How the Horse Racing Game Works

1. Put six horses on one end of the race track that is divided into six lanes.

2. Run the rope from each horse down the track and through the end board.

3. Use a bingo machine to make the horses move. When you call out a number and name, the horse moves forward one nine inch space, by someone sitting at the end of the track pulling the rope, which is marked every nine inches. Return the ball into the bingo machine before drawing another ball.

4. Numbered bingo balls 1 thru 6 moves each of the 6 horses. Balls 7 thru 9 are Jokers. Balls 10 thru 19 also moves horse number 1. Use just the left number on the ball to figure out which horse moves. Balls 20 thru 29 moves horse number 2. The same works for horses 3 thru 6. Each horse has 11 balls to move them. Balls 70 thru 75 are also Jokers. When a Joker comes up during the race, a horse or horses Leading the race beyond the fifth space, stumbles back one space. If no horses are beyond the fifth space, the Joker does not count. If a horse makes it up to the finish line but not over, that horse cannot move back more than one space in case more Jokers come out.

5. If more than one Joker comes out in a row and the Leading horse or horses have not come up to the finish line, they can move all the way back to the fifth space.

6. The horse has to make it nine spaces beyond the starting position, to win the race. After the horse wins the race, the Joker does not count while the remaining horses try for second and third place.

7. The five bets are Win, Place, Show, Exacta, and Trifecta.

8. Suggest all bets be two dollars.
