Regarding SB 2101

Please accept this written Testimony opposing the above proposed Bill.

Rural communities have been struggling for years to find adequate staffing and medical personnel as well as equipment necessary to provide the EMT care required to their surrounding areas.

I believe the unnecessary, expensive and intrusive requirements this bill requires will impose more burdens to EMTs in rural communities who are currently struggling; not to mention the additional funds that will be requested by the State of ND Tax Payers.

As we can all attest, the medical profession, hospitals and clinics are experiencing staff shortages of nurses, physicians, doctors and all areas related with the medical community. This bill would only exacerbate those shortages throughout the state of ND.

I strongly urge a NO vote on this bill that seems solely reliant on being self-serving for a few and costly for all.

Thank you,

Connie Samuelson, Minot

SB2101

Members of the committee. My name is Todd Beard. I am the Senator from District 23 serving the Williston and Trenton area.

SB2101 comes before you on behalf of our local emergency services. Within century code the Health and Human Services Department oversees Emergency Medical Services Operations Licenses, namely Chapter 23-27. Under Chapter 4 lists Standards for Operators which are the standards for ambulance services. The intent of this bill is to add a standard for the ambulance service to ensure availability of those services for 911 calls when transport of a patient is needed for a nonemergent service.

Basically this is a bill to address the issue of ensuring that ambulance services are available for calls when a non-emergency based transport is needed from one hospital to another.

There will be testimony after me that can better clarify the reason this bill is needed.

Thank you for your consideration and ask for a DO PASS recommendation. I stand for any questions.

RE: Support for SB 2101

Chairman Lee and Committee Members,

My name is Corey Johnson, and I serve the City of Williston as the Assistant Chief of Operations and a Paramedic for their Fire & Ambulance Department. I am here today in support of SB 2101.

I want to start by posing a question for you to think about throughout this hearing. What is your expectation from your local ambulance service if you, a friend, a family member, or a constituent calls 9-1-1 after suffering a medical emergency or traumatic event?

My basic expectation is that an ambulance will be dispatched and respond in a timely manner. This committee knows better than any that ambulance services are in distress, and you all have been working through the many challenges our ambulance services throughout the state face. Thank you for investing your time and efforts towards these critical issues. Last week, I watched the hearing on Senate Bill 2033 regarding distressed ambulance services. During that session, this committee discussed several challenges, such as EMS as an Essential Service and EMS interactions with PSAPs. Senate Bill 2101 stands to address some of those issues brought up during that discussion.

As we are here today, no law in North Dakota requires an ambulance service to exist. Furthermore, no law or rule requires an ambulance service to respond. Arguably, there have been many efforts to correct this over the past few years. The EMS Unit of HHS and the EMS Association have worked with this assembly to establish processes to ensure that every inch of North Dakota falls within the jurisdiction of an ambulance service and that each ambulance service establishes a taxing district to secure funding to support their operation. These processes bring us closer to EMS as an Essential Service. SB 2101 will codify the most critical role an ambulance service must provide, the obligation to respond to a 9-1-1 call.

One area that Century Code and Administrative Code have not fully defined is what a call for service is or an essential call for service.

Today, an ambulance service is only required to attempt to be available to respond to a call for service and report themselves out of service if they cannot. The HHS Department has rules that address ambulance service availability. The fault remains that a call for service is not fully defined, and nothing requires an ambulance service to ensure a continuity of operation while providing non-emergent services. For example, ambulances are often asked to provide standby services for sporting events. If an ambulance is staged at a high school football game and fails to respond to any other call for service, they have met the requirements of century code and administrative code as they are written today. Our PSAPs are left with the dilemma of dispatching other services into neighboring jurisdictions, often in our rural communities, leaving multiple areas unprotected. Although the example of a football game is a severe scenario that I hope never truly unfolds, it is still a possibility. The most realistic scenario, and one that does occur, is when ambulance services are providing interfacility or hospital-to-hospital transfers. When a local ambulance service commits its only available unit to deliver this type of service, there is no guarantee that an ambulance will be available to respond to a 9-1-1 call. SB 2101 provides that each service has a process in place to ensure a continuity of operations while performing these call types and ensures that someone will respond.

There are many demands on local ambulances to provide a wide range of services to their community. With the acts of the last legislative session, most ambulance services report back to some form of political subdivision, such as cities, counties, or independent taxing districts. SB 2101 is not intended to limit the services these agencies provide but rather encourage a reliable and effective system to ensure continuity of operations. One method of accomplishing this continuity would be through cooperative agreements or mutual aid agreements. It is not right for a service's neighbor to be unaware of their obligation to be dispatched to another jurisdiction. Senate Bill 2101 requires them to work out this system before an emergency occurs and eliminate the burden and confusion from our 9-1-1 centers.

Through much discussion regarding this bill, it has been identified that this intent may not have been fully addressed. Sometimes, interfacility/hospital-to-hospital transport could be considered an emergency. Some ambulance services within the state only have one ambulance. The original wording of this bill could be misrepresented to hinder those agreements. If there are no objections from Senator Beard, I recommend changing the wording of SB 2101 to “Requirements for services to ensure reliable response to 911 and emergent inter-facility transport responses, while providing non-emergent services.”

As written, or with this amendment, I ask for your support in recommending SB 2101 as a “do pass” to the Senate floor.

Sincerely,
