Ford's life was one of public service, serving in the Navy during World War II and in the United States House of Representatives for 25 years, including eight as Minority Leader.

As President, Ford restored integrity and candor to government as he ushered in an era of national healing at a time of crisis. In supporting his wife Betty during struggles with breast cancer and substance abuse addiction, he helped remove the stigmas of these medical and social ills. He did much to steady the ship of state in a turbulent time, and for that we express our gratitude, mourn his passing, and honor him today.
