could pick up. You pay on the taxable part of your property and everybody else pays also for the part that is exempt.

FINANCE AND TAXATION COMMITTEE January 15, 2003

Testimony of Marcy Dickerson, State Supervisor of Assessments

HOUSE BILL NO. 1107

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, for the record my name is Marcy Dickerson and I am employed by the State Tax Commissioner as State Supervisor of Assessments. My testimony concerns House Bill 1107.

The Tax Commissioner introduced this bill because we, and a number of local officials, think the proposed language was inadvertently overlooked when property tax exemptions for property located in a renaissance zone were enacted.

Subdivision d of subsection 2 of section 57-15-01.1 lists the types of exempt property that are to be included in "property exempt by local discretion or charitable status" for the purpose of calculating mill rates. Under existing law, "property exempt by local discretion or charitable status" means property exempted from taxation as new or expanding businesses under chapter 40-57.1; improvements to property under chapter 57-02.2; or buildings belonging to institutions of public charity, new single-family residential or townhouse or condominium property, property used for early childhood services, or pollution abatement improvements under section 57-02-08. We believe property exempted from taxation as a renaissance zone project under section 40-63-05 is similar to other exempt property listed above. Including this property for determining the calculated mill rate provides for revenue to support services required by exempted renaissance zone property.

This concludes my prepared testimony. I will be happy to try to answer any questions you may have.
