MOTION

SEN. KLEIN MOVED that the Memorial Address by North Dakota Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem and the Invocation by Reverend Lester Wolfgram be printed in the Journal., which motion prevailed.

INVOCATION BY REVEREND LESTER WOLFGRAM

Heavenly Father, on this very special day, we gather to honor and remember those whose humble privilege it was to serve their communities in this chamber as members of the North Dakota Senate. While their service here and their lives in this world have ended, we give thanks to You for the blessing that each of them was for their family and to those whom they served. Thank you for their willingness to make all of the sacrifices necessary to serve as a State Senator, for their love of our great state, for their desire to give their best as they represented those who elected them. Thank you for their willingness to speak and to vote on the many issues that were brought before them for consideration.

We are also grateful for their families, for the support and encouragement that spouses and children have given through the grueling campaigns and the long weeks during the legislative sessions. As family and friends and colleagues help us to celebrate their lives, even as we mourn their death. May we mourn, not as those who have no hope, but whose sure and certain hope is in the crucified and risen Christ. We also ask that You would continue to prosper the work of those who currently serve. Grant us Your perfect peace. In Your name we pray. Amen.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS BY NORTH DAKOTA ATTORNEY GENERAL WAYNE STENEHJEM

Mr. President and members of the Senate and honored guests:

In my first session in this Senate, the 47th Legislative Assembly in 1981, I sat right there in the middle of the second row, and newly elected Sen. Bryce Streibel sat right next to me in the same seat his father had sat when he was a Senator. And when the Memorial service began with the reading of Senate Memorial Resolution Number One, with the names of the now deceased members, Bryce leaned over to me and said, "One day they will read resolutions like this with our names on it." And Bryce was right. For many of our dear friends and esteemed former colleagues, and for my brother Bob, that day is today.

I am very much honored by the invitation to speak here today on this very somber and significant day. I am mindful that for me and my family this ceremony isn't just about our personal loss, it's about everyone's loss. So, perhaps it is entirely appropriate for me to be here today, because it signifies an important recognition, one that only those who have sat in the chairs in this chamber can really fully appreciate. That all of us who have served here are brothers and sisters. We are family. After all, like any family, you argue. You fight and disagree on matters from the monumental to the rather inconsequential. And sometimes it's hard to know the difference between the two.

But as with any well-balanced family, in the end, you all come together. When we lose one of our number, together we grieve. And we remember. That's what these memorial services are for. There are none of us that have sat here and listened as this Senate Memorial Resolution is read who don't do so with a solemn awareness that one day the Secretary of the Senate will stand at the podium and read a similar resolution with our name on it.

It is how we act between this day, and that one, that will make all the difference. Like all of you, we have too often found ourselves attending the funeral services in the hometowns of these public servants. And though the senators there eulogized were of various and diverse backgrounds and philosophies, you will note a common theme among the words spoken for our departed colleagues. No priest or minister or orator ever eulogizes a former senator by saying things like: "You know, people were really pleased with his views on county home rule." Or "She was well admired because she favored generous property tax relief."

Instead, we always hear words that tell of the character of our departed colleagues:

"His word was his bond."

"He was always true to his principles"

"She would never let you down."

"She laughed often."

To prepare for today, I decided to go back to the ND Senate Journal from one hundred years ago. The 13th Legislative Session of 1913. I was going to tell you what the Senate was doing on this very day, March 20, 1913. But I can't do that because the fact is, that the Legislature had adjourned sine die and gone home two weeks ago, on March 7, 1913. Maybe that's why we call them "the good old days."

I can tell you that that 13th Legislative Session was extremely contentious. This was the time of the rise of North Dakota's prairie populism. They killed, then following a public outcry, resurrected and passed a measure to give women the vote. They debated a bill to prohibit the sale and use of tobacco throughout the state. They considered whether they should amend the constitution to provide for the initiative and referendum of legislation by the citizens. They scrambled to find money to buy a silver service for the battleship North Dakota. They debated establishing a state owned mill and elevator. Governor Hanna vetoed an unprecedented number of bills because the state lacked sufficient revenues. It was a heated and divisive time. And like today, they passed resolutions to honor departed colleagues.

Few know the joys and the sacrifices of serving here. From first surviving the increasingly arduous process of gaining the trust and the votes of our citizens in order to earn a seat in this chamber. Then there are the pressures and stress of actually serving. For the families gathered here today, only you know the number of family events and important occasions and time together lost, so these senators could serve. And for that, a grateful state offers its silent thanks.

Hundreds of men and women have served in this room. When I was a member, I would sometime come in late at night or on weekends, and sitting alone in the quiet, imagine the arguments and issues that must have been discussed and resolved within these walls. And if you do so, if you close your eyes and listen, you may hear within this chamber, the booming and confident voice of Chet Reiten. Or of Darlene Watne who served as my Vice Chairman on the Judiciary Committee, with her unassuming but self-assured competence.

You may hear the unmistakable Tennessee drawl of former majority leader George Longmire, or the earnest voice of Bill Hanson, the quiet and well-experienced reasoning from Arden Anderson, or the gentle but impassioned oration from former Congressman and then Senator Rollie Redlin. Resonating and intermingling with all the historical voices in this chamber would be those of our friend Dennis Bercier, and of Ludger Kadlec and Herb Geving and Art Behm. The voices of staunchly conservative Marv Sorum, and the gentle thoughtfulness of Bud Hanson, could be heard as well. Perhaps Earl Redlin would join in with an ardent voice for his constituents.

The knowledgeable sounds from Tom Fischer, either commenting about one thing or another under his breath or standing up to educate on all things water, or the reasoning and always friendly voice of Ernie Pyle are here to listen to. From the seats out there, and then later from the front of the room as Lt. Governor and President of the Senate you might hear Ernie Sands. And of course, you might even hear Brother Bob. Not speaking frequently, but his voice might come from behind those brass rails somewhere, directing traffic. Many, many good friends and dedicated public servants.

We are well blessed to live in a state and country where the desires and emotions of the public are channeled to one place such as our remarkable state Senate. In the history of the world, it has been only during a brief interval that governments have recognized that ordinary people can determine the laws for themselves. For that we can thank those with the foresight to create this miracle process of self-government.

So, you who serve here must be ever mindful of the fact that this is the focal point where the aspirations and the hopes, as well as the fears and anxieties of our citizens converge. More important than the individual issues faced in this chamber is the reality that as long as all can come here, a single place, and openly advance their opinions and desires, and be represented by senators who vigorously and honestly speak on their behalf, and agree that thereafter we all will abide by the collective wisdom of the whole, this institution, and the form of government herein found, will continue to offer a peaceful and lasting outcome that permits us to avoid revolution and bloodshed as an unhappy alternative. Just as similar bodies throughout the nation have succeeded in doing for over two centuries.

The echoes of the vigorous, often contentious debates over the causes of the day may have died with those who spoke them. But the institution survives. And the character of the people who shaped this institution survives as well.

These dedicated senators whose lives and service we today recognize, toiled in this very room. They left their families and friends and businesses behind, to dedicate their tireless effort to making this state a better place. The issues they faced were no doubt heated and difficult. They served their constituents and their state well.

As their names are read, it is proper to remember our departed colleagues and friends, and it is equally essential to rededicate our own lives to service.

The words of the poet John Donne remind us that we are all in this life together. When one senator leaves us, we are all diminished. "No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main. If a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less, as well as if promontory were, as well as if a manor of thy friend's or of thine own were. Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind; and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee."

And so, I think it fitting to quote the words that ended Senate Memorial Resolutions many sessions ago: "Now, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the State of North Dakota, the House of Representatives Concurring therein, that we hereby extend to the families and friends of the deceased, our heartfelt sympathy. We, too, are deeply moved by the loss of these able, conscientious, and industrious [senators]. The valuable contributions they made as community leaders and legislators will always be a gentle reminder of their abiding faith in humanity, loyalty and love for things sublime. We are told that the good men do, will follow after them. If this is true, then we can rest assured in the knowledge that, with them, all is well."

MOTION

SEN. KLEIN MOVED that the Senate Memorial Service be dissolved, which motion prevailed.

"SECTION 1. AMENDMENT. Section 10-06.1-17 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

10-06.1-17. Annual report - Contents - Filing requirements.

Before April sixteenth of each year, every corporation engaged in farming or ranching after June 30, 1981, and every limited liability company engaged in farming or ranching shall file with the secretary of state an annual report signed as provided in subsection 5354 of section 10-19.1-01 if a corporation and subsection 58 of section 10-32-02 if a limited liability company. If the corporation or limited liability company is in the hands of a receiver or trustee, it must be signed on behalf of the corporation or limited liability company by the receiver or trustee. An annual report in a sealed envelope postmarked by the United States postal service before the date provided in this section or an annual report in a sealed packet with a verified shipment date by any other carrier service before the date provided in this section meets the filing date requirement. An annual report must include the following information with respect to the preceding calendar year:

1. The name of the corporation or limited liability company.
2. The name of the registered agent of the corporation or limited liability company as provided in chapter 10-01.1 and, if a noncommercial registered agent, the address of the registered office of the corporation or limited liability company in this state.
3. With respect to each corporation:
 - a. A statement of the aggregate number of shares the corporation has authority to issue, itemized by classes, par value of shares, shares without par value, and series, if any, within a class.
 - b. A statement of the aggregate number of issued shares, itemized by classes, par value of shares, shares without par value, and series, if any, within a class.
4. With respect to each shareholder or member:
 - a. The name and address of each, including the names and addresses and relationships of beneficiaries of trusts and estates which own shares or membership interests;
 - b. The number of shares or membership interests or percentage of shares or membership interests owned by each;
 - c. The relationship of each;
 - d. A statement of whether each is a citizen or permanent resident alien of the United States; and
 - e. A statement of whether at least one is an individual residing on or operating the farm or ranch.
5. With respect to management:
 - a. If a corporation, then the names and addresses of the officers and members of the board of directors; or
 - b. If a limited liability company, then the names and addresses of the managers and members of the board of governors.
6. A statement listing the acreage [hectarage] and location listed by section, township, range, and county of all land in the state owned or leased by the corporation or limited liability company and used for farming or ranching. The statement must also designate which, if any, of the acreage [hectarage] is leased from or jointly owned with any shareholder or member and list the name of the shareholder or member with that acreage [hectarage].
7. A statement of the percentage of the annual average gross income of the corporation or limited liability company which has been derived from farming or ranching operations over the previous five years or for each year of existence if less than five years.

8. A statement of the percentage of gross income of the corporation or limited liability company derived from nonfarm rent, nonfarm royalties, dividends, interest, and annuities during the period covered by the report.
9. A corporation engaged in farming which fails to file an annual report is subject to the penalties provided in section 10-19.1-147 except that the penalties must be calculated from the date of the report required by this section.
10. A limited liability company engaged in farming which fails to file an annual report is subject to the penalties provided in subsections 5 and 6 of section 10-32-149 except that the penalties must be calculated from the date of the report required by this section."

"SECTION 7. AMENDMENT. Section 10-19.1-115 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

10-19.1-115. Involuntary dissolution.

1. This section applies to corporations that are not publicly held corporations.
- ~~4-2.~~ A court may grant any equitable relief it deems just and reasonable in the circumstances or may dissolve a corporation and liquidate its assets and business:
 - a. In a supervised voluntary dissolution pursuant to section 10-19.1-114;
 - b. In an action by a shareholder when it is established that:
 - (1) The directors or the persons having the authority otherwise vested in the board are deadlocked in the management of the corporate affairs, the shareholders are unable to break the deadlock, and the corporation or the parties have not provided for a procedure to resolve the dispute;
 - (2) The directors or those in control of the corporation have acted fraudulently or illegally toward one or more shareholders in their capacities as shareholders or directors of any corporation or as officers or employees of a closely held corporation;
 - (3) The directors or those in control of the corporation have acted in a manner unfairly prejudicial toward one or more shareholders in their capacities as shareholders or directors of a corporation that is not a publicly held corporation or as officers or employees of a closely held corporation;
 - (4) The shareholders of the corporation are so divided in voting power that, for a period that includes the time when two consecutive regular meetings were held, they have failed to elect successors to directors whose terms have expired or would have expired upon the election and qualification of their successors;
 - (5) The corporate assets are being misapplied or wasted; or
 - (6) The period of duration as provided in the articles has expired and has not been extended as provided in section 10-19.1-124;
 - c. In an action by a creditor when:

- (1) The claim of the creditor has been reduced to judgment and an execution thereon has been returned unsatisfied; or
 - (2) The corporation has admitted in writing that the claim of the creditor is due and owing and it is established that the corporation is unable to pay its debts in the ordinary course of business; or
 - d. In an action by the attorney general to dissolve the corporation in accordance with section 10-19.1-118 when it is established that a decree of dissolution is appropriate.
- 2-3. In determining whether to order equitable relief or dissolution, the court shall take into consideration the financial condition of the corporation but may not refuse to order equitable relief or dissolution solely on the ground that the corporation has accumulated or current operating profits.
- 3-4. In an action under subdivision b of subsection 1 involving a corporation that is not a publicly held corporation at the time the action is commenced and in which one or more of the circumstances described in that subdivision is established, the court, upon motion of a corporation or a shareholder or beneficial owner of shares of the corporation, may order the sale by a plaintiff or a defendant of all shares of the corporation held by the plaintiff or defendant to either the corporation or the moving shareholders, whichever is specified in the motion, if the court determines in its discretion that an order would be fair and equitable to all parties under the circumstances of the case.
- a. The purchase price of any shares so sold must be the fair value of the shares as of the date of the commencement of the action or as of another date found equitable by the court. However, if the shares in question are then subject to sale and purchase pursuant to the bylaws of the corporation, a shareholder control agreement, the terms of the shares, or otherwise, the court shall order the sale for the price and on the terms as set forth, unless the court determines that the price or terms are unreasonable under all the circumstances of the case.
 - b. Within five days after the entry of the order, the corporation shall provide each selling shareholder or beneficial owner with the information it is required to provide under subsection 6 of section 10-19.1-88.
 - c. If the parties are unable to agree on fair value within forty days of entry of the order, the court shall determine the fair value of the shares under the provisions of subsection 10 of section 10-19.1-88 and may allow interest or costs as provided in subsections 1 and 11 of section 10-19.1-88.
 - d. The purchase price must be paid in one or more installments as agreed on by the parties, or, if no agreement can be reached within forty days of entry of the order, as ordered by the court. Upon entry of an order for the sale of shares under this subsection and provided that the corporation or the moving shareholders post a bond in adequate amount with sufficient sureties or otherwise satisfy the court that the full purchase price of the shares, plus any additional costs, expenses, and fees as may be awarded, will be paid when due and payable, the selling shareholders shall no longer have any rights or status as shareholders, officers, or directors, except the right to receive the fair value of their shares plus such other amounts as may be awarded.
- 4-5. In determining whether to order equitable relief or dissolution, the court shall take into consideration the duty which all shareholders in a closely held corporation owe one another to act in an honest, fair, and reasonable manner in the operation of the corporation and the reasonable expectations of the shareholders as they exist at the inception and develop during the course of the shareholders' relationship with the corporation and with each other. For purposes of this section, any written agreement, including an employment agreement and a buy-sell agreement, between or among shareholders or between or among one or more shareholders and the corporation is presumed to reflect the parties' reasonable expectation concerning the matters dealt with in the agreement.

- ~~5-6.~~ In deciding whether to order dissolution, the court shall consider whether lesser relief suggested by one or more parties, such as any form of equitable relief, a buyout, or a partial liquidation, would be adequate to permanently relieve the circumstances established under subdivision b or c of subsection 1. Lesser relief may be ordered in any case when it would be appropriate under all the facts and circumstances of the case.
- ~~6-7.~~ If the court finds that a party to a proceeding brought under this section has acted arbitrarily, vexatiously, or otherwise not in good faith, it may in its discretion award reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees and disbursements, to any of the other parties.
- ~~7-8.~~ Proceedings under this section must be brought in a court within the county in which the principal executive office of the corporation is located. It is not necessary to make shareholders parties to the action or proceeding unless relief is sought against them personally.

SECTION 8. AMENDMENT. Subsection 2 of section 10-19.1-146 of the North Dakota Century Code is amended and reenacted as follows:

2. The annual report must be submitted on forms prescribed by the secretary of state. The information provided must be given as of the date of the execution of the report. The annual report must be signed as provided in subsection ~~5354~~ of section 10-19.1-01. If the corporation or foreign corporation is in the hands of a receiver or trustee, it must be signed on behalf of the corporation or foreign corporation by the receiver or trustee. The secretary of state may destroy all annual reports provided for in this section after they have been on file for six years."

Page 1, line 1, after "A BILL" replace the remainder of the bill with "for an Act to provide for a legislative management study to address residential and commercial development programs and to review the facility master plan."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NORTH DAKOTA:

SECTION 1. LEGISLATIVE MANAGEMENT STUDY - PROGRAMS FOR RESIDENTIAL AND COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT - FACILITY MASTER PLAN.

1. During the 2013-14 interim, the legislative management shall consider a study to:
 - a. Create an inventory of and strategic plan for state, local, and federal programs relating to residential and commercial development and the related infrastructure needs. As part of this study, the housing finance agency, working with the Bank of North Dakota and department of commerce, shall survey appropriate state, local, and federal entities to create an inventory of these government programs, which may include housing finance programs, energy efficiency programs, home and residential accessibility programs, disaster recovery programs, and other governmental programs providing residential and commercial development assistance. The housing finance agency shall present this inventory to the legislative management and shall assist the legislative management in identifying program overlap and program gaps.
 - b. Review current state government space utilization by all state government branches and agencies, including rental, lease, and state-owned facilities. The study must identify any recommended changes to the state's facility master plan.
2. The legislative management shall report its findings and recommendations, together with any legislation required to implement the recommendations, to the sixty-fourth legislative assembly."
