POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGESEN. STENEHJEM rose on a point of personal privilege.REMARKS OF SENATOR STENEHJEM

MR. PRESIDENT: Every once in a while, we as North Dakotans are reminded of the quality of people we call our friends and neighbors. This weekend presented such an opportunity. A winter storm, not uncommon to our state, stranded over eight hundred motorists on various North Dakota roads including Highway 83 and Interstate 94. Working throughout Friday and Saturday, often at disregard for their own personal safety, emergency crews conducted search and rescue operations and came to the aid of those who were stranded and in need. As the roadways were cleared, other workers moved in to clear vehicles and remove obstructions to make our roads drivable once more.

The sheer speed at which motorists were rescued and our roads were cleared is testament to the commitment that our state employees and fellow citizens have to our state and its people. The caliber of these diligent and devoted North Dakotans truly speaks volumes about the character of our state's citizens.

Therefore, Mr. President, I wish to publicly thank and commend the hard-working and dedicated people of the North Dakota National Guard, the North Dakota Highway Patrol, the North Dakota Department of Transportation, and the North Dakota Department of Emergency Services as well as other law enforcement agencies, road crews, tow operators, local emergency service personnel, and the countless good Samaritans of North Dakota who lent their time, energy, expertise, resources, and compassion during our latest blizzard.
