

October 20, 2023

To Whom It May Concern:

Subject: Spiritwood Fertilizer Project

Greater North Dakota Chamber (GNDC) would like to express support for the Spiritwood Fertilizer project proposed by NextEra Energy.

NextEra Energy, a leading U.S. based investor and developer of energy infrastructure, aims to develop a fertilizer production facility in Stutsman County near Jamestown, North Dakota. The facility is expected to produce up to 500 tons per day of fertilizer. This project aims to provide agriculture resiliency by providing a stable supply of fertilizer produced locally in North Dakota. The project is expected to support the community by bringing in new jobs, including dozens of specialist positions, and the opportunity to develop STEM programs.

As North Dakota's oldest and largest business advocacy organization, GNDC is supportive of NextEra's innovative approach to help grow North Dakota's economy. We look forward to working with NextEra on this exciting effort.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Arik Spencer", with a long, sweeping horizontal line extending to the right.

Arik Spencer
President & CEO