Minutes: Rep. Devlin, Chairman opened the hearing on HCR 3041, a concurrent resolution directing the legislative council to study the interim study process, including the method by which topics are selected for study by the Legislative Council.

Rep. Thomas Brusegaard representing District 19 and prime sponsor spoke in support of the bill. Several examples of concern were discussed by him --- one thing was the number of studies upon studies but without seeming results -- another was that so many interim meetings required him to drive six hours for essentially little purpose -- process is not bad but perhaps could be improved -- maybe look at how other states handle their studies -- size of committees, matching the committees to parallel the standing committees and other things.

Rep. Ekstrom (32.8) Have you thought of any specific criteria for doing this?

Rep. Brusegaard No I am not married to any preconceived ideas about this. Maybe we should look at the use of consultants for such things as education issues, more outreach activities, --- rather than talking about things over and over.

Rep. Kaldor I want to share that I have some of these same thoughts. One of the things I have thought was useful if the road trips where one time we had a tax hearing in Fargo -- maybe we need more of something like that. We got more varied testimony there than we ever got in Bismarck.
